FORTY-SEVEN BURNED; AUTOS INJURE FOUR

Drownings Follow in Wake of Crowds—Runaway Adds Three to Casualty List.

Holding closely to the record of Sunday, when thirteen were killed and fifty injured, the celebration of Independence Day yesterday resulted in the death of nine persons in and near the city and the injuring of sixty-seven.

Most of the injuries were caused by burns resulting from premature explosions of fireworks and by blank cartridges. Fifty-six were treated for burns, three were hurt in a runaway, five rescued from drowning and four hurt in automobile accidents.

Hospital staffs were busy treating those who received burns, which in the majority of cases were from blank cartridges. At Flower Hospital eleven cases were treated, at Bellevue ten, at Hudson Street six, at Gouverneur five, at German four, at the Volunteer three, at Reception two and at Harlem, Roosevelt, Lebanon, Polytechnic and Presbyterian one each. Two people refused medical attention.

Fire Commissioner Adamson was highly pleased at the fire record for the day, which was normal—forty-one alarms. Last year there were fifty-three fires. The average daily record is forty-one, and Adamson feels that the work of the Fire Prevention Bureau is now bearing fruit.

From early morning the entire prevention squad, aided by a number of uniformed firemen, went about the city halting the sale of fireworks by unlicensed dealers. A large quantity of goods was seized when the dealers were summoned to court.

Boy Killed by Fall. Tony Tedisio, three years old, was playing with a "sparkler" on the fire escape of his parents' flat, on the third floor of 225 East 111th Street.

Amelio Crino, sixteen years old, threw a giant firecracker under Mrs. Kath. Lehmann, of 551 East 145th Street, The Bronx, while she was standing in front of her home, carrying her six-month-old baby. She was burned about the legs. Crino was arrested in Manhattan for ten days when arraigned in Night Court.

Mrs. Albertino Linfante, sitting in the yard of her home, 230 East 146th Street, The Bronx, was struck by a scalding water when a boiler burst through the fence. She was slightly injured.

Some boys tried a huge firecracker at Sixty-third Street and West End Avenue. The explosion hurled some loose stones through the air, and one struck Margaret Kelly, eleven, of 22 West End Avenue. She was taken to a hospital with a possible fractured skull.

Four men were drowned at the Rockaways. Joseph Mablens, twenty-three, of 1231 Broadway, Brooklyn, and Arthur W. Poulson, nineteen, of 23 Patchen Avenue, were drowned despite the efforts of three friends at Rockaway Point. There was an explosion at the Coney Island pier by John Andel, of 226 Second Street, Manhattan, who went to Coney Island on the ferry.

Two doctors were killed at the Coney Island Hospital when they heard that Poulson's body had been recovered.

Camper Drowns. At Rockaway Beach Morris Smith, aged twenty-four, of 21 Randolph Avenue, Rockaway, was carried out to sea by Joseph Cray, of 44 Division Avenue, swim after him and brought him to the beach after a hard struggle. He was taken to the Rockaway Beach Hospital suffering from shock and exhaustion.

At 4:30 in the afternoon John R. Thibodeau, a clerk, living at 812 Van Sickle Street, Brooklyn, was drowned while bathing. He was carrying a life preserver and was seen to be struggling in the water. The body was not recovered.

William Lancaster, eighteen, one of seven boys from Bellevue, N. J., who have been camping at Greenwood Lake on the state line, dived from a rowboat yesterday afternoon and failed to return to the surface. His body was recovered fifteen minutes later, but he could not be revived. Henry Denicker, a fellow-camper, was with him in the boat at the time.

Young Lancaster had recently been graduated from the Bellevue High School, where he was president of his class. He intended to enter Princeton in the fall.

While trying to rescue his friend George H. Walters, of 710 McDonough street, Brooklyn, Frederick Heiser, who lived on Hull Street, Brooklyn, was drowned in the ocean off Centre Street, Rockaway Beach, last evening. His body was recovered. Walters was finally rescued by others in the party and taken to Rockaway Beach Hospital.

John Russell Cheltenham, of 814 Pacific Street, Brooklyn, was drowned at Hackensack River yesterday afternoon. He was a West Indian and a powerful swimmer. He went in the water with Conrad Rolinsky and started alone for a long swim. While Rolinsky's attention was diverted for a few moments Cheltenham disappeared. His body has not been recovered.

