

OUTINGS FOR ALL IF YOU WILL PAY THE FARE

Country Folk Have Opened Their Doors as Never Before to the City's Poor.

855 INVITATIONS ON HAND

Coming in Fast, and if Those Who Can Help Do, Not a Youngster Who Needs It Will Lack a Vacation.

From all over the city these days comes the cry: "Won't you send me to the country, please?" The one who pleads is probably a little girl or an undersized lad in rags. Or the cry may be: "Can't you send my children, please?"

These are trying times for the poor and the children of the poor in their crowded-up quarters in the tenements. On a day like yesterday a tenement home is an almost unbearable place. Its discomforts are difficult to describe adequately to one who has never been among them.

Up to this time The Tribune Fresh Air Fund has listened to all applicants, whether their plea was made in person or through somebody interested in them. Nobody seeking an outing has been finally refused except those who were evidently not in need of such aid as The Tribune fund gives.

For the first few weeks each summer applicants are sent off as fast as places can be found for them. About this time, however, it becomes necessary to take stock and look ahead a bit, for the expenses of the work begin to pile up, and an estimate must be made of what it seems wise to plan for the future.

There are still seven weeks left of the active Fresh Air season. What can be planned and accomplished in them rests with the friends of the children who support the Fresh Air work. This year, moreover, a peculiar situation exists, in that the future rests entirely with those who may lend financial aid to the work.

Invitations from the country for the children from those who will receive them into their homes as guests are coming in unprecedented numbers, so fast, in fact, that the Fresh Air Fund staff can scarcely handle them. For next Tuesday alone there are 855 places to be filled, most of them among the country people of Central New York and Northeastern Pennsylvania. And the flood of invitations seems on the increase rather than the decrease.

What shall be done with these invitations? Last year many had to be declined, invitations to the most beautiful rural districts of the East. All that is necessary to enable the Fund to take up every available invitation is that funds for mere traveling expenses be provided. Every other expense will be borne by friends in the country.

Will the friends—old and new—ones of the Fresh Air cause provide the money for this purpose? Not a poor child in the whole city need lack a fortnight's joy in the country this year if the friends who can give will fit for the friends in the country have opened wide their doors.

Henry G. Trevor, president; Henry E. Coe, vice-president; Henry D. Whitfield, secretary; Harry Pelham Robbin, treasurer; dog show committee, Mrs. Harry Whitney McVecker, chairman, Mrs. Peter B. Wyckoff, Miss Zilla de Milbau, Henry G. Trevor, Henry D. Whitfield, Mrs. Charles Steele, committee on arrangements; Mrs. Russell H. Hoadley, jr., chairman; Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, Mrs. Harry Pelham Robbin, Mrs. Henry G. Trevor, Mrs. P. P. Chambers, Mrs. G. Warrington Curtis and Mrs. Sydney S. Bress.

Mrs. Henry G. Trevor was the owner of the famous Meadowbrook Kennels, located here a few years ago. Many visitors, it is expected, will be attracted here by this new feature in the summer life. Membership is open to all persons, and it is expected there will be a large list before the first show in 1914.

MRS. GAYNOR DISAPPOINTS

Pleads Engagement to Suffragists Who Were to Call.

Mrs. Augusta C. Gaynor, wife of Mayor Gaynor, disappointed the suffragists who were planning to call on her yesterday to talk over a few little things connected with the "cause." Mrs. Gaynor sent the following telegram message to Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch:

"Sorry cannot receive delegation this week. Important engagement takes me away."

Mrs. Blatch is not discouraged, however. She places a lot of emphasis on the "this week." She is sure that means that the Mayor's wife is essentially friendly to the "cause" and will receive its representatives next week.

Mrs. Blatch and her co-workers, Mrs. Florence Maude Cooley and Mrs. Raymond Brown, are conducting a suffrage campaign which is making the echoes in every village and bathing pavilion in the folk country. This afternoon there is to be a luncheon at Mrs. Blatch's home in Shoreham, followed by a water carnival and reception for the distinguished residents of the county at which, if all had gone well, Mrs. Gaynor would have been the guest of honor.

MRS. G. H. CURTIS MAY LIVE

Has Fighting Chance for Life After Auto Crash.

Greenwich, Conn., July 18.—It is believed to-day that Mrs. G. H. Curtis, who was injured severely in an automobile accident here yesterday, has a fighting chance for life. James Lunny, her chauffeur, and Edward Smith, Elton Houghton Hooker's driver, are under arrest awaiting the results of an autopsy.

Lunny was unable to walk to court to-day. His limbs are cut badly. To-night the hospital authorities said there had been a consultation of specialists, and that Mrs. Curtis seemed a trifle easier, although her condition is still very serious.

MATINEE K. O. FOR CRIME

Sheriff Julius Plans Devil's Downfall by Theatrical Route.

