

SULZER WILL ENTER RACE FOR ASSEMBLY

Friends Declare He Intends to Accept Nomination by Progressives.

TO LEAVE ALBANY TO-DAY

Will Come Here and Then, at Wife's Request, Will Go to the Mountains for Several Weeks.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Albany, Oct. 19.—Indications to-night were that William Sulzer would make the race for Assemblyman from the 6th District.

Friends said at midnight that unless he changed his mind before to-morrow he would accept the Progressive nomination, which has been tentatively offered to him. Since his impeachment he has been petitioned by a large body of voters in the district to run.

Sulzer's plan, according to his friends, now is to leave here to-morrow for New York, where he will hold a conference with 6th District leaders. He is said to have reached this decision late to-night at the executive mansion. He has secluded himself from newspaper men.

Because of the weather former Governor and Mrs. Sulzer did not take their final leave of the Executive Mansion to-day, as expected.

Sulzer Gets Ready to Leave.

They did not go to church as usual this morning, received no visitors during the day, and, with the exception of a short automobile ride this afternoon, spent most of the day in preparing for their departure, which probably will take place to-morrow.

It is not now expected that the deposed Governor will go to Cooperstown, but, with his wife, will travel directly to New York.

Mrs. Sulzer has told friends that they will stop at a New York hotel for a few days, until they can get settled in a new apartment. She will then insist on her husband going to a quiet place in the Catskills or some other mountain resort for several weeks to rest after the trying experiences he has gone through.

Governor Glynn, with the exception of the time he attended services at St. Mary's Church this morning, remained quietly at his home, in Cedarhill, entertaining a few personal friends.

He will make no endeavor to meet his predecessor before Mr. Sulzer leaves Albany to-morrow.

Governor Glynn will enter the regular executive chamber at the Capitol to-morrow if the repairs it is undergoing are completed.

A force of a dozen men, under the direction of Chester C. Platt, the former Governor's secretary, removed all of Sulzer's property from the executive chamber to-day and shipped it to a storehouse in New York.

Several of Sulzer's personal friends to-day expressed the opinion that he soon would go on the lecture platform. He regards the offers he has received in a favorable light, they said, and he realizes that there is no time like the present.

The followers of the former Executive were jubilant to-day over the number of persons who visited the mansion last night to witness the presentation of a loving cup to him. While Sulzer appreciated the spirit of the gathering, he was somewhat vexed because one of his admirers carried off his familiar black slouch campaign hat.

Admirer Takes Sulzer's Hat.

The man that got the hat, who is well known in Brooklyn, proudly displayed it to friends to-day and declared that nothing could induce him to part with it.

Four new flower beds, which workmen finished yesterday in the front yard at the mansion, were ruined by the crowd tramping over them, and the sod was torn from the lawn in many places.

Temporary homes were found to-day for the impeached Executive's three dogs, which have become familiar, in a friendly way, with all visitors at the "People's House" in the last few weeks. Sulzer was worried for a time over what would become of them while he and Mrs. Sulzer were finding a new home for themselves.

An Auburn friend adopted one, a rare specimen of the blue bull type, and Emil Kavorick, the New York sailor boy and faithful bodyguard of Sulzer, took the other two home with him.

Patsy, an Irish terrier and Sulzer's favorite, had many homes offered him, but Kavorick put up such a strong plea for him that he got the prize. When Sulzer settles down, however, Patsy must be returned.

ROCKEFELLER DELAYS TRIP

Wife's Illness Again Postpones Journey to New York.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Cleveland, Oct. 19.—The utmost secrecy is maintained by the Rockefeller family and physicians regarding the nature of the ailment which is confining Mrs. John D. Rockefeller to her home, and which prevented the family's return to Pocantico Hills to-day. Only the fact that Mrs. Rockefeller has become almost totally deaf has been allowed to become public.

Mr. Rockefeller said to-day, after church services, that his wife's condition was such that she could not stand the long trip to New York. He added it would be impossible for him to go to New York in time to vote at the Mayorality election.

