CAVALIERI TO REMARRY?

Signor Muratore Prospective Husband, Says Paris "Journal."

Paris, April 8.—"Le Journal" says that Mme. Lina Cavalleri, former wife of Robert Winthrop Chandler, of New York, will shortly be married to Lucien Muratore, tenor at the Paris Opera, and that afterward the couple will fulfill a joint engagement to sing in opera in America.

Muratore was born in Marseilles in 1878 and has been regularly attached to the Opera at Paris for several years. He has also sung at the Opera Comique.

According to Stokes' "Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians," Mme. Cavalleri was born on December 24, 1874, and is therefore four years older than Signor Muratore. Mme. Cavalleri was married to Robert Winthrop Chandler, grandson of the late John Jacob Astor, in Paris on June 18, 1909.

On November 16 last Mrs. Chandler filed a petition in Paris for a divorce, and obtained a decree on January 3.

A few days afterward, on reports of an approaching remarriage with a wealthy Russian being repeated to her, she said: "My sole marriage experience is quite sufficient to last me for a lifetime, and I shall never try it again."

WOMAN'S DOGS WIN $5,000

"Scotty" Allan Takes $5,000 Alaska Prize for Mrs. Darling.

Nome, Alaska, April 8 (via Ashcroft, B. C.)—A. A. (Scotty) Allan, driving the team of Malamute dogs owned by Mrs. Charles E. Darling, of Berkeley, Cal., won the All-Alaska $5,000 sweepstakes, crossing the finish line at Nome at 1:32 this morning.

Allan's time for the 472 miles from Nome to Candle and return was 87 hours and 32 minutes, 5 hours and 32 minutes more than his time last year, when he won the race with the same team.

Alexander Holmstrom, driving Johnson's team of Siberian wolfhounds, holder of the record of 71 hours 14 minutes and 20 seconds, was second, one hour behind Allan. Charles Johnson, driving Fox Ramsey's dogs, was third, arriving half an hour after Holmstrom. The other dogs, driven by O. Blatchford, were in such poor condition that they were hopelessly outdistanced.

The race was one of the hedges in the history of the sweepstakes. Allan was pressed hard by the three leaders during the greater part of the drive and it was not until he was on the last fifty miles that his dogs showed their superiority.

AUTO KILLS YALE MEN

Two Students Hurlled to Death in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, April 8.—John Lewis Hoffman, twenty-one years old, son of Mrs. J. Ogden Hoffman, of Ithan Denlyght, Radnor Road, was fatally hurt tonight when the automobile he was driving struck a stone, wrenched the steering wheel from his hands and threw him out, his head striking a telegraph pole. He died in the Bryn Mawr Hospital, to which he was rushed, at 7:15 o'clock, an hour after the accident. His skull had been fractured.

With young Hoffman in the machine was Arthur Ryerson. He also was thrown out and died in the hospital at 11:05. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, of Haverford, and his parents are abroad.

Young Hoffman was home from Yale University for the Easter holidays and brought Arthur Ryerson, a fellow student, with him. This evening they went for a drive in Hoffman's car. They had reached Bryn Mawr avenue at Chester Road when the accident occurred. Employees of the Gougher's stables saw the accident and went to the assistance of the young men, both of whom were unconscious.

WILL NOT SIGNAL DR. FUNK

"We Had No Arrangement for Communicating," Says Hyslop.

Boston, April 8.—Dr. James H. Hyslop, president of the Psychological Research Society of New York, who is spending a few days in Boston, emphatically denied to-day that he has made any plans to communicate with Dr. Isaac K. Funk, who died last week. Dr. Hyslop said:

The story recently printed that I had arranged a code of signals with Dr. Funk is untrue. We had no arrangement made whereby we could communicate with each other.

In my opinion, it is too early to determine the result of any investigation into the spirit world. Before any authentic conclusion could be reached the investigator would have to receive several manifestations of specific and correlated value.

