

Rain Halts All Big League Baseball Games in the East

Economy Rule Blamed for Inefficiency of Pitchers

Marquard Anxious for Another Chance to Beat Giants—Slight Hopes for Final Contest at Polo Grounds To-day With Dodgers

By W. J. Macbeth
The East had its first touch of bad weather of the young baseball season yesterday. As a consequence postponements were necessitated in all the four cities where contests were scheduled. The West, which had been disturbed earlier, enjoyed a better break. Detroit and Cleveland were finally able to start the season at the Forest City.

The postponement at the Polo Grounds was a severe blow to both the New York and Brooklyn managers. In the two games already played at the Polo Grounds both the Giants and Dodgers showed a pronounced lack of pitching efficiency. McGraw and Robinson both ascribe these ills to the very limited training season permitted to National League managers. A rule toward economy adopted this spring limits a maximum training period of four weeks.

None of the New York or Brooklyn pitchers appeared equal to more than a very few innings at top speed, with the exception of Jess Barnes and Jack Combs, who figured in a real old-fashioned duel in the second game of the series. The others are short of work, a fact which their bosses readily admit. There is only one way to remedy this evil. That is in hard practice both morning and afternoon. An idle day with the pitchers off form means a further setback. The veterans, of course, may be expected to suffer more greatly than the colts. And when it is remembered that the veterans will be depended upon to carry the banner in the early battles one can easily appreciate the disappointment of the postponements at this particular time.

Woes in Younger League
As a matter of fact, pitching woes do not appear to be confined to the National League clubs. In the two games played in both circuits so far really high class box work has been the great exception. The Red Sox pitchers, always among the very top-notchers, have done better than any others as a staff. Carl Mays just used a no-hit game against the Athletics which would have been a striking triumph for this early season. Babe Ruth also pitched a creditable game, but Dutch Leonard was hit hard. He usually is a fine early spring pitcher.

Elsewhere tremendous hitting rallies and high scores have cropped out with striking frequency. Teams supposedly weak with the willow have been hitting in double figures or close to it. The Yankees had the hardest kind of hitting to take the big end of a three-game series from the supposedly weak hitting Senators. It was not that Griff had a powerful punch at attack. The Yankees box men are far off customary form.

The outlook for a game this afternoon at the Polo Grounds was anything but reassuring late last night. The playing field last evening was in a deplorable condition. It rained very hard in that section of the town, flooding the field to a depth of several inches. Nothing but a high wind or exceptionally bright sun is likely to put the plot in condition for play by this afternoon.

In case of another postponement today two members of the Dodgers will be particularly disappointed. New York Manager Wilbert Robinson and Southpaw Rube Marquard. Uncle Robbie is anxious to take the measure of the champions at least once before he scuttles to the States, to which the Rube is determined to square accounts with the Giants for the rough treatment he received in the first inning of the opening game. Robbie had meant to use Marquard yesterday and to send Burleigh Grimes after the Giants today. If a game is played this afternoon Grimes doubtless will be used for the opening clash at Philadelphia.

A real line on the offensive strength of Miller Huggins's scrappy Yankees would be had by the time the American Leaguers return for their home game at the Polo Grounds, next Wednesday afternoon. The New York Americans today shift from Washington to Boston to engage the Red Sox in five games in four playing days. Ruppert's club has appeared to excel in both batting and pitching in the spring exhibition tour with the Boston Braves. The only apparent weakness lies within the hurling corps, and this is a condition which may be adjusted by continuous practice and good weather.

Huggins Needs Pitchers
On paper the staff does not appear weak one by any means. Because of the enlistments of Ray Fisher and Bob Quinn and the transfer of Nick Cullop and Urban Shocker to the Browns, Huggins is left pretty much bereft of his veteran pitching talent goes. If he has a number of promising rookies, these develop spring training promises may be nursed along with the old fellows to a pitcher to secure very satisfactory results.

A real punch in attack, as has been intimated, was displayed by the Yankees against the Braves and Senators. It is expected a lot of high class entertainment for the Huggins aggregation this season. The great dependence of the Red Sox.

Then, too, if the Yankees escape inclement weather in Back Bay today they may begin to hope that Huggins really succeeded in eluding the Red Sox. That has so religiously pursued the New York American League forces since many years. For this is holiday season of the Boston season. Patriots' Day, Bunker Hill Day in the City generally furnish better prospects than Indians in a major league day. Games are scheduled for the morning and afternoon.

