

GARDNER TELLS WHAT AILED REPUBLICANS

Starts Fight on Tariff Bill with Admission That His Party Displeased the People.

SURRENDER, SAYS MONDELL

Underwood Explains the Measure Again—Western Senators Argue in Vain for Sugar and Wool Duties.

Washington, April 23.—With factional lines drawn taut and intense partisanship reflected in every speech, the tariff debate began in the House today.

The majority leader was also silent when Republicans sought to pin him down to definite statements concerning opportunities for amendment.

The debate today ranged from a speech bitterly denunciatory of the Democratic measure by Mr. Mondell, of Wyoming.

Mr. Gardner, of Massachusetts, was both philosophical and critical.

"Persons who confidently predict disaster for the Underwood bill are more likely to be correct than persons who predict its success," said Mr. Gardner.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

"The trust magnate in the director's chair damned Taft because he attacked the trusts.

WILL COAL WARSHIPS AT SEA

Test Proves That Eighty Tons an Hour Can Be Transferred from Collier to Battleship While Making Eight Knots an Hour.

Washington, April 23.—American naval vessels will hereafter coal at sea while under way. The system of transferring coal by a wire cable stretched from the collier to the battleship has been so far perfected as to demonstrate the feasibility of coaling ships at the average rate of eighty tons an hour with both vessels making seven or eight knots an hour.

The regular machinery of the battleship is used, so that there is no time lost erecting special apparatus.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

The test was observed by Captain Thomas Snowden, commanding the South Carolina, and Naval Constructor L. B. McBride, of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

BOY STARTS THINGS; BRICKLAYER STOPS 'EM

Intervening Events Provide Excitement Aplenty for One Section of Harlem.

AMBULANCE RUNS AWAY

Lad Throws Starting Lever, Surgeon Is Spilled, Baby Run Over and Patient Shaken Up Ere Hero Appears.

The spirit of mischief inherent in some boys was responsible yesterday for a series of events in East 104th street, in which a Harlem Hospital motor ambulance, a wounded rock driller, a bricklayer, a two-year-old baby and a three-year-old boy were the chief actors.

Soon after 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon Dr. Coban, of the Harlem Hospital, received an ambulance call to Lexington avenue and 101st street.

He found that Joseph Cardot, a rock driller, of No. 32 Thompson street, had been injured by a falling beam in the subway excavation in Duffy's Hill, on Lexington avenue, between 101st and 102d streets.

After placing the man in the ambulance Dr. Coban ordered the chauffeur to drive to the East 104th street station to report the accident.

Patrolman McEgan and the chauffeur left the ambulance, with Dr. Coban standing on the rear step, and went inside. Then things began to happen.

A small boy, who should be easily identified by the size of his bump of curiosity, was on the sidewalk near the motor ambulance. He looked swiftly up and down the street; nobody was looking at him; the time was opportune.

In a moment the lad jerked one of the levers, there was a snort of gasoline and the machine leaped forward.

Dr. Coban fell from the rear step. The small boy ran away. The ambulance began to gather headway and make for Third avenue.

By the time the machine had gone fifty yards its speed had increased to almost twenty miles an hour. At Third avenue and 104th street Abraham Goldman, the two-year-old son of Samuel Goldman, who keeps a candy booth on the sidewalk, was sitting in his go-cart.

Just as the runaway ambulance was about to annihilate the child Papa Goldman snatched it from danger.

With a snort of baffled anger the ambulance, with Cardot being bumped about within, started for the other side of the street.

There three-year-old Joseph Barrie, of No. 190 East 104th street, was playing. He did not see the machine and was knocked down and run over, but he was only slightly injured.

There is no knowing what might have been the outcome of this wild ride had it not been for the appearance of our hero, James Lynch, a bricklayer, of No. 121 East 104th street, who leaped into the driver's seat.

He didn't know a thing about automobiles, but he knew one of the levers must stop the runaway, so he started in to jerk them all in rotation.

The ambulance reared, bucked, skidded and balked, but at last it heaved a gentle sigh and came to a stop on Third avenue, between 104th and 105th streets, after narrowly missing a surface car.

Lynch climbed down from the seat, Dr. Coban examined the Barrie boy and found him only bruised, and Cardot continued his journey to Harlem Hospital.

Inspector Cabalane, who was in the police station at the time of the accident, told his detectives to find the boy who was responsible. So far they have no trace or description of him.

NABS CAPITAL SWINDLER

Representative Howard Foils "Flim-Flam" Expert's Game.

Washington, April 23.—Representative William S. Howard, of Georgia, today ran across a new "flim-flam" game and succeeded in landing behind the bars a man who had presented himself as Henry M. Thornton, a constituent of the Georgian.

Thornton was nabbed in Mr. Howard's office at the Capitol. A detective sat reading as the stranger called for mail he had "Mr. Howard."