Even the closest personal friends of the Rockefellers profess to be in ignorance regarding the true cause of Mrs. Rockefeller's illness. She has not been at church or seen in public for several weeks.

PRESENTATION OF LOVING CUP TO EX-GOVERNOR SULZER AT ALBANY.

GREAT ARMADA TO SAIL THROUGH PANAMA CANAL

All Nations Expected to Send Warships to Join in Celebration of Completion.

100 MAY BE IN FLEET

After Review by President Vessels Will Go from Hampton Roads to San Francisco.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Anchored in Hampton Roads early in 1915 will be the greatest international fleet ever gathered in American waters, assembled in answer to the invitation of the United States government to celebrate the completion of the Panama Canal by making a voyage to the Pacific through the new waterway.

The precise number of vessels which will lie in the famous roadstead is not yet known to the officers of the Navy Department in charge of the arrangements for rendezvous, as so far there have been no formal responses received to the invitations dispatched by the State Department to all of the nations of the world.

Some of the nations with great navies may be represented by squadrons of four or more warships; others by only one or two, and some of the countries practically without navies including vessels of the first class will be represented only in the person of their legations and commissions to the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

The formal invitation of the United States was dispatched to all the diplomatic officers of the United States abroad, September 17 last, by Secretary Bryan. It recited the fact that in the navy appropriation act of 1911 the President was authorized to request in extending his invitation to foreign nations to participate in the exposition also to invite "their representatives and their fleets to assemble at Hampton Roads, Va., and from thence come to the city of Washington, there to be formally welcomed by the President." The President also is to send to Hampton Roads to review the assembled fleets as they start on their voyage to San Francisco.

It is expected that the American invitation will meet with general acceptance, and the result will be the gathering of a fleet of perhaps twenty-five or a hundred warships of the best type, for the reason that slow and antiquated vessels would be unable to keep pace with the rest of the fleet in the cruise from Hampton Roads to the Golden Gate.

The international fleet will probably be under command of an American vice-admiral, in all likelihood Cameron McR. Winslow, for it is expected that Congress, which has authorized the assembly, will make provision for this new grade rather than have the American commander outranked by some foreign naval officer.

The ceremonies at Hampton Roads and the time required for a visit to Washington by the foreign visitors will consume about a week or ten days, and then, headed by the American fleet, probably with the super-dreadnaught New York at the right of the column, the great armada will take its way southward for Colon.

It is estimated that about four days will be required to pass the fleet through the locks and the canal and about twice that length of time will suffice to replenish the coal bunkers and oil tanks of the ships before they resume their cruise, this time steaming northward for San Francisco.

Altogether, it is planned to make the complete voyage from Hampton Roads to the Golden Gate in forty-two days, which will include a stop of a day or two at some convenient harbor or roadstead on the Pacific Coast, probably Magdalena Bay, for additional fuel and supplies.

At San Francisco there will be elaborate ceremonies conducted under the auspices of the management of the exposition, and when these have concluded, the great fleet will break up and the different squadrons start for their respective home ports.

$16,800 SKIM MILK FINE

Penalty of $100 a Can Imposed on New York Dealers.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 19.—A penalty of $16,800 against Nathan Abramson and Aaron Fischneider, milk dealers of New York City, has been directed by Justice A. F. Gladding, of the Supreme Court, on a penalty action brought by the state for skimming cream from milk brought to the Arena Creamery. The court fixed a penalty of $100 a can for 168 cans.

In February, 1911, a similar case involving 356 cans was tried, and a verdict rendered of $50 a can.

FLAMES SWEEP OVER GREAT R. R. TERMINALS

East St. Louis Suffering from Fire Which Has Spread to Business Section.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—The entire railroad terminals of East St. Louis, said to be the largest in the United States, were threatened with destruction by a fire which began on the bank of the Mississippi River to-night and rapidly spread in three directions. The damage already done will amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

At 11 o'clock the fire was raging on the properties of the Advance Grain Company, the Chicago & Alton freight house, the Baltimore & Ohio freight house and in the car-filled railroad yards.