Armando Marsans, the dashing Cuban outfielder, seems either particularly disappointed or indifferent to the future. The Cuban gardener, who was broken shortly after he was released to report to Huggins at Washington last Monday. He is still missing, and has sent no word to the club's headquarters. Meanwhile, Elmer Chick continues to lead in major fashion in the field. The best Marsans will have a hard time displacing this youngster. The presence of Marsans is not so much an issue as it appeared when the matter of training.

The matter of fact, Huggins is not worried over the absence of Marsans as he is over the failure of Eddie Rickey to make up his mind to return to the team. Plank could be a decided advantage just now as a pitcher for the young pitchers.

Tris Speaker Makes Double Play Unaided

Indians Tomahawk Tigers Amid Showers for 6 Runs to 2

CLEVELAND, April 18.—Cleveland inaugurated the American League season here by defeating Detroit 6 to 2. The opening game, which was twice postponed on account of rain, was played to-day through showers. Cleveland battled Boland hard, but luck was with him and one hit yielded only one run. Erickson, who relieved him, was wild and his passes and Bush's error brought about Detroit's defeat. Roth hitting a triple with the bases full.

Speaker trapped a fly ball in the ninth inning, and dashing into second base, executed a double play unaided, tagging Vitt, while Ellison was forced.

Ty Cobb has recovered from his illness and probably will play to-morrow. The score:

CLEVELAND (A. L.)		DETROIT (A. L.)
ab	h	ab	h
Dressen, 1b	3 1 1	Miller, cf	5 1 2
Smith, 2b	4 0 1	Chapman, ss	4 1 2
Yoshida, 3b	4 0 4	Speaker, cf	3 1 2
Vitt, 4b	4 0 4	Roth, lf	4 1 1
Magee, 5b	3 0 1	Wheeler, rf	3 0 1
Harmon, 6b	3 0 1	Wheeler, rf	3 0 1
Carlson, 7b	3 0 1	Wheeler, rf	3 0 1
Ellison, 8b	3 0 1	Wheeler, rf	3 0 1
Shannon, 9b	3 0 1	Wheeler, rf	3 0 1
Totals	29 0 24 14	Totals	33 6 12 27 5

Doak Driven From Mound As Chicago Beats Cards

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 18.—Doak was driven from the mound in the fourth inning of to-day's game after three singles, two triples, two bases on balls and an error had given Chicago a lead of five runs over St. Louis. The final score was 6 to 4.

Chicago added another in the sixth at May's expense on three singles and a sacrifice. Vaughn, although a trifle wild at times, was never in real danger, although in the ninth Baird connected for a home run, sending in Smith ahead of him.

American Association To Bar the 'Spitball'

CHICAGO, April 18.—The managers of the eight clubs in the American Association will meet April 30, a day before the opening of the season, at a conference with the umpires to decide upon a plan for stamping out the 'spitball' and other freak deliveries. President Hickey announced to-night.

President Hickey said he wanted the managers and umpires to reach a mutual understanding of the rules so as to avoid protests over the prohibited deliveries. Pitchers found guilty of using the 'spitball' will be fined $25 and perhaps suspended.

Alexander Is Ordered To Army Camp April 30

ST. PAUL, Neb., April 18.—The official notice summoning Grover Cleveland Alexander, star pitcher for the Chicago National League Baseball Club, to go with the draft quota from Howard County, Nebraska, to Camp Funston, April 30, was sent to Chicago by Alexander's draft board to-day.

White Sox Release 2 Pitchers

CHICAGO, April 18.—Two pitchers—Mason and Robinson—were cut off the roster of the Chicago Americans to-day, both having been released to the Minneapolis club of the American Association.

Senators Lack Pitchers, Put Off Game With Yanks

White Sox Steal Seven Bags and Shut Out Browns

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Clark Griffith, manager of the Senators, called off the game scheduled to-day with the New York Yankees. Griffith gave the grounds as the reason for his action. As a matter of fact, the weather was far from favorable in the morning, but at noon the skies cleared and a game could easily have been played, especially when it is recalled that the Washington club starts its contests at 4:30.

The unofficial explanation for the cancelling of the game is that Griffith had no pitchers to send against the Yanks. He was even worse off in twirling timber than Miller Huggins, and Hug's situation was bad enough. The Yankees were somewhat disappointed at the decision of their rivals, as it will mean the playing of four games in five days when they next visit the capital in July. The New Yorkers left here to-night for Boston, where morning and afternoon games are on the programme, due to the celebration of Patriots' Day.