Seized with a cramp while swimming beyond the breakers at Rockaway Beach yesterday afternoon, Morris Smith, summer resident of Arverne, Queens Borough, was saved from drowning by Joseph Greery, of 44 Division Avenue, Rockaway Beach. Greery dropped exhausted when he had brought Smith ashore.

Martin Straus, a metal worker, living at 12 Amos Street, Brooklyn, died yesterday at St. John's Hospital, Brooklyn, from injuries received on Sunday when he dived into a shallow pool at North Beach.

Arthur Schwachier, of 518 East Eighty-first Street, was drowned in the Hackensack River yesterday while visiting campers at Harrington Park, near Hackensack, N. J. He fell from a canoe, and, being unable to swim, grabbed two of his friends around the neck. They fought him off and tried to save him, but failed.

HOLIDAY COUPLES DANCE IN STREET

Anne Morgan Watches Open Air Fete—Speeches by Mitchell and McCombs.

Hundreds of couples danced on the pavement in West Thirty-ninth Street last night. Above them were festoons of colored lights and bunting. Many-hued confetti swirled about and overhead. The 69th Regiment Band mingled one-steps and patriotic airs. There were Fourth of July addresses and refreshments.

It was the Fourth of July celebration planned by the Vacation Committee of the Woman's Department of the National Civic Federation and held under the windows of the headquarters at 36 West Thirty-ninth Street. Miss Anne Morgan, a member of the organization which helps business women take same vacations, was largely responsible for last night's fete. She had given weeks of her time to the plans, and was on hand to make sure that everything ran smoothly.

Members of the committee are: Miss Robinson Smith, chairman; Mrs. August Belmont, vice-chairman; Miss Maud R. Borland, secretary; Miss Anne Morgan, treasurer.

Mrs. Rogers Bacon, Miss Ella Borland, Mrs. Edward Breitung, Mrs. Alfred Cook, Miss Rachel Crothers, Mrs. Martin Egan, Mrs. Montague Flagg, Mrs. E. E. Garrison, Mrs. George C. Hollister, Miss Ruth Kennedy, Miss Katherine McCann, Mrs. Pousonby Ogle, Miss Caroline Shippen, Mrs. Joel E. Spingarn, Mrs. Andrew V. Stout, Miss Maud Wetmore, Mrs. Charles S. Witt.

Miss Alice C. Kirkpatrick, chairman New Jersey sub-committee. Mrs. Herbert L. Pratt, chairman Brooklyn sub-committee.

Mrs. Rogers Bacon, Henry W. Taft, chairman; George Barr Baker, John C. Crimmins, Monsignor Lavelle, Arthur Williams, Ralph Pulitzer, Louis Stewart, Miss Miriam K. Oliver, executive secretary; Miss Perley B. Davin, collecting secretary.

Not only was the success of last night's celebration attributed to Miss Morgan, but she held responsible for much of the work done by the committee.

William McCombs, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, was the first speaker. The garden of national democracy, he declared. They paid the heaviest penalty, he pointed out, if their sons and fathers undertook war as untrained volunteers.

Rival American Celebrations in Berlin—United States Consul General Host.

London, July 5.—Practically the only reminder to Americans in London of Independence Day was the sight of the flag flying over the embassy on the only day of the year when it is displayed without special orders from the State Department.

As a result of this, there was an informal reception at Ambassador Page's home, No. 6 Grosvenor Square, where a very small attendance served to emphasize the death of Americans in London this year. Here the attendance at the Ambassador's receptions in former years ran into the thousands, this year it hardly reached three figures.

Displayed in the drawing room where the reception was held was a black and white sketch portrait of Ambassador Page's daughter, Katherine, by Sargent which was given her by the painter as a wedding present.

Rival 4th Celebrations Hold Sway in Berlin

Berlin (via London), July 5.—More than 200 members of Berlin's American colony met this afternoon for the annual celebration of the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Instead of gathering at a suburban park, as in former years, however, the Americans were the guests of Julius G. Lay, United States Consul General, and Mrs. Lay, who entertained them in the gardens connected with one of the city's hotels.

