Dr. Moton, of Tuskegee, On Roosevelt Committee

Will Be Chairman of Negro Section on Invitation of Will H. Hays

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Feb. 13.—Upon invitation of Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, Dr. Robert R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee Institute, has accepted membership on the Roosevelt Permanent Memorial National Committee. Dr. Moton also becomes chairman of the negro sub-committee of the Memorial National Committee.

Other members of the national committee include members of Colonel Roosevelt's Cabinet; ex-President Taft, Charles E. Hughes, Senator Lodge, Cardinal Gibbons, President Lowell of Harvard and other representative Americans.

Dispatches state that this committee is not a partisan effort, but rather a means through which the friends of Colonel Roosevelt may in a large way evidence their appreciation of him and his service to the country.

When Representative John J. Delaney returns from Washington he will find at least fourteen additional resignations from the Brooklyn Victory Celebration Committee in the mass of unopened mail on his desk. Representative Delaney is expected back to-day.

Life of Roosevelt Exhibit Planned to Aid Americanization

Friends of Late President to Contribute Evidences of Character to Showing at Columbia University

The fourteen are: Thomas L. Leeming, president of the Brooklyn Academy of Music; ex-Senator Charles F. Murphy, who is now the Republican leader of the Tenth Assembly District; Julius B. Davenport, Brooklyn real estate man; Benjamin J. Conroy, superintendent of a Brooklyn department store; Darwin R. James, Jr., Dr. Leon Lourin, John Littleton, Charles L. Morse, George E. Henderson, Walter E. Crittenden, Oswald N. Jacoby, Harry Zira, William J. Myers and Mrs. Maude R. Mayne.

Besides protests from the scores who have declined to serve since Borough President Riegelmann accepted the resignation of Chairman Nathan S. Jonas, who defied Hearst, soldiers at home and overseas are signifying their indignation at the idea of a Hearst-controlled welcome.

The life, character and career of Theodore Roosevelt will be "held up as a symbol of the finest elements in American life" in a Roosevelt exhibit planned by Professor W. A. Braun, director of Columbia House, 419 West 117th Street, as part of Columbia University's Americanization programme, the director announced last night.

A number of public men who were close friends of Colonel Roosevelt will be on the committee in charge of the exhibit.

The family of Colonel Roosevelt gave their permission for the exhibit. The exhibit will be held in May and June of this year in Avery Library.

"It is proposed to include in the exhibit not only such objects as will illustrate intimately the life of Colonel Roosevelt," Professor Braun said, "but also material illustrating the achievements and progress of the country under his regime."

Details of the exhibit have not yet been worked out. Roosevelt admirers are asked to offer suggestions. Announcement of the project now is for the purpose of reaching those who wish to help.

"There is obviously no limit to the different kinds of exhibit material that can be made available," said Professor Braun, "and for some of the most effective and intimate material we must depend on the close friends of the Colonel."

Colonel Roosevelt's intimate and touching letters to his children, his sayings revealing his American spirit and special features that we can obtain only from friends will be shown. It is also proposed to give a series of illustrated lectures commemorating the life and activities of the Colonel.

Professor Braun said the possibility of moving the exhibit throughout the country would largely depend on the permission of the persons who loan part of the material.

The exhibit will probably not be kept open at the university after commencement day.

Columbia House, which is the university's Americanization centre, is arranging a series of conferences and discussions on Americanization as part of its work. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the university, has announced the first conference, to be held Tuesday evening, February 18, in Earl Hall. Professor Franklin H. Giddings will open the discussion with an address on "What Americanism Do We Want?" Among the speakers at subsequent conferences will be Allan Burns, director of the Carnegie Survey of Americanization; Miss Frances Alice Keller and other authorities on political, sociological, immigration and other problems.

