NEW FOUNTAIN UNVEILED

City Receives Memorial to Heroic Wireless Operators.

On behalf of the city, Acting Mayor McAneny received yesterday the drinking fountain which was erected to the memory of wireless operators several months ago at the west wall of the Barge Office, at the Battery.

The fountain, which consists of a large granite bowl, with a granite base and a small shaft backed by a dozen evergreen trees, was designed nearly two years ago. The idea sprang from the heroic way in which Jack Phillips, wireless operator on the Titanic, lost his life by sticking to his post.

Frederick B. Dalzell, chairman of the memorial committee, delivered the dedicatory address at the unveiling of the fountain. He said that the fountain was erected to the memory of the heroic way in which Jack Phillips, wireless operator on the Titanic, lost his life by sticking to his post.

BILLY RAIDS FLEET FOR 400 RECRUITS

Sailors Sign Gospel Articles After He Turns His Broadside on Satan.

Paterson, N. J., May 12—Fleet night in the Tabernacle, Billy Sunday and "Ma" standing in a flashlight picture with 500 sailors, today working "The Star Spangled Banner" for every stripe and every star.

Salmonmen roaring out "Brewer's Big Horse" at the end of the sermon Billy Sunday said he had sent the 500 boys to the sea.

At the end of the trail hitting Sunday got right into the war news by praying for President Wilson.

Presently the collection was increased it when the collection was taken up by shouting: "Say, ushers, pass up the sailor boys."

NEWS OF PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Lecture by Clayton Hamilton at Bandbox—Miss Nansen in Photo-Play

The third of the series of lectures held under the auspices of the Washington Square Players will be given on Sunday afternoon at the Bandbox Theatre by Clayton Hamilton.

The first showing of an elaborate photo-play based on Count Leo Tolstoy's "The Resurrection" with Miss Betty Nansen in the role of Katusha Manlova, will be made at the New York Hippodrome next week.

The dramatic department of Galbraith Weeks has just concluded arrangements for Norman McKinnel to come over in August to play the lead in the dramatic version of "The Devil's Garden," which is to be produced by Arthur Hopkins.

The last concert of the season at the Columbia Theatre will be given next Sunday with a night performance only. The event will be a complimentary testimonial to Jack Shea, who has been in charge of the Sunday performances at the house for the last four seasons.

All sailors in uniform from the battleships will be admitted free to the Broadway Theatre this afternoon between the hours of 11:30 and 5 p. m.

MARSHALL CUSHING DEAD

Editor and Former Secretary Refuses to Lose Courage Despite Accounts of His Death—Horseman Had Real Estate Here in Own Name Taxable at $4,150,000.

Marshall Cushing, editor and publisher of "Haw," a magazine for manufacturers, and interested in several other enterprises in the publishing and advertising field, died yesterday at the Post-Graduate Hospital, following an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Cushing was born in Hingham, March 11, 1869. After attending school there and taking a preparatory course at Exeter Academy, he entered Harvard University, and was graduated in the class of 1893.

He then took up newspaper work, on "The Boston Globe." Later he became private secretary to Senator Lodge. Afterward he was private secretary to John Wanamaker. Following this he was the founder of "The Washington Times" and an editor of "The New York Press."

For a considerable period he was the secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers. He was also associated with the National Founders' Association.

Mr. Cushing was the owner of Cushing Farms, in Dutchess County, N. Y. He leaves a wife and two step-children.

JOHN F. FISK WEDS MISS A. M. HOLLAND

Louis XVI Room at St. Regis Made Into Bridal Chapel for Ceremony.

Miss Alverda Mae Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Holland, of Plainfield, N. J., and 49 Park Avenue, this city, was married to John F. Fisk, 34, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fisk, jr., of Cincinnati, at noon yesterday at the St. Regis. The Rev. Franklin Miller, of Hartford, Conn., performed the ceremony in the Louis XVI room, which was transformed into a bridal chapel.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white satin embroidered in pearls and crystals, with a court train of cloth of silver, and a tulle veil held by a bandeau of pearls.

Saint-Saens, French Composer, Here, with Hatred for Germany.

Camille Saint-Saens, the aged French composer, arrived here yesterday from Bordeaux on the French liner Hochambeau. He is going to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, where a hymn composed by the State of California will be sung by a choral society of many voices on his arrival.

ALFRED GWYNNE VANDERBILT'S LAST PHOTOGRAPH.

This picture was given out yesterday by his family as his best likeness and the one they wished to be used.