Sheriff Julius Harbarger, known to every schoolchild as the bitter enemy and relentless foe of the criminal, has suffered a curious change in his attitude toward this class of society since his recent visit to the Etna Theatre for the official purpose of analyzing and studying "Within the Law."

Doubtless, the association with theatrical men has influenced the Sheriff in his abrupt change, for he seems to have acquired their methods of announcing plans, and makes it known to the world that he is henceforth bent on bringing comfort and help to his one-time enemies now languishing in Sing Sing prison.

"Within the Law," said the Sheriff yesterday, "must be played to them at a matinee. It will at once show them the error of their ways and cause them to lead better lives. Besides which, the management is friendly disposed to me."

Just as soon as the Sheriff reached his office a letter was penned to the warden at Sing Sing, notifying him of the great little idea. The combined management and press department of "Within the Law" await the warden's reply with eager interest.

ABORN BACK WITH CENTURY CONTRACTS

Predicts Big Success for Many Operas of Which He Has Exclusive Producing Rights.

WILL REPEAT "TIEFLAND"

To Interchange Singers with Boston and May Secure Great Russian Ballet and Extra Company from London.

Milton Aborn, director of the Century Opera Company, who has been abroad for several months in search of singers and operatic rights, returned yesterday by the Cunard liner Mauretania, laden with contracts for the opening season of opera at the Century Theatre. While abroad he arranged to take over some of the members of the Boston Opera staff.

"I heard some exceptionally fine singers," said Mr. Aborn, "among them many of American birth. I have engaged the most desirable of them for the Century Company. Among those with whom I signed contracts are Lutz Ewell, Ivy Scott, Evelyn Scotney and Elizabeth Amsden, sopranos; Kathleen Howard, contralto; Gustav Bergmann, Walter Wheatley, Morran Kingstons and James Barsley, tenors; Thomas Chalmers and Louis Kreidler, baritones; Alfred Kaufmann, basso, and Hugh Schussler, bass-baritone. Misses Scotney and Amsden are regularly under contract with the Boston Opera Company, and are to be loaned to us.

In Paris Mr. Aborn secured the exclusive American rights for "Louise," "Samson and Delilah," "Macon," "Le Jongleur" and "Julien." An offer was made to "Saint-Saens" to come to America to conduct "Samson," but his age prevented, he being nearly eighty. "Tiefland," which failed here at the Metropolitan, was secured, and will be presented at the Century, and will be presented at the Century, and will be presented at the Century.

Options were secured also on "Du Barry" and "Jean of Arc." "Henry VIII" was secured from Saint-Saens. "Don Quichotte" will be produced in the spring at the Century by permission of Campanini, who has the rights for two years.

A proposition was made by Sir Joseph Beecham to send his entire Russian ballet and opera company to the Century. If the offer is accepted 29 persons will give exhibitions such as never have been seen in this country.

Mr. Aborn declared that much of the artistic atmosphere of the European capitals was honey-combed with graft. Concerning the influence of American dollars in procuring hearings for singers of mediocre talent Mr. Aborn said:

"An ordinary singer can procure a single performance in one of the foremost opera houses if he can and will pay a thousand dollars or so to an agent who has some connection with the management. On the other hand, a really great artist has a long and almost hopeless struggle unless he has a lot of money with which to buy his way to a proper hearing."

"There are agents who will give a young singer or musician a concert appearance for a stated sum, furnishing the audience, the cloaque and the criticisms for various additional payments. On every hand there are teachers promoting ordinary singers, whose hopes are kept at a high pitch by predictions of operatic triumphs to come. The higher the pupil's hopes the faster he pays his money to the teacher."

"The American opera producer who goes abroad to engage artists is besieged by agents and teachers, who waste three-quarters of his time in having him listen to singers who have much money but no talent."

OCEAN GROVE PAID CHOIR

Concerts There Netted Welsh Singers Handsome Sum, Says T. E. Morgan.

Ocean Grove, N. J., July 18.—The report that the Rhanda Male Choir of Wales is stranded in this country was received with much regret here, where the singers were heard in the big Auditorium previous to going to Pittsburgh, where they won the international Elsteddoff prize of $1,000.

The story in connection with the choir's failure to the effect that the receipts of three concerts here fell far below expectations is denied by T. E. Morgan, director of the choir at the Auditorium. On the contrary, Mr. Morgan declares that the singers were paid a "handsome sum" for their concerts in Ocean Grove.

BEAUTY ENMESSES MOOSE

Lillian Russell's Spouse to Quit T. R. Paper and Make Lotions.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Pittsburgh, July 18.—Lillian Russell's husband, Alexander P. Moore, president and editor of "The Pittsburgh Leader," which has for its political slogan "For President in 1916, Theodore Roosevelt," will forsake journalism to engage in manufacturing his wife's beauty lotions, according to his friends here.