Not long before midnight the elevator of the Advance Grain Company, where the fire, is believed to have started, collapsed, part of the burning debris sliding into the river.

The fire spread to the Clover Leaf warehouse and the business section of East St. Louis.

All telephone and telegraph wires in the vicinity are down.

BISHOP SHOT SAYING MASS

Hit in Head by Madman, but Continues Service.

Harbor Grace, N. F., Oct. 19.—While conducting mass to-day Bishop March, a Roman Catholic prelate, was fired on by James Hare, believed to be insane. One shot grazed the head of the Bishop, wounding him slightly, while another bullet buried itself in the altar.

Hare had been sitting quietly in his seat during the service, when without warning he jumped up suddenly, drew a revolver and began shooting at the Bishop. He had fired twice before several powerful fishermen seated near him rushed forward and clutched his arm, taking away the weapon and overpowering him. Later Hare was placed under arrest and locked up.

In spite of his injury Bishop March continued the service as if nothing had happened, after a physician had bound up his head.

STRANGERS KNIFE HIM

Young Man Stabbed by Trio, and Can Give No Reason.

William Urban, twenty-two years old, of No. 128 North 4th street, Williamsburg, was attacked early yesterday morning by three strange men, who slashed him with knives on the head, face, chest and arms.

The attack occurred at Grand street and Driggs avenue while Urban was on his way home. The three men leaped at him from the doorway of a store, where he was found and removed to the Eastern District Hospital.

The police of the Bedford avenue station were notified, but Urban was unable to give a description of his assailants nor could he give a reason for the assault.

WOMAN SHOT AUG. 2 DIES

Victim of Insane Salesman Succumbs at Hospital.

Bessie Silverman, of No. 230 West 113th street, died yesterday in the Neurological Institute. East 67th street, from bullet wounds inflicted on August 2 last by Abraham Fink, a jewelry salesman of Buffalo, who committed suicide.

Fink met the woman some years ago in Buffalo. Early in July she went to Atlantic City, and on her return to this city, August 1, Fink made an appointment to meet her at Fifth avenue and 30th street the next day. When they got together Fink began to quarrel with the woman, and she, disgusted, was turning from him when he shot her twice. As she fell he shot her again, the bullet entering at the base of her neck, near the spine. Fink then killed himself.

of my speech, and yet I was misrepresented.

"As a rule the news stories are fair to me, but the club is wielded in the editorial columns. I do not care if they only would be fair, and I would fight them. But what I object to is sending marked copies of these papers to my home, which I wouldn't allow in the house."

"What do you think of the election at this stage of the campaign?" was another question asked.

"I know little or nothing about it," he said. "I have been so busy I have not had time to keep in touch with that end of it."

POLICE USE REVOLVERS TO FIGHT OFF CROWD

Battle in Street to Take Prisoners to Station House—Long Sentences.

As a result of a fight at 61st street and Second avenue Saturday night, in which police were attacked, four men yesterday were sent to the Yorkville Court yesterday. This so-called "natural asphalt" was practically controlled by the trust. When the Sulzer administration came in it was expected that this monopoly would cease, but when the first lot of contracts was advertised last summer it was found that in a majority of those calling for asphalt construction the "natural asphalt" people had most of the proposed contracts tied up for them.

"The Warner-Quinlan Asphalt Company brought an injunction suit in July against the State Highway Commissioner to restrain him from awarding any of these contracts where the specifications provided for "natural asphalt." This injunction suit is now pending in the Appellate Division.

"The independent contend that under the proposed specifications for building the future highways of the state they are drawn so as to favor grossly the paving products of the asphalt trust." The prevailing price in New York State of so-called "natural asphalt" is approximately $2 a ton, while the so-called oil asphalt is $20 a ton.

