Southern Institutions Sending Money Must Charge Reasonable Interest.

BANKERS ARE WARNED NOT TO HOARD FUNDS

Secretary Refuses Money for Moving Crops Asked by Cotton Belt Financiers.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Secretary McAdoo to-night adopted stringent measures to urge national banks to extend legitimate credit and charge normal interest rates on loans. He telegraphed to two national banks in the four river states in the South that their requests for additional crop moving funds from the federal government would not be granted.

ANTI-TRUST BILL IN FINAL FORM

Conferees Agree on Amended Measure To Be Presented To-day.

(From The Tribune Bureau.)
Washington, Sept. 23.—The Clayton anti-trust bill, the second of the administration anti-trust measures, in the final form in which it will be presented to both houses to-morrow, was agreed on by the conferees to-day, Republicans voting against it.

Mr. McAdoo's Statement.

The statement in full follows: "I have decided not to deposit the second instalment of crop moving funds with your bank at this time. You can, however, if you desire, withdraw one-half of the securities deposited by you and use them as security for the issue of additional currency if you make application therefor. I am informed that many banks in your state are refusing to make any loans for crop moving purposes, and that in many cases good loans are rejected or unreasonable rates of interest are asked. I am also informed that many banks which have loaned money for crop moving purposes are in the midst of great distress for money. I trust you are not doing this. I shall withdraw all government deposits from banks charging excessive rates of interest, or which refuse to issue so-called emergency currency to banks which are not making use of it on reasonable terms for the benefit of the business community. It is essential, in the present situation, that everybody pull together in a unselfish spirit for the good of the country. I, of course, expect the banks to make a reasonable charge for the use of their money, but the charge must be reasonable, as the question and help of the Treasury will be extended on any other basis.

Banks Hoarding Funds.

The reports of national banks now being received by the Controller of the currency in response to his call for a statement of their condition as of September 12 indicate an extraordinary hoarding of money by many national banks in various sections of the country. I am astonished that so many of the national banks are pursuing a course so contrary to the public interest and so indefensible from any point of view. There is neither occasion nor necessity for it.

"All reports have not yet been received by the Controller, but they are coming in daily. I intend to begin issuing daily a list of the banks which are hoarding money by maintaining excessive reserves, in order that the country may know how they are performing their public duties. The reports of national banks are public property, anyway, and while they have been published in their respective communities the significance of their statements is not generally understood. The public does not know how to analyze them. My purpose is to focus attention upon the excessive reserves carried by these banks, for the reserves indicate whether or not the banks are using their full resources for the relief and accommodation of business in their respective communities.

"It is a matter of extreme regret that the government has not the power to
