

TARRYTOWN TO LET SINCLAIR SPEAK

Majority of Trustees Back Down and Villagers Revolt.

COUNTY NOW GUARDS ROCKEFELLER ESTATE

Justice May Release I. W. W. Prisoners—Citizens to Howl Down Orators.

After standing firmly and as one man against all manner of I. W. W., anarchistic and free speech invasions, the majority of the trustees of Tarrytown have backed down, and at a special meeting to-night it is expected they will grant the free speakers permission to hold a meeting on the streets of Tarrytown to-morrow night.

The citizens, Justice William B. Moorhouse and District Attorney Weeks are wroth over the weakening of the trustees, and Justice Moorhouse intimated last night that if such action were taken he would probably release every one of the I. W. W. prisoners when they come up for trial on Friday. As a result Tarrytown, hitherto peaceable, is divided within itself over the momentous question of "Free Speech—To Be or Not To Be."

Upton Sinclair, Leonard D. Abbott and Theodore Schroeder will appear before an executive session of the trustees to-night to ask permission to hold a public meeting to-morrow night, at which free speech is to be discussed. Sinclair appeared before the trustees Saturday night and at that time some of them asked him whether they might be present at the meeting and ask questions of the orators.

Sinclair pointed out that continued refusal probably would end in riot and bloodshed, and informed the trustees further that the league would never give in.

The condition of the average villager, however, is one of mystification. The Rockefeller do not live in Tarrytown, and the villagers cannot understand why the agitators have selected Tarrytown as the place of action, rather than Red Bank or Terre Haute.

The villagers, therefore, are bitterly opposed to giving the agitators permission to speak. They plan to howl down the agitators at the Tuesday meeting.

Police Commissioner Robert Hopkins and Village Counsel Clarence S. Davison favor the unequal exclusion of the agitators, but a majority of the board, led by Village President F. R. Pierson, are inclined to give them a show.

The Rev. Arthur T. Brooks, pastor of the First Baptist Church, which is attended by John D. Rockefeller, sr., yesterday denounced the I. W. W. as "thick-heads, ruffians, flannel mouths and chumps."

Mr. Rockefeller, he said, feared to come to church in Tarrytown under present conditions. He attended the Lyceum Church in Pocantico Hills yesterday. John D., jr., is still out of town.

Sheriff William J. Doyle visited Mr. Rockefeller yesterday and put sixteen county deputies on the property, eight on the day shift and eight at night.

It is understood that the county is paying for the sixteen additional deputies. The county has not previously found it necessary to place men on the Rockefeller property.

Berkman phoned to the prisoners in the White Plains jail he would be up in the morning and bail them out. Trouble is expected when they are released. They cheered and yelled when they heard the news.

12 HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

Brakeman Walks 4 Miles for Aid with Sprained Ankle.

Randolph, Vt., June 7.—Eight passengers and four train employees were slightly injured to-day, when a part of the Boston & Maine express train from Boston to Montreal left the track at Braintree on the Central Vermont Railroad.

A mail car and an express car rolled down a thirty-foot embankment into a branch of the White River. The baggage car, smoking car and a day coach left the rails and jolted over the ties.

The first news of the wreck, which happened at daybreak, was brought here by F. L. Whitcomb, a brakeman, who, although he had a sprained ankle, walked four miles to send for assistance and order a wrecking train.

CHICAGO AWAITS WOMEN DELEGATES

Biennial of the General Federation Bringing 15,000 to the Windy City.

Chicago, June 7.—Chicago women are ready to greet and entertain the 15,000 women visitors expected here for the twelfth biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be formally opened on Wednesday, continuing until June 17. Delegations from every state in the Union, the Philippines, Canada, India, the West Indies and Japan will attend.

Sociological and economic questions, particularly those concerning women and children, will be discussed. The matter of suffrage will come in for consideration, as the women of Illinois, who have the franchise, will attempt to have the federation definitely endorse the woman suffrage movement. Hitherto such efforts have been defeated.

Many of the women who attended the first General Federation meeting, held in Chicago twenty-two years ago, will be among the visiting delegates or hosts. Mrs. Penoyer L. Sherman, of Chicago, eighty years old, who delivered the address of welcome at the first meeting, has been invited by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation, to sit beside her at the meetings.

Among those who will speak during the sessions are Professor E. A. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin, on "Ill-Gotten Wealth"; Professor F. M. Leavitt, of the University of Chicago, on "Vocational Training"; Mrs. A. L. Christie, of Butte, Mont., on "Revision of the Irrigation Law"; Professor Charles Zueblin, of Boston, on "Changes in the Social Organization"; Lorado Taft, on "American Sculpture"; Gifford Pinchot, on "Conservation"; and Mrs. George Zimmerman, of Fremont, Ohio, on "Making Good Citizens of Children."

