

SAY BRIBES GIVEN TO HELP BECKER

Witnesses for State Get Money to Quit. According to Report.

PLOT MAY BE PART OF "SYSTEM'S" PLAN

Glynn May Grant Gunmen Reprieve—Asks Opinions of Goff and Whitman.

Is "the system" still willing to stand by Becker? That was the question asked in some circles yesterday because of a report that an effort had been made to "buy off" some of the important witnesses who are to testify against the former police lieutenant at his second trial.

It was understood that information to that effect had reached the District Attorney's office. District Attorney Whitman declined to discuss the report.

The report had it that one of the state's witnesses, whose testimony formed an important part in connecting Becker with the conspiracy to kill Rosenthal, had been offered several hundred dollars to "change" his testimony, and that he had received something on account before the information reached the District Attorney and the effort was blocked. Other witnesses were said to have been "approached."

Joseph A. Shay, Becker's counsel, when told of the report declared that there was no truth in it.

"That is merely another concoction for the purpose of prejudicing Becker's case," said Mr. Shay.

Mr. Shay took occasion, at the same time, to deny another report to the effect that the same interests which contributed to Becker's defence were back of the fight for the four gunmen's lives.

"This statement is without any foundation in fact," said Mr. Shay. "In the first place the interests of the four gunmen and my client, Becker's, interests are entirely separate and distinct."

"I also desire to state that not one penny has ever been contributed to the defence of Becker from any source outside of his own immediate family. The talk of what the 'System' is doing, whatever that may be, is a pure myth. I have heard it said that the Masonic order, the Elks, the Police Department and other interests have made a fund for my client's defence and that money had been received from those sources, without which there would have been no new trial."

"Let me brand that now once and for all as absolutely false. I hope from now on this talk will cease, so that a fair trial may be secured."

Charles G. E. Walle, counsel for the gunmen, denied that any one interested in Becker was putting up money in the interests of his clients.

Some of those close to District Attorney Whitman declare that the state's case against Becker at his second trial will be even stronger than at the first trial. There is supposed to be new evidence in the prosecutor's hands which will connect Becker more clearly with the plot to kill Rosenthal. It is believed that the District Attorney feels confident of convicting Becker the second time.

District Attorney Whitman received a letter from Governor Glynn yesterday seeking his opinion as to the advisability of granting the gunmen's request for a reprieve until after the second trial of Becker. Mr. Whitman said that he had not changed his attitude of being unalterably opposed to the petition for a reprieve.

The Governor also wrote Justice Goff on the reprieve matter. It was said that the Governor had intimated that he was inclined to grant the reprieve until Becker had been tried again.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Albany, March 31.—"I would hate to wake up some morning and find that I had sent four innocent men to their death," said Governor Glynn to-night when asked if he had come to any decision concerning the application for a reprieve of the four gunmen sentenced to die in the electric chair during the week of April 7.

"I have no intention of commuting their sentence," he added, "but have written to Justice Goff, who presided over their trial, and District Attorney Whitman, concerning the advisability of granting them a reprieve until after the second trial of Becker. I also intend to ask the advice of some of the most prominent men in the country."

The Governor to-day received a letter from the Rev. Father Curry, the priest who is connected with Tombs prison, in New York, requesting that a reprieve be granted to the four gunmen.

GIRL FOUND DEAD IN CANAL IDENTIFIED

Victim, an Orphan, Met Death on Way Home from Church—Foul Play is Theory.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Paterson, N. J., March 31.—The body of a young girl which was pulled from the Morris Canal here yesterday was identified as Mary Teresa Ryan, an orphan, who was employed by Mrs. John Hinchliffe, wife of the ex-Senator and former Mayor of this city. The victim was raised in an orphan asylum and had but one relative, an uncle, Patrick Shields, of Pine street.

The authorities suspect foul play, and an autopsy will be performed by County Physician Armstrong this morning.

Detective Sergeant Koppier, who made an investigation after the body was found, decided that poison had been injected. Albert Macbride, undertaker, to whose morgue she was taken, said her death was due to a tight fitting corset and that the girl fell into the canal. She was twenty years old and well liked by her employer and her few girl friends.

On Sunday morning, when she left the house for St. John's Roman Catholic Church, she complained of a headache. Mrs. Hinchliffe prepared the Sunday dinner, and Miss Ryan returned home at noon. In the afternoon she attended services in St. Bonaventure's Church, which faces the canal.

In order to return to her home she had to walk several blocks along the tow-path. Her body was found about three hundred feet from the church.

