

Dry Decision Hoped for in Albany To-day

If Wets Win in the U. S. Supreme Court, 3.50 Beer Bill Will Be Rushed Through the Legislature Extra Session Is Feared

From a Staff Correspondent ALBANY, April 18.—Legislators tonight are praying that the United States Supreme Court, which resumes its sittings to-morrow, hands down a decision in the suits brought by Rhode Island, New Jersey and other states to determine the constitutionality of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act and also if states have concurrent power with Congress to define an intoxicating liquor.

Colonel Ransom H. Gillett, sponsor for the beer bill in the Assembly, declares that if the United States Supreme Court does not hand down a decision to-morrow he will insist on a show-down and move for the discharge of the Rules Committee.

Both wets and dries are hoping fervently for a decision to-morrow, as it is believed by all that should the decision be handed down after the Legislature adjourns next Saturday and the United States Supreme Court decides in favor of Rhode Island and the other states, who hold they have concurrent power with Congress to define an intoxicating liquor.

One measure certain to be passed is the bill providing for a direct tax of 1 1/2 mills to meet teachers' salary increases.

Two others scheduled for passage are the Fearon bill, introduced at the request of Speaker Sweet, which is aimed at legislating the Socialist party out of existence, together with all Socialists now in office, and another prohibiting Socialists from ever holding any public office.

A report of the Bar Association on these two bills, which reached here tonight and which will be in the hands of every legislator by to-morrow, criticizes these bills as unconstitutional and points out that under their provisions citizens might be denied the right of a ballot and the right of holding public office if their religious, economic or social beliefs did not accord with those of a majority of the members of the Appellate Division, which is made the arbiter under the terms of the measures.

The report points out that the inequalities of the bills are manifold and are intended to seize and restrict citizens of this state from exercising their constitutional rights and advocating at the ballot box the principles, doctrines, or policies in which they believe.

$10,000 Jewel Robbery Suppressed by Police Authorities Recently Have Withheld From Press

Added to the already long list of jewel and fur robberies throughout New York City within the last few weeks that have been kept secret by the police is that of J. H. Steinhardt, of 310 West 103d Street, whose home was entered while the family was in the West recently and in which several diamonds said to have been as large as three karats each, were stolen from a dresser in a dressing table.

A butler in the Steinhardt home last night declared he could not talk about the robbery, but admitted that the police are working on the case.

At the West 100th Street police station all information concerning the robbery was refused. This robbery is the eighth thus far discovered of recent date which the police have failed to make public and in which the strictest silence has been kept.

Business Men to Attend Hearing on Rent Bill Measure Proposes to Curb Profiteering by Owners of Factory Property

Harry Uviller, chairman of the merchants rent committee, announced last night that arrangements had been made for 1,000 garment manufacturers and interested consumers to go to Albany to-morrow to attend the hearing on Senator Ahles's bill, which proposes to curb profiteering by owners of factory, rent profiteering by owners of factory, rent profiteering by owners of factory, rent profiteering by owners of factory.

'Pussyfoot' Here This Week William E. ("Pussyfoot") Johnson will arrive here Thursday on the American liner New York from Liverpool. Johnson will leave New York on Thursday for London, where a reception has been planned for him.

Police Called to Quell Battle in Sunday School

Children of Pastor of Greenwood Heights Reformed Church Fight Over Chair Removed by Rival Faction; Ambulance Summoned; 3 Arrested

While the fresh young voices of the Sunday school children were singing their opening hymn in the Greenwood Heights Reformed Church, Seventh Avenue and Forty-fifth Street, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, a riot broke out because of the removal of a chair from the church by a rival faction.

By this innocent excursion Mr. Burton upset precariously balanced forces that have made life in the church a matter of great diplomacy for the last nine months. He chieftain chaos broke up the Sunday school, caused innumerable commissions of the crime of assault and battery and brought police and an ambulance from the Norwegian Hospital to the sanctuary on a dead run.

Pastor Given Vacation A brief synopsis of past history is necessary in order to appreciate the true significance of Mr. Burton's chair hunt.

Last August the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. Stanley G. Tyndall, said that the Rev. Tyndall had been driven forth to Sunday school. An anti-Tyndall faction said it wasn't, and when Dr. Tyndall refused to open the church for the school session his opponents held meetings on the steps until one Sabbath they were rained on and retired to a vacant store at Seventh Avenue and Forty-sixth Street. They also appealed to the South Classis, of Long Island, for action.

Overall Movement Spreading Rapidly in City and Suburbs Clubs Being Formed in Many Suburban Localities; 800 Students in Mount Vernon Organize

Overall clubs are springing up throughout Westchester County, it was said yesterday, the Mayor of one New Jersey community regards the movement with favor and the Forty-second Street Country Club at its next meeting is going to consider the advisability of donning overalls, not only as a protest against the price of other clothes, but as a garb eminently suited to the rural environment of the club.