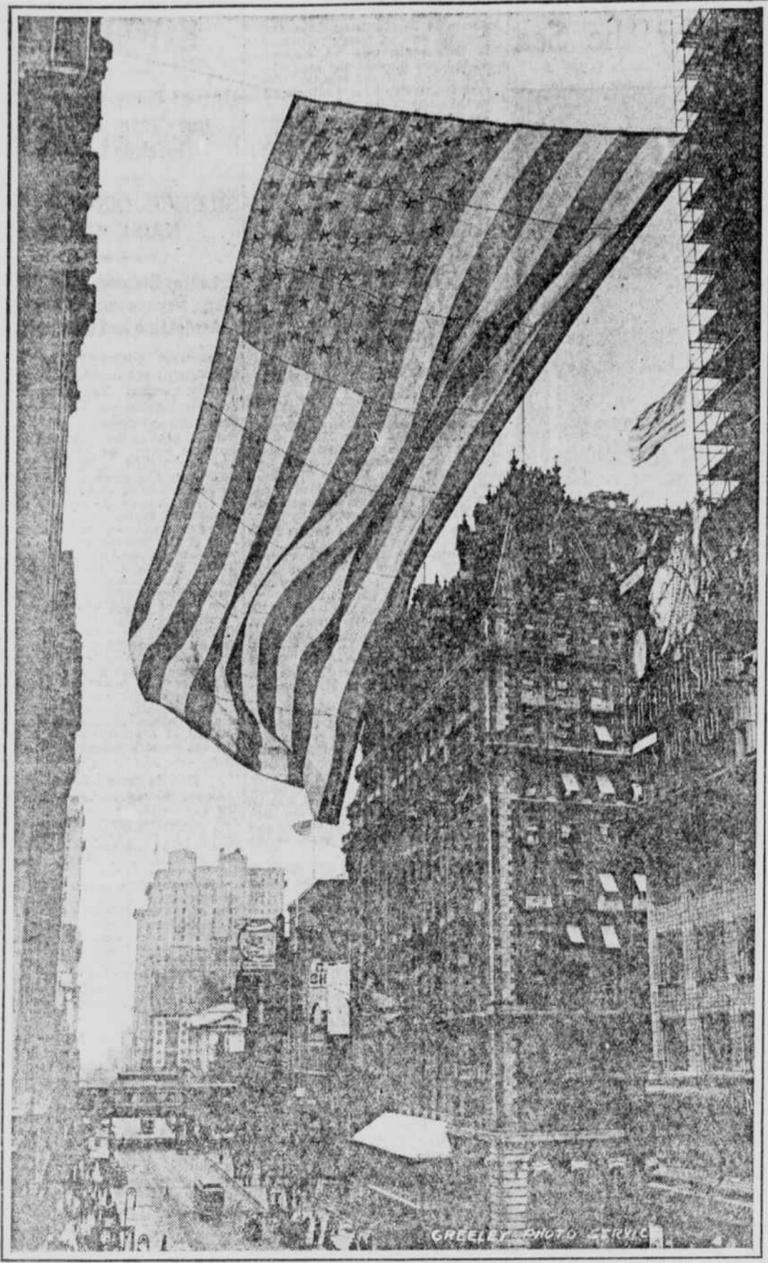

The anonymous founder of the "World Association of Friends," who placed it day, upon the statue of Frederick the Great, a wreath tied with the United States colors shrouded with crape, had extended through the newspapers an invitation to attend a rival event at the suburb of Granau, but there were very few who answered the call.

AND MARSHALL SLEPT ON Little Rock Was Ready, but the Vice-President Wasn't.

Little Rock, July 5.—Vice-President T. R. Marshall slept through the reception arranged for him by Little Rock citizens on his arrival here this morning from St. Louis, on the way to Hot Springs to be the principal speaker at the Independence Day celebration.

When the Vice-President's train arrived there was a rush of leading citizens, including Governor George W. Hayes, Mayor E. T. Taylor, city officials and members of the Arkansas Supreme Court, but the guest of honor slumbered peacefully through the noise, made by five hundred excited persons who wanted to shake his hand. The special remained here only ten minutes.

CONEY'S FOURTH SANE Lack of Trouble Lets Police Enjoy Holiday with Crowd.

Coney Island surprised its friends by the sanity with which the Fourth was observed there. The crowds fell only a trifle short of the record throngs of Sunday. The Municipal Bathing Pavilion had eleven thousand bathers during the day.

A woodthrush, totally oblivious to the citizenry pattered on the green, began its song; a hidden orchestra broke into the strains of Grieg's "Morning" and an elf came from the forest to offer a liaison to nature.

