John Coughlin, President of the Organization, Announced Yesterday the Union Had Taken up the "No Beer, No Work" Slogan, and Thousands of Ballots are Being Distributed to Workers for a Vote on the Walkout Question.

Washington Labor Leaders, While Inclined to Agree with Secretary Ernest Bohm, of the Central Federated Union, that the Ratification did not Reflect the View of the Majority of the Voters of the Nation, Expressed Doubt that Any Demonstration such as a Nation-wide Strike would Influence the Supreme Court to Declare the Amendment Unconstitutional.

Patrolman Frederick Graham and several aids set out in Police Launch No. 4 for the scene of the shipwreck. When the police launch drew up alongside and turned its searchlight on the French boat the latter had been jammed against the breakwater until it was careened to a dangerous angle.

It is expected some definite action will be decided upon in conjunction with other labor bodies.

Mr. Bollenbacher, secretary of the Trades Union Liberty League of Pennsylvania, conferred here yesterday with Joseph Probstle, general secretary of the Brewery Workers' Union. The Liberty League is composed of 55,000 unionized workers of Pennsylvania who have banded together to defeat the prohibitory provisions in that state.

Mr. Bollenbacher said the workmen there, almost to a man, are against prohibition, and regard the amendment as an infringement on their personal privileges. They have secured a hearing from the Pennsylvania Senate on February 14 to 18, when they will insist that beer be not considered an intoxicant.

Mr. Probstle said he is not surprised at the sentiment in favor of a walkout, although his organization is not agitating that method of action.

chauffeur, who said that while he was taking a nap in his car at Fourth Avenue and Sixtieth Street, Brooklyn, Cuthbert started the car. Besser leaped out on the running board while the car was in motion and took Cuthbert prisoner. Another man escaped. Anna Schlafer, ticket agent at the Barclay Street station of the Ninth Avenue "L," was held up by a man who thrust a revolver in at her window and demanded all the money she had, which amounted to $12.50.

Three men entered the saloon of John Stone at 590 West 160th Street. Two covered Stone and his patrons with revolvers while a third robbed the cash drawer of $70. After firing two shots all three men left in an automobile.

Two men attacked James Desnoy, a waiter, from Philadelphia, at Thirty-first Street and Second Avenue, Brooklyn, and robbed him of $25. John Jameson, steamship fireman, was robbed of $13 by two men near the Twenty-eighth Street docks.

At the hail of a sentry those on board explained their plight. He summoned a messenger, who telephoned to police headquarters for assistance. Moments later the launch began to bump against the breakwater of the island.

Efforts to start the balky engine were unsuccessful and every heave of the water bumped the boat against the French boat the latter had been jammed against the breakwater until it was careened to a dangerous angle.
