31 Governors Asked to Join Suffrage Move

Concerted Action to Avoid Futile Extra Sessions Urged in Invitation by the Indiana Executive

Only 22 Calls Necessary

Mrs. Catt Approves Plan to Obtain Ratification in Time for the 1920 Poll

INDIANAPOLIS, June 13.—Governor Goodrich to-day sent out telegrams to governors of thirty-one states in which regular sessions of legislatures will not be held until after the Presidential election of 1920, asking them whether they are willing to join Indiana in a concerted national action to hold special sessions of legislatures to effect the ratification before 1920 of the woman suffrage federal amendment.

On the day that the national suffrage amendment passed, Governor Goodrich suggested to Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, that it might be possible to obtain the ratification of the amendment before the next Presidential election.

The Governor outlined to her his plan of attempting to obtain from the governors of the states whose legislatures are not in session or will not be before 1921, an agreement to call their legislatures. He pointed out that in this way it was possible to avoid calling special sessions that would be fruitless because the constitutional number of ratifications could not be obtained.

Governor Goodrich to-day received a telegram from Mrs. Catt approving the plan as "an excellent step," and stating that it would give "tremendous impetus to quick ratification."

On receipt of Mrs. Catt's telegram, Governor Goodrich at once sent the following message to the governors: "The question of the ratification of the woman's suffrage amendment to the Constitution is now before the various states. The sentiment in Indiana is decidedly for ratification. Before deciding the advisability of calling the Indiana Legislature I am anxious to get the sentiment of the other states whose legislatures do not meet in ordinary session this year."

"What is the sentiment of your state? Are you not willing to call a special session of your general assembly in the event that enough other states decide to take the same action to insure the ratification of the amendment early in 1920? I will appreciate your reply to this, and if you desire your answer to be treated as confidential, it will be so held."

Expect Unanimous N. Y. Suffrage Vote

Women Seek Party Caucus Action by Republicans, as the Democrats Are Now Lined Up

The Republican members of the Legislature are likely to make the vote for the ratification of woman suffrage unanimous. A movement backed by prominent Republican women is under way to get J. Henry Walters, leader of the Senate and Speaker Sweet, of the Assembly, to assent to making the ratification a party matter.

If the leaders think well of the proposition it is understood that Mrs. Ida B. Sammis, of Huntington, the only Republican woman in the Assembly, will have the honor of offering the resolution for ratification.

Error Gives Wisconsin First Suffrage Honor

Typographical Slip Makes It Necessary for Illinois to Ratify All Over Again

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 12.—Wisconsin, not Illinois, was the first state to ratify the Susan B. Anthony equal suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution, despite the fact Illinois claimed the honor Tuesday when that state ratified. The Illinois Legislature convened earlier than the Wisconsin Legislature and was about one hour ahead of the Badger lawmaking body.

Your Town

THE "lower level" of the Manhattan terminal of Brooklyn Bridge is to have a new cigar stand, a orange drink oasis or some such refreshment source. A huge sign, displayed at the head of the stairs leading up to the level, announces that bids will be received by the Commissioner on Plants and Structures on June 19 for the stand privileges.

The lower level of the terminal is the first reached by the passengers of the Brooklyn and Manhattan elevated lines with Brooklyn Bridge as their terminus. It has not previously been used as a source of revenue to the city, except by two small stands under the steps leading up to the trains.

In approving the equal suffrage amendment, but Illinois was in so much of a hurry it made a mistake and the job had to be done all over again, which gave first place to Wisconsin.

A typographical error in the wording of the Illinois certified copy robbed it of the honor of being the first to ratify. The mistake was discovered in the phrase, "which shall be valid for all events and purposes." Events, rarely have been "intents." Wisconsin, rarely careless in matters of legislation, made no mistake.

Former State Senator D. C. James, of Richmond Center, who for many years has championed the cause of equal suffrage, was instantly hurried East to file the Wisconsin ratification. Illinois admitted its error in a statement this afternoon from Springfield, in which it was stated that the Illinois General Assembly would go through the formality of again passing the Federal amendment in corrected form.

This is to be done at the request of Mrs. George Wilbur Trout, president of the Illinois Woman Suffrage Association, and Mrs. J. W. McGraw, chairman of its legislative committee. Governor Lowden and Speaker Shanahan of the Illinois House maintain, however, that the resolution was acted upon legally, and the form in which it appears in their records was the same as that sent out by the Department of State.

Smith Wants Session Limited to Suffrage

Governor Says Call Will Not Include Other Matters Unless Shown To Be Necessary

ALBANY, June 13.—Only the woman's suffrage amendment will be taken up by the next session of the Legislature, which convenes Monday night, unless Governor Smith is persuaded it is vitally necessary. The Governor made this statement this afternoon after receiving two requests that other matters be considered. One was from Amy Wren, representing the women employees of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, that the session reconsider the Lockwood transportation law, which resulted in the throwing out of work of hundreds of New York City women railway employees.

