Navy Club House Campaign in Need of More Funds

The Navy Club, 13 and 15 East Forty-first Street, still needs funds. If the ideas of prominent men and women who were associated with the navy and the needs of the sailor during the war are to be carried out and the "gobs" are to be furnished with a permanent home in the city, where they may spend their shore leaves under beneficial conditions, the campaign recently started to raise funds sufficient to buy a clubhouse for sailors and marines in East Forty-first Street must receive more attention from the public, those most active in the movement say.
