

Citizens Plan Daily Greeting To U. S. Heroes

Lawrence F. Abbott Refuses to Serve With Hearst; Joins the New Committee

Leaders Meet To-day

Many Are Eager to Assist Independent Organization in Welcoming Troops

Plans for a daily welcome to the stream of incoming troops from France will be made to-day at a meeting of the general committee of the Citizens' Committee of Welcome, which has been called for 3:45 p. m. at the Murray Hill Hotel. It had been planned to hold the meeting at the Hotel Belmont, Charles Stewart Davison will preside.

The committee made public yesterday several letters, among them one from Lawrence F. Abbott, editor of "The Outlook," who writes:

"I have your letter of December 7 telling me that the Mayor has appointed me a member of the Committee of Welcome to Homecoming Troops. May I say that I appreciate the honor thus conferred and desire in every appropriate way to accept it in this matter? But before I accept will you let me frankly and respectfully ask what Mr. Hearst's relation to this committee is? Mr. Hearst's course during the war has been so mischievous regarding some of our most important allies that it has amounted in effect to disloyalty to the United States. In 'The New York American' of June 6, 1916, he said:

"Whether the Lusitania was armed or not, it was properly a spoil of war, subject to attack and destruction under the accepted rules of so-called civilized warfare."

"This sentiment alone would make me unwilling to serve on any war committee in which Mr. Hearst was chairman or in which he exercised any personal authority or influence."

Others endorsing movement

The names of others who have endorsed the Citizens' Committee and extracts from their letters follow:

MRS. JOHN FRANCIS LAWLER, 808 West End Avenue: "It will be a pleasure to serve on the committee as president of the New York City Federation of the Women's Republican Association, State of New York, vice-president National Society Patriotic Women of America and secretary of New York State D. A. R."

MRS. WILLIAM ROGERS CHAPMAN, president of the Rubenstein Club: "The Rubenstein Club will be most happy to cooperate with the Citizens' Committee of Welcome to returning soldiers. We could not—would not—cooperate with the Mayor's Committee under the nominations made, but we will do all in our power to assist the Citizens' Committee of Welcome."

THEATRE ASSEMBLY CLUB, Mrs. J. Christopher Marks, president: "As president of the Theatre Assembly, with a membership of 2,300, I beg to say that we shall be glad to be affiliated with you in welcoming returning soldiers, sailors and marines. The Theatre Assembly maintains its own canteen for men in the service independently at 125 West Forty-second Street."

AMERICAN INDIAN LEAGUE, New York: "This League is a national, patriotic organization devoted to the welfare of the Indians of our country, and we heartily approve of the plan to welcome our returning soldiers and sailors. There are some 5,000 Indians in the army and navy and in the aviation. The League, therefore, tenders to you its services."

ASSOCIATION OF VETERAN OFFICERS OF THE CIVIL WAR, George Haven Patnam: "This association desires to be included with the group of patriotic societies which are taking action in connection with the reception of our soldiers and in the protest against the Mayor's Committee of Welcome and the inclusion in such a committee of such a man as Hearst."

GEORGE KENNETH, 315 West Eighty-fifth Street: "The citizens of New York think you are doing wonderful work. It is an insult to every patriotic American that Hearst should be put forward to welcome our victorious boys. Call upon me for any help you may need."

DR. JOSEPHINE WALTER, 61 West Seventy-fourth Street: "I am fully in sympathy with the movement of the Citizens' Committee of Welcome. It is most gratifying that this big effort is being handled by worthy citizens to offset the insult in the way of the Hearst committee to our boys."

F. W. BARBER, President of the Aeronautical Society of America: "It affords me great pleasure to take part in this movement."

Recalls Paper Bonfire

It was a little hard on the veterans of the war, a warm day last June publicly tore up and burnt in front of the county courthouse in that city all available copies of "The New York American" because it had printed a deleted copy of President Wilson's Memorial Day proclamation.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Daughters of Columbia County, N. Y., at the Hotel Alpin a resolution was adopted protesting against Mayor Hylan's appointment of Hearst to serve on the welcome committee.

The officers of this organization are: Mrs. James C. Frasier, president; Mrs. Homer E. Frasier, first vice-president; Mrs. George T. Powell, second vice-president; Mrs. Pirie Macdonald, secretary; and Mrs. Charles C. Tough, treasurer.

William G. Wilcox, former president of the Board of Education, has written to Mayor Hylan's secretary withdrawing his acceptance of the Mayor's invitation to become a member of the committee of welcome to returning troops.

Protest from Staten Island

Mr. Wilcox's letter was signed by him as chairman of the Staten Island Committee of Welcome and also by Mrs. Wilcox, as chairman of the Richmond County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The letter follows:

"We accepted the Mayor's invitation of his honor the Mayor to serve on the committee of citizens to welcome our homecoming troops in the hope that the protest signed by ourselves and many other members of the committee and generally voiced throughout the city would lead to the retirement of Mr. Hearst from the prominent chairmanship assigned to him. As there appears to be no prospect, however, that this protest will be heeded, we are reluctantly forced to resign from the committee."