Throughout the day only two mishaps were reported to the police. Miss Celia Westman, of 698 Hart Street, Brooklyn, suffered a bruised finger on her right hand when a guard on a Sea Beach train slammed a seat down on it.

Joseph Levy, of 97 Forsyth Street, got his left foot caught between cars of a Brighton Beach train and fractured his great toe. They were treated by an ambulance surgeon and went their way.

SAVES SHIP FROM U-BOAT; LOSES LIFE

sunk by a German submarine yesterday. Sixty-six of the crew were saved. Six men are missing. The Carthage was attacked near Cap Hellen.

It also was announced that a French squadron sighted two submarines in the English Channel yesterday, and that one was hit by several shells and disappeared.

The Carthage was built at Newcastle in 1910. She was 403 feet long, 51 feet beam and 20.5 feet deep. She was owned by the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, of Paris.

Paulliac, France, July 5.—The Spanish steamer Juan arrived here today with the captain and seven men of the French schooner Hirondele, which was sunk on July 2 by a German submarine near Ouessant, the westernmost of the islands off the coast of Brittany.

"A submarine appeared 300 yards from us and fired a shot through our rigging," said the Hirondele's captain. "I lowered sail and raised our flag. Some one called to us from the submarine that we had three minutes to leave the vessel and we got into a lifeboat and pulled away."

"The submarine then fired six shots into the Hirondele and in ten minutes I saw my ship sink, having heeled over, with her keel in the air. At this moment two torpedo boats and the Spanish ship Juan, which took us aboard, appeared, and the German submarine slowly submerged until she was out of sight."

GENERAL OROZCO'S CAPTURE REPORTED

Escaped Mexican Leader Said to Have Been Retaken at Guzman, with Eight Companions.

El Paso, Tex., July 5.—A report was received in Juarez to-night that General Pascual Orozco, with eight companions, was captured to-day at Guzman, a point south of Juarez, on the Mexican Northwestern Railroad.

BIRD FOUNTAIN DAY AT FOREST HILLS

Thrush, Hidden Orchestra and Dancing Baroness Help in Celebration.

A woodthrush, totally oblivious to the citizenry pattered on the green, began its song; a hidden orchestra broke into the strains of Grieg's "Morning" and an elf came from the forest to offer a liaison to nature.

Irmand Baroness von Rottenthal was chosen to interpret the five illustrative dances which dedicated the bird fountain in Olivus Park.

The simal fountain, built of boulders, at one edge of the amphitheatre was then unveiled by Elma Rea, of the Gardens, who dedicated it to the birds in recognition of their services and charm.

The woodthrush sang extempore once more, and the villagers strolled back to the festooned town.

But loving the birds and flowers did not constitute the entire day's program. Every youngster in the assemblage had to take part in the exercises.

Too Much Fireless Fourth Drives Boys to Firewater

Festive Noises from Brewer's Cellar and Burglar Alarm Bring Police with Guns Drawn—Inspired Patriots Marched Off to Jail.

"Aw, shucks! These speeches ain't no fun on Fourth of July; let's go play burglar or something, quays" he muttered to Sammy Caronia, as he met "de gang" in front of his home, at 1659 Third Avenue, last evening.

"Cum'on, lads," said Tommy Holland, who had just come from his home across the street. "I ain't had no fun all day. Gee, it ain't like what it used to be, with firecrackers 'n things," he added, with an inward longing for the days when the Fourth could be more glorious and less safe and sane.

An open basement door in the house of F. C. Hachmeister, at 19 East Ninety-fourth Street, was inviting to the boys, who numbered now five. Lifting out a headlight just inside the door they dropped one by one into the mysterious depths of the subcellar.

Mr. Hachmeister is a brewer, and in his subcellar he keeps a collection of beverages not intended for youthful tilters. The rows of dusty bottles proved alluring to the invading band. Absorbed in searching out a quays' quays' old Sammy Caronia, as he met "de gang" in front of his home, at 1659 Third Avenue, last evening.

JUSSERAND HONOR GUEST AT CAPITAL

France Is Praised and "Unhyphenated Patriotism" Urged at Exercises.

Washington, July 5.—J. J. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, was the guest of honor at the "Americanization Day" exercises, held under the auspices of the Sons of the American Revolution here to-day.