Mount Vernon, New Rochelle, Yonkers and White Plains are forming overall clubs, and farmers of Westchester County are going to wear their overalls to the Supreme Court in White Plains when they are summoned for jury duty.

More than 800 high school students at Mount Vernon, both boys and girls, decided to organize as the "Wear Your Old Clothes Association" and live up to the name of the organization. The movement has the approval of A. B. Davis, principal of the school. Classes will assemble to-day with virtually all members, either in overalls or in their oldest clothes.

The Cheese Club, a pioneer in the overall movement in this city, will send a committee to call on Samuel Gompers to-day and ask him concerning reports that organized labor is working on the formation of overall clubs. Labor is said to be against the idea because, if successful, it might mean a reduction in the wages now being paid in the garment trade.

Another committee is to be sent in search of John D. Rockefeller jr., to whom is attributed the idea that he liked the idea and was willing to put on overalls himself. The committee will try to persuade him to go ahead and join the movement.

John Pollock, Mayor of Leonia, N. J., told the Cheese Club yesterday that he thought the overall scheme was a fine one, and that it would be discussed at a meeting of the trustees of Leonia which had been called for to-morrow to discuss the high cost of living. Mayor Pollock said the trustees might recommend overalls for Leonia.

At the regular meeting of the Forty-second Street Country Club to-day at the Hotel Knickerbocker the members will vote as to whether to wear overalls as their ordinary garb.

Overalls Worn by 85 in St. Louis Bible Class ST. LOUIS, April 18.—Overalls made their first appearance as a church-going garb here to-day, being introduced by the eighty-five members of a church Bible class.

A local announcement that overalls for belboys and khaki for maids would hereafter be "fraternization."

Stitt Attacks Committee Vote On Jenks Bills

Had No Authority to Act on Traction Measures by Previous Agreement, Kings Legislator Holds Martin of Same Mind

Assemblyman Theodore Stitt, of Kings, one of the members of the Judiciary Committee who was absent when the Jenks traction bills, giving street railways increased fares, were introduced by Mayor Hylan yesterday, saying the committee had no power at that time to consider the measures in any way.

Things happened so rapidly from then on that a chronologically accurate account of what followed is impossible. Mr. Burton admits that he used "a little force" to get the chair. Numerous persons, among them Mr. Burton, who ought to know, say that Stanley Tyndall jr., nineteen, flew to the aid of his brother and sister and snatched the chair abductor in the face. Stanley packs a hefty wallop and Mr. Burton lost all interest in subsequent proceedings.

Three Arrested Patrolman Leahy and Dr. Morise arrived at the scene of the conflict neck and neck. Inside they found the combatants, Henry C. Halpern, nineteen, and Warren Tyndall, twenty-one, both adherents of the pastor, under arrest. Eugene Mole, a police reserve and a member of the anti-Tyndall faction, did the arresting. He charged that the captives had interfered with an officer. What the interference had amounted to was not made public. Stanley Tyndall jr. was dismissed. There was no closing hymn.

Jewish Peddlers Seek to Escape Citizenship Rule Asks Mayor for License Renewal Because Their Sons Fought in War

A committee of East Side peddlers, headed by Harry Schlacht, in charge of Americanization work among Jews of the East Side, will call on Mayor Hylan to-day and urge him to prevail upon Commissioner Gilchrist to grant 200 Jewish peddlers renewals of licenses of which they may be deprived under Commissioner Gilchrist's recent ruling that peddlers' licenses are to be issued henceforward only to citizens of the United States.

"The 200 peddlers who are facing the danger of losing their livelihood," said Mr. Schlacht, "are all old men, many of them with sons who served in the war. The committee was appointed at a meeting of the peddlers at 255 Grand Street yesterday."

Thousands Enroll to Aid Catholic Charities Twenty Thousand Workers in Archdiocese Form Committee to Pledge Recruits

Spurred by the appeal of Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, nearly 20,000 workers formed into a committee of the laity, started yesterday the enrollment of the laity, and pledged membership in the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York.

Reports received at the campaign headquarters, 9 East Fortieth street, last night after the first day's canvass, indicated thousands enrolled the first day.

Every one of the 302 parishes in the archdiocese, which embraces Staten Island, Manhattan, Bronx and the seven counties of Westchester, Rockland, Dutchess, Sullivan, Ulster, Orange and Putnam, is being organized for the campaign, which is intended to reach every Catholic home. For the purpose of the enrollment the archdiocese has been divided into sixteen geographical districts, each under direction of a district chairman.

