

Cornell Gives Hints to War Gardeners

State Agricultural School Urges Use of Cold Frame to Further Crops

Gardeners who have cold frames can make good use of them after they have served as forerunners for early plants, according to the State College of Agriculture, which recommends keeping cold frames busy all summer.

Among the crops that can be grown to maturity in cold frames are radishes, beets, carrots and cucumbers. After one crop is taken out another can be sown, the soil in the bed being forked and raked level between crops.

The cold frame is used primarily as a supplement to the hotbed or the greenhouse. It is of greatest value as a place in which to acclimatize plants that have been grown under coddled conditions to outdoor conditions.

will give your boy at Plattsburg, Madison or Niagara The Tribune every day while he is there.

ONE lucky chap in the group—and see how eagerly the others try to share his news from home. Your son, brother, husband, sweetheart—yes, even just your friend at Plattsburg—will never forget your thoughtfulness if you instruct us to send him The Tribune every day and Sunday.

He has patriotically answered the nation's call for officers. Now, your patriotic pleasure will be to make his hard-working camp life as pleasant as possible. Notwithstanding the present unprecedented high cost of white paper, The Tribune gladly offers the special rate of $1.00 per subscription, so that every boy at Plattsburg, Madison or Niagara can receive the daily and Sunday Tribune regularly during his entire stay there.

Fill in the blank at the foot of this announcement, put it in an envelope with one dollar (money order or check preferable) and mail it to-day.
