

Elwell Case Arrest Waits More Proof

Authorities Are Anxious to Question Woman Before Moving Against Man Under Suspicion

Detectives Rip Up Slain Man's Rooms

Partitions Destroyed, Coal Sifted in New Search for .45-Caliber Pistol

The arrest of the man suspected of the murder of Joseph Rowne Elwell is being put off pending the gathering of more conclusive evidence.

It was intimated at the District Attorney's office last night that the investigators are particularly anxious to question a woman before proceeding further. While they know the whereabouts of this woman, the authorities say she is unavailable at the moment. They expect to get in touch with her in a day or two. She is believed to be able to furnish the missing link in the chain of evidence the police have forged about the man they have in mind. Captain of Detectives Arthur Carey said last night: "We will not make an arrest until we have sufficient evidence to warrant holding a prisoner. This does not mean that before moving we must have evidence enough to guarantee conviction. It means that we must be able to satisfy a magistrate that the suspect had some connection with the crime. At present we lack enough of this evidence."

Woman's Identity Concealed

It could not be learned whether "Miss Wilson," whose lingerie Mrs. Marie Larsen, the housekeeper, found in Elwell's home and attempted to conceal on the day of the murder, is concerned in the latest developments. The fact that the police were anxious to question the woman in the light of the latest turn of events would seem to indicate that the numerous women with whom Elwell had affairs have not been entirely eliminated as furnishing a motive for the crime.

The police are anxious to find the .45-caliber pistol with which the turfman was shot and are sparing no pains to get hold of it. A squad of detectives in the direction of Captain Carey visited Elwell's home, at 24 West Seventy-third Street, yesterday morning, and went through the place from top to bottom. Their efforts seemed to have raised a spook stir among the neighbors, who complained of "terrible noises" issuing from the house all through the morning and afternoon.

Partitions Ripped Open

The roof was torn up, partitions ripped up and flooring demolished in the hope that the weapon might be turned up. Many detectives were put to work sifting tons of coal in the hope that the pistol might be hidden there by the murderer. After going through every room in the house with pick axes and hammers it was announced that the pistol had certainly not been hidden there. The search was made once and for all of the suicide theory. It is still held by some who know the details of the case that the gun used in Elwell's murder was one of the numerous pistols which Elwell did not take his own life.

The police were also bending efforts to learn more about a report that an attempt on Elwell's life had been made once before. The story runs that a week before his murder some one had tampered with Elwell's automobile and had been returning from the garage with his chauffeur a wheel chair rick with a fast clip and had a narrow escape from death.

Elwell Was Suspicious

Elwell is said to have looked upon the circumstance as suspicious, and he had a garage in a garage in Flushing while he himself was in the car to be sure there was no further tampering with it. The automobile was returned to the garage in a wrecking car.

"This is rather strange," Elwell is reported to have said. "I had just taken the roadster out of the shop after it had been thoroughly overhauled and that the car did not become detached accidentally."

District Attorney Swann was in touch again yesterday with the person who forwarded soon after the murder and inquired that the only reason for being in communication with Elwell at 2:30 o'clock on the morning of the murder. No intimation has yet been given whether the person is a man or woman. District Attorney Deolinger merely declared yesterday that the person was "connected with the administration of justice." This has been taken to mean that it is some one who occupies some official position in the local Federal government.

Not Embarrassed for Funds

Little importance is now attached to the sale of the murdered man's yacht or home. Pastoral Swan, as far as their hearing on the crime is concerned, has no interest in the matter. No bids were on the Beach Estates owned by Elwell and the stories of his financial embarrassment have been declared without foundation. In addition, it was stated that he had had quarrels with any one in the neighborhood and that the man who was reported to have been hurriedly departed from Lexington was to get his horses to Saratoga for the August meet.

Yesterdays' issue of "Variety," a theatrical weekly, had a story that Elwell had a one-third interest in the production of "The Bonehead," which show is said to have cost $75,000 while on the road and at the Fulton Theatre, and when Elwell was called upon to make good his share of the loss he was unable to produce. This apparently had little effect on the friendship between the two men. Elwell having been a member of the party with the Misses, Miss Viola Kraus and Octavia Fitzgerald on the Ritz Roof on the night preceding the murder.