"The attitude of Mr. Hearst during the war must inevitably lead many of the homecoming troops and many of the relatives and friends to regard Mr. Hearst as an insult rather than an honor, and we cannot permit the expression of our admiration for the best men and altogether life is made happier for hundreds of thousands of people."

"Opportunity often hides in the simple things which are despised by people of high station. Don't stand around looking up at the sky. Look around your feet. You will find opportunity on your back doorstep. We are only in the dawn of things as yet."

"Any place is a good place to start from. Opportunity will not overlook you because you wear overalls and your hands are grimy with work. Opportunity often dodges the front office and shakes hands with the oil-wad at the last machine down at the far end of the shop."

"There is more science behind a belt and a hat than any professor ever knew. A good man makes a good job, and a good start is made when man and job become good friends."

Exploitation of Labor Wrong

"One of the benefits which will result from a large development of new industrial ideas will be the decrease of absentee ownership. When only a few lines are open the speculative capitalists are always trying to get hold of them. They are mounting big operations, but it not to make it better and bigger, but to exploit it. The only interest they have in the business or the product is the dollars they can squeeze out."

"Their game is not honest. It is not human. It doesn't produce anything. They are mounting big operations, but other men have built up by hard work and honest dealing."

"A business ought to be something more than a mere source of money. It ought to be a healthy profit. But it ought to show something new. The product will wear out. A business makes men as well as articles for sale."

Selfishness Caused War

Mr. Ford has hitherto unpublished ideas on what started the world war. He says certain individuals may have started it for their own personal ends. We were losing our respect for law. They are mounting big operations, but perhaps the Almighty grew tired of it and swept it all away. He remarks:

"There is a great deal of discussion in the newspapers concerning the responsibility of the war. Everybody seems to be asking who started it, and many guesses are made."

"The war began in a bad condition everywhere—condition which simply had to break because it was so bad. Individuals may have seized the occasion for their own personal ends but there was a world condition that made it possible for them."

"The world was simply festering with selfishness. Men of power regarded workmen as factory fodder. We have seen military spending reaching almost as high as never before. Well, there are men who exploit their human brothers as factory fodder to make money for themselves."

No Respect for Law

"We were all chasing the things that glitter and have no substance. Life was a mere show. We were losing what respect we had for law. Public life was debased. The needs of the party rather than the needs of the people influenced too much of our legislation."

"We were piling up mountains of munitions, great mountains of tools for man killing."

"The world might have remained healthy with one part suffering and the other part rolling in luxury."

"We thought that system which stepped on one man because he was poor and bowed before another because he was rich was going to last."

"And then it happened. It was as if the Almighty grew tired of it too and swept it all away."

"But now that peace has come again, now that our President is doing his best to set up a government of good will throughout the world, it is unbelievable that the Hun product and we go back to the conditions which made this war possible."

"We ought to double our guard against the old, dangerous things creeping back into their former places."

"It is our hope that his paper will do its part in the new work. That is the only motive we have in creating this voice. An unbiased paper is an extended voice, and if we can help, if our experience can be of service to any one, we are ready and willing to do what we can for the welfare of mankind."

Detectives' Roses

Two detectives, posing as wealthy bachelors with a penchant for beauty behind the footlights, by the liberal use of roses and after theatre suppers so gained the confidence of Madge Chamberlain, a burlesque actress, that the young woman unwittingly gave them information which enabled them to recover practically all of $136,175 worth of securities which were stolen on December 30 from McClure, Jones & Reed, brokers, of 115 Broadway, and in addition put them on the trail of Cornelius Cregan, nineteen years old, who is alleged to have stolen them.

The detectives were August Mayer and Grover Brown, both of whom for several weeks have been at the top of the list of the most successful men in New York for McClure, Jones & Reed only a few hours when securities were handed to him to deliver to the National Bank of Commerce. Cregan and the bonds were returned to the bank. His employers were astounded because the young man had worked for three years for Dominick & Dominick and bore an excellent reputation. Brown and Mayer and E. J. Mason, of a private detective agency, were assigned and soon found that the young man had recently left his home, 699 Eagle Avenue, the Bronx, and was living at a hotel near Eighth Avenue and 124th Street, where Madge Chamberlain of the Kelly Burlesque Company was registered. The detectives learned that young Cregan was desperately in love with the actress and had been maintaining a standard of living quite out of proportion to his modest salary as a messenger for a Wall Street brokerage house.

Followed Actress on Trip

The burlesque company moved to Waterbury, Conn. That evening Brown and Mayer were occupying box seats, and at the end of the show were throwing roses and kisses at the actress in profusion. Then followed supper, and finally the actress displayed that most noted of feminine failings—her inability to keep a secret. She confided that "Joe London," one of her admirers, had recently given her eleven $1,000 Liberty bonds and had promised her many more.

When the burlesque troupe moved to Paterson, N. J., with it went Brown and Mayer. Finally the actress gave a description of "Joe London." Then Brown and Mayer "broke the news" and she gave up the bonds and all the evidence she had on Cregan.

As a result of her assistance, Lester Paterson, N. J., with it went Brown and Mayer. Finally the actress gave a description of "Joe London." Then Brown and Mayer "broke the news" and she gave up the bonds and all the evidence she had on Cregan.
