

NOTABLE WEDDINGS ON WEEK'S SOCIAL CALENDAR

With Advent of Autumn Nuptial Ceremonies of Many Members of the Younger Set Are at Hand and Coming Month Will Witness Several of Them—Some Engagements Newly Announced.

There is no race on between the contractors who seem to be keeping pace with one another very closely.

Mrs. Widener, who for the past two seasons has been occupying with her family the John E. Drexel villa, on Ochs Point, closed her season and left for Elkins Park during the week. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, who are occupying their old home, formerly the home of Ambassador Henry White, will remain here until some time next month.

There have been a few more of the colony who have closed their seasons during the week, though the number is not so large as the week previous, but the hot weather of the present week having caused a number to change their plans and prolong their stay here.

Bishop and Mrs. James H. Darlington have returned to Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Cassatt, Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Gowen, Mrs. William B. Caperton and Miss Marguerite Caperton have returned to Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Pope, who spent the season with Mrs. Pope's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones have returned to New York. Others who have taken their departure include Mr. and Mrs. William Payne Thompson, Mr. John C. Fairchild, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Harriman, John Bancroft, Francis J. Shea, Mrs. Barker Wallace, her daughter and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Cunningham and Baroness de Mever, the last named having taken apartments in New York for the winter.

Count and Countess de San Esteban have also taken their departure. The countess has had a bit of hard luck just at the close of the season. They had planned to go to Madrid, but the illness of the countess prevented their leaving. The countess has recovered sufficiently to make the trip to Spain, though it has been reported that she will be obliged to undergo an operation in Paris as soon as it is convenient for her to go there.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon Douglas have prolonged their season until the middle of October. Dr. and Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs are to remain until late in the month, and James V. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Cushing are the latest to announce that they are leaving in Newport until the end of October at least.

Mrs. Charles H. Baldwin will not close her season until early in November, and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt will remain until about the same time at the Gill cottage, on Bellevue Court, in Manhattan. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Reynolds and Mrs. E. H. Reynolds have announced that they will remain at their summer home until the middle of November.

Ambassador and Mme. Bakmetoff of Russia are still in Newport, and they are to return next summer—that is, if the ambassador is still the representative of his country in the United States. Both the ambassador and his wife like Newport. For the last two or three summers they have been coming early and staying late, and the ambassador said a few days ago, "As long as I am in this country I shall spend the summers in Newport."

Newport has had the pleasure of a visit of another ambassador during the week—Ambassador Riano, of Spain, who has made his first visit in Washington, having been detained in Washington on account of official duties. Mme. Riano expects to remain in Newport until late in October, and she is expecting a visit from her sister, Mrs. Chandler Anderson, of Washington, before the season ends.

Mrs. John Mayer, of Morristown, N. J., is to join the all-winter colony this year. Mrs. Mayer has during the summer been occupying the Armistead cottage, on Prairie av., and she has just rented for the winter the cottage of George F. Cozzen, on Ayrault st. Another rental that has but recently been announced is that of the small cottage (Edward J. Bergin) on Bellevue Court, which has been taken for a year by Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cameron McR. Winslow, who for several years have occupied the Cleveland house, in Catherine st. The Bellevue cottage house was for a number of years occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harriman, who now occupy Clover Patch, where they will remain for the entire winter.

The call of Santa Barbara, Cal., seems to be a strong one for the members of the Newport colony this year. According to present plans there is to be quite a Newport representation there. Mr. and Mrs. T. Shaw Safe when they close their season are going to the California resort, and Mrs. John Nicholas Brown will spend a portion of the winter there. This is also true of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fearing, who have been motoring the greater part of the summer, but who returned to Newport for a short time recently. Mr. Fearing will attend a convention in Washington, then go to St. Louis, and then with Mrs. Fearing head for California.

SEASON'S OPENING AT LAKEWOOD

The Laurel-in-the-Pines and the Laurel House Will Open on Thursday.