Yankees Hit Hard
The series with the Senators, thus brought to an untimely end, served to emphasize two things: first, that the Yankees are a powerful hitting aggregation, and second, that they are woefully deficient in pitching department. Ruppert's men scored 20 runs in the three games, and made a total of 31 hits. This would be a most glorious showing were it not offset by the fact that the Senators gathered 17 runs and made 29 hits. What's the use of piling up hits and runs if the other fellows do the same thing?

The leading slugger of the Yankees was Elmer Miller, centre fielder, who was at bat 13 times, and collected 5 hits for an average of .384. Wally Pipp and Home Run Baker were tied for second place, with an average of .363. The standings of the other players were: Trick Hannah, .333; Del Pratt, .308; Glicksoley, .286; Bodie, .266, and Muddy Ruef, .260.

Cardinals Soon to Lose More Players to Draft

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—Further inroads of the army draft into the St. Louis Nationals became evident to-day when announcement was made that Douglas Baird and James Smyth, both top regulars, probably will be placed in Class 1-A as soon as the government acts upon their questionnaires.

Jack Smith yesterday received notice of his 1-A classification, and it is said he will not be with the club after May 5. Snyder, Horstman and Howard are other Class 1-A men who cannot be counted on to finish the season.

Lafayette Announces Track Team Schedule

EASTON, April 18.—After many changes and readjustments, Coach Bruce and Manager Seibert have finally completed the list of games for the Lafayette track team for the season about to open. The feature of the season will be the annual meet of the Intercollegiate Athletic Track and Field Association on March Field, May 18.

Lafayette's annual interscholastic meet will be held May 30, as usual. The complete list is as follows: April 25, Penn. State vs. Franklin Field; May 1, Stevens Institute vs. Franklin Field; May 15, Middle States vs. Franklin Field; May 25, Middle States vs. Franklin Field; June 1, C. A. A. A. vs. Franklin Field.

$500,000 Is Expected From Golf Matches

CHICAGO, April 10.—The Western Golf Association has received sanction from the National Red Cross for the series of golf matches to be played by amateurs and professionals will play this season.

Senators Lack Pitchers, Put Off Game With Yanks

White Sox Steal Seven Bags and Shut Out Browns

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Clark Griffith, manager of the Senators, called off the game scheduled to-day with the New York Yankees. Griffith gave the grounds as the reason for his action. As a matter of fact, the weather was far from favorable in the morning, but at noon the skies cleared and a game could easily have been played, especially when it is recalled that the Washington club starts its contests at 4:30.

The unofficial explanation for the cancelling of the game is that Griffith had no pitchers to send against the Yanks. He was even worse off in twirling timber than Miller Huggins, and Hug's situation was bad enough. The Yankees were somewhat disappointed at the decision of their rivals, as it will mean the playing of four games in five days when they next visit the capital in July. The New Yorkers left here to-night for Boston, where morning and afternoon games are on the programme, due to the celebration of Patriots' Day.

Yankees Hit Hard
The series with the Senators, thus brought to an untimely end, served to emphasize two things: first, that the Yankees are a powerful hitting aggregation, and second, that they are woefully deficient in pitching department. Ruppert's men scored 20 runs in the three games, and made a total of 31 hits. This would be a most glorious showing were it not offset by the fact that the Senators gathered 17 runs and made 29 hits. What's the use of piling up hits and runs if the other fellows do the same thing?

The leading slugger of the Yankees was Elmer Miller, centre fielder, who was at bat 13 times, and collected 5 hits for an average of .384. Wally Pipp and Home Run Baker were tied for second place, with an average of .363. The standings of the other players were: Trick Hannah, .333; Del Pratt, .308; Glicksoley, .286; Bodie, .266, and Muddy Ruef, .260.

Cardinals Soon to Lose More Players to Draft

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—Further inroads of the army draft into the St. Louis Nationals became evident to-day when announcement was made that Douglas Baird and James Smyth, both top regulars, probably will be placed in Class 1-A as soon as the government acts upon their questionnaires.

Jack Smith yesterday received notice of his 1-A classification, and it is said he will not be with the club after May 5. Snyder, Horstman and Howard are other Class 1-A men who cannot be counted on to finish the season.

Lafayette Announces Track Team Schedule

EASTON, April 18.—After many changes and readjustments, Coach Bruce and Manager Seibert have finally completed the list of games for the Lafayette track team for the season about to open. The feature of the season will be the annual meet of the Intercollegiate Athletic Track and Field Association on March Field, May 18.

