

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Vote of confidence was asked by the Ministry, and the Chamber adjourned until next Monday.

Still Battling for Hills.

The brief official statement of the Berlin War Office is as follows: Our forward movement over the whole front is making good progress. Both the town and fortress of Semmering were taken yesterday.

The fighting for the possession of the heights to the south of Belgrade is still undecided, the Paris "Matin" correspondent at Nish telegraphs, some of the hills having been taken and retaken several times.

Artillery on both sides has been firing without respite for three days, says the dispatch. The Serbs gain the advantage again in the morning, when they captured excellent positions near Topolitz and drove the Germans back to a suburb of Belgrade called Great Vratchar, where a fierce struggle still continues.

The British naval brigade rendered an excellent account of themselves, and the correspondent, and with its heavy guns inflicted great losses on the Germans and succeeded in sinking the monitors in the Danube. At Ram the Serbs were caught unexpectedly and were driven back, with the loss of four howitzers and several machine guns.

Great numbers of civilians and Jewish families who had taken refuge in the Belgrade churches and synagogues were buried in the ruins when Teuton shells destroyed the buildings. Neither hospitals nor churches were spared, the correspondent asserts.

Seek to Cut Nish Railway.

Two attacks marked the beginning of the Bulgarian invasion of Serbia. Velikovo, in the short neck of Serbian territory separating Bulgaria from Hungary, and Kadibogaz, threatening the Nish-Uskub railway, are the points first threatened by King Ferdinand's troops.

The move against Velikovo, as it is interpreted here, has a double object—the flanking of the Serbian troops defending the Orient Railway, the main artery to Constantinople, at which both Bulgarians and Germans are striking, and the cutting of the line from the Danube to Nish, which now unites Rumania to the Aegean Sea.

This effort to isolate Rumania is

The MOTOR SHOP

Broadway at Ninth

Special—to

Owners of Cars

FURS

are going up at a scandalous speed.

The demand for furs for the trimming of women's suits and dresses, as well as coats, is enormous.

Our motoring fur coats were ordered long ago, and will be sold on the basis of their cost with our usual profit.

Raccoon Coats

$105 to $275

These are the skins of Northern raccoons, hardy, durable. The coats are well cut and properly made.

We might pull these coats apart and sell the skins for double the profit; but—our customers require service.

Motorsists wishing to own one of these coats at the prices quoted are advised to buy now.

Plush Robes

74 inches long; finely mercerized cotton plush, faced both sides; warm, but not heavy; gray, taupe, and mottled gray; $22.50, $25.

Leather Vests

Just in from London. Of calfskin, light, soft, warm; silk sleeves; modeled after the old-time outdrier's coat. $22.50.

World's Series BASEBALL

A direct wire connects The Man's Store with Baseball Park, Philadelphia. Plays will be announced by megaphone, as made, from the Fourth Avenue (center) window. Score by innings will be posted on bulletin board in adjoining window.

Burlington Arcade fl., New Bldg.

John Wanamaker

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

Save your eyes by reading in a bright, steady, clear light from Edison Mazda Lamps, Agencies now at Riker-Hegeman Stores in Manhattan, Harlem and the Bronx.

looked upon as more significant than any recent news from diplomatic channels. That it shows some fear in Sofia of Rumanian intervention against the Central Powers, is, however, the opinion ventured in some quarters here.

Military experts have assumed that when Bulgaria struck she would attempt to seize the railroad running from Belgrade to Constantinople by way of Nish.

Another line runs direct from Nish to Salonica and is the only one over which the Allied troops now being landed at the Greek ports could be transported north to the aid of the Serbians.

Bulgar Cabinet Reconstructed.

Nish, the capital of Serbia since the beginning of the war, is only twenty-five miles to the southwest of Kniazevatz, where the Bulgarians have attacked. Alexandria, on the Nile, is the capital of Egypt, almost an equal distance to the west. At Alexandria the Serbs were defeated by the Turks in 1876.

The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a "Times" dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

"Instead of compelling the Serbians to adopt a compliant attitude, the Quadruple Entente presented an ultimatum to Bulgaria, demanding an immediate breach with the central powers. This would have meant suicide for us. The Quadruple Entente counted upon causing internal disorders by this action.

"Bulgaria is resolved to defend her sovereign rights with dignity, and the entire people are united in supporting the government."

In conclusion, General Jekoff said that any attacks the Quadruple Entente powers might make upon the Bulgarian Aegean or Black Sea coast would be of a different nature and intended only to produce a moral effect. Military circles would hardly be influenced by such movements, he said.

Advices from Sofia to the "Telegraph" and "The Times" are as follows: "The Bulgarian Ministry has been reconstructed, according to a 'Times' dispatch from Sofia, Premier Radoslawoff relinquishes the portfolio of the Interior and retains that of Foreign Affairs.

M. Christo Pehov, of the commission appointed to investigate the events of 1913, is appointed Minister of the Interior. General Jekoff, who has been appointed commander in chief of the army, is succeeded by General Nadenoff, the inspector of artillery.

General Jekoff, on turning over his duties as a difficult matter, made a statement to the representatives of the foreign press, which is as follows:

"Bulgaria does not desire war. We mobilized only when the Serbians, instead of being up Macedonia, concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier.

FRENCH WEAKEN GERMANS' WEDGE SOUTH OF TAURE

Claim Progress in Thrust to Straighten Front in Champagne.

TEUTON GUNS SHELL ADVANCED POSITIONS

Violent Bombardment Around Souchez and Massiges Is Maintained.

London, Oct. 12.—While the heavy guns of the Germans are seeking to build a wall of fire in front of their weakened positions in Artois and Champagne the French are straightening out salients and loosening wedges in both sectors before they attempt new advances.

In Champagne, where the Germans hold a strong position projecting into the French front between Tahure and the Maisons de Champagne Joffre's troops are pushing on. Paris reports progress in the direction of the gully of La Goutte, south of the village of Tahure and bordering on the German salient.

In Artois Berlin talks of strong attacks by the enemy from the northeast of Souchez to the east of Neuville, where another salient, with its apex at Hill 140, exists. Here the French are apparently trying to advance their front north and south of the hill before