

YACHTS OFF TO FINE START ON FIRST DAY

Iselin's Enchantress Leads Big Fleet to the Finish, Winning Navy Challenge Cup.

NEARLY MAKES A RECORD

Cornelius Vanderbilt at the Wheel of the Aurora, Which Defeats the Istalena and Winsome.

By Telegraph to The Tribune. Smithtown Bay, Long Island, Aug. 8.—Commodore C. Ledyard Blair and his crew flag officers and guests, as well as the owners of the forty-one fine racing yachts that took part in today's first annual regatta of the New York Yacht Club's annual cruise from Glen Cove to the roadstead are congratulating one another to-night on the success of the day.

Not only was the weather clear as a fall, but the strong, fair wind, which favored the yachts from start to finish, kept them over the twenty-four-mile course in almost record time. William E. Iselin's schooner Enchantress, which was first across the finish line, covered the distance in 2 hours 9 minutes, or at an average speed of close to eleven knots. She defeated the Istalena by 2 minutes 45 seconds, and the Winsome 2 minutes 45 seconds, corrected time. The Enchantress won the Navy Challenge Cup for schooners for this squadron run.

The new sloop Isabella II, owned by George Batecheler, of Boston, and the new Gardner sloop Medora met for the first time today, and the Boston boat won by 1 minute 25 seconds, elapsed and corrected time. In the special mixed class the sloop Phantom, owned by E. S. Booth, won by 1 minute 20 seconds from the schooner Miladi. She was also declared the winner of the Navy Challenge Cup for sloops.

There was keen competition between the sloops of the P class, in which the Joyant, owned and sailed by Commodore William H. Childs, of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club, proved the winner by only two seconds from the Windward, and in the New York Yacht Club thirty-foot class the Rowdy won from her six classmates, beating J. P. Morgan, Jr.'s Phryne 2 minutes 2 seconds. The first prize for that interesting class of little one-design sloop schooners was won by Charles Lane Poor's Algol, which defeated the Helen II by 1 minute 17 seconds.

With a splendid breeze from the southward over their starboard quarters, and every stitch of canvas pulling its pound, the fleet of forty-one yachts made a spirited picture as they crossed the starting line this morning off Week's Point buoy, at the east side of the entrance to Hempstead Bay. The tug Eugene Moran, with the regatta committee—H. de B. Parsons, J. M. Macdonough and Frederick A. Speiden—on board, marked the north end of the line.

The small Sound schooners were sent away first, at 10:30 o'clock. W. Butler Duncan's Vandalia leading, with David Duncan at the tiller. Then followed, in the order named: F. R. Couderc's Alys II, W. H. Judson's Rival, C. L. Poor's Algol, W. M. Baldwin's Alicia, Clarkson O'Neil's Moira and E. Randolph's Helen II. All set small balloons, with spinners to starboard, for the short run to the first turning mark, the gas buoy off Martin.

Next away at 10:45 o'clock were the four sloops of Class F, led by R. L. Cuthbert's Cara Mia in the weather berth, the Aurora and the Istalena close in her. Then the Corinthian and the Windward being close under her lee. Then came the New York Yacht Club "thirties" on the same signal, with H. S. Duell's Rowdy in the lead, the others being the Alcatraz, the Junonia, the Miriam, the Banat, the Carlita and the Phryne. Five minutes later the Shima, owned and sailed by Robert Treat Paine, 3d, of Boston, commodore of the Eastern Yacht Club, led the sloops in Classes K, L, M and N across the line in a close and spirited start. The others crossed in this order: The Gardena, the Adventurer, the Ayenger, steered by her owner, Harry L. Maxwell, the yawl Phantom, the Hermes and the new Dorville.

The big sixty-foot sloops were led by E. T. Hall's Winsome, with the Aurora and the Istalena close in her. Then Cornelius Vanderbilt was at the wheel of the Aurora, and the Istalena's owner, George M. Pincheon, was at her helm. All three set balloon jib topsails before reaching the line.

Of the six schooners in Classes F and D that started, Harold S. Vanderbilt's Vagrant was the leader, with her owner at the wheel. Then followed the Muriel, the Miladi, the Venona, the Princess and the Taurina in that order.