Lafayette's annual interscholastic meet will be held May 30, as usual. The complete list is as follows: April 25, Penn. State vs. Franklin Field; May 1, Stevens Institute vs. Franklin Field; May 15, Middle States vs. Franklin Field; May 25, Middle States vs. Franklin Field; June 1, C. A. A. A. vs. Franklin Field.

$500,000 Is Expected From Golf Matches

CHICAGO, April 10.—The Western Golf Association has received sanction from the National Red Cross for the series of golf matches to be played by amateurs and professionals will play this season.

Over the Sport Trail

By Louis Lee Arms

A Potential "Second Matty"

AS WE shall hear much of him this summer, perhaps it is up to some one to properly introduce Mr. Jess Barnes. The ensuing thumbnail sketch of our Giants' new right-hander may be taken as an authentic study.

Jess was born in the little city of umph-de-umph in the year of bloo-boo. He came into this vale of tears a right-hander, and by nature and preference he has since remained one. It never would have done for Jess to develop left-hand tendencies, for his hair is tinged with red, anyhow.

As all ballplayers know, they would rather have a man on the team who thought he was Napoleon than a red-headed left-hander.

Mister Barnes plays the guitar, sings a stentorian and reliable basso profundo in the Giants' quartet and is a nobby dresser off and on. His idea of a wild evening is a drawn game at checkers, which indicates he will be of increasing value to the New York Giants as the years drift by.

Having established these little characteristics, we may now pass on to Jess's pitching, which has moved some authorities to declare that he will become a second Mathewson. Bill Brennan, the old, florid-faced heathen who was given the bum's rush out of the National League—when he is a better arbiter than three-fourths of the men in it—worked behind Barnes in several games in the South and was much impressed with what he saw.

"Barnes has accomplished a reverse English fade-away," said Bill, at the conclusion of one of these games. "He has a ball that breaks sharply in as it sinks. The result is he keeps the batter hitting it on the handle. I haven't seen a prettier fade-away since Chris Mathewson retired from the firing line."

Barnes is a straight over-arm pitcher and holds himself unusually erect as he winds up for his pitch. It is a style that delights the old-timer. There is no superfluous movement, and as he releases the ball directly in front of him his gray or white uniform automatically becomes the background for his pitch. There is no disputing that a ball thus delivered presents added difficulties to the batter.

Over the Sport Trail

By Louis Lee Arms

A Potential "Second Matty"

AS WE shall hear much of him this summer, perhaps it is up to some one to properly introduce Mr. Jess Barnes. The ensuing thumbnail sketch of our Giants' new right-hander may be taken as an authentic study.

Jess was born in the little city of umph-de-umph in the year of bloo-boo. He came into this vale of tears a right-hander, and by nature and preference he has since remained one. It never would have done for Jess to develop left-hand tendencies, for his hair is tinged with red, anyhow.

As all ballplayers know, they would rather have a man on the team who thought he was Napoleon than a red-headed left-hander.

Mister Barnes plays the guitar, sings a stentorian and reliable basso profundo in the Giants' quartet and is a nobby dresser off and on. His idea of a wild evening is a drawn game at checkers, which indicates he will be of increasing value to the New York Giants as the years drift by.

Having established these little characteristics, we may now pass on to Jess's pitching, which has moved some authorities to declare that he will become a second Mathewson. Bill Brennan, the old, florid-faced heathen who was given the bum's rush out of the National League—when he is a better arbiter than three-fourths of the men in it—worked behind Barnes in several games in the South and was much impressed with what he saw.

"Barnes has accomplished a reverse English fade-away," said Bill, at the conclusion of one of these games. "He has a ball that breaks sharply in as it sinks. The result is he keeps the batter hitting it on the handle. I haven't seen a prettier fade-away since Chris Mathewson retired from the firing line."

Barnes is a straight over-arm pitcher and holds himself unusually erect as he winds up for his pitch. It is a style that delights the old-timer. There is no superfluous movement, and as he releases the ball directly in front of him his gray or white uniform automatically becomes the background for his pitch. There is no disputing that a ball thus delivered presents added difficulties to the batter.

Over the Sport Trail

By Louis Lee Arms

A Potential "Second Matty"

AS WE shall hear much of him this summer, perhaps it is up to some one to properly introduce Mr. Jess Barnes. The ensuing thumbnail sketch of our Giants' new right-hander may be taken as an authentic study.

