BRIDGEPORT MEN STRIKE AT NOON; ARMISTICE FAILS

500 to March Out of Remington Co.—Declare "Battle to a Finish."

ALL NEW ENGLAND WILL BE WAR AREA

Gompers Played for "German Money" Charge—City's Manufacturers Join Forces.

[By Telegraph to the Tribune.] Bridgeport, Conn., July 19.—The efforts of the unknown mediator who attempted to avert the great Bridgeport strike have failed. The strike begins to-morrow. The labor leaders have made no change in their original plans. Five hundred men will walk out of the Remington Arms and Ammunition Company at noon to-morrow. The union heads here characterize the strike as "one of the biggest jobs we have ever undertaken."

The statements of Major Walter G. Penfield, general manager of the war plant, and of Samuel Gompers, that German money was behind the strike, have increased the labor men. J. J. Kepler of the machinists' union, and John A. Johnson, of the structural ironworkers, the virtual leaders of the labor movement that tends to bring all New England into its grasp, are particularly angry over the allegations. They say they will bring both the major and Gompers to time; will defy them to prove their words.

As before, the actual matter of the strike is laid directly at Major Penfield's door. "We have exhausted every effort to prevent the strike," Kepler said to-night. "We have tried to see Major Penfield. He flatly refused. He is the only employer I can recall in the history of labor troubles who took this stand. Even in the differences we have had with United States navy yards we have always had a hearing. But Major Penfield, an army officer, refuses us the privileges we have enjoyed at the hands of the United States government."

(City Manufacturers Back Arms Co.)

"Well, it's going to be a battle, and battle to a finish," he continued. "By the end of the week, every subcontractor will be closed up. This strike will spread all over New England. And it may go further than that. For, if after the strike against the Remington begins, we find that any factory making material for them continues to ship that material we will pull men out of those factories, no matter whether or not they are in the union."

The general situation was still further complicated to-night, when it became known that a vigorous attempt was being made to bring about a strike of Hungarians working for the Remington company or the sub-contractors. Many copies of a Hungarian newspaper were circulated urging the Hungarians to attend a strike meeting to-morrow night.

Meetings were held by a number of unions to-night, but so far as could be learned, no definite action was taken. The head carriers, at a special meeting, voted to postpone action until Wednesday night, when another meeting will be held. The definite decision to strike was reached just after Johnson heard from the mysterious person who tried to arrange arbitration. "I just can't do a single thing," he told Johnson over the telephone. There was a rumor to-day that the man was connected with the German navy. Johnson denied this, but said he didn't know whether the man went to see the Morgan firm or not—in fact, he didn't care if the man could settle the matter for many years.

Johnson received the message of the Manufacturers' Association of this city, after a secret meeting, issued a statement that "the manufacturers of Bridgeport will stand with the German navy." The Remington Arms-Metallic Cartridge Company, in its decision to operate only an open shop, inasmuch as under this plan industrial conditions here have been bettered to employer and employee for many years.

No German "Dough." Kepler said this statement was only an attempt to belittle the issue. He is going to get a personal explanation from Gompers, he says, to find out who was meant in the allegations about foreign money. "Gompers is employed by us," said Kepler, "and it's probable a demand will be made upon him to prove his statements. And I want to say right here that the German money that would stop work would be violation of union regulations or an order from the United States government to stop manufacturing war material," he concluded. When the strike begins to-morrow and the men walk out the police will try to prevent a disturbance. What will happen no one knows. A demonstration is proposed in front of the Remington plant on Sunday. The Remington plant is half a mile away. It is planned to take no workmen from that plant until Wednesday or Thursday. Some will be taken away from

OKLAHOMA AFIRE THRICE AT DOCK

Explosion Preceded First Blaze, Is Report—Big Ship Damaged. Philadelphia, July 19.—Ready for her trial trip, the battleship Oklahoma was seriously damaged by fire of unknown origin to-night.

Flames were seen on the dreadnought a few minutes after the workmen left her decks, at 6 o'clock, as she lay at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Company, in Camden. The fire was under control at 9 o'clock after four companies from the Camden Fire Department had pumped the compartment under turret No. 1 half full of water. Fifteen minutes after the companies left the scene they were called back for a second blaze, which was not put out until forty-five minutes later.

A third blaze occurred at 11:30 o'clock and the fire companies were again recalled. The third fire broke out in turret No. 2. There was a report that an explosion had preceded the first fire. "I have heard nothing about it," said Samuel M. Knox, president of the shipbuilding company. "There is absolutely nothing on the ship which could burn."

A plant there were those who did not hesitate to say the fire was of incendiary origin. It was pointed out that the company employed many men whose nationality makes them opposed to the policy of the United States and that they might take revenge upon the dreadnought.

