

SQUADRON A GETS ORDER TO DEPART

With Part of 1st Cavalry. Will Leave Yonkers To-day.

TWO SIGNAL CORPS COMPANIES DEPART

Manhattan Unit Takes Four New Biplanes—Yale Club Celebrates "Battery Night" To-night.

Squadron A and the 1st Squadron of the 1st Cavalry, now in camp at Van Cortlandt Park, received orders last night to move to Yonkers, there to entrain for the border.

With Squadron A, which is under the command of Major W. R. Wright, will go its machine gun troop, now numbering ninety-nine men and equipped with eight machine guns.

The troops composing the 1st Squadron of the 1st Cavalry are B of Albany, D of Syracuse, E of Brooklyn and I of Buffalo.

Two Companies Depart. Company A of Manhattan and Company B of Brooklyn, 1st Battalion, 1st Signal Corps, entrained yesterday morning on the New Jersey Central for the concentration camp of the New York National Guard near Brownsville, Tex.

The staff officers accompanying Major William L. Hallahan, commander of the battalion, were Captain Robert W. Maloney, Captain George L. Schenck, Captain Arthur L. Howe, Captain Kenyon, Lieutenant Herbert L. Watson, Lieutenant Jerome Sullivan, Lieutenant Gordon Ireland and Lieutenant Louis H. De Rham.

Other movements in the Eastern Department yesterday were the 18th Pennsylvania Infantry and the 24th Staff, and the 1st Separate Battalion of Infantry, made up of separate companies of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 32nd, 33rd, 34th, 35th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 39th, 40th, 41st, 42nd, 43rd, 44th, 45th, 46th, 47th, 48th, 49th, 50th, 51st, 52nd, 53rd, 54th, 55th, 56th, 57th, 58th, 59th, 60th, 61st, 62nd, 63rd, 64th, 65th, 66th, 67th, 68th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 72nd, 73rd, 74th, 75th, 76th, 77th, 78th, 79th, 80th, 81st, 82nd, 83rd, 84th, 85th, 86th, 87th, 88th, 89th, 90th, 91st, 92nd, 93rd, 94th, 95th, 96th, 97th, 98th, 99th, 100th.

Adjutant General Stotesbury conferred with General Wood at Governor's Island yesterday regarding a plan which will facilitate the distribution of supplies to regiments in the New York division. If it is adopted General Stotesbury will be made responsible for all supplies issued to the division, and will give one receipt for them, thus obviating the necessity of the equipment passing through several hands in distribution.

Will Lead New Regiment. Captain Daniel W. Hand, of the 5th Field Artillery, U. S. A., yesterday was authorized to accept Governor Whitman's offer, commissioning him as colonel of the 5d Field Artillery, now being organized from men of the disbanded 65th Infantry, of Buffalo. The new regiment will be the heaviest artillery militia in the United States, being equipped with twenty-four 4.7 inch howitzers, which are already on their way to Beckman. It was rumored yesterday that the regiment would be transferred to Pine Plains Camp, near Madison Barracks, where an artillery training camp, similar to the one at Toiyahana, Penn., will be established.

The 3d Field Hospital Company, which was formed at the 47th Regiment Armory after the regiment left Peekskill last week, departed for there yesterday afternoon, with fifty-seven men and two officers.

General Wood yesterday received a request from the Governor of Georgia for 2,000 horses and mules, without which the troops in that state are unable to proceed to the border, although ready in every other detail. The request was forwarded to the Quartermaster General at Washington.

The general also sent telegrams to the mustering officers in each state in the Eastern Department advising them that the physical examinations of recruits must now be on the basis of the most rigid character. About four officers in each regiment have been rejected after the Federal medical examination, he said, and new men coming in must be so physically fit that rejections hereafter will be out of the question.

Yale Club to Celebrate. Officers in charge of state troops were also advised that men who refused to take the oath to the Federal government as well as to the state could not be sent out of their respective states, although they can be used as reserves within the state.

To-night the Yale Club will celebrate "Battery Night" in an endeavor to raise the hundred recruits necessary to bring the Yale Battalion up to the strength required by Federal standards. Up to the present time the four batteries have been composed of

ROOKIES IN 12TH FALL UNDER HEAT

Whole Squads Exhausted as McAllen Swelters on Hottest Day.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

WILSON DECLINES MORE N. Y. TROOPS

Will Not Order Three Extra Regiments Into Service on Border.

Washington, July 5.—The three additional regiments of National Guard offered by the State of New York to the Administration at present, but they may be taken later to relieve regiments now on the border.