Lakewood, N. J., Sept. 25.—With every prospect of one of the most successful seasons in the history of this resort, Lakewood hotel proprietors and merchants are preparing for the formal opening of the season next week when the two great hostleries, the Laurel-in-the-Pines and the Laurel House, open on Thursday. The European war is having its good effect here, as cottagers are renting more rapidly than ever before and the early bookings at the hotels are unprecedented. F. F. Shute will again manage the Laurel-in-the-Pines, and A. J. Murphy returns as manager of the Laurel House.

The Palmer House, which has been closed for several seasons, is undergoing repairs and will open within a few days under the management of Miss Dolby. The Lakewood Hotel will be open next month under its new ownership-management of Nathan Jacobs.

Auto tourists will find the main thoroughfares leading to Lakewood and the streets of the town well oiled and in better condition than for many seasons. To entertain visitors, Lakewood offers unusual diversions. Among the points of interest adjacent to the resort are the Laurelton Farms, the largest poultry farm in the world, belonging to Frank Tilford, and Miss Julie Tilford, of New York; the wireless plant at Tuckerton and the state game preserve at the same place. The canoeing and boating on Lake Canasago, which is popular with all visitors here.

Golfers are numerous these days on the links of the Lakewood Country Club. The course is in perfect condition and practice rounds for the fall handicaps and the Thanksgiving Day tournament are of daily occurrence. A tennis tournament is being arranged to take place on the courts of the club early in October.

Cottagers arriving this week to open their homes for the winter season include Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Potts, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lathrop Pack, Mrs. S. S. Beard, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rush Byrner, the Misses Burke, Mrs. J. W. Morey and Mrs. Kate Rubles. Dr. and Mrs. George Fales Baker, of Philadelphia, will come to Lakewood from Rosemont, Penn., and open their estate, Edgemere, next week. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Whitney will return from Lenox, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Hoyt and Miss Hope Palmer will return from Lenox and open Pinehurst early next month.

Prominent visitors are at all the villas. Mrs. Charles Stewart Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald G. Barclay, George H. Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Daniel Sargent, Miss Constance Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Bowker, Prentiss French and Mrs. Edward Robinson have been this week's arrivals.

Mrs. John E. Alexandre's Red Cross fair, on October 8, will be the biggest yet that Lenox has seen this year. There will be one hundred prominent women in charge of tables. William B. Osgood Field will show his motion pictures of Lenox, there will be dancing and a very novel vaudeville entertainment, all by members of the colony.

Bishop Thomas F. Davies, of the Episcopal diocese of Western Massachusetts, will become a resident of Lenox, and this week bought Mrs. Archibald K. Mackay's cottage at the four corners. Mrs. Mackay rebuilt the cottage from an old Colonial house in 1904, but lived there only a short time when she went to Paris to continue literary work.

Mrs. George B. de Gersdorff won the title of woman tennis champion of the Berkshires during her visit in Stockbridge. This week Miss Ella McGovern, of the Wyantenuck Country Club, of Great Barrington, won the woman's county golf handicap from a field of fifty players. Miss Josephine Fuller made the best gross score. In the approaching and putting contest Miss Carl Lindholm won, with Miss Grace Sedgwick second.

Mrs. J. Woodward Haven arranged an entertainment this week for the Berkshires during her visit in Stockbridge. This week Miss Ella McGovern, of the Wyantenuck Country Club, of Great Barrington, won the woman's county golf handicap from a field of fifty players. Miss Josephine Fuller made the best gross score. In the approaching and putting contest Miss Carl Lindholm won, with Miss Grace Sedgwick second.

On Tuesday, the Greenleaf property passed to the Lenox Club for a country clubhouse. Members of the club

The Bartlett Inn is entertaining F. L. Ketcher, Miss A. J. Jones, Miss M. L. Maybee, Miss Hazel Killmeyer, Mrs. A. Killmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. L. Framer, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kuper, F. W. Davis, Mrs. L. Coleman, Miss M. Corey, Paul Reynolds and J. C. Watson, of New York.

D. J. McMahon and J. G. Bacon, of New York, are at the Oak Court Hotel.

The weather has been delightful. In fact, it has been a record week for Southampton, so far as the weather is concerned, and it has been with regret that many of those leaving, and are about to enjoy these beautiful autumn days, which, after all, are the most delightful of the season.