Bubonic Plague in Italy

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Bubonic plague has appeared at Catania, Italy, it was reported, and the State Department was advised to notify the American Consul there.

Switchman a Suicide; Worried Over Wreck

HARTFORD, Conn., June 26.—Peter Castonguay, a railroad switchman who was on duty Thursday morning when an express train was in an accident in the yards of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad here, committed suicide to-day.

Inquiry made by the coroner's office indicated that the man had worried over the wreck, complaining that an effort was being made to fix the responsibility upon him. At the office of Division Superintendent Mitchell it was stated that Castonguay did not return to work after the wreck, and nothing was heard of him until word of his death was received.

The wreck cost the life of Engineer Ralph Gray, of Springfield, Mass., and injured several others.

British Shell Turkish Lines; 1,000 Killed

Warships Anchored Near Ismid Bombard Troops Around City; Violent Fighting Is Reported

Greek Armies Advance

Move in Four Directions, Capture Several Places; Drive 75 Miles in Day

LONDON, June 26.—British warships at anchor before the town of Ismid, Asia Minor, have violently bombarded the Turkish line stretched around that place, and have inflicted heavy losses, according to an Exchange Telegraph Company dispatch from Athens. It is estimated that 1,000 Turks have been killed.

Reports from Ismid, the message states, indicate that violent fighting continues there. Three shells from artillery fired by Turkish Nationalists, under the command of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, have fallen in the town, and have caused damage.

According to a Constantinople dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, British cruisers escorting transports have passed through the Dardanelles for Ismid.

SMYRNA, Asia Minor, June 26.—Greek forces engaged in the offensive against the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor are advancing in four directions and have taken several towns, according to an official communiqué from Greek army headquarters under Thursday's date.

Confirmation of the recently reported annihilation of the 10th Turkish Army Corps has been received here. The official statement reads: "Our troops, advancing in four directions, have taken Soma, Perativi, Mendelhora and Chaus-Kiosk, despite the strong resistance of the enemy, who fell back in disorder. Three pieces of heavy artillery, numerous machine guns, some rifles, a ten-car train, numerous prisoners and the 135th Regiment's flag fell into our hands.

"Our losses were one captain killed, ten other officers wounded, and twenty men killed, and one hundred wounded. Soma is approximately sixty miles, Mendelhora and Chaus-Kiosk, eighty miles, and Chaus-Kiosk, 110 miles northeast of Smyrna."

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 26 (By The Associated Press).—Ten thousand (Continued on page four)

King Entertains 350 V. C. Heroes

People From All Britain Thrilled by Parade of Warriors to the Palace

From The Tribune's European Bureau. Copyright, 1920, New York Tribune Inc.

BERLIN, June 26.—"Der Bayerischer Kurier," official organ of the Bavarian government, to-day prints the minutes of a meeting of the Independent Socialists in Munich, which reveal plans made for a general strike throughout Germany. The scheme called for closing down waterworks and electric plants and wrecking the machinery.

"Der Kurier" recommends that the German chancellor carry the document to the Spa conference to show the Allied leaders the dangers to which Germany is exposed.

The home guards in Southern Germany have not yet been dissolved and the authorities reiterate their refusal to break up the troop organization all over the country. A renewal of Spartacist outbreaks is past. The belief is now generally accepted that any considerable renewal of Bolshevik turmoil in Northern Germany will be answered by the secession of the southern states.

Minister of Defense Gessler evidently takes a most serious view of the consequences which reduction of the army would entail. To-day he tendered his resignation to Chancellor Freiherrlich in a note expressing his conviction that he would be unable to cope with international difficulties which might arise with only a small army at his disposal.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

Lord D'Abernon Named British Envoy to Berlin

Germans Fear He Will Institute Financial Tactics He Used in Turkey

Special Cable to The Tribune. Copyright, 1920, New York Tribune Inc.