MISS PANKHURST IN BOSTON

Said to Have Eluded British Pursuit by Visiting Jail.

Boston, April 8.—While the British authorities have been searching their country for Miss Christabel Pankhurst in connection with the breaking of windows in the recent suffrage campaign, she has been the guest of Mrs. Hodder, an English woman, who is superintendent of the Sherborn prison, near South Framingham. The suffragette arrived at Massachusetts prison about March 26 and left here on April 1. It is stated that she had been in the prison walls, in the little cottage used by Mrs. Hodder, Miss Pankhurst was out of harm's way and safe from any search which might have been carried on for her in the country. Several persons saw her and a woman who is in a position to know what is going on in the Hodder household said to-day: "I can't remember the exact day she came or the day she left, but I should say that her visit extended over about ten days or two weeks. I have no idea when she has gone and no one hereabouts has been told."

F. O. BEACH CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO KILL WIFE

Warrant Issued in Aiken, S. C., Alleges He Committed Crime Attributed to Unknown Negro.

COUPLE SAIL FOR EUROPE

Bloodstained Pocket Knife Held by Southern Authorities as Evidence Against the Society Man.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Aiken, S. C., April 8.—A warrant charging Frederick O. Beach, New York society man and a member of the Aiken millionaire colony, with assault and battery, with intent to kill his wife, Mrs. Camilla Beach, was sworn out here to-day. This action grows out of the murderous assault made on Mrs. Beach on the night of February 26, when she was felled with a fence paling and her throat slashed while in the yard of her winter home.

The attack was the season's sensation at this resort. It was asserted by the Beaches that Mrs. Beach had called to the gate by a negro, who said he had a note for her, that she went to get it and that after slashing her throat the negro escaped in the darkness.

A gold plated diamond studded pocket-knife, the property of Mr. Beach, given by him to Mayor Giles about three weeks ago, is held as evidence against him. Upon microscopic examination made by experts, first in Aiken, then in Augusta, and lastly in Columbia, human blood was found on the larger blade. This is one of the prosecution's main points. It is also said that a conversation between Mr. and Mrs. Beach, overheard while the two were left in a room during a recent investigation by detectives who had concealed a man behind a bookcase for the purpose, will be relied on to some extent.

A pearl ring and backcomb belonging to Mrs. Beach, and covered with blood, are also in the possession of the authorities. They are alleged to have been found in the driveway on the opposite side of the house from where Mrs. Beach said she was attacked, and between the Beach residence and that of Joseph Harriman.

A warrant charging Mrs. Beach's husband with the crime has been expected for more than a week by those who have known that the detective employed by the city authorities was continuing his investigations. The detective, M. S. Baughan, who came here about three weeks ago, was one of the sleuths who succeeded in landing "Abe" Ruef behind the bars.

The warrant was sworn out by S. E. Holley, one of the rural policemen of this county, before Magistrate Sneed, and Solicitor Gunter took steps at once to have the Governor of South Carolina issue a requisition upon the Governor of New York for Beach. The latter man left here two weeks ago with his wife for New York, announcing before his departure that he intended to sail for Europe on April 20 with W. K. Vanderbilt, whose guests he and Mrs. Beach were to be on the trip abroad.

It was learned this afternoon, however, after Solicitor Gunter had left the city, that the Beaches sailed from New York for a European port last Wednesday.

Negress and Four Maids Arrested. Pearl Hampton, the negro woman who was struck with the same fence paling that felled Mrs. Beach on the night of February 26, a few minutes before Mrs. Beach was attacked, and who has stoutly refused to give to the police any information of the events of that night, was also arrested, together with two maids from the house of Joseph Harriman, the valet of C. W. Dolan, of Philadelphia, and two maids employed at the Lyons home, adjoining that of the Beaches. All of these are held as witnesses, and gave bond for their appearance at the June term of the Court of General Sessions, which convenes here on June 3.