President Wilson expressed his appreciation of New York's offer to Senator Wadsworth, who called on him today to urge acceptance of the troops.

It is the intention of President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker not to send to the border any more troops than already assigned to go, except for relief purposes. More than enough troops already are there or on the way, it is believed, to patrol the border and serve as a reserve against possible trouble. In a few months, however, it should be deemed necessary to hold a large force of militia on the border, the policy of sending down relief regiments will be followed.

Some of the regiments now in state camps, it is said, will not be sent to the border, but will be held in training until it is desired to bring some troops back from the Rio Grande. In considering the offer of New York, Secretary of War Baker had in mind the crack regiment of Cleveland, which has not been called into the Federal service, and from present indications will not be called to camp, unless it should be desired for this relief program.

Officers and men of the Cleveland regiment were eager to go, and they brought considerable pressure to bear on the War Department and on Secretary Baker to have the regiment sent. The regiment was not a part of the brigade which included the other four regiments of the state, and for that reason was left out.

Although the President's decision not to send any more troops to the border had not been reported to the headquarters of the Eastern Department, at Governor's Island, at a late hour last night, it was announced that the departure of Squadron A and the first squadron of the 1st Cavalry, ordered for to-day, would not be delayed.

The three regiments offered to the President by Senator Wadsworth, which undoubtedly were the 1st, 47th and 60th, in all probability will remain in the state camps and will not be sent to the border except in case they are called to relieve troops already in Texas.

WARSHIP DOLLAR FROM ANTIPODES

Patrick Duffy Sends Ten Dimes to Help Marjorie's Fund.

An unknown but himself or herself on record with a definite patriotism yesterday, over the initials of F. D. H. That was all except the dime for Marjorie Stretter's Battleship Fund, and the promise of "More to come."

There was also Patrick Duffy, of famed nationality, living in Australia, and contributing to an American battleship. Duffy was not content with sending in a dime or two, but he made it ten, and another for postage on the battleship pins, which he wants badly.

This leaves hardly a section of the world where there is not a loyal heart in or in expectancy of its coming in the next mail, Patrick Duffy, of Queensland, will get his pin.

Water Accident Causes Paralysis. Arthur Laska, twenty-two, who lives in West 51st Street, Manhattan, and is a member of the Big Six Club, with summer headquarters at Keansburg, N. J., is in a critical condition there because of paralysis in the result of a boating accident. He was injured at the club's pier in Karitan Bay.

Twelve Drift to Sea; Rescued. Twelve men in the launch Wasp were blown out to sea yesterday when their engine stalled in the Long Bay. They were drifting for five hours before they were rescued and towed into Bayonne. Robert Watson, of New Brunswick, was in charge of the party.

HIS SOLDIER UNIFORM GETS HIM INTERNEED

Prisoner Had Artillery Insignia, but Guessed He Was 'Boy Scout.'

TWO SONS OF T. R. AT JUNIOR CAMP

Archie, a Sergeant, Says 1916 Recruits Beat Last Year's Crop.

69TH, GAY AGAIN, MAY GO SATURDAY

Fighting Irishmen, Eager to Get Away, Have Busy Day at Camps.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

Philip Katz, of 206 Delancey Street, was arrested yesterday for masquerading as a soldier of the United States Army. Edward Wallace, of the 9th Coast Defense command, who met Katz in the army on Fourteenth Street, told Magistrate Deuel in the night court that Katz wore the regulation uniform with the insignia of the coast artillery.

When questioned as to his command, Wallace continued, Katz at first maintained it was the 71st Regiment and later guessed it was the Boy Scouts. Katz told the magistrate that "Major Epstein of the Boy Scouts" had told him he could wear the uniform and he didn't see any harm in it anyway. He was remanded to be arraigned to-day in the Jefferson Market court.

Camp Whitman, Greenhaven, N. Y., July 5.—To-morrow Colonel Conley's boys will learn that Governor Whitman meant what he said when he promised to send them to the border in a week. Around the camp it was whispered to-day that the 69th would break camp Saturday.

In a week from to-day it is likely that Camp Whitman will be almost deserted. For with the 69th, the 1st, 2d, 3d and Batteries A and C will also leave Greenhaven. It was reported to-day that the 66th, from Buffalo, will move to Pine Plains, near Watertown, where they would "learn the ropes" as a heavy artillery outfit. In such event only the 10th Regiment would be left, as the 23d Engineers is scheduled to leave the camp before the 69th.