BERLIN, June 26.—Lord D'Abernon, who as Sir Edgar Vincent, won a world-wide reputation as a financier by the success with which he managed the public debts of Turkey and Egypt and restored the finances of the latter country, has been appointed British Ambassador to Berlin.

This move is interpreted here as ominous for the future of Germany, as the stern measures once used on Turkey in the interests of foreign creditors are expected to be carried out here even more drastically under Lord D'Abernon's direction.

George Bernhard says that Germany is threatened with the organization of a committee decided by a vote of 33 to 14 that after the arguments were heard the committee would sit in executive session to render its verdicts.

The move to close the doors on the country's proceedings was made by J. Bruce Kremer, vice-chairman of the national committee, after former Senator Hardwick spokesman of the Watson-Smith forces in Georgia, had (Continued on next page)

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Cabrera Tells Of Carranza's Fatal Flight

Former Cabinet Official Says President Was Betrayed by Herrera, Who Offered to Guard Party

Suicide Theory Is Called Absurd

Ill-Fated Journey and Attack on the Mexican Leader Are Described

The following dispatch came to The Tribune yesterday by telegraph from San Antonio, Tex. It was written in Mexico City and sent thence to San Antonio by correspondent. This writer is not Sophie Treadwell, who is The Tribune's regular correspondent in Mexico City.

As will be seen, the article includes an account of the death of Carranza written by Luis Cabrera. The dispatch follows, just as it came to The Tribune.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 26.—Cabrera was Secretary of the Treasury under Carranza, universally recognized as the most brilliant member of the Cabinet. He started with the President on his ill-fated voyage to Vera Cruz, and followed him to the mountains on horseback, when the train had to be abandoned at San Andres. He was sleeping in a hut near the train when he was shot and killed. The attack which resulted in Carranza's death, but, unlike the rest of the escort, was not made prisoner.

Later it was known that he had arrived in Mexico City in secret. He was remaining in hiding until now, evading, through the help of friends and his own cleverness, all efforts to capture him, efforts that have not been without great zeal, as from every man and woman in the city, and still in secret, against this government.

Through the most devious underground channels I was able to get word from him of interest, his story of the flight and death of Carranza. The following statement from him reached me.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Murphy Will Try to Vote State for Cox

Mayor Lunn of Schenectady, However, Says That He Will Fight Against the Unit Rule

By Charles T. White

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany chieftain, at the Bellevue Hotel to-day told a Tribune correspondent that the sentiment among the delegates seems to be for Governor Cox of Ohio for the Democratic nomination for President. Murphy also said that, so far as New York is concerned, there will be a fight to invoke and maintain the unit rule.

The Tammany leader's declaration that the sentiment appears to be for Cox is taken by the rank and file as the "tip" to get into line for the Ohio Governor.

Mr. Murphy's announcement that the unit rule will be invoked is a notice to the minority, led by Mayor Lunn of Schenectady, Judge Samuel Seabury and others, that they are to be steam-rolled if they have the temerity to oppose the machine.

W. Bourke Cuckran, who is said yesterday was slated to nominate Governor Smith for President, said to-day that his understanding now is that Harriet May Mills, of Syracuse, one of the delegates at-large, will nominate the Governor.

Roosevelt Slated for Senator

The announcement by Murphy that the unit rule will be invoked in the New York delegation met instant opposition from Lunn, whose ability and readiness in debate are giving him leadership among the anti-Tammany men. Lunn and his friends, who are covered that Tammany will back Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt for United States Senator, and the Schenectady Mayor has announced that he will accept the name of battle against Mr. Roosevelt and make a state-wide fight for the nomination, giving most of his time to New York City.

Murphy was in front of the Bellevue when he took a picture of the New York State delegation, and was talking with Representative Thomas F. Smith, Ex-Judge Morgan J. O'Brien and W. Bourke Cuckran, when he was asked about the story that he was in a combine with leaders from Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts, Indiana and New York to elect Roosevelt for United States Senator and defeat Colonel William J. Bryan in his battle for a dry plank.