There have been two drag hunts this week with the Suffolk hounds, under the direction of Richard Heber Newton, Jr., master of the hunt. Mrs. W. S. Bowen, of Washington, who comes here every fall for the hunting, was among those following the hounds; also Miss Lida Louise Fleitman, who is always among the first in at "the death." Others who ride are Miss Rachel Moore, Mrs. Harry P. Robbins, Colonel E. M. Thompson and S. Stich. Two meets are held each week and are well attended, the social set, who follow the hunts in their autos and carriages and enjoy tea at the clubhouse after the hunt is over.

The warm days have revived the bathing beach, which has been the scene of unusual activity for this time of the year. The bathing has been good, and many are seen in the surf each day.

The tennis courts at the Meadow Club have been almost deserted since the week of the younger set, who are the chief patrons, have gone away.

Golf, which is always popular here at any time of the season, is even more so just now, during the unusual spell of warm weather, and the links of the National and Shinnecock Hills golf clubs is well filled each day with members and their friends. Delightful luncheons are served daily on the spacious verandas of the clubhouse, overlooking Peconic Bay.

The Southampton Garden Club, of which Mrs. Albert B. Bacon is the president, was entertained on Monday evening by Mrs. Samuel L. Parrish at the Parrish Art Museum building. A part of the evening's entertainment was an illustrated lecture on fall plants and shrubs, by J. Lawson, of New York.

LENOX AND THE BERKSHIRE HILLS

Fancy Dress Ball for Benefit of Miss Folsom's Mountain View Farm Is Given.

Lenox, Mass., Sept. 25.—Autumn now flaunts her red and gold on the Berkshire hillsides and the season of large entertainments and big house parties is fully under way. To-night at Shadbrook the annual fancy dress ball for the benefit of Miss Ethel F. Folsom's Mountain View Farm was given. Miss M. Civille Alexandre arranged the ball, and assisting in carrying out her plans were Mrs. Ross W. Whistler, Mrs. Joseph S. Whistler, Mrs. Frederick S. DeLafield, Miss Gertrude Parsons and Miss I. D. Shoter. The floor committee were George Baly Blake, Henry H. Pease, David T. Dana, Samuel Frothingham, G. E. Turnure and Marshall R. Kernochan. The great house was decorated with foliage and late garden flowers.

Mrs. John Innes Kane will arrive next week from Bar Harbor. Mrs. William A. M. Burden came this week to Glenburnie. Mr. and Mrs. Cortland F. Bishop, Miss Georgiana Sargent and Miss Lettie Hast have arrived from Europe.

Mrs. Charles E. Greenough, Mrs. Milo H. Gates, Miss Helen E. Gaynt, Miss Julia Gavis, Mrs. Henry D. Olyphant, Miss Elizabeth Olyphant, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Grinnell, Admiral and Mrs. Willard H. Brownson, who passed several weeks at the Red Lion Inn, at Stockbridge, went on to the Green Mountains this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Humstone, Mrs. William Parker, Miss Parker, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Grinnell, Mrs. Ward Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Melville are passing the month at the Maplewood, in Pittsfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Fahnestock have plans for a beautiful marble swimming pool at Eastover, to be built late in the year.

THE WHITE MOUNTAINS

Many Society Folks Motoring Into Hills for a Short Rest.

White Mountains, N. H., Sept. 25.—The late autumn season in the White Mountains bids fair to eclipse, from point of patronage, any previous season, and the society people who have closed their cottages at the seashore are motoring into the hills for a few weeks of rest before the demands of the autumn in town are forced upon them.