Wife's Belief Vanderbilt Lives Blocks Probating of His Will

Members of the Vanderbilt family were still hoping yesterday that Alfred G. Vanderbilt would turn up alive.

The rumor that Lindon Bates, jr., reported among the dead, had been increased, increased this hope, which was stated even after it became known that Bates was lost.

Mrs. Vanderbilt absolutely refused to lose courage, according to close friends of the family. Until she is absolutely sure that her husband is dead no steps can be taken toward the probating of the will.

The will, when it is filed, will be found to dispose of real estate in New York, standing in Mr. Vanderbilt's name, taxable at $4,150,000. Much other property is held by corporations in which he was a large stockholder.

Among the properties in which Mr. Vanderbilt held title to is the Hotel Vanderbilt, occupying the entire block front on Park Avenue, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Streets. It is assessed at $2,800,000. Mr. Vanderbilt and his wife lived at the hotel, occupying the top floor.

CAMILLE SAINT-SAENS.

Distinguished French composer, who arrived yesterday on his way to represent his country at the San Francisco Exposition. He has composed a hymn for California.

DAVID M. PARRY, UNION FOE, DIES

Was Leader in Fight of N. A. M. on Organized Labor for Many Years.

Indianapolis, May 12—David MacLean Parry, who was one of the leaders in the fight of the National Association of Manufacturers on organized labor, died here to-day. A genius of business, he built up a great manufacturing concern and was a mover in great industrial enterprises, but his enmity to the unions was never abated.

Captain Parry won his title in military service—was born on March 25, 1852, on a farm near Pittsburgh. A year later his father moved to Indiana, to another farm, on which young Parry worked until he was seventeen.

Captain Parry founded and owned for some time the Overland automobile factory and business. He built and was president of the Indianapolis Southern Railroad, and, with P. F. Sherman, built and managed the Southern Dakota Central Railroad.

Captain Parry had other extensive financial interests. He was at one time vice-president of the Farmers' Trust Company, of Indianapolis; participated in the syndicate which built the Claypool Hotel, and had extensive interests not only in the United States but also abroad.

Captain Parry was president of the Association of Manufacturers, from 1902 to 1906, and had since been a director and a life member of the executive committee. He was formerly president of the National Association of Carriage Builders and a director of that association for a number of years.

During the greater part of the year 1914 Captain Parry was abroad as a member of the foreign trade commission of the National Association of Manufacturers. It was on his return from this tour that he was stricken on shipboard with uremia, an illness which caused his death.

Brother Daniel Seeks Letters of Administration.

Daniel Frohman, through his counsel, David Gerber, yesterday applied for letters of administration for the estate of his brother, Charles Frohman, who died in the Lusitania disaster.

The amount of the estate is as yet unknown, but it is estimated at about $400,000. In the application Mr. Frohman requests the appointment of Alf Hayman as executor. Mr. Hayman was general manager for Charles Frohman for many years.

No trace of a will has been found. The only contract the theatrical manager ever had, with any of his stars, was with Billie Burke.

As soon as it has been established to the satisfaction of the Surrogate that Mr. Frohman is legally dead, application will probably be granted.

The estate consists principally of stocks and bonds in theatrical ventures and business enterprises allied with them. These include leases on theatres.

JOHN S. PECKHAM.

John S. Peckham, of the Hotel McAlpin, died yesterday at his home, 145 Lexington Avenue, Brooklyn. Mr. Peckham, who was 57 years of age, had a long illness, which was a complication of diseases.

Member of the 7th Regiment, Company C, Veterans, and former assistant manager of the Regener Club, at Edgewater, Long Island, Mr. Peckham had been with the McAlpin since the opening of the house.

Who Can Understand A Boy?

Boys are queer, hard to understand. Things that they think are innocent, grown-ups may regard as mischievous and punishable.

The Newsboy's Home Club

is not a lodging house, but it does much for the newsboy, and does it in a clubby, companionable, brotherly way.

Its purpose is to furnish him a place to meet other boys and study, play, bathe, debate, learn Manual Training and hold entertainments—"give a show."

The instructors encourage him, study his habits, find out what sort of work he has a natural aptitude for. If he wants help with his studies, they interest themselves in his school work and reports.

In the Summer he can go with other boys to a seashore camp for a week.

The Newsboy's Home Club is located at Eleventh Street and Second Avenue. Many newsboys live in that neighborhood. Over 1,800 boys belong to the club.

It is a good institution. More power to it.