"If there is any such compact I am not in it," said Murphy. "I have not attended to that in the convention, and such thing was organized. I am for Governor Smith for President."

"Have you discovered any pronounced drift of sentiment in favor of a more direct to nominate me one that I cannot support."

"I am inclined to think that former Secretary McAdoo is going to be nominated for President. The unit rule is utterly undemocratic in principle, and I have no doubt whatever that the convention, when the matter is squarely put up to it, will abrogate it. A regularly accredited delegate represents his own Congressional district."

"The W. C. T. U. is a democracy to deny to the delegate the right to represent the real wishes of his district."

Asked about Bryan, Mayor Lunn said: "The W. C. T. U. is the convention are making the same mistake about Bryan that they have made before. They are underrating the power of the man as a leader of the forces of righteousness in the Democratic party. The men who are talking about Bryan as a has-been in politics are spiritually blind. They also are underrating the strength of the women in this crisis. It is impossible to deny to the nominee a right to help get us out."

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Booms for McAdoo and Cox Are Growing; Bryan, Walsh and Reed Unite to Oppose League Plank

Three Leaders Agree to Present a Substitute for Wilson Program on Treaty to Committee

Minority Report If Appeal Fails

First Test of Strength of the Nebraskan to Come in Organization Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Plans for opposing the Administration treaty and League of Nations plank were formulated at an hour's conference to-night between William J. Bryan and Senators Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Reed, of Missouri. Their first effort, Senator Walsh said, is to be made in the resolutions committee by offering substitutes for the Administration plank.

If defeated in the resolutions committee, Senator Walsh said, it was planned to present a minority report to the convention. The greater concern of those in the movement, the Massachusetts Senator added, is to prevent commitment of the party to unreserved ratification of the present league covenant.

Treaty Plank Discussed

"We discussed several platform planks, principally the treaty and the league," said Senator Walsh.

"For the Administration treaty plank it is pretty generally agreed that we shall offer several substitutes, possibly three in favor to the Resolutions Committee. They have not been drafted, but our general purpose is to oppose committing the party to unreserved ratification of the present covenant."

If the sub-plank should be rejected, Senator Walsh said, the next move would be for presentation of the issue to the convention itself.

Senator Reed declined to discuss the conference.

The three leaders who met in Mr. Bryan's rooms have been regarded as the principal opponents of President Wilson's treaty and league plank opposing the convention. Senator Reed in the Senate joined the Republican irreconcilables opposing the treaty, while the other two were in the majority reserving to avoid the treaty's becoming a campaign issue.

See Contest on Floor

The general prediction to-night was that the Administration plank indorsing the league without destructive reservations would get a safe majority in the committee, though there might be a contest against it on the convention floor.

The disposition in some quarters was for a plank advocating ratification with "whatever reservations deemed necessary to protect American interests." The group urging that course argued that the Republican platform had had previous ratification of the treaty and upholding the Senate and that the wise course would be for the Democrats to take that issue into their own hands. They declared that a safe majority in the committee, though there might be a contest against it on the convention floor.

The disposition in some quarters was for a plank advocating ratification with "whatever reservations deemed necessary to protect American interests." The group urging that course argued that the Republican platform had had previous ratification of the treaty and upholding the Senate and that the wise course would be for the Democrats to take that issue into their own hands. They declared that a safe majority in the committee, though there might be a contest against it on the convention floor.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Wets Will Be Routed; Dry Plank In Party Platform, Bryan Predicts

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Complete rout for the wets in the Democratic National Convention was predicted to-day by William J. Bryan, who also declared that efforts to keep all mention of prohibition from the platform indicated wet weakness. A dry plank, Mr. Bryan confidently asserted, will be found in the final platform draft. The strength of the prohibition enforcement plank, he conceded, remains to be determined.