Mr. Dow, in commenting on these specifications, said: "I have examined these specifications, and they are a great surprise, after the reassurance from Mr. Carlisle last summer to the effect that he would have the specifications of New York State rewritten by an expert and that they would be open to all good paving materials. The specifications he has submitted are worse, if such a thing is possible, than those so written as to permit the use of most inferior materials, and at the same time exclude many of the highest grade asphalts."

NOTED INVENTOR DEAD

C. Tellier Perfected Cold Storage System for Meat.

[By Cable to The Tribune.] Paris, Oct. 19.—Charles Tellier, the inventor of the cold storage system of preserving meat, died to-day. He was eighty-six years old.

Charles Tellier, though he invented the cold storage system and should have been rich, came near to dying by extreme poverty. A few months ago he was found living almost in want, and a subscription was raised, which produced $16,000. His career, like that of many inventors before him, shows that he sacrificed everything for science.

Thirty years ago he found a method of freezing food by means of two new chemicals, methyle ether and trimethylamine. He developed his theories, built laboratories, perfected the process, and in 1876 constructed the ship La Frigorifique, which took a cargo of frozen meat from Rouen to La Plata, the first consignment of what has since become a product of worldwide trade.

Tellier was born at Amiens in 1828. He was a chevalier of the Legion of Honor, the decoration having been awarded to him in recognition of his invention.

'ASPHALT TRUST' BATTLE PROMISED AT ALBANY

Bitter Fight on Combine Before Highway Commissioner Is Independents' Plan.

TALK OF $70,000,000 GRAB

Specifications of Present Contracts Favor Monopoly Even More than Before, Say Opposition Leaders.

Sensational proceedings are likely at the public hearing which the State Commissioner of Highways, John N. Carlisle, will hold in Albany on Wednesday covering proposed specifications of highway construction in the state, according to a forecast that was made last night by A. W. Dow, of the firm of Dow & Smith, consulting chemists, of No. 131 East 23d street.

Independent asphalt companies are going to make a desperate onslaught on the so-called trust, according to Mr. Dow, in an effort to get contracts for some of the work on highways on which the state will expend some $70,000,000. The independent asphalt people are centering their fight on a specification for asphalt which will enable them to make bids for paving and roadmaking. A representative of the Independents, George Calvert, of No. 141 Broadway, said last night:

"The proposed specifications under which this vast sum will be used were prepared by Mr. Carlisle's board of consulting engineers, and at the hearing on Wednesday a warfare is promised such as has not been witnessed in the state in many years. Contractors, engineers and highway building and material experts will be at Albany in profusion.

"The present fight dates back to the Dix administration, when a monopoly on highway construction was accorded to certain brands of asphalt, which were designated under the term of "natural asphalt." This so-called "natural asphalt" was practically controlled by the trust. When the Sulzer administration came in it was expected that this monopoly would cease, but when the first lot of contracts was advertised last summer it was found that in a majority of those calling for asphalt construction the "natural asphalt" people had most of the proposed contracts tied up for them.

"The Warner-Quinlan Asphalt Company brought an injunction suit in July against the State Highway Commissioner to restrain him from awarding any of these contracts where the specifications provided for "natural asphalt." This injunction suit is now pending in the Appellate Division.

HUMAN ASHES ON WAVES

Atlantic City "Treasure Box" Reveals a Mystery.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Atlantic City, Oct. 19.—Discovering what he thought was a treasure box bobbing on the waves beside his yacht, Captain Horace Smith, of No. 137 South Missouri avenue, hauled the box aboard and opened it. Instead of jewels he found the ashes of a human being.

There were two cards inside, one of which stated that the ashes were those of Irene Haffa, who died at the age of seventy-five in Philadelphia on October 6, 1908. The other card gives the find a touch of mystery, for it showed that the body had not been incinerated until October 14, 1913, at the Philadelphia crematorium of the Chelton Hills Cemetery Company.

The box is of copper of fine workmanship, eight inches square and airtight. The ashes half filled it. When picked up, a mile off the city, the box was neatly wrapped in newspapers.

Acting County Physician Isaac Leonard has taken charge of the investigation since the box was handed over to the police, who have communicated with the Philadelphia authorities.