The complaint is sworn out on information and belief, and alleges that "on the night of the 26th day of February, one F. O. Beach did commit an assault and battery with intent to kill, in that he did wilfully, unlawfully and maliciously, and with malice aforethought, with a knife or some sharp instrument, cut and wound one Mrs. Camilla Beach, with intent to kill and murder."

Aroused Iselin's Wrath. The Beaches had persistently attributed the crime to an unknown negro, and the gossip which resulted aroused the wrath of C. Oliver Iselin, who wrote a letter to Mayor Giles, in which he stated that "it would give me much pleasure to participate in the lynching of the person or persons who are responsible for these slanderous accusations."

The news that a warrant had been issued spread rapidly over the town and created a sensation. Mrs. Joseph Harriman denounced the warrant as an outrage. It became known to-day that before the Beaches left Aiken they were put through a severe examination by the detective who has worked up the alleged evidence against Mr. Beach.

Before leaving Aiken Mr. Beach retained lawyers and for two weeks before his departure held daily conferences with them. Solicitor Gunter stated that every effort would be made to have Beach brought back to Aiken to stand trial at the June term of court, and official officials said that if the requisition is not honored by Governor Dix or if Beach cannot be apprehended and if he cannot be brought back to Aiken he will be brought back from Europe and a sealed indictment delivered by the court in case of a conviction.

Mayor Changes His Mind. The Mayor, who has been directing the investigation, has taken no one into his confidence. He stated to-day, however, that after a talk with Mr. and Mrs. Beach and the servants of their household he had been forced to the belief that Mr. Beach was guiltless, but that

RAN UP HIS $1.25 INTO MANY MILLIONS

E. G. Lewis Tells Court He Began a Remarkable Career with Small Capital.

STOPPED BY FRAUD ORDER

Defendant Accused of Misuse of Mails Attributes Downfall to Postoffice Interference.

St. Louis, April 8.—E. G. Lewis, charged with using the mails to defraud, took the witness stand in the United States District Court here to-day, and began the story of his remarkable financial career from his first venture in the publishing field, when he started a magazine with $1.25.

Rapidly, but without apparent effort at dramatic effect, Lewis told how he ran up his $1.25 into a series of business and banking operations which involved the handling of several million dollars.

Lewis said his publishing business outraged its plant several times, and that he finally decided to build his own plant, and realizing that city property was improving westward, raised his building beyond the city limits, where University City has since grown.

Lewis recited the success of his business, declaring its downfall began with the issuance of a fraud order by the Postoffice Department in 1905. All his letters, bearing the word "fraudulent" stamped in red.

Before this, he testified, he was receiving from 3,000 to 22,000 letters a day. As a result of the fraud order, he said, he lost $100,000 in advertising contracts, and his banking credit was cut off.

When the People's Bank ceased business, in 1905, and a receiver was appointed, Lewis testified, he called a meeting of the stockholders and proposed the exchange of their stock for stock of a publishing company, with a $2,300,000 increase in its capitalization. He took the responsibility of any losses that might accrue to the stockholders in the adjustment of the affairs of the bank, he said, and gave them his notes to secure them to the full amount of the increased capitalization.

Lewis testified that nineteen thousand subscribers of the People's Bank changed their stock for an equal number of shares of the Lewis Publishing Company. When the bank was liquidated, on a basis of 87 cents on the dollar, he said, he made up the other 13 cents and saved the subscribers from loss by giving them their full allotment of Lewis Publishing Company shares.

After this, Lewis said, he and two other officials of the company were indicted on charges of sending out mail in excess of the government regulations. These indictments were quashed after standing for three years.

DR. MUSSER'S BRAIN LIGHT

Scientists Find Its Weight Less than That of Child.

Philadelphia, April 8.—The brain of Dr. John H. Musser, the noted diagnostician, who died here last Wednesday, is held as heavy as the brain of a well-developed child. It weighs nearly twenty ounces less than the brain of Daniel Webster weighed and twenty-four ounces less than the brain of James Fliske, Jr., who was murdered in New York.