Moore is said to have confided his ambition before going to Europe, where he is now spending a vacation, which is to terminate late next month. He is expected to resign officially on his return.

It has also been generally reported that political and business interests have besought William Flinn, Bull Moose leader in Pennsylvania, to bring about the change.

DECIDES FOR ORCHESTRAS

Surrogate Finds Requests Should Not Be Taxed.

Surrogate Fowler yesterday handed down an adverse decision upon an appeal by the State Controller from an order of the Surrogate assessing a transfer tax on the estate of Alfred L. Seigman, who died June 21, 1913, and left bequests to the Young Men's Symphony Orchestra and the People's Symphony Concerts.

The Controller contended that the appraiser erred in exempting these bequests and that he had undervalued certain specific bequests of a collection of musical instruments left to the Young Men's Symphony Orchestra. In addition to the collection, this corporation received $30,000.

The Surrogate said the purpose of the People's Symphony Concerts are to provide musical entertainment and instruction to the public and to encourage and develop the taste and study for music, and the purposes have been lived up to.

The Surrogate decided that the bequests are exempt because of the educational character of the organizations and dismissed the appeal of the Controller.

KLAW & ERLANGER BUSY

Firm Plans More Plays than Ever for New Season.

Klaw & Erlanger plan a greater number of productions than ever for the coming season. Among the announcements made yesterday is the coming presentation of "The Winning of Barbara Worth," a dramatization by Edward Milton Royle of Harold Bell Wright's novel.

Another new play, "Silk," by Frank Mandel and Helen Kraft, will appear early in the season. Bert Williams is to appear as Friday in an elaborate production of "Robinson Crusoe," to be written by Glen MacDonough.

About the first of October Elsie Ferguson will appear in a new comedy by William J. Hurlbut entitled "A Strange Woman." Later in the season "Marie Claire," a drama by A. E. Thomas, will be produced. The play is based upon Pierre Fenel's "Montmartre," which appeared some time ago in Paris.

Contracts have been entered into for the production during the season of the operetta "The Envious Butterfly," by Landau and Granichstaden. The operetta is scheduled for early production in Berlin and Vienna under the title "Nadine." "The Ideal Wife," Franz Lehár's operetta, will be produced this season, and also "The Circassian Beauty," by Willner and Steffan. Klaw & Erlanger plan for their many successful plays tours including not alone the leading cities of the Pacific Coast, but the rapidly growing cities of the Canadian Northwest.

The six New York theatres under the management of Klaw & Erlanger will begin the season early. They are the New Amsterdam, Liberty, Gaiety, Cohan, Grand Opera House and Aerial Theatre, on the New Amsterdam roof. "The Merry Martyr," the musical comedy based on the "Narentang" of Leo Brinkli, will go into rehearsal Monday and be produced out of town in September. The company for "The Little Cafe," by McLellan and Caryll, is being organized, and will include Hazel Dawn.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"The Passing Show of 1913" will open at the Winter Garden Theatre to-night, instead of Monday night, as was announced.

Blanche Bates, who has been playing in the A. E. W. Mason play, "The Witness for the Defence," will close her season to-night at the Mason Theatre, Los Angeles, and will return to New York to prepare for her early New York appearance in the Barrio play, "Half Hour," which will be produced for her by Charles Frohman, in conjunction with the Stanley Houghton play, "The Younger Generation."

Seymour Brown, the song writer, with a company of twenty-five, will present to-morrow at the Harlem Opera House a new tabloid musical comedy, "The Bachelor's Dinner."

The engagement of the Indian Players, now presenting "Hawatha" at Fieldston, with the consent of Robert Stuart Pigott, has been indefinitely extended, and probably will continue until Labor Day, after which the Indians will return to their reservation to celebrate the Green Corn Festival.

Douglas Fairbanks, who arrived on board the Celtic yesterday, will appear in a new play, entitled "Cooper Hoop, Inc.," which will open in the Gaiety Theatre September 1, under the direction of Cohen & Harris. The play is the work of Hugh Ford and James Montgomery. Percival Knight, who also came home on board the Celtic, will appear with Donald Brian in a production of "The Marriage Market," which will be given at the Knickerbocker Theatre here early in September. The piece is being done with success, he said last night, by George Edwards at Daly's Theatre, London. The translation is by Miss Gladys Unger, an American woman.

Thomas Dixon, author of "The Southerner," has established an office for the production of his plays under his own direction. He has obtained control of "The Clansman," "The Traitor" and "The Sins of the Fathers" from the Southern Amusement Company. "The Sins of the Fathers" will be given its Northern production in Peekskill, August 18. His new play, a dramatization of "The Leopard's Spots," will open in Norfolk, Va., September 15.
