owed him. Reich demanded an accounting from Cochran for the balance over the amount owed by Reich. Justice Newburger overruled the demurrer of the defendant and ordered that the suit go to trial. In May last the Appellate Division reversed this ruling, holding that an action in ejectment was the proper remedy for Reich and not one to redress property. Reich then substituted the law firm of McLearn & McLearn as his attorneys. The odd situation confronted them that, whereas the Appellate Division suggested ejectment proceedings, Cochran was no longer in control of the property. The lawyers received permission to take the case to the Court of Appeals. It was argued last September, Samuel Untermyer appearing for the Cochran estate. And now has come the decision in favor of Reich. This may be the last move in the many sided legal fight. Justice Stiller, who wrote the opinion of the court, said that lease and sub-lease of the Cambridge property must be regarded as a mortgage, that they must be considered satisfied and that the executor of the Cochran estate must account to Reich for the profits enjoyed by Cochran. This the lawyers for Reich figure at about $3,000,000.

SKYSCRAPERS TO BE TOPIC OF HEARING

Proposed Ordinance Is Expected to Enhance, Rather than Injure, Realty Values. If you have anything to say against an ordinance limiting the height of future buildings in this city prepare to say it at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, when the Building Code Committee of the Board of Aldermen will give a public hearing in the City Hall. The ordinance will be part of the revised building code and was recommended by the Height of Buildings Commission, of which Edward M. Bassett was chairman. The ordinance does not attempt to prevent the erection of high buildings. Towers will still be permitted to attain a height limited only by a certain proportion to the lot space. The main effect of the ordinance, if passed, will be to fix a limit upon the height to which building walls may rise before they begin to set back from the street line. Street widths are made the limiting factor for street walls. The ordinance says such walls shall not be more than twice the width of the street nor more than three hundred feet in height. In streets less than fifty feet in width the limit shall be one hundred feet. It is provided that any part of the building not exceeding in area one-fourth of the building lot may be erected to any height if it is at least twenty feet from the inside lot lines. There is no intention to injure real estate values; quite the contrary. The commission found that the lack of regulation in the past had tended to damage real estate values because it created an unnatural development. Certain districts were in the process of becoming smothered by their own growth. Light and air were being cut off and streets were becoming inadequate.

BID SPURGEON FAREWELL

"World" Staff Gives Dinner for Departing Companion. A farewell dinner was given to John J. Spurgeon, who is leaving his editorial position on "The World" to become executive editor of "The Philadelphia Public Ledger," last night at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. About seventy-five diners, including many members of the editorial staff of "The World" and "The Evening World," and several former associates of Mr. Spurgeon during his fifteen years' association with "The World," gathered to express their regret at the parting and to cheer their friend success in his new work. The sun parlor resounded with the melody of old-time ballads, last edition parodies and "stunts" of a character that enlivened "The World" dinner. After Mr. Spurgeon had received a silver tea service from his old companions he told how sorry he was that Father Penn and "The Public Ledger" had wrested him from Father Knickerbocker and "The World." The guests included, besides Mr. Spurgeon and members of "The World's" staff, these "World" alumni: Fire Commissioner Robert Adams, David Ferguson, Supervisor of the City, Richard Perley, E. C. Buchignani, E. C. Carroll, Barton Currie and F. I. Anderson. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, owner of "The Public Ledger," and Mr. Spurgeon's brother, William Spurgeon, of "The Washington Herald," were out of town guests.

GIVES SITE FOR COLLEGE

Jersey Women Must Raise Funds to Secure Rutgers Land. On condition that the women's clubs of New Jersey succeed in raising sufficient funds to insure the success of the project, Rutgers College has offered to them a tract of twelve acres as a site for a new college for girls. The board of trustees of Rutgers announced its offer yesterday to Mrs. William Shipman Douglass, of Jersey City, who for several years has been working zealously for the establishment of such an institution for the higher education of women. The women must, however, under the terms of the grant raise $15,000 during the ensuing year and $20,000 for each of the succeeding three years to erect and equip the necessary buildings.

FEELS FOR OUT-OF-WORKS

Sends $5 Check After Reading Tribune Editorial. A check for $5 was received by The Tribune yesterday, for a tribute to an editorial in the issue of January 13, which appealed for a relief fund for the Charity Organization Society's work among the unemployed. It was from Frank N. Stephens, of this Addition, N. Y. Other gifts to this fund may be sent direct to the C. O. S., at 105 East 22d st.

TO TELL OF DEATH RACE

Mawson, the Explorer, Will Describe Antarctic Experience. Speaking under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History and the American Geographical Society to-night at the City Hall, Sir Douglas Mawson, the explorer, will relate the story of his "Race with Death in Antarctic Blizzards." Among the platform guests will be Admiral Peary, General Thomas H. Hubbard, Dr. Frederick A. Lucas, Dr. Hubert H. Hovey, Herbert L. Briggs, Henry Clews and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

No "Late" About Gen. King.

In heading a recent notice of a sale of autographs belonging to General Horatio C. King, of Brooklyn, The Tribune erroneously referred to him as "the late General King." The general is in reality very much alive and enjoys the prospect of many more years of service in the legal profession.

Owner Seizes the Hotel.

Subsequently, while Reich was out of the city agents of Cochran took forcible possession of the Cambridge, ousted the Reich family, taking charge of all the furnishings, and, as Reich were in court, took his baby's milk out of the icebox. Mrs. Reich, it seems, was the owner of the furniture, and she sued and recovered $77,000 from Cochran. The carpet manufacturer ran the hotel under the lease he held, and Reich was unsuccessful in an effort to ouster the default taken against him. That case also went to the Court of Appeals. Reich, however, was not yet through with his fight. He brought a Supreme Court action to set aside the Municipal Court judgment of ejectment on the ground of fraud and because of alleged collusion with his own lawyer and of the latter's negligence. Justice Giegerich sustained Reich. This case, he went to the Appellate Division and the Court of Appeals, and both tribunals overruled Justice Giegerich and found against Reich. Justice Hatch, of the Appellate Division, said in his opinion: "This is an striking illustration of how greed will make men see with opportunity." This sentence, in the opinion of the justice, was not in the published version a few months later.