Scientists here consider that the light weight of the brain of Dr. Musser is something extraordinary, but they explain it by saying that Dr. Musser developed along one line. The convulsions in Dr. Musser's brain are wonderful and show that he exercised portions of it to an unusual extent.

It became known to-day that Dr. Musser was one of a little group of scientists who had agreed to leave their brains to the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology. Within an hour after Dr. Musser died last Wednesday, Dr. Milton J. Greeman, curator of the institute, had removed the brain.

They have not been seen since they left the house of James Brown, last Tuesday, ostensibly to take a walk.

COLONEL TO RUN AGAIN

Will Make Another Fight if Beaten Now, He Says.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 8.—Theodore Roosevelt said to-night that if he was beaten in his present fight he would make another one. In addressing a crowd at the railway station at Peru, Ind., he said:

"If after hearing me you decide against me, very well, I'll try it again another time and try to get you."

In speaking at Fort Wayne Colonel Roosevelt charged that unfair tactics had been used to defeat his supporters in Indiana.

WILSON PAPERS NOT FOUND

Private Documents, Stolen in Chicago, Still Missing.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Syracuse, April 8.—On his arrival in Syracuse this morning for the Chamber of Commerce banquet to-night, Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey started on a tour of tailoring establishments and men's furnishing stores to replenish his wardrobe. His evening clothes were in the suitcase stolen in Chicago yesterday, when he was about to start for Syracuse.

The papers in the suitcase, Governor Wilson said, were all private documents. He had intended to spend the day with his secretary in Syracuse, taking care of a large amount of correspondence. He had to forego this, however, to go shopping.

Governor Wilson refused to comment on any suspicion he might have as to the motive for the theft of his belongings. It was said he had heard nothing from Chicago to-day and that any investigation going on was being made in that city.

SUES COUNT FOR DIVORCE

Beaufort's Chicago Wife Says He Abused Her.

Chicago, April 8.—Count Jacques de Beaufort is the defendant in a suit for divorce filed in the Superior Court to-day by Countess de Beaufort, who was Miss Irma Kilgallen, daughter of M. H. Kilgallen, a wealthy steel and iron manufacturer. Countess de Beaufort charges cruelty.

She and the count were married in London in 1909. Their troubles first became public in February, 1910, when Countess de Beaufort was injured by falling downstairs at her home during a quarrel, it is said, with her husband. In her bill the wife declares the count beat her while the two were at Hot Springs, Ark.

FAST BOY SKATER KILLED

Van Wheel Passes Over His Neck—Auto Injures Another Boy.

Although only eleven years old, John Flynn, who lived at No. 47 Nostrand avenue, was considered the fastest roller-skater in his section of Wall Street. Last night his playmates decided to hold a race and Johnny was put on scratch.

Half a dozen of the boys started in the race, Johnny giving each a start of from five to ten feet. Slowly, but surely, he overtook the other contestants. He looked like a surfer when a large moving van came in sight.

Before any of the boys could warn young Flynn of his danger he was struck by the horses and knocked down. Samuel Bonner, the driver, tried to pull them up, but before he could do so the front wheel passed over the boy's neck, killing him instantly. Bonner took the boy to a nearby drug store and an ambulance from the Cumberland Street Hospital was called, but Dr. Penke, who responded, said the boy's death had been instantaneous.

Another boy, Francis Adolphson, eleven years old, of No. 1016 Hove avenue, was perhaps fatally injured last evening, when he was run down by an automobile at Simpson street and Westchester avenue. He was taken to Lebanon Hospital, where it was said late last night he was in a serious condition.

HURT AT BULL FIGHT

Spectator Loses Thumb in Extraordinary Accident.

Paris, April 8.—The bullfight in Avignon yesterday will go down to posterity as one of the most remarkable in the romantic little town's history, not because a young torero was probably mortally gored while making a reckless display of daring, but because of a strange accident.

During one of the liveliest fights an infuriated young bull leaped the barrier and raced furiously along the front of the first row of seats.

