NAVY BIDS ABOVE CONGRESS LIMIT

Only One Firm Offers to Build Scout Cruiser for $5,000,000

Washington, Nov. 1.—Authority from Congress to raise the cost limit may have to be sought by the Navy Department before it can award contracts for construction of the four thirty-five-knot scout cruisers in the 1917 building programme. Bids for the vessels were opened today, with the result that only one bidder, the Seattle Construction and Dry Dock Company, offered a direct proposal. This company bid within the limit of $5,000,000 for hull and machinery, but it proposed to construct only one boat.

Two other bidders—the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco, and the Fore River Company, of Quincy, Mass.—submitted proposals based on a sliding scale, which would take into account possible variations of material and labor prices. The New York Shipbuilding Company gave notice that it could not get its estimates within the limit of cost.

It was indicated that the department might delay awarding contracts until Congress could be asked to increase the limit of cost to 10 per cent more.

Bids for twenty-seven coast submarines and two 800-ton type fleet submarines also were received today. Among the offers was that of Schneider & Co., of Paris and New York, which presented three designs similar to those upon which submarines for the French and other European governments have been built. The company proposed to authorize the United States to construct at its own yards as many boats on these designs as it might desire on a royalty basis.

The Electric Boat Company offered eight separate proposals for twenty-four boats of the coast type and two under which it would construct one or both the 800-ton fleet submarines. The nominal limit of cost for the coast type boats was set at $700,000 each, and the Electric company submitted four alternative designs within that figure, but requiring a minimum of twenty-two months' construction.

The other four proposals were for the same designs, but based on a reduction of the time of construction to fifteen months or thereabouts. These estimates ran above the $700,000 figure, but the department has authorized to increase the cost 20 per cent in the interest of speedy construction.

The Lake Torpedo Boat Company bid for from six to ten coast type submarines, and for one 800-ton boat. The figures are all within the limit of cost, but the designs are for a smaller type of boat than those in the Electric Boat Company's proposals.

DRUG USERS SHOW ALARMING GAIN

Greatest Increase Among Boys, Hospital Head Tells Committee

Plans for better and more adequate care and after-treatment of drug victims in city institutions were formulated yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the Criminal Courts Building of a sub-committee of the Committee on the Drug Evil. The committee is investigating conditions in New York City under the leadership of Justice Cornelius F. Collins, of Special Sessions.

That the number of drug victims in the city is increasing steadily, with a great growth in the percentage of new and young victims brought before the courts, was information imparted to the sub-committee on care and treatment, of which Justice Edwin L. Garvin, of Special Sessions, is chairman. Dr. Ernest F. Bishop, medical superintendent of the workhouse hospital and a member of the committee, said the number of boys addicted to drugs but a short time who were sent to his institution was many times greater now than it was two years ago.

He declared that the extensive sale of drugs in the underworld, in spite of all efforts to stamp it out, was creating more new victims than ever before. Although there are thousands of drug users in New York City who are able to conceal the fact from even their closest friends and relatives, they are not as much a menace to society, Dr. Bishop said, as a smaller number of victims in the underworld.

Victims Trained by Vendors

Every addict who leaves an institution seemingly cured is a potential customer for the drug vendors, who make a business, Dr. Bishop declared, of trailing these newly freed victims and forcing them back into the clutches of drugs. This makes the sale of drugs the root of the evil and its suppression the key to the problem, Dr. Bishop thought.

Justice Collins told of the overcrowding of city institutions caring for drug victims committed by the courts, and urged that the Board of Estimate be requested to make additional appropriations for increasing these facilities.

The other four proposals were for the same designs, but based on a reduction of the time of construction to fifteen months or thereabouts. These estimates ran above the $700,000 figure, but the department has authorized to increase the cost 20 per cent in the interest of speedy construction.

The Lake Torpedo Boat Company bid for from six to ten coast type submarines, and for one 800-ton boat. The figures are all within the limit of cost, but the designs are for a smaller type of boat than those in the Electric Boat Company's proposals.

MISS CLARA BUSCH A BRIDE

(By Telegraph to The Tribune)

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—While four detectives guarded more than $100,000 worth of presents to-night, Miss Clara A. Busch, daughter of A. A. Busch, the millionaire brewer, became the bride of Percy James Orthwein, of this city, at Rogers Park, the Busch country home.

More than 800 guests were present. Presents of movable articles alone cost more than $50,000, and the wedding gifts aggregated $150,000. A $75,000 home was the present given to Miss Busch by her father.