SEES RACE BEING UNSEXED 7,150 SILVER DOLLARS USED IN TRIMMING UPTOWN WINDOW

Money To Be Given by The Tribune in Ben Franklin Quiz Contest Inspires Repartee Around Flatiron Building.

The Tribune's 7,150 great, round dollars, which will be given as prizes to the successful contestants in the Ben Franklin Quiz, made their uptown debut yesterday in the window of the United Cigar Store in the Flatiron Building, 23d street.

The money is in shining, new silver dollars and the glittering pile possessed marked masculine qualities, drawing thousands of shoppers and business men. The situation of the window gave Broadway and Fifth avenue equal and simultaneous opportunities to gaze at the treasure.

"Pretty soft to be a window trimmer when you have that stuff to trim with," said an onlooker. "Anybody who couldn't make that look attractive ought to get fired."

"How long would it take you to spend it?" asked his friend. "Three minutes. I know plenty of places, but my preference is for six cylinders."

"Suppose you laid all those silver dollars in a row—how far would they reach?" "From here to the height of my ambition and part way back."

"On the level, though?" "About to Harlem, I guess. But who wants to lay 'em in a row?" "Where do you think they got all those silver dollars?"

ATTACKS HARRISON PHILIPPINE POLICY

Malcolm Peabody Says Effort to Placate Natives Proves a Handicap.

COMPETENT ADVISERS OUSTED, HE ASSERTS

Mistakes May Cause Governor General to Reverse Himself, Missionary Believes.

The policy of Francis Burton Harrison, Governor General of the Philippines, has cost him not merely the confidence of American residents, but also the respect of the Filipinos, according to Malcolm Peabody, of Boston, who recently returned from two years' missionary work in the islands. Mr. Peabody said that any success Harrison's administration might attain in the future must be achieved in spite of the opposition and disgust his first acts had engendered.

"Harrison began by telling the Filipinos he'd give them all they wanted, and followed that by getting rid of most of the competent Americans in office," said Mr. Peabody. "He took Quezon, a Nationalist leader, a man who is absolutely unscrupulous, as his chief adviser, and refused to listen to any American who had had real experience of the native character."

"In short, his main effort has been to placate the natives by giving them everything they want, not seeing that what they wanted, or at least what Quezon wanted, was to cripple his administration, that his own power might be correspondingly increased. He surrendered to the latter's pressure, exerted through the Legislature, for a reduction in the salaries of the Americans in office."

"Cut Pay of Americans." Mr. Taylor, for instance, Director of the Bureau of Agriculture and a man who has done invaluable service to the islands by checking the rinderpest, a kind of cattle plague, was reduced from $5,000 to $3,500. He resigned. Captain Sleeper, Director of the Bureau of Lands, was cut from $7,000 to $5,000. He, too, resigned. The new man found he didn't have the slightest idea of how to run the office. He called up Harrison in despair, asking him what the head of the bureau ought to do, and what he didn't exactly know, and referred him to Captain Sleeper, who he believed "might know something about it." Sleeper answered that he now valued his time at $50 a day, and that the government could have it at that price, and no less. The result was the disorganization of the bureau for some weeks.

"Quezon's name, which he has played very skillfully, has been to separate Harrison from American advisers who might show him how unprepared the natives are for self-government."

"To this end he got him to send Frank Carpenter, who was executive secretary at Manila and closely in touch with the

SEES END OF REVIVALISTS

Methodist Conference Abolishes Evangelistic Commission.

The day of the old-fashioned revivalist or evangelistic leader is over, in the opinion of the New York East Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The conference at Mount Vernon yesterday voted to abolish the present evangelistic commission.

Dr. James E. Holmes, superintendent of the Brooklyn and Long Island Church Society, contended that the continuation of the commission would be a reflection on the ability and power of the district superintendents. "Each pastor," he said, "can do all the ministering to his own parish, without calling in an outsider."

A new and smaller body, consisting only of the four district superintendents and three conference members from each district, was appointed to take the place of the commission.

JONES MEASURE PERMITS KILLING ANIMALS AT ANY TIME. Albany, March 31.—The labor of years to safeguard the deer, duck and other game birds and animals will be wiped out by a stroke of the pen if Governor Glynn signs the new game act introduced by Assemblyman J. G. Jones, sportsman-declare, who read the Jones bill to-night.

The Governor this afternoon said he would sign the bill to-morrow.

The present law, which is wiped out by the Jones bill, limits the season in which elk and deer may be killed between October 1 and March 1. Pheasants may be taken from October 1 to January 31, and mallards and black ducks from October 1 to January 10.

The Jones bill particularly provides that "elk, deer, pheasants, mallard ducks and black ducks may be killed in any manner at any time."