At 10:20 o'clock the big schooners in Class B made a fine start, with balloon jib topsails drawing well, as they crossed the line at steamboat speed in the freshening breeze. William E. Iselin's Enchantress was the leader. Then came the Sea Fox, the vice-commodore's flagship, followed by the Endymion, the Irolita and the Elena. Captain Dennis kept the Elena well to leeward of the others right after the start and set her spinnaker to

BILLY BURKE WINS TWO

Also Lowers Track Record in Grand Circuit Races.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8.—The final in the Professional Drivers' Stake, 235 trot, the two preliminaries of which were run on the opening day, and the free for all trot championship, furnished the thrills for the fourth day of the Pittsburgh meet on the Grand Circuit. The latter brought out the big fellows, although not in such numbers as had been expected.

Billy Burke, the horse that made the season's track record at Cleveland on August 1, stepping in 2:04 1/2, was the center of comment and admiration, with Duddy Archdale, one of the Geers string, sharing the honors. Billy Burke took the two heats of this race, and incidentally another one of Silent Brook won another race on today's card, the 2:12 trot, which Shawbay took easily.

In the free for all Billy Burke also set new records for this track in both heats. On a heavy, spongy track he went the first heat in 2:05 and the second in 2:09 1/2, stepping the quarter in the second heat in 0:51.

In both heats Geers, with Duddy Archdale, got away first, but was passed at the half mile by McDonald with Billy Burke, which finished with Geers up on his wheel. This race brought the cheers from the crowd as no other has throughout the meet.

The summaries follow: FACING—2:09 CLASS—THREE IN FIVE—PURSE, $1,000. Babe, b. g. (Jandson), professional driver, 1:11. Forest Prince, b. g. (Gardner), 1:14. Early Tracker, b. g. (Geers), 1:14. Victor Star, b. g. (Wagner), 1:14. Francona, h. m. (Parker), 1:14.

TROTTING—2:12 CLASS—PROFESSIONAL DRIVER—PURSE, $1,000. Annis, h. m. (Carpenter), 1:11. Dora, h. m. (McDonald), 1:11.

TROTTING CHAMPIONSHIP—FREE-FOR-ALL—PURSE, $2,000. Billy Burke, b. m. (McDonald), 1:11. Duddy Archdale, h. m. (Wagner), 1:11. Duddy Archdale, h. m. (Wagner), 1:11. Duddy Archdale, h. m. (Wagner), 1:11.

starboard just as soon as he cleared the line. The last two away were the auxiliaries, the Margaret and the Iris.

It did not take the leaders long to reach Matinecock buoy, and there "trim sheets" lively was the order, until "all hands" were heading several points higher on the starboard tack, shaking their new course.

Having doused spinnakers and balloons before reaching the buoy, they now set reaching jib topsails, and with increased speed they were soon making fast time to the eastward. Passing the buoy the Enchantress was leading the Irolita by three minutes and the Elena by a minute more.

An hour after the start the Aurora—then the leader of the big sloops—was passing Oyster Bay with the Winsome and the Istalena only a few lengths astern, and the Enchantress still the leader of the B class of schooners.

In such a fresh breeze as now favored the racing craft it gave the steam fleet plenty to do to keep pace with them, for the big sloops and schooners were reeling off between twelve and fifteen knots an hour. At 12 o'clock the Enchantress, the Irolita and the Elena, in that order, had passed Eton's Neck and were about a quarter of the way across Smithtown Bay, with the Diana marking the finish line in sight.

The summaries follow: Elaps'd Correct'd Name and owner. H.M.S. Enchantress, W. E. Iselin, 2:09:47 2:04:55. Istalena, G. M. Pincheon, 2:12:45 2:08:58. Venona, M. F. Plant, 2:18:48 2:08:01.

Sallee Defeats Rucker in Battle of Southpaws

Cardinals Get Better of Superbas in Nip and Tuck Struggle.

