Minister Helps Loan Nippon's Representative Makes Address at the Altar of Liberty

The Rising Sun, the emblem of Japan, was raised yesterday at the Altar of Liberty, at the foot of the Avenue of the Allies. Viscount Ishii, the Ambassador from Nippon, assured the thousands who gathered to hear him speak at noon that the Orient and the Occident were one in their determination to defeat the common enemy of the civilized world.

"You now are going to prove once more to the entire world that the Americans behind the guns are just as efficient and powerful as the Americans behind the guns. By the previous war loans you have shown how immense your monetary resources are, now you have started the biggest of loans in the annals of the world finance. These mighty enterprises of yours not only call forth the admiration and appreciation of all your allies, but are bound to create in the mind of our enemy an utter dismay and discomfiture."

The Japanese flag was raised at the altar by Captain Lyeda, naval attaché in Washington, and Miss Fumiko Yada, daughter of the Japanese Consul General, placed a bouquet of white and yellow chrysanthemums—the flower of her native country—on the altar.

quarters at Washington last night issued the following statement: "There is no use in denying or attempting to camouflage the fact that Liberty Loan committee throughout the country are confronted with a serious situation. If the loan is to be subscribed a daily average of $461,000,000 must be raised between now and October 10.

"Cognizant of the fact that the loan never can succeed at its present rate of speed, canvassers throughout the country are stating plainly to all citizens that they must buy bonds in larger amounts than heretofore. Wealthy persons particularly must go deeper into their capital or stretch their credit and not depend upon their current income alone to pay for bonds. People of moderate and small means must pledge their future earnings in greater degree."

The slogan "double the third" is being adopted throughout the country. Unless it is literally followed, the fourth Liberty Loan quota, which is double that of the third, will not be fully taken.

In New York, the situation relatively is even less favorable than in the nation, considered as a whole. The aggregate lent in nine days in the Second Federal Reserve District is $275,163,700, which is substantially the same sum that was lent in the corresponding period of the last loan, when the goal was only half as large. New York's share in the district's subscriptions amounted to $256,912,700, and Manhattan's $229,643,000. The city has filled 21 per cent of its quota.

Benjamin Strong, chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee of this district, last night sent this message to the public: "Many subscribers to this loan have not realized the magnitude of the task which confronts the people of this district. It is not going to be sufficient

"Do Your Christmas Shopping Early"—and Make It a Bond

A Real, Live American Santa Claus, Nephew of Uncle Sam Proposed to Supplant Foreign Importations and Thus to Help Win the War

Santa Claus has found a way to hit the Hun hard. He is out early with his scheme this year and sums it up in the slogan "Do your Christmas shopping early—Buy bonds for gifts!" The American Santa Nick has come. He is so many good ideas in this latest bond selling scheme he is expected to eliminate his predecessors entirely from public approval. Besides making it easy for one's self and giving the recipient great joy the Christmas gift will be doing the infinitely greater thing—helping Uncle Sam.

To thousands of persons on the streets of New York City yesterday who knew other scenes and sights when the young came a sound during the afternoon which made them prick up their ears and make for the nearest curb. That sound was the shrill tooting of a steam calliope venting circles and spirals as it used to do in the small town "back home." It proved to be one of the best bond sellers yesterday.

The cheapest way to get to Berlin yesterday was via the Dollar Sign, the Fifth Avenue bus, run by the Women's Motor Corps for the Liberty Loan campaign. Any one who bought a bond was entitled to ride behind the pointer hand, which said: "To Berlin." The first rider of the day was a woman on her way to work. A telegram shortly after she had got up in the morning had notified her that her old-fashioned son, a captain—one of three in the simply to 'buy a bond.' Eighteen hundred million dollars, our quota, is double the amount allotted to us in the third loan. We must 'double the third.' Every individual in the district must 'double up.' The New York district yesterday sank from ninth to tenth place in the relative standing of the twelve Federal Reserve districts. Only Atlanta and Kansas City have poorer records. St. Louis went further into the lead, and is far ahead of its schedule, having subscribed $181,742,750, which is 62 per cent of its quota.

The standing of the districts follows: District. Subscription. Percentage. St. Louis, $161,782,750 62. Minneapolis, $102,633,200 48. Chicago, $220,338,850 44. San Francisco, $88,458,700 38. Cleveland, $96,481,700 34. Dallas, $113,235,500 32. Richmond, $74,233,900 32. Philadelphia, $138,193,450 32. New York, $275,163,700 31. Atlanta, $67,475,050 18. Kansas City, $43,407,200 16.

In order to catch up, the Second Federal Reserve District will have to raise $142,183,630 during every remaining working day of the campaign—New York City, $106,816,970; Manhattan, $100,686,800; Brooklyn, $177,865; Queens, $62,100; The Bronx, $566,355; and Richmond, $166,670.

A statistical analysis of what the New York district has done in the financial "push" in nine days follows: Subscriptions.—

Police Parading in Panoply of War Thrill Broadway

Machine Gunners, Aviators and Wireless Operators in the Ranks

Loan Gets Big Boost Thousands Impressed by Efficiency of Marchers, Led by Mayor Hylan

Broadway had a glimpse by the glare of red and green torchlights last night of some of the intricate machinery with which the police are equipped to cope with any sort of a catastrophe, from an earthquake to an invasion. The occasion was a parade to stimulate the fourth Liberty Loan. Every unit in the department was represented.