Mrs. James P. Remick, of Concord, N. H., chairman of the industrial and social conditions department, will report on its efforts to obtain a living wage for women and the result of its research work on the needs of women at ports of entry, with a view to protecting immigrant women from commercialized vice.

Helene Varick Maxwell, of New York City, chosen by the United States government to organize women's clubs in the Canal Zone, will make a report.

MR. HOLMES DRIVES AT FORD AS 'DESPOT'

Auto Maker's Labor Policy Attacked in the Pulpit of Bouck White's Church.

ROCKEFELLER TERMED AN "ANACHRONISM"

Preacher Likens Industry in Colorado to "Monarchy" and John D., Jr., to King.

According to the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, of the Church of the Messiah, no self-respecting man should remain in the employ of Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer. Mr. Holmes spoke yesterday at Bouck White's Church of the Social Revolution, Berkeley Terrace.

"The case of Henry Ford is an example of benevolent despotism," said Mr. Holmes. "I recognize fully his generosity in establishing a minimum wage of $5 a day, but nothing can be said for his scheme as a possible solution of the labor problem."

"The Ford plan is working out intolerably. As a return for his generosity he has arrogated to himself the right to go into the homes of his workers and tell them how they should live, where they should live, where they should educate their children and in which banks they should place their money. The employees of the Ford factory are paying entirely too high a price for his benevolence, and no self-respecting man should tolerate it."

Mr. Holmes likened industrial conditions to political conditions, saying that an "absolute monarchy" exists in Colorado.

"John D. Rockefeller is the king of Colorado," he said. "Colorado is as much an absolute monarchy as Russia. The President sent a personal ambassador to the king of Colorado exactly as he sends one to the Court of St. James's. In an absolute monarchy it is easy to solve all the problems of labor simply by doing what Mr. Rockefeller wants done."

"We have proved the absolute monarchy impossible in politics, and the laboring people are going to get tired of bargaining with the kings of industry. They will demand the unlimited rights of the people in industry as well as in politics, and the recognition of those rights by the kings is certain to follow."

Bouck White's sole mistake, according to Mr. Holmes, lay "in taking seriously such an anachronism as John D. Rockefeller."

A letter from Bouck White, in the Queens County jail, was read, in which he told of compelling several reforms in jail methods since his incarceration, among them being pillows and daily baths.

The appeal from White's conviction and six-months sentence will be argued on Tuesday before Judge Crain, in Part I of General Sessions.

Death in Fight at Dance.

Armon Decker, a driver, living in Elm Park, was killed during a struggle in which he was knocked down and thrown out of a dancing pavilion at South Beach, Staten Island, yesterday. John Morris, proprietor of the dance hall, was arrested, charged with homicide.

According to the police, the two men had an argument and Morris elected the driver, who fell on the boardwalk and received injuries which caused his death.

GIVES GRADUATES WARNING

Judaism Faces Crisis, Dr. Gold-Wein Seminary Men.

Judaism is passing through the most critical period of its existence, and the first crisis of the rabbis nowadays is to create harmony out of discord and neutralize the disruptive influences now attacking it, according to Rabbi Herbert S. Goldstein, who delivered the valedictory at the graduation exercises of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall.

Five graduates were ordained rabbis, and seven students of the T-ors Institute were awarded diplomas and sent out to teach Hebrew religion and language in Hebrew schools.

JEWISH CONVENTION BITTER AT WILSON

Delegates Urged to Stem Tide of Bigotry in Attacking Immigration Bill.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7.—Asserting that it was "up to" President Wilson to prevent the enactment of the Bingham-Billingham immigration bill, Leon Sanders, grand master of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, this afternoon bitterly assailed the bill in his annual address before about fifteen hundred delegates of the Jewish organization, which is holding its twenty-eighth annual convention on the steel pier. Mr. Sanders appealed to the delegates to "stem the tide of bigotry and prejudice."

He asked: "Should the Senate now abandon all American traditions and follow in the footsteps of the House?" which has passed the measure. Mr. Sanders said that conditions were such in Eastern Europe as to make it imperative that many Jewish people were compelled to seek the freedom of America.

"The passage of this iniquitous measure by the United States Senate would result in the shutting of the doors of America in the faces of the Jewish immigrants," he said.