Will People Stand Hearst, One Asks

An example of this caustic comment is the following paragraph from a letter by Lieutenant Walter F. Gips, of the 30th Machine Gun Battalion, Empire Division, writing from Blessonville, France:

"When we do get back, what an insult and disgrace it will be to have Hearst receive us. I wonder if the 100 per cent true Americans in New York will stand for Hearst's political appointment of Hearst? You have no idea how strong the feeling is among the officers and men of our division. We would welcome American to formally welcome us. We ask nothing more. Do we deserve anything less?"

Evidences were renewed yesterday that many of those who contributed to the Brooklyn welcome fund under the original management do not want a political committee to spend their money. Six contributors already have their contributions back.

Six Get Their Money Back

Mrs. Maude R. Mayne wrote yesterday to Borough President Riegelmann: "I am filled with indignation and distress when I think that a man of the character of William H. Hearst should presume to dictate to Brooklyn. I have, therefore, returned to the six donors the checks I had obtained from him."

Oswald N. Jacoby, a lawyer, whose New York office is at 140 Nassau Street, wrote:

"I should not have contributed a dollar to any committee under the control of the Mayor or Borough President. My contribution was based solely upon my confidence and reliance in Mr. Jonas, chairman of the Executive Committee. Subsequent events have demonstrated that the real power is vested in the honorary chairman, and I therefore request the return of my contribution forthwith. The same was in the form of a check on the Irving National Bank of New York for $10, payment for which has been collected by you. Failure to return this money to me immediately will lead to an action at law for its recovery."

Senate Committee To Urge Control of Packers, Says Gore

National Consumers' League Secretary Asks House Body to Approve Bill to Regulate Industry

Another Wants Money Back

William J. Myers, of 815 Putnam Avenue, Brooklyn wrote yesterday to Chairman Jonas:

"I want the money I contributed to the Brooklyn Chapter of the American Red Cross, if that is possible, but if not, I shall simply feel that the help I intended for you and the committee was diverted from the real purpose for which it was sent—the anti-Americanism of one man and the political treachery of some others."

"Oh! The shame of it!" Mr. Jonas, who is receiving many letters full of congratulation and support conferred yesterday with his brother, Ralph Jonas, who will represent him in the libel suit against William Randolph Hearst and in defending the damage suit brought by Records Commissioner Edmund O'Connor, who was ejected from the Academy of Music mass meeting for attempted disorder. Mr. Jonas intimated that he would issue a formal statement on the two cases within the next few days.

Meanwhile, the unanimous resignation of the permanent memorial committee are still pending before Borough President Riegelmann, who has "nothing to say." Brooklynites are expected to be disappointed if the committee will be continued to a splurge of welcome and have no permanent feature.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Government regulation and control of the meat industry were urged before the House Interstate Commerce Committee today by Mrs. Florence Kelley, general secretary of the National Consumers' League. She appeared after Francis J. Hiney, former counsel for the Federal Trade Commission, had finished presenting his views as to Federal regulation.

Mrs. Kelley told the committee the consumers of the country were unanimously in favor of government intervention in the packing business, and that they would not "let Congress rest" until definite action had been taken. She said that if the government would take control, prices of meat would be reduced and the poor would be able to buy it again.

Interests of the livestock producers, as well as those of the wage earners, would be safeguarded under government control, the witness asserted, and the danger of the packers gaining a monopolistic control of a large number of other food products besides meats would be removed.

Mr. Hiney, in concluding his testimony, said the extent of the activities of the five leading meat packers would prove a disadvantage to them rather than an advantage if the government would take away the special privileges they possessed. He suggested that the government take over the packers' refrigerator cars and stockyards and build cold storage plants in the large cities.

"If this would be done," he said, "the big packers would be placed on the same footing as their competitors, and their great size would no longer be of advantage to them."

Favorable report on a bill to regulate the meat industry at this session of Congress is planned by the Agriculture Committee, Chairman Gore announced to-day at the conclusion of several weeks of open hearings at which representatives of all interests testified.

Chairman Gore appointed the following to act with him as a sub-committee to consider the testimony: Senators Kenyon, of Iowa; Gronouski, of North Dakota, and Norris, of Nebraska, Republicans, and Kendrick, of Wyoming, Democrat.