Jess was born in the little city of umph-de-umph in the year of bloo-boo. He came into this vale of tears a right-hander, and by nature and preference he has since remained one. It never would have done for Jess to develop left-hand tendencies, for his hair is tinged with red, anyhow.

As all ballplayers know, they would rather have a man on the team who thought he was Napoleon than a red-headed left-hander.

Mister Barnes plays the guitar, sings a stentorian and reliable basso profundo in the Giants' quartet and is a nobby dresser off and on. His idea of a wild evening is a drawn game at checkers, which indicates he will be of increasing value to the New York Giants as the years drift by.

Having established these little characteristics, we may now pass on to Jess's pitching, which has moved some authorities to declare that he will become a second Mathewson. Bill Brennan, the old, florid-faced heathen who was given the bum's rush out of the National League—when he is a better arbiter than three-fourths of the men in it—worked behind Barnes in several games in the South and was much impressed with what he saw.

"Barnes has accomplished a reverse English fade-away," said Bill, at the conclusion of one of these games. "He has a ball that breaks sharply in as it sinks. The result is he keeps the batter hitting it on the handle. I haven't seen a prettier fade-away since Chris Mathewson retired from the firing line."

Barnes is a straight over-arm pitcher and holds himself unusually erect as he winds up for his pitch. It is a style that delights the old-timer. There is no superfluous movement, and as he releases the ball directly in front of him his gray or white uniform automatically becomes the background for his pitch. There is no disputing that a ball thus delivered presents added difficulties to the batter.

Freshmen Win Water Meet at City College

The class of '21 was the winner in the annual interclass aquatic meet at the College of the City of New York yesterday. 1921 made 37 points in the meet, winning the 'varsity class relay with Langer, Corcoran, Seligman and Sherman. 1920 had 23 points and 1919 only 10.

Collegiate School Nine Trounces Cartaret Boys

Collegiate School's baseball team opened its season yesterday afternoon, routing the strong Cartaret School by the score of 11 to 4, at East Orange, N. J. The contest was a rather heavy hitting of Tobin, the husky batter, who clouted the ball for four safe hits, one a two-bagger.

GIANTS TO-DAY WITH BROOKLYN

Columbia Sophs. Win Interclass Track Contests

The Columbia sophomores had no trouble in winning the interclass track meet yesterday afternoon with 54 points. The seniors came in second with 23 points, the freshmen with 22 and the juniors with 20. Shepherd, Columbia's crack miler, easily won the mile after starting at scratch. His time was 4:31. He was followed closely by Huelsenbeck, captain of the track team. Lowenkopf, with 150 yards handicap, came in first, but his time was much slower.

The quarter-mile was the closest race of the afternoon. Staub, one of the Blue-and-White veteran runners, came in a yard ahead of Taylor after starting at scratch.

Marsans to Leave Havana To-morrow to Join Yanks

HAVANA, April 18.—Armando Marsans, outfielder of the New York American baseball team, will leave for New York next Saturday to report for duty.

Brooklyn Team to Lose Mitchell in Next Draft

Clarence Mitchell, the southpaw that Brooklyn secured from Cincinnati, will not be with the Dodgers. Mitchell has been notified by the draft board of his district that he will be called to the colors on April 26.

C. C. N. Y. Seniors Lose Twice at Basketball

The 1922 basketball team of the College of the City of New York trounced the senior team in a class league game yesterday, 20 to 9. Cullen started for the winners with four field baskets.

College Athletes to Meet Club Men in Relay Race

By A. C. Cavagnaro
College runners are to furnish the opposition for the club athletes in the junior national muley relay race over one and seven-eighths miles, which will be included in the programme of the spring games of the 13th Regiment Athletic Association in its Brooklyn armory next Friday evening. Six teams are already entered, but when starting time comes it is likely that the field will be augmented by two other organizations.

Standing of Major League Clubs

NATIONAL LEAGUE		AMERICAN LEAGUE
GAMES TO-DAY		GAMES TO-DAY
Brooklyn at New York		New York at Boston (A. M. and P. M.)
Boston at Philadelphia		Detroit at Chicago
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati		St. Louis at Cleveland
"Chicago at St. Louis		"Chicago at Cleveland
"Cincinnati at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit		"St. Louis at Cleveland
"Detroit at St. Louis		"Cleveland at Detroit
"St. Louis at Cleveland		"Detroit at St. Louis
"Cleveland at Detroit			