The other was from Nathan Hirsch, of the Mayor's committee on rent profiteering, asking that the housing and high rent situations be taken up. Governor Smith said he had not yet received an answer from Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon concerning street railway fares. It was thought that Mr. Nixon might ask him to submit this question to the extra session, as a result of Mr. Nixon's statement that something should be done to prevent further traction receiverships by permitting an adjustment of fares.

"My attitude," said the Governor, "is that the people who are asking that these subjects be put up to the Legislature have got to let me know just what they expect the Legislature can do and the necessity for it. I have directed that a reply to that effect be sent to Mr. Hirsch. I see no necessity to submitting any of these subjects to the Legislature. I do not intend to bring about a situation where the Legislature will have to be kept here all summer."

"While I have not changed my determination to limit the session to the suffrage amendment, I am not going to put my back against the wall and assume an arbitrary attitude. If any of the committee's dealing with public problems show me a sensible and workable plan."

No Action on Suffrage in New Jersey Until January

TRENTON, N. J., June 13.—There will be no special session of the Legislature to consider the Federal suffrage amendment, Governor Kean has announced, between now and January 1, when the Legislature meets regularly. He says two-thirds of the States will not have acted on the amendment and nothing will be lost by New Jersey's waiting for the regular session to act.

Many New York Churches To Observe Peace Sunday

Special Sermons To-morrow To Be Dedicated to International Amity

Many New York churches will unite to-morrow in the observance of Peace Sunday, with special sermons and prayers dedicated to the peace.

Special services have been arranged at the suggestion of the church committee of the New York Conference of the League to Enforce Peace, which met on May 29 at the rectory of St. Patrick's Cathedral. Monsignor Lavette is chairman of the church committee, representing the Roman Catholic Church. The secretary is Dr. Junius B. Remensnyder, of the St. James Lutheran Church, and other members of the committee are Cornelius Woolfkin, Fifth Avenue Baptist Church; William P. Morrill, Brick Presbyterian Church; D. J. Burrill, Marble Collegiate Reformed Church; Frank Oliver Hall, Universalist Church of Divine Humanity; Luther B. Wilson, resident bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church; Dr. Percy Gordon, assistant rector, St. Bartholomew's; Dr. C. E. Jefferson, Broadway Tabernacle (Congregational); Dr. J. R. Stratton, Baptist, and Rabbi M. H. Harris.

"The subject of the league of nations itself may be regarded as too political for discussion in the pulpits of the city," said Dr. Remensnyder last night, "and therefore our request was that ministers should consider the general topic of international peace, endeavoring to lead their congregations in the general cultivation of the international mind, which appreciates all nations and refrains from narrow provincialism, to the end that we may establish real understanding between nations and avoid future wars."

12 French War Orphans Are To Be Educated Here

Morgan, Mackay and Magee Will Give Youths Chance to Learn of American Business During Stay

Twelve boys from the Château Chavania, the birthplace of Lafayette, which has been turned into an American orphanage and school, will come to the United States this summer for a scientific education. The plan of the French Heroes' Lafayette Memorial Fund, which as the orphanage in charge, is to strengthen the friendship between France and the United States by giving numbers of French boys a thorough American education. Upon them will fall the task of helping rebuild France.

The first twelve have been selected from the French army, boys who threw down their books when the war began and are now returning to the classroom covered with medals and scars of war and eager to complete their education.

Their expenses here will be paid by a number of colleges and business men, among whom are J. P. Morgan, Clarence Mackay and John Magee. Opportunities will be given in the office of these men to become familiar with American business methods.

This was the news brought to subscribers of the French Heroes' Lafayette Memorial Fund by the only woman chauffeur attached to the French army and who is now chauffeur, teacher and nurse for the Chavania institution, Miss Clara Greenleaf Perry, of Boston, who has returned from France.

She spoke enthusiastically of the gratitude of the French people. "Don't believe all the stories you hear about the French not treating the Americans well," she said. "The French were just about ready to give up the war when they heard that we had come in to help. Let me tell you about our July 14 last year; that will show you how the French feel."

"We were so crowded at Chavania with refugee children who had been sent away from Paris to avoid air raids we had scarcely enough food to keep the orphanage open. We appealed to the American army authorities at Toul for an automobile to transport provisions. They gave us an old salvaged car, and a group of the boys—O. H. the American boys were perfectly splendid—volunteered to come and dig some water trenches for us and put the chateau in repair. Many of the natives had not even seen Americans, so we went word were 'at home' July 14, from 5 to 7.

People trooped to see the American soldiers—old people and babies, in carts and on foot, from miles around. They brought baskets and made a three days' festival. They wouldn't leave the soldiers a minute. They peeked under the fence when we bathed the children in our courtyard streets, pelting them with flowers. The American fête will live for generations in the legends of Avigne."

"Public health and general living conditions are bad in all departments of rural France," Miss Perry said, and it would be necessary for Americans to send aid a long time.

A similar school for British war orphans has been organized recently by the Lafayette fund at Selgrave Manor, the ancestral home of George Washington in England.

Andrew Carnegie Catches 50 Perch

LENOX, Mass., June 13.—Andrew Carnegie began his annual fishing at Lake Mahineac this afternoon. He had been told there were yellow perch to be taken from the fishing banks, and he started at 3 o'clock on his electric launch. For two hours he kept attendants busy baiting his hook and taking perch from his lines.