2 Killed, 1 Wounded in East Side Shootings Murderers in Sunday Morning Street Fights Escape, Leaving Police Without Clues

Bullets were flying on the East Side before dawn yesterday and two men were killed and another wounded without the police being able to get a clew to their assailants.

Laslett Orlin, of 27 St. Mark's Place, was shot within a few doors of his home and died soon afterward in St. Mark's Hospital. Charles Gagnio, 55 1/2 Good Street, was a policeman found in the gutter of Goerck Street with a bullet through his head and his skull fractured by a blow, died in Gouverneur Hospital.

$20,000 Corporation Is Formed to Cut H. C. of L. Grace Chapel Men's Club Has Scheme to Do Away With Middleman

The Community Wholesale Purchasing Corporation announced yesterday that its first subsidiary had been formed by the Men's Social Club, of Grace Chapel, 415 East Thirtieth Street, with a capital of $20,000.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Broadway at Ninth, New York Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co. Store opens at 9; Closes at 9

Good morning! This is April 19! The weather today will probably be cloudy.

Looking Upon a Map, So Many Cities Seem Near New York

But get railroad timetables and count miles and hours, and you will find it uses up the whole day to reach Buffalo and takes the better part of two days by most trains to land one in Chicago.

To get together most of the articles you see and pass in a short walk requires long journeys to select and months of labor to produce before the vessels bring them to ports of New York and Philadelphia at considerable expense.

Take notice that almost all the American manufacturers, whom we always prefer, are not making the quantities of articles they made before the war, and this adds to insufficiencies of supplies and keeps up the prices.

Besides the loss of home productions, the stores of foreign countries are bidders with the home merchants for large lots and at high prices.

It looks easy to start a store and to advertise galore, but it has taken from boyhood to old age to get going what you see here and all of us together at your safe service, when you please.

(Signed) John Wanamaker April 19, 1920.

Little Journeys with Great Composers

In the Auditorium Tuesday at 2:30 CHICKERING AMPICO Reproducing Piano Mr. Henry White, baritone Edna Beatrice Bloom, soprano J. Thurston Noe, organ First Gallery, New Bldg.

The Blouse Shop specializes in little hand-made blouses that may appear with impunity with both sweater and sports suit and with trim tailored costume.

At very moderate prices—considering the amount of exquisite handwork in each blouse.

Illustrated is a blouse of fine white batiste, made with a long ficia-like collar that gives a remarkably good line to the wearer. The edge of the collar is finished with a tiny hand-hemmed ruffle that is very attractive. $8.75.

Two other hand-made batiste blouses feature insets of hand-hemstitching on the bodice, collar and cuffs. One has a flat sailor collar that some women prefer to all others, and the other has a soft roll collar, and they were killed and another wounded without the police being able to get a clew to their assailants.

Price of each, $6.95. Second floor, Old Building.

Extra size blouses

of Georgette Crepe Fitted and cut especially for the ample figure. Becoming, appropriate styles with good long lines the large woman requires but so seldom finds in ready-made blouses.

An attractive assortment in white, flesh, navy and gray. Some are beaded, others severely plain design. $9.75 and $10.75. Third floor, Old Building.

An ORIGINAL suite of finely woven reed; done in our own workrooms: seven pieces, finished in black glass enamel, with edge of lavender. Seat cushions are filled with hair and down, and covered with purple and gold silk velvet. Pillows and bolsters are filled with down, covered with lavender and gold silk. Table has glass top, under which is a silk-covered pad. $1,548.

Summer Furniture

NOT just reed and willow There's an individuality to the summer furniture in the Wanamaker Galleries. THOUGHT has been added. Line and color supplement the native charm of picked reed and willow. You will find something here which you will not find anywhere else—ORIGINAL suites for veranda or living room, and no exact copies.

Always comfortable, primarily practical furniture for the warm months, reed and willow pieces, as finished in the Wanamaker way, are works of art—an inspiration as well as a comfort. Different.

You may have a matched suite for as little as $129 Or you may have one for $1,758. The $129 suite is of reed in a brown finish; settee, arm chair and two rockers.

The $1,758 suite is of reed in black enamel, fan-back pieces with peacock tails painted on by hand; settee, chaise longue, two arm chairs (one with magazine pocket), side chair, table, desk, fern stand and floor lamp; with seat cushions and pillows covered with purple taffeta with purple and gold tasseled ends.

Between these two there are a score and more—all different—grading slowly, so that everybody may find at least one suite to her (his) taste.

Separate pieces A big variety. Willow in its natural tone or enameled. Reed, in its natural tone, or shellac-finished, stained or enameled.

You must come and see this summer furniture. It is all so much better than its description. Fifth Gallery, New Building.
