

At the CABARETS

THURSDAY night has always been our night for renouncing the world and remaining in the office to get our Sunday stuff together. But last Thursday was different, for the opening of the Little Club under the management of Gil Boag, and we had promised to attend. Having dashed off about sixteen columns between the hours of two and eleven, and having had nothing to eat but a couple of sandwiches, we were not so keen for this opening as we might have been under happier circumstances.

Almost as soon as we got inside we met "Steve" Clow and Carolyn Hart, and they asked us to have supper with them. Millions of people were being seated and millions more were being turned away. So Mr. Boag hadn't very much time to devote to us. But in spite of that we had a marvellous time. Of course "Steve" is more amusing than anybody else on earth and "Carrie" is so pretty it's a pleasure to look at her, and then we had lobster and ice cream, and altogether we quite forgot that this was our night for renouncing the world and its allies.

Everybody was there for that opening! S. Jay Kaufman sat at the table next to ours with beautiful Elise Bartlett, the Elise's mamma, who looks exactly like daughter; and Tom Olyphant was there, dancing, always dancing; and Sophie Tucker, and Grace Field, and Edna Hubbard, and Ted Lewis, and Constance Talmadge and Dick Bartholomew, any everybody else. A lot of people performed, gracefully, including Elizabeth Brice and the little girl who does a toe dance to the Allies' national airs, but it was so crowded we couldn't see anything, which is, of course, as it should be. We should say that, by and large, it was a grand and glorious opening.

Mercedes Lorenz, Dan Healy and Maude Drury have left the cast of "Atchafey," the Gus Edwards musical comedy at the Martinique. They are going to a Broadway summer show. Charles O'Connor will take Mr. Healy's place, but Miss Lorenz's successor has not yet been announced.

Of course, it isn't any of our business, but we should like to know when Ted Lewis and Jack Lanagan and Gil Boag and Irving, the head page boy at the Palais Royal, sleep. The last thing at night you will see them in the Bal Tabarin or the Moulin Rouge or the Club de Montmartre, and Inn, at Lynbrook. Just ask for "Henri." Yes, the same as on Forty-fourth Street.

If we were an entertainer (oh, yes, we know, but we mean cabaret entertainer), we should desert in a body and go to work for Thomas Healy so that we could be on ice for the heated spell, "i. e., summer." We should even prefer being in the "Blossom Festival," at Sixty-sixth Street, to being up at the May-November Farm in Westchester County. As Harry Fox used to say, "I love it, but it's too far from the automat."

On Tuesday, the 27th, the Blossom Heath Inn will celebrate its fourth anniversary at Lynbrook, L. I. A gala evening has been arranged by Dave Weiss, the manager.

William H. Turner, erstwhile assistant manager of Claridge's, now will manage the hotel all alone, because Hamilton Burney has gone to manage the Grand Union Hotel at Saratoga Springs.

Emily Illingworth, hostess in the Waldorf Grill, is planning the entertainment for the opening of the roof, which will be in a couple of weeks. The McAlpin roof will open at the same time.

No "For Rent" Signs Are Seen This Year Near Southampton

SOUTHAMPTON, Long Island, May 17.—All signs point to the most successful season Southampton has seen for many years. There is not a house left to rent and the real estate men in this locality are turning away applicants every week. As proof that the season will start early, the National and Shinnecock golf clubs are already open, also the Meadow Club and the Irving House. The Southampton Club will open for the season on Decoration Day. It is expected that the week-end tournaments will be resumed at the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, and plans are under way for the annual invitation tennis tournament at the Meadow Club for the month of August.

Among those who have opened their cottages are Mrs. Thomas H. Barber, Mrs. Alexander L. Morton, Mrs. Marshall Russell, Mr. Samuel L. Parrish, Mrs. Lucien H. Tyng, Mrs. Stewart Davis and Miss Mary Kibborth.

Mrs. Charles H. Sabn has opened her villa at Bayberry Lane. She will be here for the season Memorial Day.

Mrs. T. A. Howell is also spending the week-ends at their summer home on Ram's Island, which they will occupy the early part of June.

Mrs. Clarence Dillon, who spends most of the winter at Washington, has leased from A. H. Ball his Meadow View cottage at Water Mill.