He caught fifty good size perch, enough for all of his household at supper to-night. He says the perch were the best he has had on the lake. Before he went to New York last fall Mr. Carnegie gave a fund for stocking the lake with small unobnoxious bass, rainbow trout, pike and yellow perch.

Sons of Revolution To Honor Roosevelt

Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and his brother, Captain Kermit, will be among 200 young veterans of the world war to whom the Sons of Revolution, Sons of the American Republic, will present to-day medals commemorative of their service. Both the colonel and his brother are members of the society.

The ceremonies will be held in the Board of Estimate Chamber in City Hall at 2 p. m. The families of those members who died in service will receive the medals struck in their name. The presentation of the service medals will be a part of the ceremonies arranged by the society for its annual Flag Day celebration.

Give a Thought—To Fifth Avenue

THE Victory Arch at Twenty-third Street and Fifth Avenue is giving the business men along the avenue considerable thought. They would not like to see it removed from its present position because of the amount attached to it, but they fear the arch is not constructed firmly enough and of material durable enough to make it safe. Some of them, therefore, advocate its eventual removal. Among these are many members of the Fifth Avenue Association, whose secretary, Robert Grier Cooke, said yesterday:

"I believe many people are opposed to the Victory Arch remaining permanently in its present place, because it occupies too much of the avenue, spoils the perspective and obstructs traffic. The arch is dangerous. Although a very beautiful structure from the artistic point of view, it is built of poor material and parts of it have been blown about by the wind, which is particularly strong at that point because of the open space provided by Madison Square, as to make the structure dangerous. The business men along Fifth Avenue are decidedly opposed to the idea that the arch remain where it is permanently. I understand that Major General O'Ryan, speaking in the name of the men of his division recently, expressed the same sentiment."

American Artists Engaged for Next Metropolitan Season

All Principals of Last Year Re-employed, Says Manager Gatti-Casazza on Eve of Departure for Italy

Gulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, issued yesterday, on the eve of his departure for Italy, a statement outlining his plans for next season and announcing the engagement of a number of new artists, including nine Americans.

Caruso, he said, had extended his contract for four years more. Geraldine Farrar will have the title rôle in "Zaza," a Leoncavallo novelty, based on the play of that name. "Parsifal," an English version by H. E. Krehbiel, of The Tribune, will be restored to the repertory, and there will be an American opera by Henry K. Hadley and Alice Neal Pollack.

All the principal artists of last season have been reengaged. The new engagements announced include those of Orville Harrold, tenor; Misses Evelyn Scotney, Gladys Axman, Ellen Dolson, Margaret Farnam, Edna Kellogg and Adeline Vassari, sopranos, and Misses Jeanne Gordon, Frances Ingram and Carolina Lazzari, contraltos.

Among the foreign artists engaged are Gabriella Benazzoni, contralto, of the Costanzi Opera of Rome and the Opera of Buenos Ayres; Mme. Louise Berat, contralto, formerly of the Paris Opera Comique; Renato Scaneli, baritone of the Santiago Opera; Giovanni Martino, basso, formerly of the Scala of Milan and Octave Duva, tenor buffo, formerly of the Covent Garden.

If she comes to America next season, Mme. Emma Destinova will also appear again.

Mr. Gatti-Casazza, who has not been in his native country since 1915, sailed at noon to-day on the Duca D'Aosta. He expects to return early in September. After expressing appreciation of last season's patronage, he said the outlook indicated a subscription for next season exceeding anything in the history of the Metropolitan.

The Hadley-Pollack work is "A Night of Cleopatra," based on a Theophile Gautier story. Maeterlinck's "L'oiseau Bleu" also will be presented in operatic form here for the first time on any stage. Albert Wolff, of the Opéra Comique, who composed the music, will succeed Pierre Monteux as a Metropolitan conductor. "La Juiva," with Caruso in the chief tenor rôle, will be among the revivals.

Paquale Amato, now restored to health, will resume his place in the company next season.

Bay State Assembly Asked For Inquiry Into High Prices

BOSTON, June 13.—Governor Coolidge to-day recommended in a special message to the Senate the appointment of a commission to "ascertain whether prices in general are fair and reasonable."

"Government fails as an administrator of justice if it permits to go unheeded an exorbitant charge on the republic," the message said.

Cardinal Mercier To Be Guest of K. of C. Here Belgian Prelate Will Be Escorted to America by W. J. Mulligan, Head of War Workers

William J. Mulligan, chairman of the Knights of Columbus committee on war activities, will sail for Europe to-day on the Mauretania with the expectation of returning in the autumn with Cardinal Mercier, the Belgian prelate, as the guest of the organization in this country. Mr. Mulligan, on a previous visit to Belgium, obtained the Cardinal's promise to visit the United States.

From England Mr. Mulligan will go to France, where he will resume direction of the Knights of Columbus work among the men of the American Expeditionary Forces.

"We will be all our work," said Mr. Mulligan, "until the last man has embarked for home."

There are still about 400 Knights of Columbus workers on duty with the army of occupation in Germany.
