

Will Ask Lansing To Keep Hum Toys From Children

American Relief Legion Will Send Delegation to Capital if Necessary

Wants Great Bonfire Makes Appeal to Citizens to Bring All German-Made Objects They Own

The American Relief Legion will send an appeal direct to Secretary of State Lansing this week urging him to use his influence to keep the German-made toys which recently arrived in this country on the New Amsterdam from reaching the hands of children.

"We will carry this fight against the German toys right into Washington this week," said Mrs. Field. "We will probably issue an appeal to the Secretary of State Friday or Saturday and later may follow it up with a visit to Washington of a delegation of New York women. We want official Washington to see to it that these bloody toys are destroyed and that Germany's first trade wedge is blocked."

Mrs. Field also made a formal appeal to patriotic American men and women to send all German-made goods they may have acquired before the war to the headquarters of the legion at 615 Fifth avenue.

"We want all patriotic Americans to send German-made articles they are anxious to get rid of to us. We will store them and when we get enough we will plan to get a permit from the city authorities for a great public demonstration and make a big bonfire of the handiwork of the Kaiser's people."

Mrs. Crowell, accompanied by Mrs. M. O. Terry and Mrs. James E. Barr, members of the American Relief Legion, and Mrs. Henry C. Gwynne, also of the city, will be in charge of the Women's Clubs to aid Mrs. Field in her campaign for the "abolition of all things German-made."

They talked to Alfred J. Talley, assistant district attorney, who assured them that Mr. Swann was acting in sympathy with the movement to bring about the destruction of the German toys and would do all in his power to aid and advise them.

Mrs. McAllister, president of the American Defence Society, in charge of distributing the "No German Goods Sold Here" placards, held a preliminary meeting with fellow workers yesterday. Plans for recruiting 1,000 women to distribute these cards will be perfected at another meeting today.

Pickford Film Case Ready for Verdict

Whether She Must Share $1,380,000 Contract

The jury in the Supreme Court action brought by Mrs. Cora Carrington Wilkening, theatrical agent, against Miss Mary Pickford, starring picture star, for breach of contract, will render a sealed verdict today. Mrs. Wilkening is suing for commission on a $1,380,000 salary and bonus Miss Pickford received on a contract for this income.

Adolph Zukor, moving picture producer, testified that it was not through the intervention of Mrs. Wilkening that he made a contract with Miss Pickford. He has hands Benjamin Hampton, vice-president of the American Tobacco Company, interested in moving picture enterprises, admitted Mrs. Wilkening's statement that she had brought about a meeting between him and Miss Pickford and that he offered the star $100,000 a week for eight weeks and two years, alleging it was through her efforts that the actress obtained a contract for this income.

District Attorney Lewis made a demand yesterday for all books of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, necessary to straighten out the line of responsibility in a cobweb of subsidiary corporations. This action was taken as a part of the John Doe inquiry into the cause of the Brighton Beach elevated train wreck last Friday in the tunnel at Malbone Street and Flatbush Avenue.

"I want to find out who the operating officials are," said District Attorney Lewis. "My desire is that those responsible for the catastrophe be punished."

The John Doe and Richard Roe proceedings in which Mayor Hylan is sitting as a magistrate, will be resumed at 11 o'clock this morning. In preparation for this session District Attorney Lewis examined nearly a score of witnesses yesterday.

Had Little Instruction Most of these were motormen engaged in instructing green men. Mr. Lewis has learned that the R. T. does not consider a man qualified to operate a train until he has had twenty full days of instruction. Thus far, the R. T. has had only one man qualified to discover that Edward A. Lucas, who drove the wrecked train, had more than six days' experience. His actual mechanical instruction under a permit to call a witness of men "higher up," he replied.

"This proceeding will become interesting by reason of those who are not called." Brakes in Good Order It was learned yesterday from an examination of a "log" maintained by the B. R. T. that the cars in the wrecked train had been inspected in October and reported satisfactory. The post-wreck examination of the cars made by Public Service Commission inspectors, working under the supervision of the B. R. T., showed that the air brakes on the first and fifth cars in the train were in good shape. The fact that the brakes on these two cars were in working order is sufficient to show, Mr. Lewis, to refute the contention of the motorman that the brakes refused to work.