Mrs. Thomas E. McLean, a daughter of Bishop Greer, will spend the summer at Water Mills, and Mrs. E. Ashton de Feyster, who has for the last two seasons been a member of the cottage colony, will arrive for the season June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Townsend arrived at Hopland for the season on Friday, and Mrs. B. A. Sands, who has taken the Pierson cottage on South Main Street, is expected early the coming week.

Indianapolis Plans To Welcome Shriners

INDIANAPOLIS, May 17.—Plans are being completed for the big Victory Jubilee of the Shriners which will be held here June 10 to 12, and which is expected to be attended by 60,000 delegates from the 147 temples in North America.

More than $100,000 will be spent in decorations and entertainment. All the customary round of pleasure, discontinued during the war, will be resumed at this annual gathering.

According to advance notices to Elias J. Jacoby, imperial potentate, many temples will send uniformed patrol companies, bands and drum corps. Lulu Temple of Philadelphia will send its band of 100 pieces, its uniformed patrol with sixty mounts, and a delegation of 1,000. Other big delegations will come from New Orleans, Portland, Ore., Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Denver.

Four miles of downtown streets here will be gayly decorated, and a piece of the decoration being 100,000 feet of electric festooning.

Already a lively contest has started for next year's meeting. New Orleans and Portland, Ore., have made bids of $100,000 each for the privilege of entertaining next year. It has been estimated that the delegations spend more than a million dollars at an annual gathering.

NEWS FROM THE LEADING RESORTS

Resort Season Starts Early; Hotels Filled

Crowded Condition in Shore and Mountain Ahead of Usual Vacation Period

Canada Attracting Many Newport and Southampton Cottages Being Opened by New York's Society

Never before have so many of the large hotels and clubs at the summer resorts opened so early in the season as is the case this year. Decoration Day usually marks the beginning of activities at the resorts, and it is the middle of June before they really get under way. This year, due partly to the overcrowded condition of the cities and the consequent difficulty in finding accommodations, also to the ending of the war, there has been a rush for the country and fashionable resorts.

Many prominent families already have taken possession of their places at Newport and Southampton, and along the Jersey coast the cottagers are arriving in numbers each week and many of the hotels are running. Reservations are heavy and no doubt the season at the resorts is well advanced.

Some of the well known people who have made reservations at the Monterey include Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Francis, of Lancaster, Penn.; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Boyer, of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Deroum, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Soliday, of Trenton; ex-Governor Lon V. Stephens, of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Thompson, of Stamford, Conn.; also Mrs. Matilda Appleget, Miss Dorothy Appleget, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dow, Mrs. W. H. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Jones, Miss Dorothy Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John G. McCord, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barnes, of Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lawrence, of Brookline, Mass.

Friends of Sir Henry Thornton, a former resident of Garden City, who was knighted for his remarkable work in the movement of British troops during the war, are discussing giving a dinner to him at the Garden City Hotel before his return to England. A similar affair was given for him some years ago when the former superintendent of the Long Island Railroad left here to resume his new duties abroad. This dinner was one of the most notable that has ever been given at the Garden City Hotel. Sir Henry was the guest at Garden City of the Long Island Railroad, the president of the Long Island Railroad, A. G. Gray, of Long Island, who is visiting this country with Sir Henry Thornton, has been stopping at the Garden City Hotel.

The dinner dances that are being held at the Cherry Valley Club at Garden City are proving of much interest and are being well attended by the members of the prominent colony here and by many of their friends, who come out from Long Island for the affair.

Arrivals at the Garden City Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gowan, Lieutenant G. S. Hayward, Lieutenant W. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Newcombe, Mrs. Clinton Backus, J. M. Fallon, J. H. Cowperthwait, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. De Lany, Mrs. Albert A. Brooke, Captain and Mrs. Henry M. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Kildie, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. McLain, Lieutenant G. M. Barr, Captain and Mrs. R. L. Tynes, Captain R. M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Toll, Sir Edward and Lady Murray, Mrs. Isabel Putnam, Carlton Putnam, Eunice Putnam and Miss Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Grant La Farge, of New York, visited Saunderstown, R. I., recently, where they have a summer home.

Daily Train Service To White Mountains Promised New Yorkers

WHITE MOUNTAINS, N. H., May 17.—The White Mountains of New Hampshire, with its wonderful camps for boys and girls and grown-ups, its aluring trout streams and lakes, its splendid golf links, are even now attracting many visitors. From the middle of June, the larger hotels will throw open their doors in anticipation of the greatest season ever known.