The scattering of the Profile colony this week was only because the early closing of the hotel made it impossible for the cottagers to remain longer. Among the very last to go were the Walter G. Oakman, who have entertained constantly during the summer at the attractive Mount Vernon cottage; Mrs. Moses Hopkins, who has been entertaining the John F. O'Brien; Mrs. L. Grand Lockwood, Miss Lockwood and Mrs. Lawrence Hamill, of Cleveland, the two latter motoring up from the Berkshires with Mrs. Bernhard Hoffman, of Stockbridge. Mrs. Hopkins gave a large dinner this week, and Mrs. Oakman and Mrs. Frederick Wendell Jackson, who left on Sunday, also gave dinners, of twenty-five covers each, at their respective cottages. Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cornell and their little son, who spent the summer with Mrs. Jackson, have returned to New York, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Symmes, Jr., have gone to spend a few days at the Touraine, in Boston, before going to New York.

Louis Agostini, of New York, is spending the autumn season, as usual, at Bethlehem, where Colonel and Mrs. R. A. Swigert will remain until November, at Sinclair Lodge. They are entertaining Stuyvesant Leroy, of Newport, for a second visit, and Mr. Leroy, who is keen on hunting, will remain late to enjoy going out for deer and partridge with Colonel Swigert, who is one of the crack shots of Aiken.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hitt are enjoying the summer season to the utmost at the Mount Washington Hotel, at Bretton Woods, and spending the week-end with them here Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Hitt and Mrs. R. A. Hitt, of Washington. Mrs. Hitt's brothers, Davis and Stephen Elkins, and C. K. McCormick are also at the Mount Washington, enjoying the golf and tennis.

Secretary and Mrs. Bryan Guests at Southern Resort.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan's stay at Grove Park Inn last week was spent in the open, either tramping through the autumn woods or motoring over the mountain roads. Several hours each day Mr. Bryan spent in cutting up firewood in the forest around "Blue Briar," on Sunset Mountain. His object was exercise, but the wood will probably be used to burn in the great open fireplace at the Inn when the chilly weather comes on. The only social affairs marking the stay of the Bryans were the informal dinner parties. One evening they were guests at a dinner, which included also Mrs. H. M. Flagler, widow of the Florida multimillionaire. A trip was made to Biltmore on Tuesday by the Bryan party, who took a motor ride, by special permit, over the Vanderbilt estate. One day a small party from the Inn, including the Secretary and Mrs. Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Seely, motored to the top of Sunset Mountain, where they had a picnic luncheon above the clouds. An informal reception was tendered Mr. Bryan one evening by the guests at the Inn, and on Wednesday morning last he made the only formal talk of his week's visit, when he addressed the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners of the United States, who were in annual meeting at the Inn.

Quite a bit of excitement was caused recently among the guests at Grove Park Inn by the loss and mysterious reappearance of a black pearl pendant surrounded by diamonds, and valued at $15,000, the property of Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, who is spending the autumn season here. Mrs. Flagler said she felt the pin fall in the dining room while she was at dinner, but a thorough search failed to reveal it. Later, detectives were engaged, and various attempts made to locate the jewel. After the lapse of three days, Mrs. Flagler appeared at dinner, wearing the pearl pendant.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grosvenor, of Rhode Island and the Newport villa colony, are among the most prominent of the recently arrived bridal couples at the Inn. Mrs. Grosvenor was Miss Mary Burnett, of Southboro, and the wedding was an event of interest on September 16 in that city, the bride's stepfather, the Bishop of New Hampshire, performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor were among the guests at last evening's dinner dance at the Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rees, of Cedarhurst, Long Island, were guests at dinner, before the dance of the little party being Miss Rita Rees and Mrs. Keenan, of Wilmington. Miss Dupont, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Shepherd, of Long Island; Mr. Berard, of New York; Harold Alsop, of Washington; Miss Margaret Casey, Miss Viola Johnston and Mrs. Emory Winship, of Macon; Mrs. C. S. McDonaid, of New Orleans; Mrs. C. Paul of Chicago; Mrs. Kettig and Miss Kettig, of Birmingham, were other guests at the dinner dance.

Mrs. Colet Huyler, of New York, was hostess at a dinner for a number of young people one evening this week. The guests included Miss Adelaide Porter, Pauline Moore, Robbie Porter, Parker, Rufus Campbell, Charles Messers, Winthrop Collins and Mr. Boston, of Cincinnati. Mrs. Chester Child Platt, of Batavia, N. Y., was tendered a luncheon by Mrs. Charles Malcolm Platt.