His excellency smiled appreciation when Henry B. F. MacFarland, ex-District Commissioner, took occasion in the principal address of the day to pay tribute to "noble, beautiful and generous France, who furnished ships, money and men for the American Revolution, which set us free."

M. Jusserand has made a point, during his twelve years as ambassador here, of attending as many patriotic celebrations as possible, and has been invited to the Washington Monument to take part in the exercises.

Huerta To Be Released on New Bond To-day

El Paso, Tex., July 5.—Arrangements have been made by Huerta to meet the additional bond of $15,000 to-morrow.

The aged Mexican leader, who still is in the county jail, stated to-day that he would arrange the bond on Tuesday and that he hoped to be able to return to his daughter's home in the Georgetown apartments.

It is known, however, that Huerta, as soon as he is released on bond will be taken in charge by the military authorities and interned at Fort Bliss.

Additional evidence has been found, it is claimed, which makes it especially desirable that Huerta be kept under strong guard, should he be released, and the only safety from a military standpoint is to keep him at Fort Bliss.

While military hands were playing near his cell to-day, and he could hear the tramp of 3,000 American soldiers on parade, General Huerta talked hopefully through the grated door and asked that an English first reader and a Spanish-English dictionary be brought to him. He said that he would occupy his time in prison, and after he is out, studying English.

10,000 IN TOLEDO PEACE PAGEANT

City Adopts New Form of Remembering Nation's Birthday.

Toledo, O., July 5.—More than ten thousand persons marched or rode in the peace pageant here to-day, the first of its kind ever adopted in the United States, as a means of celebrating Independence Day. That Toledo has established Peace Day as a permanent institution was the consensus of opinion this afternoon.

The proposition was indorsed by prominent men all over the country, and this Northwestern Ohio city was commended for her enterprise. Every organization in the city was represented. Civil War veterans had a place in the parade and they were the most enthusiastic of the lot.

HUNGRY MEXICO CURSES WILSON; LAUDS HUERTA

American, on Visit Here, Charges Washington Conceals Facts.

PRESIDENT "NATION'S ARCH EXPANSIONIST"

U. S. Investigators "Fools or Rascals," Lawyer Says—Intervention Sure to Come.

ASTOUNDING revelations regarding conditions in Mexico and the hatred which 17,000,000 men and women have for President Wilson were made yesterday to a Tribune reporter by a member of the largest American law firm in Mexico, who is now stopping at the Waldorf-Astoria.

"The name of Woodrow Wilson is cursed morning and night," he said. "Fifteen million out of the seventeen million people in Mexico are starving and they lay their condition at the door of Mr. Wilson. In their minds he is to blame for everything. They execrate and vituperate his name constantly. It is impossible for any American to realize to what an extent they hate the President of the United States."

"It is equally impossible for Americans to realize how awful a famine is being experienced by Mexico now. Hundreds of men, women and children are starving by the wayside. No one has dared to tell the truth so far as I know, but if it should be known that it was that telling you this there would be damnation to pay."

"Wilson will be charged that I have an axe to grind," he continued. "I have none. My firm is not in politics and has all the financial backing it wants and needs. I am telling nothing but God's own honest truth, and I am telling it because my heart bleeds for those poor millions of Mexicans who are being massacred with the assistance of the President of my own country."

"Wilson 'Greatest Expansionist.' 'Wilson has been encouraging Carranza, Villa and Zapata. He has given these three leaders almost as bitterly as they hate Woodrow Wilson. But America does not know this. News from Mexico is censored. The Mexican censors themselves rewrite to suit their own interests. Carranza and Villa do not permit any information to go out of the country under real conditions."

"Wilson will have to interfere. He has been driving all along toward that end. He is the greatest expansionist this country has ever had, without any reservations. In Mexico I am considered a person of some importance, and I know that the leaders know what Wilson is driving at. The American President has been supporting the revolutionists, but Americans do not know—cannot realize—that he is and has been driving toward the goal of ultimate intervention."

"Huerta is even now the most popular of all living Mexicans, this man says. The move of the United States to intercept his entrance to the country was absolutely nothing, however. This was explained by the fact that while Huerta was personally popular, he could not any longer get an army together because of the moral support given to the revolutionists by the United States."