No part of this country has more delightfully smooth roads for motoring and from all parts of the country, there arrive, over the Mohawk Trail or the Ideal Tour or some of the other great motor ways, thousands of tourists.

There are splendid golf courses at all the larger resorts, with tournaments, a trail shooting tournament at Mt. Maplewood to open the season over the Fourth, east side and west side tennis championships at Jackson and the Crawford North Lawn Tennis Club, and any number of events planned for the entertainment of the guests of each resort.

It is good to know that the restrictions upon railway travel will have been removed and that the daily train service from New York to the White Mountains, promised to be renewed again this season, when it is also expected that the service to the summit of Mount Washington will be resumed after last year's cessation. The visitors will find about every variety of amusement and every sort of accommodation from the great Mount Washington Hotel to the modest farmhouse or attractive summer camp.

Narragansett Pier Summer Homes Are Being Opened Early

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., May 17.—Edward Welsh and John Welsh, of Philadelphia, who visited Narragansett recently, plan to return later and will spend the season at their country place, "Shadow Farm," at Wakefield, R. I.

Mrs. Rowland G. Hazard has returned to Holly House, Pecosades, R. I., for the summer.

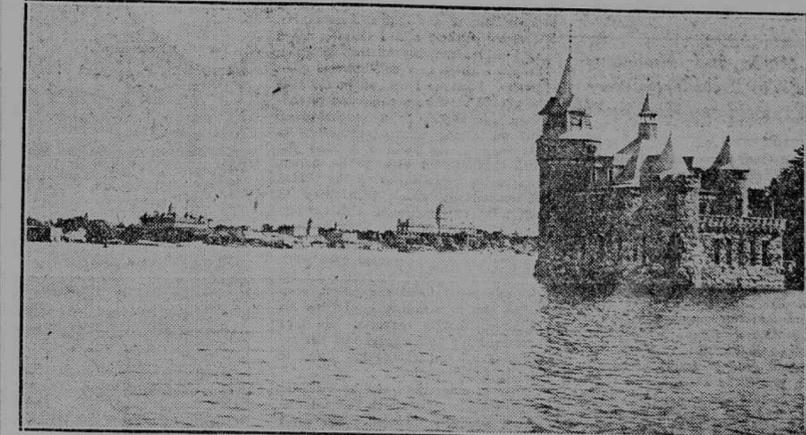

Mr. and Mrs. William Penn Mather have returned from the South and are occupying their cottage on the Boston Neck Road.

Mrs. Alexander J. Cassatt, of Philadelphia, will join the cottage colony here this season.

Frank, Captain and Mrs. John R. Fell, of Philadelphia, will occupy their Ocean Road cottage, Wildfield Lodge, early this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Grant La Farge, of New York, visited Saunderstown, R. I., recently, where they have a summer home.

Asbury Park Plans Special Attractions For Summer Visitors

ASBURY PARK, N. J., May 17.—Mayor C. E. P. Hetrick, of Asbury Park, at a spirited election here Tuesday, was reelected for another four years, being high man among the five new commissioners chosen. The others who will go into office with him next week are George W. Pittenger, Dr. Hugh S. Kimmoth, Thomas H. Pratt and T. J. Winkler. Mr. Hetrick and Mr. Pittenger succeeded themselves.

Sherman Dennis, manager of the New Monterey, who recently returned from Florida, has inaugurated several changes at the hotel. One will be the Monterey grill, with music and dancing, and afternoon tea as a daily affair.

Some of the well known people who have made reservations at the Monterey include Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Francis, of Lancaster, Penn.; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Boyer, of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Deroum, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Soliday, of Trenton; ex-Governor Lon V. Stephens, of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Garden City Will Be Host to Episcopalians At Golden Jubilee

GARDEN CITY, L. I., May 17.—In addition to the many golfers and touring parties who will be in this section next week there will be several hundred clergymen and laymen representing every section of Brooklyn and Long Island, who will be here for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Long Island Episcopal Diocese, to be held on Tuesday and Wednesday in the Cathedral of the Incarnation at Garden City. Each day of the convention there will be a luncheon for the clergymen and visitors at the Garden City Hotel, 600 or more will attend.