It was the duty of President Wilson to prevail upon the members of the Senate to defeat this bill, he continued, so that this grand country could still be looked upon by the oppressed Jews as "the land of the free."

"How the Jewish race has suffered because of our 'Lily Louises' and 'Gyp the Bloods' was the lament of Samuel Doek, of New York, grand master of the Order of B'nai B'rith, the parent body of the I. O. B. A., in urging the convention to start an uplift movement.

Mayor Biddle welcomed the delegates this afternoon. The session will last for three days.

URGE CO-OPERATION FOR ORIENTAL JEWS

Federation Plans Soon to Import a Chief Rabbi for the 15,000 Here.

Co-operation on the part of all classes of Jews to stimulate the Oriental Jews, of which there are 15,000 in this city, was urged yesterday at the second annual meeting of the Federation of Oriental Jews of America. More than a thousand persons crowded the auditorium of Public School 91, Forsyth and Stanton st., in the centre of their district.

Educational, religious and social problems are pressing for solution, said Joseph Gedalecia, the president, in his report as he called attention to the difficulties presented by the lack of common language in the federation. Ladino, which is the pure Spanish, Greek and Arabic tongues, are equally prominent among the Oriental Jews. On this point the report said, showing that something had been accomplished in the brief existence of the federation:

"We are at last able to announce that, by reason of the co-operation of the Jewish Community, we shall soon be in a position to import a Chacham Bashi (Chief Rabbi) to preside over the religious life of the people."

The delegates were addressed in Ladino, by Salomon Emanuel and Samuel Coen; in Greek, by Zacharia Levy; in Arabic, by Selim Sittou, and in English by Rabbi Wise, Abram I. Elkus and Adolph Lewishon.

MEXICAN COLORS REPLACE BULGARIAN ON BOARDWALK

War Interest Reflected in Trimming on Latest Costumes—Six Tiers on Penwiper Skirts and Rubber Roses Bedeck Bathing Suits.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7.—Last summer Bulgarian ribbon, Bulgarian embroidery, Bulgarian trimming, Bulgarian ties, Bulgarian bows adorned every fashionable costume, and shopkeepers and modistes were put to their wits' end to obtain supplies sufficient to meet the demand. This summer the fashion has turned to things Mexican, and now every ribbon, every piece of embroidery and trimming, every tie and every bow must be made of Mexican color combinations or it is not in style, according to the dictates of the boardwalk.

To-day's fashion parade, the largest since Easter's throng, was especially notable because of the Mexican touch which appeared in almost every costume. The women's fashion world seems to have been a trifle slow in adopting this new note, but there is now no doubt as to its popularity.

The penwiper skirt—everybody knows it by that name now—of course, takes precedence over all other styles. First one tier was deemed quite sufficient, then a second was added, then a third, and today many of the more fashionably dressed women wear skirts with five and six tiers; and, by the way, skirts are now just a little shorter than early in the spring.

One of the newest features of this morning's parade was the minstrel show collar, so called in the shops probably because of the lack of a title which better describes it. In reality the collar is a combination collar and vest, made of white pique or other heavy material and starched to the limit of stiffness. Worn underneath a light coat or jacket, the collar sticks up in the back of the neck and almost touches the hat brim, while the little vest points appear below the cutaway front of the jacket just like a man's vest.

The new Roman striped materials have increased immensely in popularity, and the style now has been adapted to stockings. Many women who have discarded puffed skirts are wearing very narrow skirts of some dark color, with a tunic or overskirt of the Roman stripes reaching almost to the ankles.

Rubber roses and rubber fruit are novelties which appeared to-day in the place of ribbon trimming on bathing suits.

HOT WEATHER ON THE WAY

Fair and Warm for Coming Week, Forecaster's Prediction.

Washington, June 7.—Generally fair and hot is the weather forecast for the coming week east of the Rockies.

"There are no present indications of precipitation of consequence east of the Rocky Mountains during the coming week," said the Weather Bureau's bulletin to-night, "except that there will be showers and thunderstorms at the outset from the lake region eastward, and possibly in the far Northwest. Occasional local thunder showers are probable in the South, including Texas, but no general rains."

"West of the Rocky Mountains rains will continue early in the week, followed by generally fair and warmer weather from the middle until the close of the week, the rising temperature extending to the eastern slope."

"It will be somewhat cooler Monday and Tuesday over the upper lake region, the upper Mississippi Valley and the central section of the country, with moderate temperatures thereafter, while in the East rather high temperatures will rule during most of the week, owing to the presence of a strong high pressure area over the South Atlantic states and the adjacent ocean."