"Deserter" Was Visiting. The 22d was treated to a fair-sized scare to-day. Private George McIntyre, a rookie in Company B, was missing at reveille and mess. Captain Woodward ordered a detail to scour the neighborhood for the 2,000-mile hood for what looked like a deserter.

Privates Murphy and Rogers looked for McIntyre at the Greenhaven station, and started to investigate in Mother Lee's house. The "angel of the camp" added them in a vain search under the beds, in closets and about the barn. Then the scouts trailed back to camp.

McIntyre strolled aimlessly down the camp street at 10 o'clock. He had slept with friends in Company D, he explained, and did not know he had done anything wrong. He was clapped in the guardhouse.

Private G. F. Tucker, who caught a red fox near Hopewell Junction yesterday, the boys have named him Villa, because "he is a sly old fox." But Private Tucker's huntmanship is rivaled by Private Joseph Kelly, a Company D, 2d Regiment, who caught a woodchuck in the woods to-day.

Two hundred mules from Missouri started to investigate the camp on a grid at the station this afternoon. Under the leadership of Sergeant W. D. Koch, of the 22d, a squad of militiamen started negotiation with the animals.

"But the critters would not negotiate," said Sergeant Joyce. "They began leading the men around the hills and woods. All the boys, excepting Private T. R. King, of Company B, go, but King held on to the neck of his animal until he got him into the corral. The other animals discovered the corral later."

Major Taylor, now Colonel. Major William A. Taylor, of the 2d, was to-day chosen as Lieutenant Colonel of his command.

In Company I of the 2d are Sergeants Preston L. King, 63, and Clarence Jolson, 54 years old. The former has been twenty-eight years and the latter thirty-six years of continuous service. Both served in the Spanish-American War. Sergeant King, to show his fitness, to-day did a broad jump of eighteen feet and finished it up with a series of handstands.

Major W. J. Carlin, intelligence officer attached to General Eddy's staff, said to-day that Major Tombridge would take over the engineering work in the absence of Colonel E. V. Lucas, who has gone to New York for a week or ten days.

TWO SONS OF T. R. AT JUNIOR CAMP

Archie, a Sergeant, Says 1916 Recruits Beat Last Year's Crop.

3,200 NEW ROOKIES REACH PLATTSBURG

Registration of Arrivals Is Much Improved—400 More Men Expected To-day.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 5.—The colleges and high schools gave preparedness their offering to-day in the form of 3,200 American youngsters, who are sleeping in army tents to-night in the junior military training camp. From 7 this morning until 10 o'clock to-night they came pouring in, until, when taps sounded, Major Peter Murray, the camp commander, had almost two war-strength regiments under his command.

The sun returned to Plattsburg and gave the junior rookies a kindly welcome, in contrast to the scowling skies and almost continuous downpour that made soldier life miserable for the June outfit. Local weather prophets believe the stormy season has broken at last.

Putting to practical use their experience in registering last month's rookies, the camp authorities had their arrangements so perfected that they handled to-day's thousands as fast as they came, although they poured in 200 and 300 at a time as special after special from New York and Philadelphia and combinations from other cities drew up on the Delaware & Hudson tracks beside the camp grounds.

Men Registered on Lake. One especially successful way in which the rush was met was to send men over to Burlington, Vt., to come across Lake Champlain with the 705 Boston men who boarded the boat there, and register them, collect their fees and give them their regiment and company assignments on the way over. Archie Roosevelt was in charge of one squad detailed to do this work.

He is now serving as top sergeant in Company H of the 4th Training Regiment, after having won a second lieutenantcy in the 9th Regiment and an assignment as assistant to the quartermaster. The work there proved too hard, he said to-day, and more like routine business than army life, so he asked to be made a sergeant and detailed to Lieutenant Samuel J. Sutherland's company.

To the same company was sent as a private Quentin Roosevelt, Archie's youngest brother, who was a rookie in last year's college camp. Lieutenant Sutherland has his command there also. Company H had 130 men in it to-day, and it is expected that it, as most of the other units, will be recruited up to 150, or war strength.

On the boat from Boston were about four hundred Harvard students, mostly members of the Harvard regiment. Among them were George Abbott, captain of the baseball team; Captain Flower of the freshman team and Augustus Thorndike, of the freshman crew. In the company was also Paul Revere, of Boston.

Speaking of the appearance of the men, Archie Roosevelt, who served two terms last year and the one last month, and therefore is a good deal of an expert on rookies, said: "There is one thing particularly noticeable about men in this camp as they are being formed into squads to-day, and that is that most of them seem to show indications of training."