Spectators in their fright toppled over backward like tenpins. The long hairs at the end of the animal's lashing tail, winding themselves around the thumb of one unfortunate man, locked tight and snapped the thumb entirely off at the joint.

PIANIST DEAD IN ROOM WITH INSANE WOMAN

Louis G. Parma, Founder of N. Y. Conservatory of Music, Found in Squalid Place.

MYSTERY FOR EIGHT YEARS

Police Hear Musician's Companion Was His Own Daughter—His Death Due to Cerebral Hemorrhage.

Louis G. Parma, once a prominent concert pianist, a pupil of Franz Liszt and the founder and director of the New York Conservatory of Music, was found dead in a room on the second floor of the house at No. 181 Lenox avenue, yesterday morning.

In response to the entreaties of Parma's housekeeper Coroner Hellenstein and police from the 125th street station broke into the room, where they found the musician sitting on the foot of his bed, his head in his hands, and a small pool of blood on the floor in front of him. Lying in the bed, partly dressed, was a woman who was plainly insane. She was removed to Bellevue Hospital, and Parma's body was taken to the morgue.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Coroner Hellenstein received a mysterious telephone message saying that a man was lying dead in the house in Lenox avenue. The number of the house, that of Parma, was given and also the additional information that the room was on the second floor. Before further inquiries could be made this person rang off without giving any name. Coroner Hellenstein took his physician, Dr. Weston, and with Patrolmen Merrill and Birmingham, of the West 125th street station, hurried down to this house.

Police Break in Door.

The Coroner and the police went upstairs, broke in the door of Parma's room and entered. The body, dressed only in socks and underclothes, was on the foot of the bed. In the bed lay a woman scantily clad, who remained oblivious to the entrance of the officers until they approached the bedside and stood over her. She raised herself on one elbow, stared up at them in a vacant fashion, and began to murmur: "Oh, my, what do you want? What do you want?"

The sheets on which the woman lay were black with dirt, and the entire room was in an almost unbelievable condition of filth. Coroner Hellenstein made an examination of the body of Parma and gave it his opinion that the man had been dead for at least two days. The body was removed to the morgue and the woman was sent to Bellevue.

The mysterious death of the musician, the finding of the unidentified woman and the discovery of the fearful conditions in which Parma and his companion had been living make a consistent ending of an existence which for the last eight years has been the personification of mystery. Eight years ago Parma leased the house at No. 181, set up his conservatory on the first floor and reserved one room for himself on the second. He retained Mrs. Mary Clinton as housekeeper.

The woman was instructed never to come to this private room unless so ordered, and never to enter it under any conditions. For fear she would lose her job she obeyed.

Tails of Mysterious Woman.

The police had an interview late last night with a former secretary of the musician, Miss Valerie Holliday, of No. 2237 Eighth avenue, who told them a story which, although amazing, may prove the solution of the case.

Miss Holliday said that shortly before she left Parma to take a new place she received a letter from Mrs. B. Langdon, No. 109 West 44th street. She delivered this letter in person, and while there fell into a discussion of the mention of the mysterious woman. Thereupon, Miss Holliday said, Mrs. Langdon told her that this woman was Professor Parma's own daughter, Lillian. She explained that after the death of Parma's wife, some years ago, the musician, who was sensitive over the mental disability of the girl, began to keep her with him on all occasions, and to refuse to allow her to be seen by any one.

Parma was about seventy years old, six feet tall and a man of unusual appearance. Dr. Weston gave the probable cause of his death as cerebral hemorrhage.

ALMOST CERTAIN TO INSTRUCT FOR TAFT

President's Friends in State Convention Confident They Will Win To-day's Fight in Rochester.

