

Lloyd George Defends Turk Peace Terms

Replying to Asquith, He Declares Delay Was Due to U. S. Hesitation Over Accepting a Mandate Gives Advice to Armenia

Says It Is Time She Defended Herself; She Could Raise Army of 40,000

LONDON, March 25.—Replying to criticism of the government's foreign policy by Herbert H. Asquith, member of the House for Paisley, Premier Lloyd George this afternoon gave a detailed explanation of the Turkish settlement.

The Premier said it would have been a blunder to have settled the Turkish problem without giving the United States the most ample opportunity to decide whether it would accept a mandate, because it would have given rise to suspicions that Great Britain and France were taking advantage of the political dissensions in the United States to divide the whole of Turkey between themselves.

"It was only when America definitely refused the mandate that we proceeded without her," Mr. Lloyd George declared.

Can't Send Army to Armenia The Premier said the proposal to send the Sultan had been rejected as inadequate, because it left the question of the government of Constantinople undecided, and the Allies were anxious to avoid the expense and responsibility of the administration of Constantinople.

With regard to Armenia, the Premier continued, France would have been willing to hand Cilicia to the United States if the latter had accepted the mandate.

Up to the present we have received only requests from America to assume responsibility, Mr. Lloyd George said. "We hope France will undertake the responsibility, but it is much to ask, considering all the burdens France already has."

The Premier contended that it was impossible for England to send armies to keep order in Armenia and Asia Minor. England would be her utmost to exert pressure on Constantinople to refer to the treatment for Christians, he asserted, but was unable to accept a wider responsibility.

Would Help Armenia to Arm The Armenians are an exceptionally intelligent people and must begin to depend on themselves for the protection of their independence, Mr. Lloyd George said, adding that he understood they could easily raise an army of 40,000 men.

Great Britain would be willing to supply equipment and officers for their training. If that were done they could defend themselves against the Turks, the Premier declared.

Central Europe, Mr. Lloyd George said: "If Germany would perform her part of the treaty by volunteering to state what amount of reparations she is able to pay, and if she can prove the impossibility of paying unless she first secures raw materials, I do not believe either Belgium or France will stand in the way of her obtaining the necessary credits. But there must be a definite indication that she intends to discharge her liabilities."

Man Perishes Near Mills When firemen had extinguished the flames in the rear part of a three-story brick building at 32 Hamilton street yesterday morning they found the charred body of a man identified by the police as Joseph Guarino, thirty-six years old, of 28 Hamilton street, lying near two stills and fifty-seven barrels of mash, on the third floor.

Joseph Guarino, the dead man's brother and owner of the building, was arrested on a charge of violating the prohibition law. After being questioned by Assistant United States Attorney Robert A. Peattie, he was released to attend to his brother's funeral and instructed to appear Tuesday at the Federal Building for examination.

"Dry" Slayer Will Face Trial in Federal Court

Writ of Habeas Corpus Causa Takes McMullin Case From State's Hands The trial of Stewart N. McMullin, revenue agent indicted on March 15 for killing Harry Carlton, a chauffeur, while making a raid, was transferred yesterday from the state court to the United States District Court. The transfer was accomplished through the issuance by Judge Learned Hand of a writ of habeas corpus causa, believed to be the first of its kind ever granted in this district, on a petition of McMullin, who asked for a change in jurisdiction.

The writ was granted under Section 33 of the Federal judicial code, heretofore regarded as applying to the transfer of suits against government officials originally instituted in the state courts. Yesterday United States Marshal Dempsey formally took McMullin in custody as a Federal prisoner.

It was learned yesterday that Henry P. Keith and Thomas J. Cuff, lawyers for McMullin, had been retained by McMullin as counsel.

'Soapbox' Hardy Dies Felon Made Several Escapes After Robbing New York Bank

ATLANTA, March 25.—"Soapbox" Hardy, bank robber and jail breaker, whose real name was Charles O'Connell, is dead in the Federal prison here after a long illness. He was sentenced to twelve years on January 31, 1919, for passing a forged money order.