M'CALL AS 'FREE' MAYOR MAKES ADAMSON LAUGH

Tammany Candidate Is Its Chief Adviser, Says Fusion Manager in Letter.

"MR. MURPHY'S CHOICE" TO ARREST FOLEY MEN

Wigwam Organization as "Hope of Economical Government" a Joke, Writes Campaign Leader to Chairman Loft.

Robert Adamson, the fusion campaign manager, replied yesterday to a circular letter from George W. Loft, chairman of the Tammany finance committee, requesting a campaign contribution, and improved the opportunity to read Edward E. McCall into Tammany Hall unconditionally. He declared that in the last year or two McCall had succeeded to the position formerly occupied by Justice Daniel F. Cohalan as chief adviser to Charles F. Murphy. Mr. Adamson made his reply an open letter. He said, in part:

"It is unnecessary to say that Mr. McCall is Tammany's own particularly chosen candidate, although he appears to be doing everything he can to make people believe otherwise. Let me remind you that in so proudly claiming him as your selection you are violating the settled policy of his campaign—namely, to keep Tammany in the background and Mr. McCall, the 'same, level headed business man,' in the foreground. I do not believe many people are being fooled by this style of campaign, although certain business men—for instance, Frederick W. Whitridge, president of the Third Avenue Railroad, who has a great deal of business before Mr. McCall in the Public Service Commission—profess to believe that the election of Mr. McCall would not be a victory for Tammany Hall.

"Ever since I can remember Mr. McCall has been in the inner councils of Tammany Hall. In the last year or two he has succeeded to the position formerly occupied by Mr. Cohalan as chief adviser of Charles F. Murphy. I have always understood that Mr. McCall was selected for the Supreme Court by Mr. Murphy. I am also informed that he was Mr. Murphy's candidate for Public Service Commissioner. It is a matter of history that he was selected to run for Mayor in Mr. Murphy's private suite at Delmonico's on the night of August 22. Mr. McCall himself was present, according to all the papers in the city, and I have never heard that he denied being there. He announced that he would accept the nomination days before the designating committee met to rubber stamp what had been done at Delmonico's. In spite of this Mr. McCall waxes exceedingly angry now when any one suggests that he is Tammany's candidate.

"You say in your letter 'The Democratic organization of this city does not hesitate to challenge the verdict of the people upon its capacity and good judgment in selecting honest, capable and efficient men.' The names of a troop of these good men selected by Tammany rise to my mind: Van Wyck, the Ice Trust Mayor; Asa Bird Gardner, removed by Governor Roosevelt; Haffen and Ahearn, removed by Governor Hughes, and Sulzer, whom Tammany itself removed because he would not obey orders. And I also remember that Mayor McClellan, whom Tammany nominated and elected, spent four years of his official life at warfare with Tammany because he would not appoint the men Tammany wanted him to appoint. Governor Dix, nominated and elected by Tammany, was refused re-nomination because he tried to serve both Tammany and the public. Mayor Gaynor, whom Tammany indorsed after he had been nominated by twenty-eight independent organizations—not because it was in his interest, but because it was in the interest of the public—was refused re-nomination in the face of his record as the best Mayor New York City ever had.

"Tammany could never hope to win except by division of its opponents or by raising some specious issue. It is trying that this time. Mr. McCall says that the issue is economy, that the people of this city must look to Tammany Hall for economy and retrenchment. Tammany Hall the only hope of the city for an economical government! We may look green, but we haven't lost our sense of humor."

John Purroy Mitchell, the fusion candidate for Mayor, will speak at three meetings in Harlem to-night. The meetings are under the auspices of the Progressives. At Lenox Casino, 116th street and Lenox avenue, besides Mr. Mitchell, Borough President McAneny, Controller Prendergast and William H. Hotchkiss will speak. At the Star Casino, 107th street and Lexington avenue, Marcus M. Marks, fusion candidate for Borough President, and John J. Fitzgerald will be the other speakers. At Corrigan Hall, 157th street and Broadway, Messrs. Mitchell, McAneny, Prendergast, Hotchkiss and Philip J. Samuels will address the meeting.