Friends of Sir Henry Thornton, a former resident of Garden City, who was knighted for his remarkable work in the movement of British troops during the war, are discussing giving a dinner to him at the Garden City Hotel before his return to England. Many New Yorkers Prolong Season at White Sulphur Springs

The Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 17.—Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, Mrs. Henry Clews and Miss Maudie Macarow of New York are at the Greenbrier.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. White and Edward E. White, Jr., of Glen White, Va., who are at the Greenbrier, are entertaining Edward T. Stotesbury and party over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery Flagz and Mrs. Rupert Hughes of Mt. Kisco arrived at the Greenbrier Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scribner, of Morristown, N. J., are at the Greenbrier. Mr. and Mrs. Cortland S. Van Kessel, of New York, are spending some weeks here.

David R. Francis, Ambassador to Russia, left this week much improved in health after a nine weeks' stay at the Greenbrier.

Frank J. Gosdold, of Paris, has a house party at one of the Greenbrier cottages, his guests including Captain Everett Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Zimmerman and A. Ramsay. The party launched at Elmhurst Farm, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meigs and William T. Allen, of New York, arrived at the Greenbrier Saturday for a short stay.

Governor R. Livingston Beekman, of Rhode Island, is spending some time here. With him for luncheon nearly every day are Major and Mrs. Henry La Montagne, of New York, who have a cottage for the spring season, and William I. Carter, of Philadelphia, who is spending the spring here.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble R. Judah, of Chicago, who were for some time in New York, at the Ritz-Carlton, are now at the Greenbrier, where they spent their honeymoon in 1917.

Horatio Nelson Slater and H. Carey Morgan, of New York, are at the Greenbrier.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Gilroy, Jr., of New York, have come to spend some time at the Greenbrier.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Bell, of New York, motored here for the day from Hot Springs on Tuesday, accompanied by Lawrence Hitchcock, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Edward Van Ingen and Miss Katharine Van Ingen, who spent a month here, have returned to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin and Miss Hope Iselin and W. O. D. Iselin, who spent some time at the Greenbrier, have returned to New York.

Sea Rescues To Be Tried by Planes Atlantic City Meet

Jersey Shore Resort to See First Attempt to Use Air-craft as Beach Guards—Season in Full Swing

ATLANTIC CITY, May 17.—Thrilling rescue from seaplanes will be among the new and novel stunts performed here next week during the tests to be made of the first squad of lifeguards gottag ready for duty on Memorial Day. Members of the beach lifeguards force will act as "victims" of the surf, while expert flying men of the Aero-nautical Congress now in session here will attempt to drop into the rollers outside the breaker line and pick up the men from the sea. So far city officials are skeptical over the abilities of the planes to perform practical rescue work, but it may be that volunteers in airplanes will be used to soar over the thousands of mid-summer bathers and keep watch for accidents.

Golfers played a return date at Northfield to-day when the finalists of the annual spring tourney met to decide the matches which were postponed last Saturday because of the northeast storm. Most of the contestants who reached the semi-final brackets are from the Philadelphia district or home players, so that there is not expected to be many defaults in the field. A handicap medal play match was arranged for the benefit of golfers who wished to play, rather than to follow the players in the big matches of the day.

Glenn Curtis led the new squad of official experts who came to the Tray, more during the week, and there is much interest in the announcement of arriving British officials who believe that the first attempt to cross from England will be made at Northfield.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw is among the women here for the meeting of the New Jersey State Suffrage Convention, which is being held at the Tray.

North Jersey and New York. An elaborate programme is being arranged for the meeting of the National Conference on Social Work, which opens here on June 1, and which will have Government, most of the states of the Union as guests. The American Federation of Labor, the American Medical Association, the American Car Builders and the Grand Lodge of Elks are on the convention programme for the coming weeks.

Mrs. Arthur Mace and Miss Gladys Mace have arrived at the Tray from New York, where Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich also are staying.

Mrs. Sophie Kerr Underwood came from her home in Newark to the Tray, and Master Victor Hugo are at the St. Charles, Wood, of New York, are also there. Mrs. J. J. De Long is entertaining Mrs. Wilson Smith at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tierney, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hammond of Monticello, arrived at the St. Charles early in the week. Mrs. Valeria Hugo and Master Victor Hugo are at the St. Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Simpson, of Brooklyn, are at the Alamo. Mrs. B. R. Rose, of Montclair, is at the Tray, with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hammond.

Mrs. E. C. Logan has Mrs. M. P. King, of New Canaan, Conn., as her guest at the Seaside. Mrs. J. E. Jenkins arrived at the Strand with Miss Jean Van Vleck, of Brooklyn.