Hardy went into the Sixth National Bank in New York City, one day in 1888, reached into the cage and took several thousand dollars. Two hours later he repeated the performance at the Commercial National Bank. He was sentenced to ten years in the Sing Sing and sent to Dannemora, where it was thought he would be secure, but after staying there four days he again escaped.

After a pistol duel, in which he was wounded, Hardy was brought back to Dannemora. He again escaped. Fifteen years later Detective James Jackson, of Sing Sing, arrested him in Germany.

Lloyd George Tricks France, Says Barthou

Former Premier Declares France Stands Alone to Face German Revenge as Other Allies Grant Favors Would Recognize Russia

CONFIDENCE EXPRESSED THAT U. S. WILL FINALLY RATIFY THE REJECTED TREATY

PARIS, March 25.—A bitter attack upon Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain, was delivered in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon by Jean Louis Barthou, the former Premier, in connection with the discussion of France's foreign policy.

Barthou said that the British Premier was in agreement with the Allies in the sending of stern notes to Germany, and that he had been politically benefited by England from a vigorous policy toward Germany. However, Mr. Barthou added, "when these stern notes were sent to Germany they bore the signatures of Clemenceau or Briand, and when concessions were made they were made in the name of Mr. Lloyd George. Thus France is left alone facing Germany as the country toward which Germany must prepare to fight."

Mr. Barthou said he would speak openly and frankly to the friends and allies of France. He referred to the treaties that had been met by France in the name of the Allies, and in the application of the peace treaty.

France Seeks Restitution "France," he declared, "cannot remain in a position of inferiority toward the other free nations. She has nothing to hide of her policies, projects or aims. France is not a militaristic nation. There is no military dictatorship in France. She desires no conquests, but she seeks restitution."

Mr. Barthou said that the resumption of relations with Russia, being that all the neighboring countries had along or were preparing to resume relations and that Italy's stand alone in this line was being supported by Great Britain.

"Great Britain knows how to defend her interests," added the ex-Premier, "and she has added enough to defend hers with her ally, France, and without them if they withdraw."

The declaration of Mr. Barthou that France was not a militaristic nation was reported to the recent letter of President Wilson to Senator Hitchcock.

"I have confidence," Mr. Barthou continued, "that the United States will finally ratify the peace treaty which is rejected to-day. The United States day will take its place in the league of nations, but, meanwhile, the treaty which guarantees England, the United States and France is being denied. England has obtained its security by the destruction of the German fleet, but France stands alone."

Likened to Caillaux While Mr. Barthou was attacking Great Britain, one of the extreme right shouted, "You are like Caillaux!" [Former Premier Caillaux is on trial before the High Court charged with treason.]

In addition to the attack upon Premier Lloyd George and advocacy of the resumption of relations with the Soviet government, the outstanding feature of the speech was the Deputy's insistence upon the strict application of a hands-off policy toward Germany so far as a choice of a government for France was concerned.

It had been reported that Mr. Barthou's interpellation of the government on its foreign policy, in pursuance of which he delivered his speech, would be acted upon by the Chamber. After hearing the Deputy's lengthy address, however, Deputies and spectators alike were confusedly puzzled as to the motion which inspired it. The question was raised upon the subject of Mr. Barthou's interpellation of the government, but it was not acted upon.

Barrel Mystery Agitates Perth Amboy; 4 Men Held

Containers Disappear and Officers Want to Know if They Held Whisky or Vinegar

Four men, one of them a police detective, were arrested yesterday in Perth Amboy on charges of barrel mystery, and a general clean-up of the city was ordered by the County Prosecutor. The mystery is whether the barrels contained whisky or vinegar, where they are now.

The prisoners are Detective William T. Hartmann, nephew of United States Marshal Bollschweizer; Andrew Gadek, Stephen N. Vereb and Joseph Branberg. The barrels were signed Moritko. Moritko declares that he was driving along a dark and unfrequented road with three barrels of—well, of vinegar, Moritko says—when four highwaymen stopped him at Mile 432.

Moritko is said to have led two patrolmen later to a deserted barn in which he had concealed the three barrels. The patrolmen reported the mystery, though one of them now declares he saw no barrels.