St. Louis, Aug. 8.—The St. Louis Cardinals, pitched his team to victory over the Brooklyn Superbas in Washington Park by a score of 2 to 1. Sallee was pitted against Nap Rucker and outpitched the Georgian in a brilliant battle. Sallee held the Superbas to seven hits, one a timely double by Northen in the third inning, which scored Rucker, with Brooklyn's only run. Nap Rucker, with Brooklyn's only run, was not up to his best form, and the Cardinals found him for nine hits. He gave four bases on balls, and was frequently in hot water, but good support by his teammates kept the score down.

The Cardinals scored their first run in the second inning, when "Rebel" Oakes drove the ball deep into the upper corner of the field for a home run. In the following frame Macke doubled to left field, took third on a sacrifice bunt by Mowrey, and scored what proved to be the winning run when Evans singled to center field. In the third inning Rucker singled, with one out, and scored all the way from first when Northen hit the right field fence for two bases.

INDIANS LOSE LONG GAME. Buffalo rallied in thirteenth frame, after a battle. Buffalo humbled the Indians after thirteen innings at Newark yesterday, winning by a score of 4 to 1.

Right up to the last session the teams fought bitterly every inch of the way, but when the avalanche broke the Indians were swept off their feet and buried under the runs.

Buffalo tallied a run in the fifth and Newark tied the score in the eighth. Then Dent, who was twirling for the Indians, gave way to Lee.

In the thirteenth Deinger led off with a smash at Hartman, which went through the latter. McAuliffe died easily enough, but Schirm walked. Then Bush singled, scored Deinger, and after Beck's out moved the base runners up a post. Stark doubled, sending Schirm and Bush home.

YANKEES SLIP A NOTCH

Beaten by Blues, Tie with the Browns for Last Place.

FORD GETS A BAD START

Hit Freely in Early Innings, While Errors by Hartzell Prove Costly.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Cleveland, Aug. 8.—"Home at last," chortled the brave little band of New York Yankees as they slipped down another notch in the percentage column to 100. The intrusion is uncalled for," was the reply flashed back from the tribe of Stovall. "You'll have to get out." The cause of all the discontent in American League circles was brought about by the New York Yankees being defeated again. This time it was by the Cleveland Blues, by a score of 5 to 5, with the Browns defeated the Senators. Feeling runs high, it is said and the Browns are determined to win back their position. Meanwhile the hatches of the percentage column are being braced from the bottom to avoid accident.

No one could accuse the Blues of being fastidious in their methods. One game is as good as another to their way of thinking, and given a good start, any team is hard to catch. So to this end they fell upon Russell Ford in the first two innings and won the game. Six hits, including three doubles and a triple, a few bases on balls and some wild efforts at playing ball gave Cleveland seven runs and New York something to worry about.

While all this was going on Wolverton made no move to deride Ford. Perhaps he is used to it, or maybe he knew that he couldn't fall much lower, so the fun continued unceasingly. Having once weathered the second inning, Ford pitched an effective game, but the horses were gone by the time the barn was locked.

Out in the center garden, where labored one Roy Hartzell, valorous deeds were done. Hartzell abused the helpless little ball at every real good opportunity, and while he caught four rather easy flies he made two glaring bumbles that helped along in their own peculiar way. Hartzell was aided nobly by Del Paddock, who had an off day of it, and Martin, at shortstop, did his share to make it a real pot. Bert Daniels and Hal Chase played good games, and did all they could under the conditions.

Kahler was in top form for the Blues, and had there been any real necessity he might have led the Yankees to two runs, but he let down in the ninth inning and allowed them three tallies. New York got to him for eight hits, confined mostly to the closing innings of the game, when he eased up to save his arm from unnecessary strain.

The score follows: CLEVELAND. ab r h po a. Ryan, 1b, 5 0 1 0 0. Daniels, 2b, 5 0 1 0 0. Ford, 3b, 5 0 1 0 0. Paddock, 4b, 5 0 1 0 0. Kahler, 2b, 5 0 1 0 0. Martin, 1b, 5 0 1 0 0. Chase, 3b, 5 0 1 0 0. Hartzell, 1b, 5 0 1 0 0.

SKETEERS ARE NOSED OUT. Toronto Rallies in the Ninth Inning and Wins the Game.

Toronto defeated the Sketeers again at West Side Park, Jersey City, yesterday, making it two out of three. The score was 5 to 2.