He received two letters, each containing a check alleged to be from Rollins Randolph, of Atlanta. The scheme might have worked if Mr. Randolph had not passed through Washington today, in time to denounce his "friend" as an impostor.

The Atlanta attorney called at Mr. Howard's office yesterday afternoon and noticed a letter addressed to Henry M. Thornton, in care of the Representative. The letter bore the imprint of Mr. Randolph's firm.

Thinking the letter might be intended for himself, Mr. Randolph opened it. Inside was a letter written to "Dear Henry" Thornton, and signed with Mr. Randolph's name. There was also inclosed a New York exchange for $40.

"That isn't our letter. I never heard of Thornton, and the check is phony," decided Mr. Howard and Mr. Randolph.

Subsequently another letter for Thornton arrived, and it, too, appeared to be from Randolph, and contained a check for $50.

During the afternoon Thornton called up over the telephone and asked if any mail had arrived. Mr. Howard said a couple of letters were at his office, and Thornton said he would be around today.

CALLS MILLS GOOD TRAINING SCHOOLS

Transform Clumsy, Ignorant Foreigners Into Skilled, Educated Americans, Speaker Tells Cotton Manufacturers.

Boston, April 23.—"Mary Konovsky's Wage," which has figured recently in published discussions of industrial conditions, overshadowed "The State of the Trade" and the tariff in the address at the opening today of the annual meeting of Edwin Farnham Greene, president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

The fictitious name of Mary Konovsky has been given to a Russian Poland girl of twenty-two, who was employed in a textile mill at Little Falls, N. Y., at $5 a week and struck for $6.90.

"The testimony of Mary Konovsky before the Commission of Mediation and Arbitration of New York has been published and republished throughout the country," Mr. Greene said.

"In consequence of thousands of uneducated people have grieved over the miserable condition of this poor Poland girl."

"I would like to say a few words to these sympathetic people. Mary Konovsky is a poor human creature, born and bred in poverty and misery, uneducated, untrained, stupid, but possessed of an immortal soul and eager for the betterment of her condition."

She wants $9 a week. Her former employer, a manufacturer, who has a large factory representing an investment exceeding $1,000,000, says outspokenly: "I will pay Mary Konovsky $8 a week, and this is more than she is worth."

She has no industrial training of any kind. All she is fit for is to mind a spinning frame. I want trained, educated girls if I can get them."

"You have heard the despised employer of labor, kind ladies and gentlemen, the services of Mary Konovsky are for sale. He bids $5 a week. What will you bid? You, mistress housewife, will you pay more than $5 a week?"

"No," you say. "She cannot speak English. She knows nothing of the mechanism of a modern kitchen. I don't want her."

"You, Mr. Storekeeper, what will you give? You could not use her services? She is unprepossessing and uncouth? What is this you say? 'I cannot afford to pay $5 a week for girl clerks.'"

"She wants only $6.90 a week. For God's sake, don't let the cruel mill get her again. Take her into your homes, into your offices, into your studios, give her a chance in the world. You all cry together, 'we have no use for her, but make that mill man pay her a living wage.'"

"The cotton mills and woolen mills are the training schools for hundreds of thousands of work people, transforming them from ignorant and clumsy foreigners into skilled, self-respecting, educated Americans."

FOR UNIFORM R. R. LAWS

New England Men Organize to Promote the Plan.

Boston, April 23.—Uniform railroad legislation was discussed by the Massachusetts legislative committee on Railroads today by representatives of all the New England States except New Hampshire.

The delegations constituting the New England Conference on Transportation, recently appointed by the Governors of the States.

A temporary organization was effected by the selection of Percival Clement as chairman and Francis T. Bowles as secretary. These officials, with Franklin W. Cram, were made a committee to confer with President Wilson and the Governors of the New England States in regard to the scope of the work desirable for the conference to undertake, and to report at a meeting to be called by the temporary chairman.

$5,000 HOLD-UP BY CUPID

Miss Nicoll Petitions for Funds for Trousseau.

Washington, April 23.—A year ago the Probate Court granted an allowance of $5,000 to Miss Marguerite Jean Nicoll, heiress to a $50,000 estate left by her father, for a trip abroad.

An echo of the European trip was heard in the Probate Court here today when an attorney representing John A. Garver, a New York lawyer, who is the guardian of Miss Nicoll, pleaded for an allowance of $5,000.

The judge recalled that last year only $2,000 was needed for such a trip and asked for an explanation.

"Well, it's like this," explained the attorney. "Miss Nicoll was pursued across the ocean by a chap called Dan Cupid and was wounded by his darts. To be frank, she now needs $5,000 for her trousseau and ante-nuptial expenses, including the second trip to Europe."