ALDERMAN'S PIQUE PREVENTS EXHIBIT. Wendel's Action Bars City from International Exposition at Lyons.

Unless some one pays for the packing out of his own pocket it is probable that the City of New York will have no exhibit at the International Exposition at Lyons, France. This will be due to the pique of Alderman Wendel, who refused unanimous consent yesterday to a request that a contract for packing the exhibits that have been prepared be entered into without public letting.

He said the aldermanic members of the committee to prepare the exhibit had not received enough consideration from the Controller, who had taken the matter entirely into his own hands. The Board of Aldermen appropriated $25,000 for the exhibit in May and the exhibit ought to be forwarded at once.

The aldermen withdrew from the Mayor's ordinance intended to reduce theatre ticket speculation because of the passage of the bill at Albany placing the licensing of theatres in the hands of the Department of Licenses instead of the Police Commissioner. It will be amended and returned to the Mayor for signature.

The board passed an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to publish false and misleading advertising in newspapers, on billboards or in circulars.

At the request of his daughter, who had made a complaint of grand larceny against him, Patrick White, a waiter, of No. 195 West 190th street, was discharged yesterday by Magistrate Appleton in the West Side court. Her property was recovered.

REPORTS 11 ROADS CONTROL HARD COAL

Jersey Committee Calls on Attorney General to Act—Profits Are 300 Per Cent.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Trenton, N. J., March 31.—Asserting that eleven railroad companies control 87 per cent of the anthracite coal mined and that they extract a profit of more than 300 per cent from the consumer, the Assembly committee which has been investigating coal conditions sent in its report to-day, with the recommendation that the Attorney General of this state act at once. The report also says that combinations among the retail coal dealers are conspicuous.

The seven railroad companies which it is shown control the great bulk of this coal business are: The Philadelphia & Reading, which holds control of 31 per cent of the unmined coal, the Lehigh Valley, the New Jersey Central, the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company and the Erie Railroad Company.

"The small fraction of independent operators are choked and throttled by this combination," the committee says, "either in the control of the labor or in the transportation."

WRIGHT'S TERMS BAFFLED SLOANE

Manufacturer Says He Made Offers on Patents, but Got No Satisfaction.

Following the publication of a statement alleged to have been made by Orville Wright to the effect that no aeroplane manufacturer had offered any money for a license, John E. Sloane, president of the Sloane Aeroplanes Company, said yesterday that such a remark could not apply in the case of Mr. Sloan's concern.

"I acknowledge the Wright patents, of course," said Sloane, "and always believed that they were entitled to a royalty, but the trouble is that it seems impossible for me to get together with the Wright company on any terms. More than a year ago I approached the Wright company and made a verbal request for terms. At that time Orville Wright was optimistic about our ability to get together, but did not wish to grant a license until the patent litigation was ended."

"So I waited until the final decision in January last, and then made a trip to Dayton, prepared to do anything within reason. However, Mr. Wright would give me no satisfaction."

"When Orville Wright was in this city shortly afterward, I again tried to find out where I stood, but with the same result as before. On March 21 I wrote him and offered to guarantee my responsibility by showing him a company with a paid-up capital of from $200,000 to $500,000. To this letter I received no reply."

"On March 12 I sent him a telegram asking if he would grant me a license but the Wright company replied that my proposition was unsatisfactory. When I tried to get more information I was referred to A. E. Harnes, secretary of the company, at No. 11 Pine street, New York. I have been unable to get any satisfaction from any quarter."

KLAW & ERLANGER LOSE

Paul Armstrong, to Keep His $1,000 Advance Royalty.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Albany, March 31.—Under a decision of the Court of Appeals to-day Klaw & Erlanger, the theatrical managers, lost their suit against Paul Armstrong, the playwright.

The theatrical firm contracted with Armstrong to write a play, the condition being that $1,000 be paid to the author on signing the contract and a certain payment of the profits from the play thereafter as royalty. The $1,000 was paid, but afterward the theatre managers decided the play would not be a paying one, and refused to accept it.

They then sued Armstrong for the return of the $1,000. The lower court decided in favor of the playwright, and the Court of Appeals affirmed the decision.

RACKET STREET IS QUIET

Hence Residents Want the Aldermen to Rename It.

Protesting that Racket street is an inappropriate name for a quiet neighborhood, residents of that thoroughfare in the Ridgewood section of Queens will ask the aldermen to change it.

For thirty years Racket street was known as Vanderventer avenue. In the remaining fever which hit Queens a few years ago it was changed to Racket street, while Vanderventer Place, some distance away, was changed to Vanderventer avenue.