"Last year they were raw material, but since then training has become so universal in college corps and other organizations that the men show the result. It means this year's regiment will become efficient organs that much sooner." As fast as the men were registered, they were sent to Major Wallace De Witt, the camp surgeon, for physical examination; here fourteen were rejected. Thirteen of these showed signs of bad hearts, the other was a cripple, apparently deformed from birth. He presented himself all tugged out in uniform and seemed happily anticipating being a soldier like the other boys who he hobbled along toward the inspection headquarters. But his legs, his misshapen hand and his general ungainliness made it impossible for the surgeon to approve him. About 1,500 men were examined, and the rest will be looked over to-morrow.

Fourteen Lose Railroad Fare. The men who are rejected will be out their railroad fare. Some came a considerable distance, but this loss is considered their own fault as they were supposed to consult a local doctor first. One man made a special complaint, saying he explained to an officer of the Military Training Camp Association that his doctor had told him his heart was slightly affected. He said the association representative assured him his defect was not enough to disqualify him, and therefore he came. One of the camp executives were rushed all day, the work of military instruction began as fast as the recruits could be got to their company streets. Here the top sergeants took them in charge and assigned them to their tents. Then, under the direction of the company commanders, they were formed into squads and instructions were given them. They were also supplied with their rifles and other equipment.

It is expected that to-morrow's arrivals will swell the registration to 3,600 men. Camp instruction is expected to get into full swing then.

TWO SONS OF T. R. AT JUNIOR CAMP

Archie, a Sergeant, Says 1916 Recruits Beat Last Year's Crop.

3,200 NEW ROOKIES REACH PLATTSBURG

Registration of Arrivals Is Much Improved—400 More Men Expected To-day.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 5.—The colleges and high schools gave preparedness their offering to-day in the form of 3,200 American youngsters, who are sleeping in army tents to-night in the junior military training camp. From 7 this morning until 10 o'clock to-night they came pouring in, until, when taps sounded, Major Peter Murray, the camp commander, had almost two war-strength regiments under his command.

The sun returned to Plattsburg and gave the junior rookies a kindly welcome, in contrast to the scowling skies and almost continuous downpour that made soldier life miserable for the June outfit. Local weather prophets believe the stormy season has broken at last.

Putting to practical use their experience in registering last month's rookies, the camp authorities had their arrangements so perfected that they handled to-day's thousands as fast as they came, although they poured in 200

and 300 at a time as special after special from New York and Philadelphia and combinations from other cities drew up on the Delaware & Hudson tracks beside the camp grounds.

Men Registered on Lake. One especially successful way in which the rush was met was to send men over to Burlington, Vt., to come across Lake Champlain with the 705 Boston men who boarded the boat there, and register them, collect their fees and give them their regiment and company assignments on the way over. Archie Roosevelt was in charge of one squad detailed to do this work.

He is now serving as top sergeant in Company H of the 4th Training Regiment, after having won a second lieutenantcy in the 9th Regiment and an assignment as assistant to the quartermaster. The work there proved too hard, he said to-day, and more like routine business than army life, so he asked to be made a sergeant and detailed to Lieutenant Samuel J. Sutherland's company.

To the same company was sent as a private Quentin Roosevelt, Archie's youngest brother, who was a rookie in last year's college camp. Lieutenant Sutherland has his command there also. Company H had 130 men in it to-day, and it is expected that it, as most of the other units, will be recruited up to 150, or war strength.

On the boat from Boston were about four hundred Harvard students, mostly members of the Harvard regiment. Among them were George Abbott, captain of the baseball team; Captain Flower of the freshman team and Augustus Thorndike, of the freshman crew. In the company was also Paul Revere, of Boston.

Speaking of the appearance of the men, Archie Roosevelt, who served two terms last year and the one last month, and therefore is a good deal of an expert on rookies, said: "There is one thing particularly noticeable about men in this camp as they are being formed into squads to-day, and that is that most of them seem to show indications of training."

"Last year they were raw material, but since then training has become so universal in college corps and other organizations that the men show the result. It means this year's regiment will become efficient organs that much sooner." As fast as the men were registered, they were sent to Major Wallace De Witt, the camp surgeon, for physical examination; here fourteen were rejected. Thirteen of these showed signs of bad hearts, the other was a cripple, apparently deformed from birth. He presented himself all tugged out in uniform and seemed happily anticipating being a soldier like the other boys who he hobbled along toward the inspection headquarters. But his legs, his misshapen hand and his general ungainliness made it impossible for the surgeon to approve him. About 1,500 men were examined, and the rest will be looked over to-morrow.

