

Y. M. C. A. WORKERS GET AN EXTRA DAY

$4,000,000 Fund Campaign
Ends Tuesday, Instead of To-morrow.

"$1,000,000 IN TWO DAYS," IS SLOGAN

Saturday Total Short of $3,000,
000—Big Offer Is Renewed—
General Booth Speaks.

With their purpose to raise a $4,000,000 fund unaccomplished the Y. M. C. A. yesterday by the announcement that the two weeks' campaign, beginning November 10, instead of ending to-morrow would be formally concluded on Tuesday.

The executive committee explained in making this announcement that the extra day was not to be considered as an extension of the fortnight in which the great sum was to be gathered, but, on the contrary, a day to be included in the fortnight; some ingenious member having discovered that there had been a day on which, for some reason or other, no work had been done. This apparent extension of time was regarded as a timely boon by the field workers, because yesterday's contributions fell very low. A spirit of gloom almost pervaded the big luncheon room at No. 25 Broad street when it was discovered that the day's work showed a total of only $41,338. This did not bring the total up to the $3,000,000 mark, which point must be reached before the hands of the big clocks move perceptibly.

When the day's total had been announced George W. Perkins took up his megaphone and shouted, "Has anybody got $1,000,000?" There was no response, except a ripple of laughter from the field workers, who appreciated the significance of the question.

"This is the amount we need," said the chairman, "to make up the $3,000,000, which we hoped to reach to-day."

$100,000 Offer Renewed.

The failure to reach the $3,000,000 mark meant the possible loss of a continent, of the day before, in which $100,000 had been offered. Mr. Perkins said, however, that the offer had been renewed, in the event of an additional $400,000 being reported at to-morrow's luncheon.

Mr. Perkins wanted it clearly understood, he said, that those cynical persons who thought the campaign was running on some sort of a schedule, and that the $4,000,000 goal was to be reached by some sort of a foreordained plan in the minds of the leaders were never more mistaken in their lives. The chairman even went so far as to scold in a mild sort of way a large number of wealthy people who, he said, could easily put down their names for anywhere from $1,000 to $10,000, but who, for some reason or other, had failed to respond to the appeals of the campaigners.

Mr. Perkins assured the volunteers that there were no promises or pledges being withheld. That does not mean that every possible pressure on the men of means whose fortunes run up into the millions will not be exerted. The workers were urged not to make any appeals to persons who could give $100,000 or more without consulting Mr. Perkins.

Charles S. Ward, the director general of the campaign, suggested a new slogan for the workers, in their efforts to-morrow and Tuesday. "A million in two days" must be our watchword," said the director general.

The largest contribution reported yesterday was from Anna Dodge McCullough, who gave $5,000 in honor of Earl W. Dodge. B. Altman & Co. gave $2,000. There were five $1,000 pledges, including those by August Belmont, Clarence H. Mackay, Mrs. James P. Taylor, and Mrs. H. C. Fahnestock. An anonymous gift of $2,000 was made. The Borden Condensed Milk Company gave $500.

General Bramwell Booth of the Salvation Army made a short address at yesterday's luncheon. "You have a splendid label in your name, the Young Men's Christian Association," said the Salvation Army leader.

"To me, of course—I am religious—to me the Christian is the most attractive part of that title, and I dare say that you have sometimes found, as we have, that men would have helped you liberally, more liberally, with regard to financing if you had left out the Christian, just as men have said to me when I asked them to help out, that the difficulty about the Salvation Army is that there is too much salvation."

Colonel L. Marvin Maus, a department surgeon in the United States army medical corps, said the Young Men's Christian Association in the army and the abolition of the canteen had increased the soldiers' sobriety by 50 per cent.

The committee sent letters to 200 of the leading clergymen, to be read in the churches to-day, asking for subscriptions. A new method of advertising the campaign was adopted yesterday, large blue Y. M. C. A. posters having been hung in the lobbies of the St. Regis, the Ritz-Carlton, the Savoy and other prominent hotels.

There was a jubilee in the headquarters of the colored women's and colored men's committees, at No. 2343 Seventh avenue, last night, when it was announced that $1,334.75 had been collected in the course of the day, carrying the total of those two committees to date up to $23,788.96.

WRITERS DINE AND DANCE

Deutscher Press Club Holds 28th Annual Affair.

About four hundred persons attended the twenty-eighth annual dinner and dance of the Deutscher Press Club, held last night at the Lexington Opera House, in East 84th street. Leo Bass was chairman of the arrangements committee.

After the dinner President Selnecke of the club gave a toast to "Our Guests"; then Professor Joseph Schumpeter, German exchange professor to Columbia, spoke on "The German-American Press."

WANTS MORE COURTROOMS

Federal Attorney Drafts Bill Asking for Extra $100,000.

Since the Congress, in the effort to clear the clogged calendars, has passed a law permitting judges of other circuits to sit in the District Court here, so as to provide accommodations for them it is proposed to lease a couple of floors of one of the downtown office buildings, most likely the Woolworth, for judicial chambers and courtroom purposes. United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall, by direction of Judges Holt, Hough, Hand and Mayer, is drafting a bill asking for an extra appropriation of $100,000 for four more courtrooms for the visiting judges. Senator O'Gorman will father the measure, which will be presented at the December session. The civil and criminal calendars are now nearly three years behind time, and by the aid of the judges from other jurisdictions Mr. Marshall says he is prepared to keep the courts grinding until all the dockets are cleared. All criminal cases will be tried in the present federal courtrooms, but equity cases and suits not requiring juries will be disposed of by the district judges sitting in the outside courtrooms.

Judmans to Hold Reception.
The Judmans have issued invitations to a reception to take place this evening at the Hotel Astor. The guests will be Rabbi Harry S. Lewis, of London; Marcus M. Marks, President-elect of the Borough of Manhattan, and Benjamin N. Cordozo, Supreme Court Justice-elect.