It looked easy for the Sketeers up to the ninth inning. With the bases filled in the lead's half of the frame, Meyers drove the ball to center field and three runs were the result. Bradley had previously tallied on a three-bagger and McGrinnell's single.

THE TIDE TURNS AT LAST

Giants Get Decision Over Pirates in Ten-Inning Battle.

MARQUARD BACK IN FORM

Brilliant Southpaw Pitches Best Game in Weeks to Defeat Ed Hendrix.

After a vacation together too long to suit the discriminating "fan," the old invincible Marquard appeared on the scene yesterday and stopped the Pittsburgh Pirates in their heartless career. The mighty "Tub" met Ed Hendrix, the cunning spitball artist, who as already won three games on the Polo Grounds this season, and, pitching the same masterly game that carried him to his wonderful record, Marquard downed the Smoky City man at the end of a brilliant ten-inning battle. The score was 2 to 1. A single from the lat of "Red" Murray finally won the victory for New York after one man was out in the tenth. Fred Snodgrass singled to center field and made a clean steal of second base. At this critical point Murray picked up a good ball and shot it into left field. Carey fielded the ball fast, but Snodgrass ran on the wings of the wind, and beat the throw to the plate by two feet, scoring the winning run.

At no time this season, even when in the height of his great record-making spurt, did Marquard pitch in better form, and he showed in no uncertain manner that he is fully recovered from the effects of his early strain. It was the best game he has pitched in weeks. He burned that fast ball of his around the rocks and knees of the Smoky City curve busters until they did not know whether they were afoot or a-horseback. Marquard allowed half a dozen hits and kept them so widely separated that he was never in any great danger.

That the Pirates scored at all was due to the faulty fielding of Gibson's home run by Josh Devoy. The catcher muffed one of "Tubs" fastest balls on the trademark, and hit it to the center left field fence. Devoy was painfully slow in getting the ball back to the infield, and Gibson lumbered along. Fast work would have held the hit to a triple. That home run happened in the third inning, and thereafter Pittsburgh never got a man past second base. Marquard struck out six batters and passed only two.

The heavy artillery of the Pirate team, Carey, Donlin and the great Hans Wagner, were handled with the greatest ease. None broke into the hit column. Donlin, whose hit was instrumental in the advancement of Marquard in the first game, had a miserable time of it. Mike rounded out to Fletcher and then proceeded to strike out with great gusto on two subsequent trips to the rubber.

The Giants forced the fight against Hendrix just as they forced it in the games previous, and the long delayed break simply had to come. Several times they were in position to score a run of any kind of outfield hit, but Hendrix summoned up his fighting spirit and turned them back. Hendrix showed his nerve in the ninth inning, when he struck out Beale Becker, while Shafer on third base and two out, while the crowd prayed for a hit.

Several hits were torn from the delivery of the Pittsburgh twirler, but with the exception of the first inning, when Larry Doyle singled, took second on an out, to score on Murray's first hit, Hendrix held the whip hand until the tenth. He gave half a dozen bases on balls, and the absolute refusal of the New York base runners to act like gentlemen added to his troubles. The Giants made life miserable for Gibson and made away with five stolen bases.

The fact that the Chicago Cubs took the Phillies into camp by a decisive margin spurred the Giants on to make a hard fight of it all the way, and Marquard's support at times bordered on the brilliant.

Fred Merkle made a fine play on Kelly in the eighth inning, when the St. Paul boy batted for Donlin. Kelly smashed one down the first base line that Merkle did well to stop, and the pair had a race for the bag. Fred, however, hurled himself at the basecock, and just ripped the runner by a hair. Larry Doyle made a neat stop of a hard hit drive by MBE in the ninth inning, and got the runner, while Fletcher, at shortstop, handled eight hard chances.

The score follows: NEW YORK. ab r h po a. Devore, 1b, 5 0 1 0 0. Byrne, 2b, 5 0 1 0 0. Doyle, 3b, 5 0 1 0 0. Donlin, 4b, 5 0 1 0 0. Murray, 2b, 5 0 1 0 0. Wagner, 1b, 5 0 1 0 0.
