Gay Start for Women's Hughes Campaign Train

But First Day in Cars Is More Dress Rehearsal Than Finished Performance—Speakers Make First Stand in Albany, Then Tackle Syracuse.

By ERNESTINE EVANS.
Syracuse, Oct. 2.—The women on the campaign special pleading the cause of Charles E. Hughes spent their first day more in dress rehearsal than in an opening performance.

The first act went like a spectacle worthy of a national hippodrome. A brass band and 500 women, most of them direct from Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's goodspeed breakfast at the Plaza, in New York, saw the special off. Demnents fluttered everywhere. The Grand Central Station was as noisy as a circus tent just before the big show opens.

Women Settle Down to Work.
Between New York and Albany the women made themselves at home. The big show spirit vanished. Four weeks in six-by-eight compartments, with daily Chautauqua and constant political committee meeting with Republican women the country over, demand preparation. Fresh voices, strong nerves and energetic smiles have to be kept up.

Among those at the breakfast were Mrs. Payne Whitney, who gave it; Mrs. Charles E. Hughes, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Willcox, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mrs. Livingston Beckman, Mrs. Cornelius Bliss, jr., Mrs. James A. Brady, Mrs. Nicholas P. Brady, Mrs. Martin G. Brimingham, wife of Vice Governor of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler, wife of the president of Columbia University; Miss Alice Carpenter, Mrs. William Hamilton Clavin, Mrs. John Clavin, Miss Elizabeth Cutting, Miss Mary Antin, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, Mrs. B. Frank Mebane, Mrs. George A. Romans, Mrs. Rosalie Loew Whitney, Mrs. Josephine Baur, Mrs. William Curtis Demarest, Mrs. Alexander Kohn, Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, Mrs. William Einstein, Mrs. Annie S. Peck, Miss Helen Varick Boswell and Frances Keller, organizer of the train.

A small group of Albany women met the train and the whole party, headed by Mrs. Alexander Kohn, where Mrs. Whitman received at luncheon. From the veranda of the house the speaking began, but the voters of Albany weren't used to the executive lesson and hurriedly retired to the parlors. Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy's impassioned two minute arraignment of the Washington, Oct. 2.—Apprehension was expressed in Administration circles to-day that the Liberal party in Nicaragua, alleging American interference in the elections yesterday and to-day, may attempt a revolutionary movement against the party in power.

The American warships went to Nicaraguan waters two weeks ago at the request of the State Department to insure order during the elections.

A dispatch to the Navy Department to-day from Admiral Caperton says the Liberals stayed down from the polls, allowing Dr. Emiliano Chamorro, until recently minister here, to be elected President by default.

MRS. HAVELOCK ELLIS DEACE, HUSBAND WRITES

Novelist's Ashes Scattered on Hampstead Heath.

Mrs. Havelock Ellis, novelist, playwright and lecturer, died in England on September 14, according to a letter received yesterday from her husband by Mrs. Margaret Sanger. He wrote that death was due to pneumonia, following a chill. Mrs. Ellis suffered while watching a Zeppelin raid two weeks before.

Mrs. Ellis often said that suffrage was only the beginning in the emancipation of women. She advocated a novitiate for marriage.

RUNAWAY GIRL HUNTED AS MISS PEGGY WOOD

Detectives Hear She Took New Name on Leaving Home.

In their search for Gertrude McGowan, the seventeen-year-old high school girl who disappeared from her home, at 454 Kosciuszko Street, Brooklyn, last Monday, the detectives will look for a Miss Peggy Wood. They believe that she has gone out to look for work, and they think it not improbable that she will be found among the film companies or motion picture studios of New York.

A girl friend, who asked the police not to make her name public, yesterday told them the missing girl had hinted at leaving home more than a week ago and had said that she would go as Peggy Wood. She often told her mother laughingly that she would like to be "in the movies."

The girl's father, Thomas McGowan, who has been a detective since she was a child, said that she would like to be "in the movies."

$2,000,000 SUYDAM WILL CASE SETTLED

Nephews of Late Real Estate Broker Withdraw Contest.

The contest over the will of Lambert Suydam, real estate broker, who left an estate of about $2,000,000, ended yesterday, when the nephews who contested the instrument withdrew their objections in the Surrogate's Court. It is understood that there was a settlement.

Lambert Suydam, a nephew, who was associated with the testator in business, and his sisters, Mrs. Emilie M. Moore and Mrs. Louise S. Austin, were the residuary legatees in the will. The contestants alleged that this nephew had exerted undue influence on Mr. Suydam.

The nephew replied that years ago, when the testator was in financial straits, the late's brother, father of the residuary legatee, in the will, advanced $250,000, with which he made his large fortune. It was largely in return for this kindness, it was contended, that the nephew and his children of his brother so liberally in his will.

It was further said by the present Lambert Suydam that the nephews on the other side of the family had them- selves as socially superior, according to the testator, and were not friendly to him until they lost their money.

JUSTICE LYNCH QUILTS CITY COURT

Sudden Retirement from Bench Takes Colleagues by Surprise.

WHITMAN TO NAME HIS SUCCESSOR

Justice Richard T. Lynch has gone to the Middle West, leaving behind him a vacancy on the City Court bench, a host of indignant Democrats and judgments, most of them unsatisfied, aggregating about $27,500. Even his associates on the bench did not know of his resignation, which was sent to Governor Whitman on Saturday.

The jurist was able to supply an explanation to the creditors whose judgments were returned unsatisfied, but he left no word for the members of his party, who are deprived by a few weeks of the chance to nominate his successor at the primaries. He was elected by Tammany Hall, but the appointment of his successor is in the hands of a Republican Governor.

The explanation of the judgments was made three years ago, when Anna W. Baldwin obtained a judgment for $2,996 against the justice in Queens County. Somebody had been running up bills in his name, he declared, and had begun and started for Onondaga County. He was elected by Tammany Hall, but the appointment of his successor is in the hands of a Republican Governor.

Some of the judgments were: February 17, Edward Walton, $1,744; February 28, A. J. Baldwin, $5,070; March 16, Richard C. Bondy, $6,402; same date, same creditor, $3,397, there being another defendant; June 19, Poester Motor Company, $62.58; August 17, Browning King & Co., $84; September 13, Acker, Merrill & Condit Company, $165.17.

Chief Judge O'Dwyer, to whom fell the duty of explaining the sudden departure of his colleague, said that Justice Lynch had become conscious to the receiver of a railroad "in the Middle West" and started for Onondaga Saturday. The position was offered to Justice Lynch in July, he added. In a letter to the chief judge Justice Lynch said that the railroad insisted that he begin his duties on October 1. Justice Lynch's term would have expired at the end of next year. His salary was $12,000. He lived at 199 Riverside drive with his wife, who was the daughter of William Bradley, a wealthy contractor.