"As the bulk of delegates arrive," said Mr. Bryan, "I have increasing information that there will be no wet plank. The wets have pulled down the flag in their fight for a wine and beer plank. They have retired to breakfasts still further to the rear against a dry plank. "There will be no compromise," Mr. Bryan added, with a grim snap. "Either this convention will be turned over body and soul to the brewers or the liquor interests will be put out of business so they never again will bother another Democratic convention."

Reed Barred From Convention By Wilson Edict; Seat Denied

Alternate Gives Missouri Senator His Proxy After Committee Throws Out His Claim by Vote of 34 to 12

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—The Administration steam roller was brought into use to-day in the contests for seats in the convention, and on the first test votes affecting the organization of the convention the forces opposing the Administration were crushed.

By a vote of 34 to 12 the national committee refused to give Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, bitter opponent of the League of Nations, a seat in the convention.

The action on Senator Reed's claim came after the committee had rejected the claims of the Hardwick-Watson-Smith faction in Georgia, and unanimously awarded Georgia's twenty-eight votes to Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer.

Despite the committee's action Senator Reed will be able to go on the floor of the convention. A dispatch from Kansas City to-night states that James T. Bradshaw, alternate to Reed, announced there that he had voluntarily turned over his proxy to Senator Reed and that the latter was empowered to act for him in all matters pertaining to the business of the convention.

Mr. Bradshaw said he gave the proxy to Senator Reed just before the Senator left for San Francisco and that he did so "because he thought the highest interests of the party harmony demanded it."

Mr. Bradshaw declared business matters referred him from attending the convention in person.

The action of the national committee in the Georgia contest carries with it the reelection of Clark Howell as a member of the national committee.

The Senator and Mrs. Harding got off the train from Washington at Bound Brook, N. J., where they were met by Senator Frelinghuysen. Later they were taken by automobile to the New Jersey Senator's 900-acre estate, "The Hill," about a mile from the village. The candidate's arrival was unannounced and his presence did not become generally known to the villagers to-night. A secret service man accompanied him.

Plays Round of Golf

Before dinner the Presidential nominee played a nine-hole golf match with his host on the links of the Somerset Country Club. The course is nearly opposite Senator Frelinghuysen's estate, although the clubhouse is about a quarter of a mile from the residence. There were no guests at dinner this evening and Mr. Harding retired early.

Senator and Mrs. Harding will attend the Third Reformed Church, with Senator and Mrs. Frelinghuysen tomorrow. They will receive no callers during the day.

Although no definite engagements have been made for Monday, when the nominee plans to work upon his speech of acceptance, he may receive a few callers, it was stated to-night. He will return to Washington late Monday.

Receives First Present

Stuart Hoffman, a friend of Senator Frelinghuysen, to-day caught a (Continued on page three)

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT PARENTS usually help decide a boy's first step in the business world. Intelligent parents read The Tribune, call up the good Morning Girl—beginning 3000—and give her your own share of "The Tribune's Want Ad" through any of The Tribune's Want Ad Agents—over 500 in Great Britain.

W.C.T.U. Head Says They're to Blame for Make-Ups of Women

Are men responsible for the increasing use of paint, powder and lip sticks among young women?

Mrs. George F. Pashley, state superintendent of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, says girls are driven to artificial facial adornment because they believe men like them better so ornamented. But men don't like it at all, she declares. She is going to enlist the aid of men in the crusade against cosmetics which she and other members of the Frances Willard League of the W. C. T. U., plan to wage next fall.

"The use of cosmetics is on the increase," she says. "Nice, refined people, young women and mere girls, are seen everywhere with their faces powdered like clowns in the circus. I should like to see the men take a hand in the crusade and help us. They got us into this fix and they ought to help get us out."

Mrs. Pashley has no definite promises of aid from men's organizations as yet, but she and her friends are going to do a lot of talking this summer, and when the state convention of the W. C. T. U. takes place in October in Syracuse, they expect to attempt the crusade, with or without the help of men.

Officials of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which can usually be counted upon to support any campaign for public morals, said last night they had not heard of the W. C. T. U. plans, and were inclined to let Mrs. Pashley nurture her own campaign.

INTELLIGENT