Fourteen Lose Railroad Fare. The men who are rejected will be out their railroad fare. Some came a considerable distance, but this loss is considered their own fault as they were supposed to consult a local doctor first. One man made a special complaint, saying he explained to an officer of the Military Training Camp Association that his doctor had told him his heart was slightly affected. He said the association representative assured him his defect was not enough to disqualify him, and therefore he came. One of the camp executives were rushed all day, the work of military instruction began as fast as the recruits could be got to their company streets. Here the top sergeants took them in charge and assigned them to their tents. Then, under the direction of the company commanders, they were formed into squads and instructions were given them. They were also supplied with their rifles and other equipment.

It is expected that to-morrow's arrivals will swell the registration to 3,600 men. Camp instruction is expected to get into full swing then.

HIS SOLDIER UNIFORM GETS HIM INTERNEED

Prisoner Had Artillery Insignia, but Guessed He Was 'Boy Scout.'

TWO SONS OF T. R. AT JUNIOR CAMP

Archie, a Sergeant, Says 1916 Recruits Beat Last Year's Crop.

69TH, GAY AGAIN, MAY GO SATURDAY

Fighting Irishmen, Eager to Get Away, Have Busy Day at Camps.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

Philip Katz, of 206 Delancey Street, was arrested yesterday for masquerading as a soldier of the United States Army. Edward Wallace, of the 9th Coast Defense command, who met Katz in the army on Fourteenth Street, told Magistrate Deuel in the night court that Katz wore the regulation uniform with the insignia of the coast artillery.

When questioned as to his command, Wallace continued, Katz at first maintained it was the 71st Regiment and later guessed it was the Boy Scouts. Katz told the magistrate that "Major Epstein of the Boy Scouts" had told him he could wear the uniform and he didn't see any harm in it anyway. He was remanded to be arraigned to-day in the Jefferson Market court.

Camp Whitman, Greenhaven, N. Y., July 5.—To-morrow Colonel Conley's boys will learn that Governor Whitman meant what he said when he promised to send them to the border in a week. Around the camp it was whispered to-day that the 69th would break camp Saturday.

In a week from to-day it is likely that Camp Whitman will be almost deserted. For with the 69th, the 1st, 2d, 3d and Batteries A and C will also leave Greenhaven. It was reported to-day that the 66th, from Buffalo, will move to Pine Plains, near Watertown, where they would "learn the ropes" as a heavy artillery outfit. In such event only the 10th Regiment would be left, as the 23d Engineers is scheduled to leave the camp before the 69th.

"Deserter" Was Visiting. The 22d was treated to a fair-sized scare to-day. Private George McIntyre, a rookie in Company B, was missing at reveille and mess. Captain Woodward ordered a detail to scour the neighborhood for the 2,000-mile hood for what looked like a deserter.

Privates Murphy and Rogers looked for McIntyre at the Greenhaven station, and started to investigate in Mother Lee's house. The "angel of the camp" added them in a vain search under the beds, in closets and about the barn. Then the scouts trailed back to camp.

McIntyre strolled aimlessly down the camp street at 10 o'clock. He had slept with friends in Company D, he explained, and did not know he had done anything wrong. He was clapped in the guardhouse.

Private G. F. Tucker, who caught a red fox near Hopewell Junction yesterday, the boys have named him Villa, because "he is a sly old fox." But Private Tucker's huntmanship is rivaled by Private Joseph Kelly, a Company D, 2d Regiment, who caught a woodchuck in the woods to-day.

Two hundred mules from Missouri started to investigate the camp on a grid at the station this afternoon. Under the leadership of Sergeant W. D. Koch, of the 22d, a squad of militiamen started negotiation with the animals.

"But the critters would not negotiate," said Sergeant Joyce. "They began leading the men around the hills and woods. All the boys, excepting Private T. R. King, of Company B, go, but King held on to the neck of his animal until he got him into the corral. The other animals discovered the corral later."

Major Taylor, now Colonel. Major William A. Taylor, of the 2d, was to-day chosen as Lieutenant Colonel of his command.

In Company I of the 2d are Sergeants Preston L. King, 63, and Clarence Jolson, 54 years old. The former has been twenty-eight years and the latter thirty-six years of continuous service. Both served in the Spanish-American War. Sergeant King, to show his fitness, to-day did a broad jump of eighteen feet and finished it up with a series of handstands.