It developed that Miss Nicoll, who is twenty years old, is engaged to wed Gordon Pullman Bailey, of London, late in the summer. She met Mr. Bailey, who is prominent in social and business circles, on her trip abroad last year, and the two decided not to wait until she reached her majority.

CLAIMANTS BESIEGE BRYAN

Army of Fakers Seek Aid of the Secretary of State.

Washington, April 23.—Every proprietor of a fake claim against a foreign country, every exploiter of a claim which has not, in his estimation, received justice from the Department of State and its representatives, every litigious person whose contentions were denied by the last or previous Republican administration, has come to Washington, and all are fairly besieging the Secretary of State.

In some instances, it is asserted, Mr. Bryan is himself misled by the specious pleas made to him and his suspensions of the last administration, and lends some measure of encouragement to his callers, although he is gradually coming to realize that his peace of mind depends on his preserving a purely neutral attitude until he has had an opportunity to learn something of the facts from an unprejudiced source.

IMPARTIAL IN RATE CASES

Government Taking Sides with No One, Says McReynolds.

Washington, April 23.—Attorney General McReynolds today told L. A. Smith, Attorney General of Minnesota, that the federal department of justice was "not taking sides" with any one in the state rate cases now before the Supreme Court.

Mr. Smith and Thomas D. O'Brien, counsel for the state of Minnesota in the rate case, conferred with the Attorney General and Assistant Attorney General Danison to ascertain the purpose of the federal government in filing a brief in the cases on Monday.

Mr. McReynolds said the government had not intervened, but had filed a brief as a "friend of the court," setting forth the facts and law involved in a Texas case now before the commerce court. While the issues are similar they are based upon a different set of facts, and the Attorney General said the department's move was simply to give the Supreme Court all information in its possession relating to the questions involved.

He assured the Minnesotans it was not his purpose to take the part of either side in the state cases.

STANDARD INQUIRY RESUMED

Charles B. Morrison Returns to Task After Illness.

Washington, April 23.—The government's investigation of the Standard Oil Company to determine whether the decree of dissolution had been violated was resumed with renewed energy today when Charles B. Morrison, special assistant to the Attorney General, returned to duty after an illness of several weeks.

Over E. E. Pagan, the other government attorney in charge of the inquiry, has been working single handed in the meantime. The investigation will not be terminated for some time.

"JACK" JOHNSON FINED

Pugilist to Pay $1,000 and Forfeit Pearl Necklace.

Chicago, April 23.—"Jack" Johnson, the negro pugilist, was fined $1,000 by Judge Carpenter in the United States District Court today, after charges of smuggling a $2,000 necklace had been dropped and the heavyweight had pleaded nolle contendere to charges of concealing from federal officials the fact that he had the jewelry in his possession.

The necklace was declared forfeited to the government, and probably will be sold at auction.

This action winds up the lesser of two cases which the federal authorities have against Johnson. He is still to come to trial on an indictment charging violation of the Mann "white slave" law.

The necklace was brought into this country when the pugilist and his first wife, who afterward committed suicide, returned from a European tour.

HELD AS CHURCH THIEF

Woman Arrested Took Purse of Worshipper, Police Say.

A woman who described herself as Miss Agnes Burns, a teacher, forty-nine years old, living at the Colonial Hotel, Eighth avenue and 125th street, was arrested last night in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Jean Baptiste, 76th street and Lexington avenue.

Mrs. Annette Gerard, of No. 1017 Madison avenue, according to the police, said that she saw Miss Burns remove a purse from her, Mrs. Gerard's, handbag as it lay beside her in a pew. Mrs. Gerard seized Miss Burns and cried "Thief," causing a commotion among the congregation.

Patrolman Eagen was called in and Miss Burns was arrested. According to the police, when she was searched at the station, four purses, each containing a small amount of change, were found in her possession. None was identified by Mrs. Gerard as belonging to her.

When arraigned in the Women's Night Court Miss Burns told Magistrate McQuade she had been ill and went into the church to see the Belle of St. Ann and the Shrine of St. Anthony, hoping to be cured thereby. She felt faint, she said, and took a seat in the pew next to Mrs. Gerard. She denied that she had taken the purses.

Magistrate McQuade, however, held her in $500 bail for Special Sessions.

CRAZED BY SUDDEN WEALTH.

Harry Keenan, thirty-five years old, of No. 287 Union avenue, Williamsburg, is under observation in Kings County Hospital. He became violently insane yesterday in his home and tried to jump from a window. Keenan, who was poor, recently inherited money, and it is believed that his joy at his good fortune unbalanced his mind.

RESORTS.

SANITARIUMS and Health Resorts.

A registry containing information regarding class of cases treated at the best American institutions. Working along the most scientific lines, the interests and comfort of patients are thoroughly safeguarded under the most approved methods and sanitary conditions.