Mr. McAneny is scheduled to speak ten times in the Bronx during the last two weeks of the campaign. These plans, it was announced yesterday by the McAneny general committee, were due to the many requests from Democrats in The Bronx, who declared that the unpopularity of Congressman Joseph Goulden, the Tammany nominee for President of the Board of Aldermen, in his own borough justified a special campaign against him.

SAYS TAMMANY HAS WORKED BIG FRAUD

Whitin, of Honest Ballot Ass'n, Asserts Repeaters Filled City During Registrations.

"MR. MURPHY'S CHOICE" TO ARREST FOLEY MEN

Schmittberger, Investigating Lodging House Addresses, Finds Thirty-eight Per Cent "Not at Home."

Tammany Hall, according to E. Stagg Whitin, managing director of the Honest Ballot Association, has succeeded in registering a large number of fraudulent voters. This belief of Mr. Whitin, expressed last night to a reporter for The Tribune, was based on the reports of watchers of the association and information received from other sources.

From now on the work of a special corps of assistants of District Attorney Whitman, working under the direction of Arthur C. Train, who has been specially retained for the task, will be devoted to trying to put some of those responsible for these frauds as well as the men who actually commit the crime behind the bars. In this work they will be assisted by the private detectives in the employ of the Honest Ballot Association, the Fusion Campaign Committee and the police.

Already one Tammany election district captain in Brooklyn, William McCormick, has been arrested charged with aiding and abetting false registration. McCormick, who was arrested late Saturday night, was held in $1,000 bail by Magistrate Hyman in the 10th District Court, Brooklyn. He was charged by an Honest Ballot watcher with having induced Paul Bundig to give a fictitious address when he registered in McCormick's district, in the 23rd Election District of the 22d Assembly District, on October 19. Bundig also was held in like bail for a hearing on Wednesday.

On the same day Magistrate Hyman summoned the board of inspectors in charge of the polling place to explain why they refused to challenge Bundig when asked to do so by an Honest Ballot watcher. Emory R. Buckner, who was counsel to the Curran committee, will represent the association when the cases are frauded Wednesday.

The fraudulent registration in Big Tom Foley's district, the 24 of Manhattan, will result in the arrest to-day of five followers of Tammany Hall, it was said by officials of the Honest Ballot Association last night.

"There has been a systematic effort to pad the registration rolls this year throughout the city," said Mr. Whitin. "Our watchers challenged 1,251 in the four days of registration, and of these 1,251 dropped out of line at once, which proved conclusively that 72 per cent of the men challenged were repeaters.

"Gangs of hired querrillas have worked throughout the city. They were transported by automobile from one polling place to another. Here is one illustration. Fourteen men presented themselves first at the polling place in the 13th Election District of the 18th Assembly District, and later the same men appeared in the 7th Election District of the 9th Assembly District. When the first man was challenged in each of those election districts all the others dropped out of line. Half an hour later the same fourteen appeared in the 2d Election District of the 25th Assembly District and tried to register. When the first man was challenged all again dropped out of line and left the neighborhood. Central distributing points were used as headquarters for the repeaters.

"The association is informed that Police Inspector Schmittberger is investigating 5,000 names registered in the preliminary lodging house registration required by law five days after the filing of the lists found that 1,900, or 38 per cent, were not at the addresses given.

Dr. Talcott Williams, president of the Honest Ballot Association, said that the 2,000 watchers in its service would begin to-day to check up the registration rolls, call at each man's house and meet him face to face, so that repeaters could be arrested on Election Day. He said the association had a detailed personal description of every man who registered in the districts where colonization is known to flourish.

Dr. Williams said that the first time one of the Honest Ballot Association investigators was refused information by any householder about persons registered from the house a test case would be begun under Section 797 of the penal law, which makes it a crime to refuse such information.