"The informant says that the misery of the people in Mexico City at present is beyond description. Only recently women and men went to the soldiers in the southern part of Mexico. One hundred and sixty-eight priests, with their hands tied behind their backs, were driven like oxen through the streets of Mexico City and then publicly horseploughed."

HUERTA APPEAL TO BE IGNORED BY HIGH COURT

Officials Call Ex-Dictator's Protest to Justice White Presumptuous.

NEW VILLA AGENT REACHES CAPITAL

Conventionists Believed Seeking Way to Win Wilson Over to Their Side.

Washington, July 5.—Huerta's appeal to the United States Supreme Court to deliver him from the persecution to which he claims he has been subjected by Federal officers in El Paso will probably get no further than Chief Justice White's waste basket, according to official opinion here.

It is not thought Chief Justice White will reply to the presumptuous protest of the ex-dictator. There is no reason to suppose, officials think, that Huerta will be able by such means to escape the charges on which he is held.

The appeal was taken to the State Department to-day by James D. Maher, clerk of the Supreme Court. The telegram was in Spanish, and it was translated for Mr. Maher in the Latin-American Bureau.

"It's all old; there is nothing to give out. There is no news in it," was all Mr. Maher would say as he left the Department. "There is nothing for the court to do. They do not meet until next October, any way."

Court Without Jurisdiction. Department officials say the court cannot take jurisdiction of the case, and the expectation is that the telegram will be referred to the State Department and to the Department of Justice for its information.

Miguel Diaz Lombardo, Villa's Minister of Foreign Affairs, arrived here to-day to confer with Enrique C. Llerenas, confidential agent of the Conventionist government. Reports that he had come to arrange a peace plan were strenuously denied.

The statement of the purpose of Mr. Lombardo's visit would be made other than that overtures to Carranza were absolutely out of the question at this time.

The large number of emissaries sent by Villa to Washington recently gives credence to the belief that the Conventionists are attempting to form a plan of pacification which will be acceptable to the American government. Officials believe, however, that no proposition would be considered by President Wilson unless it is acceptable to all the Mexican factions.

The apparent impossibility of inducing Carranza to treat with his enemies leads officials to think the President will ultimately have to choose between recognizing the First Chief or imposing a plan of his own on all the groups. In the latter case, it is thought, he would undoubtedly seek the support of the principal South American powers.

New Attack on Mexico City. A new attack on Mexico City has been begun by the Carranza forces, according to a dispatch given out by the Constitutional agency here to-night. It says:

"The general forward movement of the armies of the Constitutional government has begun, according to a dispatch received at the confidential agency of the Carranza government to-night.

"The dispatch recites that General Pablo Gonzalez, commander of the military operations of the army of the center, has begun his campaign for the investment and capture of Mexico City. His movements have been initiated in combination with fresh forces from Puebla, Cuernavaca and Tlaxcala.

"The capture of Mexico City is now assured, for, in addition to a superior force attacking the makeshift fortifications of the Zapatistas, General Gonzalez is assured that the Zapatistas are suffering from a shortage of ammunition. The opinion is expressed that the capture of the capital is now only a question of a few days, with the chances favoring an evacuation by its present tenants."

Wins Columbia Audiences. Lew Kelly and his associate players in the "Behman Show" began their tenth week at the Columbia Theatre yesterday. This two-act burlesque continues to please large audiences, and the changes and improvements in some of the numbers make it an enjoyable performance to see more than once.

Kelly uses the topics of the day for his satire in the character of Professor Dope. He is assisted by a capable company, including Martelle, who does an excellent impersonation of J. Edgar Hoover. Other features were added to this week's programme yesterday which pleased the holiday audience.

Out of the Fire. The Tribune's Bureau of Investigations isn't at all averse to pulling chestnuts out of the fire for Tribune readers.

There is a certain type of merchant, you know, who trades on the great American trait of good nature. He knows he can get away with anything up to grand larceny because his customer doesn't want to raise a row.

The next time you are being imposed upon, tell us about it. We are ready to lick these town bullies of business for you. You needn't appear in the episode at all, except in giving your name confidentially to Mr. Adams in setting forth the facts.

We won't let even an echo of the disturbance reach you. We won't be disagreeable to the man who has tricked you. We shall merely be inquisitive. And for the benefit of people who go to that man's store after you we will disclose the facts for the Tribune-reading public.

Have you any chestnuts now that we can reach for you? Our asbestos gloves are at your command.