Booklets or circulars of the following sanitariums and health resorts may be obtained by calling on or telephoning to Tribune Information Bureau, 220 Tribune Building, New York. Telephone 3009 Beekman.

THE BANCROFT SANITARIUM

BUTLER, MORRIS COUNTY, N. J. A beautifully located Sanitarium for the care and treatment of Nervous, Rheumatic, Drug and Liqueur habitations and Invalids from any cause. Separate buildings and grounds for children. Average stay, six weeks. Uncongenial associations. Ideal for rest and recuperation. Liniments with attendance sent for patients.

Sanitarium Phone 21 Butler. NEWARK OFFICE: THE MEN'S INN, BLDG Telephone 4467 Market.

WHERE AND WHY

The Glens Sanitarium at Stamford, Conn., for the treatment of Nervous and Rheumatic Diseases. Average stay, six weeks. Separate buildings and grounds for children. Average stay, six weeks. Uncongenial associations. Ideal for rest and recuperation. Liniments with attendance sent for patients.

Address: DR. GIVENS, or phone 76, Stamford, Conn.

KENSETT

On the Green, NOBOLK, VA. For treatment of nervous patients—alcoholism and drug habitations. Dr. Edwin Everitt Smith, Telephone 400, 1000 Broadway, N. Y. Tel. 4000.

DR. MUIR'S INHALATORIUM

The only institution in America for the scientific treatment of Asthma, Bronchitis and Catarrh of the Larynx and Pharynx. Dr. J. M. Muir, M. D., Late Senior Physician to the New York Throat, Nose and Lung Hospital, Visiting Physician to the St. Mark's Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital.

THE JACKSON HEALTH RESORT

on Delaware & Lackawanna Railway DANVILLE, NEW YORK If seeking a place for Health or rest do not fail to write or ask Tribune Bureau for literature and a large picture showing the wonderful scenic location.

DR. ROSS' HEALTH RESORT

BRENTWOOD, NEW YORK In the Pines of Long Island. Offers the comforts and conveniences of a home, with the best medical care of physicians and nurses. For Booklet and Rates address W. H. ROSS, M. D.

AN ABSOLUTE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM AND NEURITIS

at Dr. Vaughan's Sanatorium, 110 West End Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. His Booklet tells the story. It's Free. Send for it.

RIVERLAWN

49 Totowa Ave. Mental & nervous diseases; baths, massage & electricity. DANIEL T. MILLSPATGH, M. D. N. Y. Office, 121 W. 75 St. WEd. 8421, H. 4-8.

TELFAIR Sanitarium, GREENSBORO

for nervous diseases, alcoholism and drug addictions. Location ideal; equipment complete. Ideal rest cure. Booklet, W. C. Anworth, M. D. Tel. 4000.

DUTCHER SANITARIUM

191 Edgemoor ave. Quiet, refined surroundings; all conveniences. Home-like atmosphere. Physicians' care. Rates on application. Phone Audubon 2255.

"WOODCOURT"

So. Norwalk, Ct. One hour from N. Y. Private sanitarium, situated at the foot of a mountain. Modern, fireproof, elevator. Rest cure. Nervous breakdown, drug, rheumatic, etc. Tel. or write Dr. W. A. DUBOIS.

SECRETARY OF THE STATE

W. H. ROSS, M. D. Every family knows the value of medical science for the cure of invalids. Investigation desired. Moderate rates. Booklet free for the asking.

GRAND VIEW SANITARIUM

Norwich, Conn. For nervous and mental diseases, alcoholism and drug habit. John J. Donohue, M. D. N. Y. Office, 411 West End Ave., Phone 4533 Sebua.

DR. HOW'S SANATORIUM

Private sanitarium, situated at the foot of a mountain. Modern, fireproof, elevator. Rest cure. Nervous breakdown, drug, rheumatic, etc. Tel. or write Dr. W. A. DUBOIS.

BROWN'S MILLS SANITARIUM

For the treatment of tuberculosis. Brown's Mills in the Pines, New Jersey. MARCUS W. NEWCOMB, Medical Director.

THE BETHESDA, N. Y.

DR. BUGBES'S SANITARIUM. All cases admitted except contagious and mental. Terms reasonable. Send for booklet.

"DR. STONG'S"

THE SARATOGA SPRINGS SANITARIUM. Open continuously for fifty-seven years. Same family management. For Health, Rest and Recreation. Write for Booklet N.

DR. C. O. SMILER SANITARIUM

KINGSTON-IN-HULL, ENGLAND. A private sanitarium for nervous and functional disorders. Baths, massage, electricity, etc. Booklet free for the asking.

THE SQUIRE'S SANITARIUM

Open to all physicians and surgeons for medical, surgical and mental cases. For Health, Rest and Recreation. Write for Booklet N.

"ON-THE-HILL" HEALTH RESORT

Waterbury,