

Two Rowing Races Planned For Columbia

Blue and White Aim to Enter a Crew in the Proposed American Henley

While no official action has been taken by the Columbia University athletic authorities with reference to the maintenance of intercollegiate rowing at Morningside Heights this year, plans are already under way for the shaping of a schedule and Columbia will be represented at the meeting of the American College Rowing Association, which is to be held in Philadelphia next week to discuss the proposal to have a real Henley regatta for college crews during the coming season.

It is practically certain that if these plans mature Columbia will be represented in the proposed regatta and that will also have a crew in the race for the Childs Cup with Princeton and Pennsylvania. In the event that the regatta is not held, the Childs Cup race will be the feature of the starting for the Blue and White. It is believed that, in addition to another race, probably a dual contest will be arranged to fill out the list. It is understood that the Blue and White will take part in not more than two races.

As yet no plans have been made for a freshman schedule, but it is believed that one of the Philadelphia rowing clubs will enter a plan for the holding of a freshman race among Pennsylvania, Princeton and Columbia. Yale and Harvard, it is understood, will have their usual freshman regatta at the end of the season. It is likely that the call for candidates will not be formally issued for a week or two, but there is every expectation on the part of the athletic officials that the regatta will be held as early a date as possible in order to make up for the lack of fall practice.

The rowing machines, as usual, will be set up in the gymnasium, and the annual regatta will be held in the swimming pool which will be fitted up for the purpose of giving individual instruction in watermanship before the candidates take to the river.

Erasmus Boys Win Rough Hockey Game From Commercial

Erasmus Hall won a rough and tumble game from the Commercial High School in a contest of the Brooklyn-Long Island Intercollegiate Hockey League at the Brooklyn Ice Palace, last night, by a score of 1 to 0.

Manual Training also gained a victory over Boys' High School by a score of 2 to 0 in one of the best games played this season. Sparks, the Manual star, scored first, to be followed by Callahan. Both goals came from scrimmage play directly in front of the Boys' High camp.

Canadian Racing Revived DEVOTEES of the American turf will be pleased to learn that the Canadian racing circuit plans to operate in 1919. This will be welcome news to the enthusiasts of the East for the East has more than enough horses to supply the metropolitan demands and the more tracks that operate—provided always there are enough thoroughbreds of class to maintain high class competition—the better it is for the sport.

WOODBINE MEETING ASSURED Racing in Canada, which was discontinued for "the duration of the war," especially at the Woodbine track of Toronto and around Montreal has ever been an edifying type that cannot fail to benefit the turf. That Woodbine is preparing to open as usual next May we have on the word of Joseph E. Seagram president of the Ontario Jockey Club. A few details remain to be adjusted before the announcement of dates. The half-mile track must be squelched for one thing. Mr. Seagram made this official announcement at the Guelph (Ont.) Horse Show recently. Mr. Hendrie's announcement as to plans for Woodbine were further verified by the admissions of W. P. Fraser, secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club.

Still Hope for England MIKE McNALLY, infelder of the world champion Boston Red Sox, who had the pleasure of mitting King George last July 4 after participating in a game played between teams representing the United States Army and Navy, is home from service with Uncle Sam's fleet. McNally says that he believes baseball is going to become popular in England. Last summer he said he learned that quite a few schools had organized baseball clubs and were playing games several times a week. In other classes, he also said, the people were showing an interest in the game, and while he doubts the American sport can replace cricket as the Englishman's favorite outdoor amusement, he does look for baseball to become one of the country's leading sports.

McNally also took occasion to refer to the remarkable pitching displayed by Herb Pennock in the games played in England by the Navy team. He said the left-hander's old weakness of poor control was overcome and that he showed more stuff than ever before. He predicts big things for Pennock when he returns to the major leagues.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 3.—Orders were today given to all of Yale's winter sports teams and to the crew and track teams of the spring sport organizations to start training on Monday for the season of 1919.

Only one professional coach has been appointed, Issy Winters, as wrestling instructor for the twelfth consecutive season. Captain Avery, Galt, Gray, Jones and Mead of last season's wrestling team have returned. A short schedule is being arranged. Basketball will be regarded the leading winter sport. The members of the Intercollegiate League have agreed not to allow the games to count for the possession of the cup which will be given to the winner of three seasonal championships. Yale will meet all the other members of the league.

Star Outfielder Will Again Wear a New York Uniform

"Cap" Huston Too Busy Saying "Howdy" to Talk Much Baseball

By Charles A. Taylor Benny Kauf and his whole wardrobe signed up with the Giants yesterday afternoon for one year. What stipend Benny is to receive for his services was not made public, but it is fair to assume that his monthly wage will far exceed that he obtained from Uncle Sam during his few months' experience as a soldier boy.

It will be remembered that Benny was called to Camp Sherman just when the Chicago Cubs were cutting big slices off the tremendous lead the Giants had piled up in the pennant race of last year. In fact, many of the cries and deplores figured that had Benny remained with the McGrawmen the Cubs would never have swung through to the heights.

But, as fond as Benny was of swinging his old home club to the acclaim of the baseball populace, he took up his military training with a determination and left the service as a sergeant. He was anxious to get overseas, but fate ordained otherwise, so Benny remained in camp in his home state until Mr. Armstrong cut short his military career.

Record Well Known As far as his baseball prowess is concerned, Benny is in no way deeply into the records of the diamond to bring it once again to the surface. Benny has not been away from the bat long enough to require a recapitulation of his history and deeds. It might be recalled, however, that Benny had a brief and unsatisfactory trial with the Yankees back in 1912. He was with the departed Feds that he first began to wield the old war club with such effect as to attract the special attention of fannom John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, who watched his career with the "Insurgents" closely and when "Benny" came to the New York club put up a large-sized bundle of cash to land Benjamin.

The judgment of McGraw proved correct for Benny proved a mighty hitter with his bat and as guardian of center field. He had his slumps and got his pinnings, but one asset Benny always possessed to endear him to the manager and the fans and that was the spirit he put in his work. Benny was doing his darndest all the time, and no one felt more peevish over his some-what frequent strike-outs with three on than the Benny fans.

New York is mightily tickled to reach its arms out wide and far to welcome Benny's return to the fold. Lieutenant Colonel Huston, part owner of the Yankees, is beginning to believe that shaking hands if carried to excess is a strain comparable with pulling railroads and bridges under shell fire. Yesterday, the second day of the "Cap's" Thursday here, was a repetition of his Thursday experience. Wherever "Cap" went about town it was to be seen greeting and saying "howdy" that he has not had a chance to get posted regarding the politics of baseball. When asked if he favored a one-year commission, "Cap" replied that it would naturally depend on the man. He was very much interested in learning of the offer made to ex-Lieutenant Colonel Curley of Hempstead, of the New York National League club, and Harry Frazee, head of the Boston American League.