This is the fourth fire within two weeks that has occurred on United States naval vessels, any one of which would have destroyed a ship. July 11 a fire started on the Alabama, flagship of Rear Admiral Helm, at League Island, Philadelphia, while five hundred guests were on board. July 13 dreadnoughts were on board. TWO CAN PROVE BECKER INNOCENT SAYS ATTORNEY

S. H. Wandell Gives 'Clew' That Sets Murderer's Counsel at Work. Samuel H. Wandell, a lawyer of 2 Rector Street, declared yesterday he had given to the attorneys for Charles Becker information which he believes will save the former policeman's life, if an extension of time is given the condemned man so that "two persons who can absolutely prove Becker's innocence" may be brought back to this state.

WIFE OF CONDEMNED IN BETTER SPIRITS

"Big Tim" Sullivan's Secretary Denies Story of Scheme to Bribe Rosenthal. Mrs. Sullivan, the wife of the condemned man, is in better spirits.

Mr. Wandell said he had told what he knew to John B. Johnston, of counsel for Becker. "I am not at liberty to discuss the information I placed in Mr. Johnston's possession," Mr. Wandell said, "because I am not in the case. I have long been a friend of John F. McIntyre, one of Becker's attorneys, and when I was told by a man in whom I have the strongest confidence that the story he told me could be verified by certain 'two persons' I decided that no time should be lost in bringing the matter to Mr. McIntyre's attention."

"I communicated with Mr. McIntyre and he told me to inform Messrs. Cockran, Manton and Johnston of what I knew. But before I could get in touch with them Mr. Johnston came to my office." To questions of whether "the two persons" had figured in Becker's trials and whether recantation was involved, Mr. Wandell replied: "You must go to Becker's attorneys for that; I am not in a position to tell you."

Mr. Cockran Silent. When W. Bourke Cockran was asked for enlightenment on this feature of the case he said: "I have nothing to say about that."

It is believed that the lawyers are working on the Wandell information. Mr. Manton has been away from his office most of the time since Mr. Johnston interviewed Mr. Wandell, and it is supposed that he has been out of town trying to get the man named by Mr. Wandell to return so that they can testify.

The situation yesterday indicated that an important move in the case is scheduled for to-day, but what it is to be of Becker's counsel would say. Unusual secrecy marked the actions of the lawyers, and their conferences lasted until late last evening. Mrs. Becker, who spent an hour with Mr. Johnston yesterday afternoon, returned about 6:30 o'clock last evening, and when she left Mr. Cockran's office it was in a more cheerful spirit than she has shown in a long time. It is the fact that within the last week she has discarded black and is now wearing white dresses. The year of mourning for her mother ended last Friday.

Mrs. Becker went to Sing Sing last night with a batch of documents, which she gave to Deputy Warden Charles H. Johnson, who is instituting proceedings to return to her the property of her husband's attorneys as soon as possible. The nature of the papers was not disclosed, but her hurried trip was taken to mean that a new plan of procedure had been entered upon by Becker's counsel.

"Big Tim" in Becker Appeal. Father James B. Curry, rector of St. James's Catholic Church, and Joseph F. Shay, of Becker's counsel, yesterday gave out a version of the statement Becker had made in preparing for his appeal to the public. It deals with the late Senator Timothy D. Sullivan.

On the night before the murder of Becker and Mrs. Becker went to Cones Island. On the return to the Olinville house where they were living, Becker received a telephone call from Jack Rose asking him to come downtown and see Sullivan. Becker said to have replied: "You'll have to see him right away." Becker was informed. "Big Tim" insists on it.

Becker agreed to do so, and with Rose and another man he met Sullivan at a theatre near Columbus Circle. "Big Tim" told Becker he had learned that Rosenthal was going to reveal to the district attorney Whitman that he and Regie, lieutenant, then unnamed, had been partners in a gambling house, and that Rosenthal should be kidnapped and taken out of the state.

"There's nothing to worry about," Becker told Sullivan. "You keep quiet," Sullivan replied. "I tell you we'll have to take Rosenthal out of this state." Senator Sullivan is said to have handed $6,000 to one of the men and told him to give it to Rosenthal so the gambler could go to Paris. Jack Rose, the story runs, saw a way to get hold of the greater part of that $6,000 himself. To that end, he is said to have confided to Gyp the Blood and his three fellow gunmen that Rosenthal had been responsible for the arrest of Big Jack Zeig for carrying concealed weapons. They could administer a lesson to Rosenthal, and at the same time split $1,000, is the crafty counsel attributed to Rose, by kidnapping Herman Rosenthal.

As a result of the foreseen, the word flashed through gangdom that it was Rosenthal, "the squealer," who had put Big Jack behind the bars. The gunmen swallowed the bait. The kidnapping "himself," it is said, directing Rosenthal to meet him at the Metropole and get his $6,000.