Miss Busch's gown cost $3,700 and had a bodice of seed pearls. It was made in St. Louis. Her trousseau also was St. Louis made, as was Mrs. Busch's gown and the dresses of the bridesmaids.

“Yes!” or “No!”

Mr. Hughes?

What would you do?

TO MR. HUGHES: As business men we are concerned about the future. We can meet almost any conditions, provided we know in advance to a reasonable extent what we may expect.

THE CORNERSTONE OF OUR BUSINESS STRUCTURE IS DOMESTIC CONFIDENCE AND INDUSTRIAL STRENGTH AT HOME. Trade in war supplies is but an incident of it.

Unless this development is interfered with by shortsighted legislation or unwise, impatient diplomacy which may drag us into war there is every indication that the prosperity which has come to us under President Wilson will continue, irrespective of the end of the war. Even the most experienced leaders of business and finance in your own party admit this.

As against these conditions we need, and we feel we have a right to know what YOU are for. What will YOU do to conserve and further advance the legitimate business interests of the country?

You are reported in the daily newspapers as declaring in your recent speech in Milwaukee “that the whole Democratic legislative accomplishment must be wiped off the books for the good of the country.” In view of that statement, we insist that definite answers be given to the following questions:

CHICAGO CHILLS WOMEN'S TRAIN

Tired Campaigners Find City Sated by Rallies and Speeches

By ERNESTINE EVANS.

On Board Women's Campaign Train for Chicago, Chicago, Nov. 1.—Even after three weeks to repent of its former cold shoulder and tart tongue the women of the Hughes special, Chicago was as unkind to-day as on October 8. Long warm and weary, the women arrived at 2 a. m. from their energetic and decidedly successful campaign of eighteen downstate cities, with plans for a crowning day of conversion before them.

But the Chicago battleground has been so full of rallies, meetings, bands and speeches, that it has no more appetite, and Miss Kellor's band found only passivity for their street meetings.

The audience that gathered in the old Inter-Ocean Building was contentedly Republican, but not more inclined to enthusiasm than New Castle folk about coals, and at the Cohan Grand House a highly Democratic attendance shopped out its unresponsiveness of Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy in a well-considered manner.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy held ground nervously, and the meeting was just in the enemy's hand when Mrs. Robinson's voice rose to speak. Mrs. Robinson's position as one of the officers of the Chicago Federation of Labor and as a seventeen-year laborer for industrial justice in Chicago, meant something new to the hoodlums in the gallery.

Audience Settles Down

With one last jeering shout as a fashionably dressed woman hastily left the lobby, screaming “Wilson! Wilson!” the audience settled down.

Mrs. Robinson urged the election of Charles E. Hughes as the one man of consistently sane and enlightened vision to meet the great industrial problems of the next four years, when thousands upon thousands of unskilled laborers now blessed with emergency wages in the munition factories must undergo a painful readjustment to normal business life. She begged, “that the people of this country choose a leader of intellectual integrity and of courage to speak for the nation when the moment of international peace is at hand. She warned her audience that at the close of the war Japan and Russia would speak. “And upon the next election,” she said, “depends how we, the third great power of the world, shall find a voice for all democracy.”

Campaigners Show Strain

Mrs. Clay Goodloe, of Kentucky, wife of Henry Lane Wilson, former Ambassador to Mexico; Mary Antin and Miss Rita Kissen, who remains in Chicago to assist Miss Harriett Vittum, also spoke.

The special left Chicago at 1:15, following the Century Limited. The campaigners show strain and are grateful for the long run before the Baltimore and Trenton meetings late to-morrow.

35 CITIES TO HOLD HUGHES PARADES

70,000 Republicans to Join in Monster Torchlight Demonstration Here

Colonel Charles H. Sherrill, who is organizing the monster Hughes torchlight parade for Saturday night, said yesterday that he had received word from thirty-five branches of the Business Men's League in other cities that preparations had practically been completed for parades in those cities Saturday night similar to the one to be held here. The parade movement, under the supervision of the Business Men's League, is planned to spread the “Spirit of '76” to cities all over the country on November 4.

Colonel Sherrill received the following telegram from the Chicago Business Men's League yesterday: “Parade plans well under way. Expect the greatest turnout ever made in political campaign. We offer prizes for the best slogans and probably have now 10,000 in hand. The entire city is interested. We offer prizes for the best floats. Expect 3,000 automobiles in line. Each marcher will carry a banner marked ‘Hughes.’ The Grand Army of the Republic will ride under banner stating ‘Do we look like Mexican bandits?’”