Major W. J. Carlin, intelligence officer attached to General Eddy's staff, said to-day that Major Tombridge would take over the engineering work in the absence of Colonel E. V. Lucas, who has gone to New York for a week or ten days.

TWO SONS OF T. R. AT JUNIOR CAMP

Archie, a Sergeant, Says 1916 Recruits Beat Last Year's Crop.

3,200 NEW ROOKIES REACH PLATTSBURG

Registration of Arrivals Is Much Improved—400 More Men Expected To-day.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

ARRIVALS RECOUNT HARDSHIPS OF TRIP

Say Rations Were Cut to Two Meals a Day on 2,500-Mile Journey.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 5.—The colleges and high schools gave preparedness their offering to-day in the form of 3,200 American youngsters, who are sleeping in army tents to-night in the junior military training camp. From 7 this morning until 10 o'clock to-night they came pouring in, until, when taps sounded, Major Peter Murray, the camp commander, had almost two war-strength regiments under his command.

The sun returned to Plattsburg and gave the junior rookies a kindly welcome, in contrast to the scowling skies and almost continuous downpour that made soldier life miserable for the June outfit. Local weather prophets believe the stormy season has broken at last.

Putting to practical use their experience in registering last month's rookies, the camp authorities had their arrangements so perfected that they handled to-day's thousands as fast as they came, although they poured in 200

and 300 at a time as special after special from New York and Philadelphia and combinations from other cities drew up on the Delaware & Hudson tracks beside the camp grounds.

Men Registered on Lake. One especially successful way in which the rush was met was to send men over to Burlington, Vt., to come across Lake Champlain with the 705 Boston men who boarded the boat there, and register them, collect their fees and give them their regiment and company assignments on the way over. Archie Roosevelt was in charge of one squad detailed to do this work.

He is now serving as top sergeant in Company H of the 4th Training Regiment, after having won a second lieutenantcy in the 9th Regiment and an assignment as assistant to the quartermaster. The work there proved too hard, he said to-day, and more like routine business than army life, so he asked to be made a sergeant and detailed to Lieutenant Samuel J. Sutherland's company.

To the same company was sent as a private Quentin Roosevelt, Archie's youngest brother, who was a rookie in last year's college camp. Lieutenant Sutherland has his command there also. Company H had 130 men in it to-day, and it is expected that it, as most of the other units, will be recruited up to 150, or war strength.

On the boat from Boston were about four hundred Harvard students, mostly members of the Harvard regiment. Among them were George Abbott, captain of the baseball team; Captain Flower of the freshman team and Augustus Thorndike, of the freshman crew. In the company was also Paul Revere, of Boston.

Speaking of the appearance of the men, Archie Roosevelt, who served two terms last year and the one last month, and therefore is a good deal of an expert on rookies, said: "There is one thing particularly noticeable about men in this camp as they are being formed into squads to-day, and that is that most of them seem to show indications of training."

"Last year they were raw material, but since then training has become so universal in college corps and other organizations that the men show the result. It means this year's regiment will become efficient organs that much sooner." As fast as the men were registered, they were sent to Major Wallace De Witt, the camp surgeon, for physical examination; here fourteen were rejected. Thirteen of these showed signs of bad hearts, the other was a cripple, apparently deformed from birth. He presented himself all tugged out in uniform and seemed happily anticipating being a soldier like the other boys who he hobbled along toward the inspection headquarters. But his legs, his misshapen hand and his general ungainliness made it impossible for the surgeon to approve him. About 1,500 men were examined, and the rest will be looked over to-morrow.

Fourteen Lose Railroad Fare. The men who are rejected will be out their railroad fare. Some came a considerable distance, but this loss is considered their own fault as they were supposed to consult a local doctor first. One man made a special complaint, saying he explained to an officer of the Military Training Camp Association that his doctor had told him his heart was slightly affected. He said the association representative assured him his defect was not enough to disqualify him, and therefore he came. One of the camp executives were rushed all day, the work of military instruction began as fast as the recruits could be got to their company streets. Here the top sergeants took them in charge and assigned them to their tents. Then, under the direction of the company commanders, they were formed into squads and instructions were given them. They were also supplied with their rifles and other equipment.

It is expected that to-morrow's arrivals will swell the registration to 3,600 men. Camp instruction is expected to get into full swing then.

HIS SOLDIER UNIFORM GETS HIM INTERNEED

Prisoner Had Artillery Insignia, but Guessed He Was 'Boy Scout.'