With that matter settled, Rose, according to Becker's version, gathered around in Webster's place, at Forty-second Street and Sixth Avenue, but met early and had many drinks before the time came to meet Rosenthal. Rose is said to have accompanied Rose

HOPE FOR FRANK SEEN AS FEVER SCARE PASSES

High Temperature Falls—Great Danger Now Is Infection. "CALLED" TO CRIME, SAYS ASSAILANT. Green Declares Summons "from on High" Impelled Him to Attack Prisoner.

Prayed for More Strength. "I only wish that I had had more strength," Green said. "I think I have done my duty in this matter as well as my strength allowed. I believe that God has helped me. I don't think that I ever did wrong in my life."

Green, questioned further by prison officials to-day, said he believed he had been called "from on high" to kill Frank. "I only wish that I had had more strength," Green said. "I think I have done my duty in this matter as well as my strength allowed. I believe that God has helped me. I don't think that I ever did wrong in my life."

Green, although he weighs 165 pounds, is partly paralyzed in his left arm. The physicians believe that this saved Frank's life, as Green was unable to seize his victim while he used the knife. Walter Smith said Green had spent much time recently reading the Bible. Other prison attaches said that Green recently had shown a tendency to discuss religion.

E. E. Davidson, chairman of the State Prison Commission, in Atlanta to-day said the only punishment the board can inflict on Green if Frank recovers is to remove his eligibility to parole. A life-termer who is paroled after ten years. If Frank should die, Green could be tried for murder and hanged.

See Hope for Prisoner. Dr. J. H. Rosenberg, of Atlanta, Frank's family physician, who was called to Milledgeville yesterday, said his return to-day, but what it is to be of Becker's counsel would say. Unusual secrecy marked the actions of the lawyers, and their conferences lasted until late last evening.

Among the points in which they seek light is whether Green committed the act of his own initiative or whether he was prompted by persons outside of prison, connected with the institution or by his fellow prisoners.

Should it be found that Green alone conceived the plan to kill Frank, the commission will try to learn what prompted him. This phase of the investigation will include the question whether inflammatory literature on the Frank case has been circulated on the farm and whether there has been any animosity toward the prisoner.

Judge Davidson says Green was not a butcher and had not been engaged in killing hogs, but that his work was in the kitchen, where he obtained the knife used to cut salt meat.

PLEA FOR MRS. FEROLA

Women to Seek Pardon from Governor Whitman. A delegation of women interested in saving Mrs. Madeline Ferola will go to Albany to-morrow to plead with Governor Whitman for her pardon. The speakers will be Mrs. Clarence Burns, of the Little Mothers' Aid Association; Miss Maida Craigie, chairman of the probation committee of the New York Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Frank Cothren, treasurer of the Women's Suffrage Party of Brooklyn; and Miss Helen Varick Boswell, president of the Women's Republican Club.

DOG RUNS 8 MILES ON WAY TO 'FRISCO

Regie, Once Owned by John D.'s Daughter, Follows Master's Car Till Exhausted. When Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sweeney and their two younger children, of 35 Rose Street, New Rochelle, had driven early to Peekskill, on their way to San Francisco, in their automobile van yesterday, they discovered that they had left Regie, their Boston bull terrier, behind.

They turned back fifty miles and found the dog lying exhausted on the road, near White Plains. He followed them for eight miles. Regie was taken aboard and the trip to the Coast was resumed.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney started early yesterday in a specially designed car, equipped with four bunks and a kitchenette. Mr. Sweeney is a hotel proprietor on New Rochelle. Nine years ago Mrs. McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, gave the dog to him.

Reply to Germany to Be Submitted to Cabinet To-day Will Leave No Chance for New Evasions.

WILL REFLECT AMERICAN SENTIMENT

President Convinced Further Parleys Would Be Farcical—Ordnance Attack Not to Delay Answer, Which Probably Will Go This Week. [From The Tribune Bureau.] Washington, July 19.—President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing were in conference for an hour and a half this morning on the reply to be made to Germany's latest note on the Lusitania affair. They were in entire agreement on the general questions involved. Both favor a strong reassertion of the attitude already taken, it is believed, and have agreed to present to the Cabinet to-morrow a draft which leaves no doubt of the earnestness of the United States in its determination to enforce American rights on the high seas.

The prediction is freely made among officials that the note will strongly reassert the rights of American citizens on the seas and will be so worded as to leave little opportunity for Germany to return other than a direct reply to the questions evaded in the last two notes from Berlin. It is felt that further parley without actually meeting on some common ground would be farcical. The note, however, will be couched in polite and friendly language.