BACKED BY SENATOR ROOT

Despite Opposition of Barnes, They Intend to Direct the "Big Four" Delegates to Vote for Renomination at Chicago.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Rochester, April 8.—Despite opposition of upstate Republicans behind State Chairman Barnes, it is almost certain that the Republican State Convention, which will assemble here to-morrow, will instruct the "big four" delegates from this state to vote for the renomination of President Taft at the Chicago convention. Resolutions for such instructions will be presented to the committee on resolutions. If that committee does not report them favorably a fight will be made on the convention floor.

Samuel S. Koenig, president of the New York County Republican Committee, after conferences with State Chairman Barnes, Senator Root, Timothy L. Woodruff and other leaders, said that if necessary he would present the resolutions from the floor and lead the Taft fight. If he does he will have behind him the votes of Erie County, of part of Kings, of Oneida, Essex, Clinton and other upstate counties, which, he is certain, will enable such resolutions to be put through the convention.

Opponents of Instructions. The attitude of Chairman Barnes, ex-Speaker Wadsworth and other Republicans, who are now opposing instructions is that in view of the fact that most of the delegates are for the renomination of President Taft such a course is unnecessary. It is untrue, they add, because some parts of the state hold that their representatives should go to Chicago unpledged in any fashion, free to do what seems best at that time. They maintain that an attitude of opposition to instructions cannot with any degree of fairness be interpreted to mean opposition to President Taft. They hold the opinion that if a fight is forced by the President's more obstreperous friends, either in the committee on resolutions or on the floor, it will do him much more harm than good and will be likely to raise bitterness which cannot be easily soothed, and so will have a very unfavorable effect on the Taft campaign in other states.

Considerable surprise is being expressed to-night because of the attitude of John W. Hutchinson, Jr., head of the Taft campaign bureau in New York, who for several years has been head of the speakers' bureau of the Republican State Committee. He has opened no headquarters here, though many individual leaders, both of the old guard forces and the Progressives, have headquarters. Moreover, according to pronounced Taft men who are working for Taft instructions, Mr. Hutchinson has been spending part of the day telling delegates and county leaders that he can't see why there should be any Taft instructions.

This opinion is not that of Senator Root. Mr. Root, after various conferences this evening, declared the "big four" should be instructed to vote for the renomination of the President. The Senator is practically certain to be one of the "big four." He came here from Utica on the "Sunny Jim" special, a train devoted to Sherman boaners. He had held conferences in Utica with the Vice-President, ex-Mayor Wheeler, State Committee Chairman Bryant and others. The result of these was that Mr. Bryant to-night told anybody who seemed interested that the Onondaga delegates would line up in favor of hard and fast instructions.

"I believe in saying you are for a man if you are for him," Senator Root declared. "For that reason, I favor instructions for the 'big four' from this state. New York State is for President Taft, if I am any judge of the situation, and this convention should make that fact plain, not only for the record here, but for the effect it would have on other states. I have talked with many of the leaders. Mr. Barnes does not seem to be for instructions now. Francis Hendricks, of Onondaga, is. Mr. Woodruff was, but I think is not now. I believe the majority of the convention will be, though."

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, who will be chairman of this convention and may be one of the "big four," also is in favor of instructions. Once he was a Roosevelt man. He parted company with Roosevelt doctrines about the time recall of judicial decisions and various other advanced new nationalism policies loomed above the horizon, and to-morrow he is expected to deliver a speech which will make his former friend gnash his teeth and bite holes in the atmosphere. Now he thinks the delegates from this state should be committed to a second term for President Taft.

The committee on resolutions will be the chief battleground of this convention, for in it will be fought not only the question of instructions, but the important questions of policy involved in platform building. It will be a body of forty-three members, one from each Congressional district. The delegates from each district will choose the member of the committee for that district and the committee will elect its own chairman. There has been much talk about a fight between State Chairman Barnes and Senator Root to head that body. According to Dr. Butler to-night, neither Mr. Barnes nor Senator Root is likely to be chosen. It seems to be considered better, as a matter of policy, that some person less conspicuous in one wing or the other of the party be chosen.

As to the platform, there is likely to be a bitter fight between organization men and advanced Progressives, who call the