The next day Moritko asked Mayor Frank Dorsey for a pistol permit, saying that he had had a conversation with a man called Moritko, who had offered him a rifle for a ride without being held up, and the Mayor instituted an investigation which culminated to-day in the four arrests.

Employees of King George Ask 8-Hour Day, More Pay

LONDON, March 25.—The employees on the King's estates in Scotland, including Balmoral Castle, are demanding an eight-hour day and an increase of wages to 23 weekly. James D. The question is to be discussed in Aberdeen Saturday at a meeting of the Scottish Federation of Discharged Soldiers, many of the men being former soldiers. It is recalled that King George, on coming to the local tradesmen at Balmoral, said he knew he wished all his employees to be comfortable and satisfied.

Three policemen were seriously injured, but there were no civilian casualties. No arrests have been made in connection with the explosion.

Ninth Scientist Church Board Explains Dispute Question of Loyalty to Directors of Mother Institution Not Involved, Trustees Say

The disagreement between the second reader and the members of Ninth Church of Christ, Scientist, of this city, concerns only the local branch church and has nothing whatever to do with the question of loyalty or disloyalty of this branch church to the board of directors of the Mother Church in Boston, Mass. The question of loyalty of Ninth Church cannot be raised in view of the unanimous adoption of the following amendment to the by-laws of this church passed at its corporate meeting on March 16:

"The truth as set forth in the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health, as set forth in the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, and the manual of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., shall be the basis of the government established therein, and hereby recognized as the supreme spiritual authority to which this church, as a branch of the Mother Church, is subject. In the event of a question, a majority vote of the qualified members present at any corporate meeting called shall decide for the church all subjects of spiritual or temporal authority or action in accordance with their best understanding of and trust in the law of the Mother Church as set forth in Science and Health, and in the Manual of the Mother Church; also, in accordance with their desire to faithfully obey the laws of the State of New York as set forth in its statutes and the by-laws of this church."

A corporate meeting of Ninth Church is called for March 27 to consider the subject of Christian Science Literature. BOARD OF TRUSTEES, Ninth Church of Christ, Scientist, New York City. By Bessie B. Mosher, Clerk.

Hylan Blames School Politicians for Delay

Teachers Would Have Received Increases if City Had Been Left Alone, He Says

"If the Board of Estimate had its way we would long since have worked out a plan by which we would have given the over-supervised teachers immediate and substantial increases," Mayor Hylan told 1,500 persons in the Bushwick High School, Brooklyn, yesterday.

"The school politicians, however," continued Mr. Hylan, "have caused their followers to ignore the municipal authorities, with the result that the legislation enacted generally proved profitable only to the few higher up in the school system who were already highly paid."

In describing the Lockwood-Donohue bill, which provides for a 10 per cent increase in the pay of teachers, the Mayor said he was making the explanation so that the rent payer would understand that while he was endeavoring to stop gouging landlords from raising rents, the Legislature was being passed in Albany which placed millions of dollars in taxes on the backs of the property owner and rent payer of the city.

Lederer, who he hoped before any more mandatory legislation was passed that a thorough investigation of the school system in the state would be made, and that a report would be rendered to the Legislature the amount of money spent for propaganda for salary increases.

Merchant Held in Theft of $50,000 in Cutlery

Goods Stolen From Brooklyn Store Alleged to Have Been Sold in Manhattan

Charles Lederer, proprietor of a cutlery store at 1856 Third Avenue, was arrested last night in connection with the theft of $50,000 worth of articles from the Every Ready Sash Razor Company, of 299 Harrison Street, Brooklyn, during the last year. Lederer is alleged to have been underselling competitors in the city.

A police investigation of the thefts was started Monday. An inventory was taken Monday and another Tuesday, the latter showing, it is alleged, that goods had vanished overnight, although no shipments had been made.

Wladimir Joseph Sigel, a shipping clerk employed by the company, was arrested. It was alleged he had sent away some of the missing articles by parcel post.

Lederer was arrested after being followed to a postoffice substation, where he is alleged to have received a parcel from the razor company. Detectives who traced him to his store said he had stolen the goods from the company and thrust the contents into his showcase.