Police machine gunners, police aviators, police wireless outfits, police reserves, policemen and plain ordinary "cops" were in line, and all were polished up like Mayor Hylan's silk hat, which, by the way, led the procession from the start at Broadway and 110th Street to Herald Square.

As the parade swung into Longacre Square, the reviewing stands, which blocked the sidewalks, policemen with bond purchase pledges worked through them and disposed of a fair share of the $50,000 worth of bonds that the department is determined to sell. Commissioner Enright and his deputies, Leach, Leahy, Goff and Wallis (who is conducting the department's Liberty Loan campaign), and Special Deputies Wanamaker, Ryan and Shaw, all in evening dress, "hep, hep, hepped" along in the rear of Mayor Hylan.

There were long range searchlights on motor trucks, a complete wireless station in another with a bluecoat sending and receiving blue flame messages as it sputtered along Broadway. A banner when the crowd along the curb in Longacre Square was beginning to yawn and stir in the general direction of the subway kiosks—a cheer of approval from the police—women were coming, all in brass buttons and blue uniforms, but with many a smile for the white-collared males who lined them from the sidewalks.

Two Ex-Ambassadors To the Porte Predict Collapse of Turkey

Two former ambassadors of the United States to Turkey cheered 6,000 men and women of the Wall Street district last night by prophesying that the Porte would soon capitulate. Henry Morgenthau and Abram L. Elkus spoke from the steps of the Sub-Treasury Building.

"Turkey is tottering," said Mr. Morgenthau. "She stood on four legs—Jerusalem, Damascus, Bagdad and Constantinople. Three have been taken away. She can no longer stand, any more than a chair or a table can stand, on one leg. Turkey will fall in a few weeks. Austria-Hungary will go to the wall. Only Germany will be left. The Germans recognize positively they are going to be defeated. In Constantinople the German government already was figuring on the next day. The Germans do not figure on being relegated forever.

English Poet and British Educator Here to Tour U. S.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Oct. 9.—"I come as an ambassador of the dead," said Robert Nichols, a young English poet, who reached here to-day on a British liner, which also brought a group of five noted British educators, representing the leading universities of the United Kingdom.

The poet explained that he was here on a mission unique in these days of numerous missions—to bring together the writers of England and America to carry on the high ideals of those of the past who had already given their lives in the war.

The party of British educators consists of Dr. Arthur Everett Shipley, Sir Henry Alexander Miers, the Rev. Edward Newburn Walker, Sir Henry Jones and Dr. John Joly, and has come here to inquire into the best means of obtaining closer cooperation between British and American institutions to strengthen the bond of sympathy and understanding between the two nations.

Jerseyite Accused As "Paymaster" for German Spy Ring

Federal officers in Hoboken yesterday believed they had broken up one of the major German spy nests in this country—a medium through which German commanders learned of the sailing time of troop transports.

A prominent Hoboken resident, believed to be the master spy to whom the subordinates reported, was under close guard of Secret Service men yesterday, and will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Stanton tomorrow. Hoboken was started when the name of this man was rumored about, as he has been a leader in Liberty Loan and Y. M. C. A. drives and other local patriotic activities.

It was to this man that Walter P. Loehmer, former German army officer, reported, Federal officials said. Loehmer was arraigned before Commissioner Stanton on Monday on a technical charge of supplying liquor to an officer of the United States navy. The officer is said to have been served at the home of Miss Margaret O'Sullivan, a young singer. While under the influence of liquor a naval petty officer is said to have revealed the sailing time of a troop transport fleet, one ship of which was sunk by a U-boat, with a loss of fifty-seven lives.

U. S. Guarantees To Pay Dividends For Western Union

Government Also Agrees to Furnish Interest on Company's Outstanding Bonds

Carlton Is Satisfied Stockholders Are Fully Protected and Assured Returns at Present Rate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Under an agreement completed to-day between the Postoffice Department and the Western Union Telegraph Company, the government agrees to pay all interest on outstanding bonds of the company, all dividends and interest payments due on stocks and bonds of subsidiary companies, all taxes and operating charges on the property and, in addition, the sum of $8,000,000 annually. This sum insures the present rate of dividend on the company's stock.

The agreement, announcement of which was made to-night by Newcomb Carlton, president of the company, with the approval of Postmaster General Burleson, presumably is to continue for the period of government control.

"An arrangement," said Mr. Carlton's statement, "has been reached after extended conferences with the Postmaster General and his associates, John C. Koons, First Assistant Postmaster General, William H. Lamar, solicitor for the department, David J. Lewis, commissioner, and their consultant, Dr. David Friday, which is entirely satisfactory to the Western Union Telegraph Company."

The agreement relates only to the land lines and in substance provides for the payment by the Postmaster General of all interest on outstanding bonds of the telegraph company, also all dividends and interest payments due on the stocks and bonds of subsidiary companies, also all taxes and operating charges upon the property and a sum of $8,000,000 per annum, thus assuring the present rate of dividend.

"The contract leaves to the company all its non-operating income and the income from its eight transatlantic cables. The government likewise is to carry out the plan of the stability act pensions for employes, disability and death benefits and also maintain all reserves for depreciation and amortization upon the same basis as the telegraph company has maintained them. The government further provides for the continued maintenance and operation of the property in as efficient a condition as when taken over and the return of the property to the telegraph company in such a condition on the termination of Federal control.
