

Board to Fix Milk Price Is Battle's Plan

Creation of State Commission With Wide Powers Recommended to Governor After Inquiry by Lawyer

Would End Farm Council Separate Agriculture Department Favored; Elaborate Charges in Report

ALBANY, Dec. 14.—Creation of a state milk commission with power to regulate the milk supply of the state and determine fair prices for the producer of milk and the consumer, according to the Legislature of the Council of Agriculture and Markets and Commissioner Eugene H. Porter of the Division of Foods and Markets and Commissioner Charles S. Wilson of the Division of Agriculture, as the chief recommendation in a final report of Commissioner George Gordon Battle to Governor Smith, which was made public today.

Mr. Battle finds that the Department of Agriculture is not a workable plan for the enforcement of the agricultural and food laws that it was sought to bring together under the jurisdiction of the department. He reports that the department has failed to carry out its duties and that the council has passed a law regarding an accelerating force.

He recommends that a separate Department of Agriculture be again created, a separate department to be known as that of Markets and Storage, the former to be identified more intimately with the states agricultural interests and the latter with those of the consumer.

Wide Powers Over Milk Neither of these departments would have any control over the production, distribution or sale of milk throughout the state in Mr. Battle's plan of a State Milk Commission. This commission, he proposes, should consist of at least three paid commissioners appointed by the Governor for five years and removable on charges.

Mr. Battle enlarges on the charges against Dr. Porter set forth in his report. He says that the department of Agriculture is not a workable plan for the enforcement of the agricultural and food laws that it was sought to bring together under the jurisdiction of the department. He reports that the department has failed to carry out its duties and that the council has passed a law regarding an accelerating force.

Seven Boys Hurt And Window Broken By Runaway Auto Would-Be Thief Finds the Steering Gear Locked and Leaves Speeding Car to Its Fate, Police Assert

A small commercial automobile, abandoned by a would-be thief when he found the steering gear locked, ran driverless for four blocks on Thompson Street last evening, knocking down and injuring seven boys, four of them severely, and coming to a halt only when it crashed into a show window at the corner of West Houston Street.

Peter Coughlan, of 1801 Anthony Avenue, the Bronx, left the car in front of 58 Thompson Street, where he was visiting. He locked the steering gear with the key and, shortly afterward, the police say, a man who entered the automobile was seen to leap from it after he had driven it only a few yards.

William Jones Salomon, international banker, died yesterday at his home, 1020 Fifth Avenue. Mr. Salomon was sixty-six years old, had been under the care of a physician since his return from Europe a month ago. He apparently was on the road to recovery, however, and his demise, due to a heart attack, was a surprise.

Mr. Salomon headed the banking house of William Salomon & Co., 25 Broad Street, which he founded in 1902. The year before he had resigned from the directorate of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, a place he assumed in 1889. He was generally credited with having been largely responsible for the present prosperous state of the Baltimore & Ohio.

His initial business experience was obtained in the banking firm of Speyer & Co., which he entered when a young man. He was sent to Frankfurt-am-Main by Speyer & Co. to serve in its branch there, but the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian War compelled him to go to London until after the end of hostilities. Upon returning to America he specialized in railroad finances and fitted himself for the opportunity which came when the Baltimore & Ohio found need for such a man.

Mr. Salomon was a Democrat, although he bolted in 1896, being an adherent of the gold standard. His opinions on that subject led him to oppose the Presidential ambitions of David B. Hill in 1892. Mr. Salomon was then chairman of the finance committee of the New York City Democracy.

He was born in Mobile, Ala. A widow, Mrs. Helen Forbes Salomon, and a stepson, Charles McK. Lewis, survive. Mr. Salomon was a liberal contributor to the Educational Alliance and to other objects of worthy philanthropy.

Fernand Monier Dies Former President of Paris Court of Appeals Succumbs

PARIS, Dec. 14.—Fernand Monier, former president of the Court of Appeals of Paris, died today.

M. Monier was condemned by the Court of Cassation, sitting as a disciplinary court in November, 1917, to the maximum penalty for misuse of office. The penalty was dismissal. His trial was a result of an order by the Minister of Justice, and Monier's association with Bela Puskar was said to have been the cause.

M. Monier was born at Sartres, France, sixty years ago. He was an officer of the Legion of Honor and held other honors. He held many positions in the provinces before becoming associated with the Paris Court of Appeals.