The plans for the New York parade are practically completed. The general orders, have gone out for the detailed formation. It is expected there will be 70,000 in line. Charles E. Hughes is expected to review the parade from the stand in front of the Union League Club on Fifth Avenue.

Grand Marshall Sherrill and his staff will start from Broadway and World Street at 6:15 p. m. From that time until 9 o'clock the various divisions will start at short intervals from their points of assemblage and converge upon Madison Square as the hub of the “Monster Wheel of Flame.” All divisions will be dismissed at Fifty-seventh Street after marching up Fifth Avenue.

MRS. K. S. PAGE LEFT $10,000

Ambassador's Son Granted Letters to Administer Estate of Wife

Letters of administration in the estate of Mrs. Katherine Sefton Page, whose death from infantile paralysis last summer shocked the summer colony at Garden City and Southampton, were granted yesterday by Surrogate Graham in Mineola, Long Island, to her husband, Frank C. Page, a son of Ambassador Walter H. Page. Mrs. Page's death occurred six months after her marriage.

One-third of her estate, which is said to consist of $10,000 in personal property, is left to the husband, and the balance will be divided between her father, Frederick Sefton; her mother, Mrs. Maud F. Sefton, and her two brothers, Pennington and Wilfred Sefton.

POLL SHOWS SEABURY PLURALITY OF 70,000

Will Carry Greater City by 125,000, Backers Declare

Seabury backers yesterday made public an exhaustive poll of the state upon which they base their prediction that the Democratic candidate will carry New York by 70,000 to 100,000. John Godfrey Saxe, chairman of the executive committee of the Seabury Lawyers' Association and director of the poll, gives the former justice a plurality of 125,000 in greater New York, conceding Governor Whitman just enough of an advantage unstate to cut this lead in the city down to the original estimate.

Mr. Saxe claims the following upstate counties for his candidates by these pluralities: Chemung, 1,250; Erie, 5,000; Green, 1,500; Hamilton, 250; Oneida, 1,000; Rockland, 1,000; Saratoga, 1,000; Schenectady, 1,000; Schoharie, 500; Sullivan, 600.

1. Would you repeal the Federal Reserve Act, with its insurance against panic and the facilities it has given us for making credit accessible to the deserving smaller business men, as it hitherto has been available to the largest business men?
2. Would you repeal the Underwood Tariff Law, with its income tax, and abolish the non-partisan Tariff Commission? Would you restore the system of tariff tinkering and political trading which has always caused business disturbance and invited European retaliation, or would you await the public presentation of the facts by the new Tariff Commission as a basis for scientific changes whenever changes may be necessary because of new conditions?
3. Would you discontinue the Federal Trade Commission, which is helping us to establish just relations between business and government and aiding the development of thousands of smaller enterprises, giving them practical information of the highest value? Would you go back to the old condition under which a single Commissioner of Corporations, a political appointee changing with each Administration, would again be entrusted with the enormous power of regulating the entire business of the country?
4. Would you repeal the Rural Credits Law, which for the first time has made proper credit as free to the American farmer as it has been to the business man and has put him on a business footing and given to our agriculture the stability to ensure its further development as the necessary basis of our domestic prosperity?
5. Would you repeal the Child Labor Law, which for the first time nationally protects helpless childhood and establishes some equality of working conditions between competing manufacturers of different States and at the same time makes for efficiency and progress in our relations with our employes?
6. Would you repeal the Federal Shipping Bill, which lays the foundation of a real Merchant Marine, of value to farmer and business man alike, and gives the Nation ships which can be used in times of war as auxiliaries to our Navy, for lack of which the Navy is now seriously handicapped?
7. Would you repeal the law providing for an honest test of the eight-hour day on railroads? The transportation companies being convinced that a strike was inevitable, as proven by their embargo on freight, would you have permitted the precipitation of that strike, with its millions of daily losses to business and its burden of human suffering, rather than favor the passage of the law enacted?
8. Would you intervene in Mexico, destroy the confidence of our Pan-American neighbors in the honesty of our intentions, and by making war on that Republic justify a menacing hatred of American enterprises for generations to come?
9. Finally, Mr. Hughes, would you substitute the threat of the mailed fist, with the terrible proof of what it has brought to Europe, for the processes of diplomacy, which have kept for us peace with honor?
