

Four Records Smashed in Quaker Relay Games

Twenty-five Thousand See Spectacular Races on Franklin Field.

NICHOLSON A BRIGHT STAR

Equals World's Record in Trials for High Hurdles, but Disqualifies Himself in Semi-Finals.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Philadelphia, April 26.—Twenty-five thousand spectators saw more than fifteen hundred schoolboy and college athletes compete in the annual relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania at Franklin Field this afternoon, at which four intercollegiate records were shattered and one world's mark equalled.

To Michigan in the two-mile championship relay, Phillips Exeter in the preparatory school championship, Pennsylvania, '13, in the freshman relay and Lee J. Talbot, the one-time Cornell hammer thrower, in the discus, got the honors of establishing new records, while J. P. Nicholson, of the University of Missouri, equalled the world's mark in the high hurdles.

Illinois, Michigan and Pennsylvania captured the coveted relay championships. The Illinois four romped away with the one-mile title, while Michigan was forced by Dartmouth to establish a new record in winning the two-mile championship.

Both the freshman relay race and the four-mile college championship were secured for Pennsylvania. In the former the Quakers found poor opposition in the Columbia freshmen, while in the four-mile race the Pennsylvania four beat Princeton by 30 yards, thanks to the splendid running of McCurdy in the third relay. To Phillips Exeter Mercersburg relinquished its hold on the one-mile preparatory school championship, which was won a year ago largely through the efforts of Ted Meredith. The Exeter lads ran a wonderful race and clipped one second off the record of 3 minutes 27.5 seconds which Meredith's team made on Franklin Field last year.

Perfect weather conditions and a crowd that far exceeded in numbers any former gathering for the relay games greeted the host of athletes when they appeared on the field. In all, forty-seven events were decided, in which 290 teams participated. So well worked out and so well executed were the plans for the meet that there was no confusion at any time and the final race was finished right on the scheduled minute. The crowd was gathered largely from Philadelphia and New York, but there was a fair sized delegation from the West, which whooped it up when the Western teams won.

Michigan's victory in the two-mile race was the central feature of the day's performance. The Wolverines, Dartmouth, Virginia and Pennsylvania were the only teams to toe the mark, Princeton and M. T. failing to appear. Cooke, of Virginia, set the pace for the first lap, and it was not until he was swinging into the stretch that Granger, of Dartmouth, passed him and took the lead. Brown, of Michigan, apparently was content to stay third, though he sprinted and just caught the Southerner at the end of the relay. Marceau, of Dartmouth, and Jansen, of Michigan, had it nip and tuck in the second relay, but the Hanoverian stuck to his task and touched off Harmon to a ten-yard lead. Hoff, third of the Wolverines, set out after Harmon like a whirlwind and caught him in the first furlong. He strode on with wonderful speed, but weakened at the end, and Harmon gave a twelve-yard lead to Dolan at the beginning of the final relay. Halmhaug took up the running for the Westerners, and in 100 yards had cut down Dolan's lead. He passed him on the second lap and won by a wonderful sprint.

YALE TAKES IT OUT ON PENNSYLVANIA

Blue Gets Revenge for Its Only Defeat by College Nine This Season.

QUAKERS WELL TROUNCED

Captain Imlay Weakens Under Hammering and the Elis Get Eight Runs in the Fifth Frame.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] New Haven, April 26.—Yale took sweet revenge on the only college team which has been able to defeat it thus far this season by overwhelming Pennsylvania at Yale Field this afternoon by a score of 13 to 5. It was a complete rout for Pennsylvania, and the only reason it wasn't worse was because, with the score 13 to 1 at the end of the seventh, Yale and the Quaker team let down and took it easy thereafter.

About seven thousand persons, the largest crowd of the season, went to the field and howled themselves hoarse. Interest in the game was intense, and the victory was all the more remarkable because it makes Yale's fifth straight victory in this week alone. Yale has lost only three out of eighteen games, two of the defeats being by the Giants.

For four innings the game was extremely close. Each team had scored one run, although Yale had wasted good chances by poor baserunning at critical moments, and both teams played under a high tension. Yale had been hitting Imlay hard and often, but could not score, while Pennsylvania had made its single hit off Gile court for a run and was giving Imlay perfect support. A special reserved section of Pennsylvania alumni rooters cheered their own team on.

The deluge broke in the fifth, when Yale's aggressive hammering told on Imlay, and after he had passed the first blossom and Riddell in succession, and Cornish, Pumphrey and Schofield followed with singles. Gile's single and Gordon's error gave Yale a total of eight runs, while the great crowd shook the grandstand.

Imlay elected to stay in the box the next inning, but Yale continued its savage attack, and after filling the bases again with one out by two singles and an error, Sayre replaced Captain Imlay. Schofield and Burdett held the reserve pitcher for two safe drives, which with his wild pitch added four more runs to the big Yale total. Yale had no further chance to score in the game.

Yale's first run was made in the second inning, when Pumphrey, the football hero, led off with a line drive just inside third base which was good for three bases, and he scored a moment later on a short passed ball. Yale had excellent chances to score in the first and fourth, getting two safe hits and a pass in the first, but headless baserunning lost several probable runs.

Gile retired Pennsylvania in order for the first three innings, but in the fourth the Quakers scored their first run, when Coleman walked, was sacrificed to second and scored on Minda's single to right. His runner would have scored had not Pumphrey held the ball too long.

Gile allowed only two hits in the first seven innings. The score follows: YALE, ab r h po a; PENNSYLVANIA, ab r h po a. M. Brock, cf, 5; J. Martin, rf, 5; R. Kelly, 3b, 5; G. C. Corbett, 2b, 5; J. B. Blossom, 1b, 5; C. J. Riddell, 1b, 5; J. P. Cornish, 2b, 5; J. L. Toomey, 2b, 5; J. Pumphrey, 2b, 5; A. M. Gordon, 2b, 5; J. Schofield, 2b, 5; J. Burdett, 2b, 5; J. Gile, 2b, 5; J. Imlay, 2b, 5; J. Sayre, 2b, 5; J. H. Hales, 2b, 5.

Yale's aggressive hammering told on Imlay, and after he had passed the first blossom and Riddell in succession, and Cornish, Pumphrey and Schofield followed with singles. Gile's single and Gordon's error gave Yale a total of eight runs, while the great crowd shook the grandstand.