AT ASBURY PARK

A Series of Basketball Contests Are Being Arranged for Natatorium.

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 25.—Asbury Park visitors have experienced the warmest September weather known at this resort in thirty years, and surf bathing has been a comfort as well as an entertaining feature. With all the groups of bathhouses closed, the Natatorium accommodations have been taxed to their capacity. Although traveling through the streets in bathing costume is again local ordinance, hundreds of cottagers have taken the liberty of donning bath suits in their homes and parading to the beach for their morning dip.

Work has begun next week on the installation of a series of new concrete jetties on the ocean front to protect and build up the bathing beaches which were damaged by storms last spring. The boardwalk north from the arcade will be entirely rebuilt during the winter.

The beach commissioners have decided to continue the music at the Casino indefinitely. Dancing, with concerts, are a nightly feature. Practically all of the boardwalk attractions are still open. A series of water basketball contests are being arranged to be held in the Natatorium pool during the fall and winter months. The pool and baths will remain open all winter.

Two hundred and fifty delegates of the New Jersey Independent Order of Foresters were entertained here on Thursday. A special train over the Central Railroad brought the visitors from all points between Jersey City and Asbury Park. Several Supreme Court officials of the order came from Toronto, Canada, as guests of the local organization.

The rumor that the Grand Avenue Hotel here was to be demolished and a new modern all-year hotel erected on the site was proved to be founded on fact this week when the guests of this house were notified that they must arrange for new quarters by October 1 to allow the work of demolition to begin. This hotel is one of the oldest of the continent and is spending their annual sojourn by the sea. Of course, they must "learn" the tango while here.

ATLANTIC CITY A JAG LIST TOWN?

Mayor Sits on Police Magistrate's Bench and Reaches Conclusions.

Atlantic City, Sept. 25.—Atlantic City is to become a jag list town if Mayor Riddle has his way. The city's chief executive sat on the police magistrate's bench for three days during the week and made a first hand study of the flotsam and jetsam cast up from the ocean of John Barleycorn upon Atlantic City's police shores.

As a result of this whiskey breath study the Mayor reaches two conclusions: First, the need of a jag list, comprising the names of all who first too frequently and too deeply with the well known J. B.'s product, and that saloons be notified not to sell to members of this dishonor roll; second, that all saloons selling intoxicants to a man visibly intoxicated be deprived of their licenses.

In addition, a campaign is to be instituted against the saloons vending cheap rum and inferior grades of doctored whiskey.

The dancing craze is not over with the summer by any means. The Million-Dollar Pier force of step artists are almost as busy as ever. The newest wrinkles of the tango have not yet percolated to the nethermost sections of the United States and Canada, and many visitors from the remotest spots of the continent are spending their annual sojourn by the sea. Of course, they must "learn" the tango while here.

Great pressure is being brought to bear upon the City Commissioners of Atlantic City to set up a public market for the resort. The normal population of Atlantic City is approximately 55,000, and every atom of food consumed on the island upon which the resort is built must be brought to the island from the mainland. A strip of barren sand originally, Abscon Island produces nothing edible.

The island is reached not only by railroads and wagon bridges but by numerous water channels that lead far into the heart of the mainland farming country. The farmers, many of whom have landings at their back doors, could, with a city market, load their own boats with their own produce and set sail for Atlantic City.

With a city market established by agriculturalists from the mainland, the resort could, with a city market, load their own boats with their own produce and set sail for Atlantic City. The ultimate consumers, and would realize a slightly advanced price for his produce, sufficient to warrant a fair profit, and would enable the buyers to procure their foodstuffs at a lower rate.

After closing a successful racing season, the South Jersey Yacht Racing Association will hold its annual meeting the latter part of November, and will take up several questions intended to provide improvements in racing regulations. Lacrosse is in racing regattas of courses will hereafter be provided against, and the presence of boats and jetsam in the waters will be prepared against. At Lake George, N. Y.,
