

Ship, July 27, Opens Season

Twenty Classes Arranged for the Polo Club Event; Edward C. Blum Heads the Committee in Charge

Summer horse shows start next week with the eight annual exhibition of the Polo Club...

Society to Entertain Long Branch Exhibit Next, July 29-31, Followed by Newport Show in August

Summer horse shows start next week with the eight annual exhibition of the Polo Club...

Members of the South Shore colony will do much entertaining in connection with the exhibition...

On the general committee are Mrs. August Belmont Jr., Mrs. Lewis M. Gibb, W. Russell Grace, Miss Marion Hollis, Harry B. Hollis Jr., Buell M. Schuyler, Parsons Jr., Harry T. Peters, Samuel T. Peters, Harold H. Weekes, Richard Wharton, Arthur K. Bourke, Henry Dick, Julia, D. Fairchild, H. Reman Duval and others.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burden, who sailed for Europe on the Olympic, will spend the greater part of the summer abroad...

Mrs. William Douglas Sloane is giving a house party, her estate in Lenox, at Elm Court, her over in Lenox, for her granddaughter, Miss Emily Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond...

Mrs. Herbert Shipman is a guest of her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Bradley, at their place on Wellfleet Island, the Thousand Islands.

Mrs. Oliver Harriman has left New London, Conn., for Santa Barbara, Cal., where she will be joined next month by Mr. Harriman.

Mrs. McMillan Gibson, who is to marry Major Morris E. Locke, U. S. A., July 12, in New York, has come to the city from Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Storrs Wells, who were in Newport for the late spring and early summer, have sailed for Europe to pass two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harrah, of 77 East Ninety-first Street, are guests of Mrs. E. Shepherd, at Sunnymead, their place at Narragansett Pier.

Mrs. Samuel N. Hinchley is at Hot Springs, Va., for a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brooks are giving a dance this evening at the Piping Rock Club for their daughter, Miss Barbara Brooks.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt will leave her country place at Hyde Park, N. Y., to-day and go to her villa at Bar Harbor, to remain until the end of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Terry sailed for Europe on the Olympic. They will pass the summer at Trouville, returning in October.

Mrs. Samuel A. Wellton has gone to Beverly, Mass., where she is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Livingston Hoyt.

Bruno Huhn will give a performance of Lehmann's "In a Persian Garden" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Brees, at Southampton, L. I., Tuesday afternoon, July 20. The assisting artists will be Martha Atwood, soprano; Mabel Ritch, contralto; Judson House, tenor, and Francis Rogers, baritone.

Albert Morris Bagby is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield at their place in the Thousand Islands, near Alexandria Bay.

NEWPORT PLANS SERIES OF MORNING MUSICALS Will Be Given at Cushing Memorial in August and September

Special Dispatch to The Tribune NEWPORT, July 7.—A committee made up of Mrs. George Peabody Eustis, one of the leaders of the musical coterie of the summer colony...

Baron Camillo Romano Avezzano, the Italian Ambassador, and his wife and daughter, Miss Colaninno, were among those registered at the Casino to-day for the season.

F. H. McAdoo, son of William Gibbs McAdoo, visited Newport to-day on an auto trip.

Mrs. Charles L. F. Robinson will address members of the Red Cross on Friday. Mrs. Robinson, whose son, a lieutenant in the marines, was killed in France, has recently returned from the cemeteries there, and she will speak on that subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Amory, of Boston, who came on for the Kane Frings wedding, were here visiting for a few days in the summer colony.

William Adams Delano, of New York, who was here as guest of Henry Clews, designed the Cushing Memorial, and came up for a final inspection before the building is dedicated.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mrs. A. C. Belknap Weds Becomes Bride of H. B. Bates

Mrs. Anne Cleveland Belknap, of Ithaca, Waterville, N. Y., was married yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Plaza to Harry Beecher Bates. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James H. Shield, and a reception followed.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates will live in Flannery, L. I. Mrs. Bates is a daughter of the late William Fiske Cleveland, of Iowa.

Miss Dorothy Grant Youngest Author, Horace Wade, 12, Visits Ohenryville

Bagdad-on-the-Subway Is No. Hick Town, Declares Thriller Writer in Search of Correct Local Color

Horace Atkinson Wade, America's youngest author, arrived in New York last night to see the city which figured largely, if not accurately, in his latest novel, "In the Shadow of Great Peril."

Horace admitted with a blush last night that when he had his hero and heroine saunter from Fifth Avenue three blocks down to Coney Island he was working with an insufficient knowledge of the geography. The more he sees of New York the better he likes it, though. The tunnel leading from the Pennsylvania Station to the Pennsylvania Hotel enraptured him, and when he soared to his room in an express elevator he issued his first statement, as follows:

"Geography is no hick town!" To-day Horace is going to visit the Statue of Liberty and Coney Island. Watch for the boy with the wide grin who is most interested in everything he sees on the subway. That will be Horace.

Horace comes to New York with two hats. One is for Secretary Tumulty and the other for Douglas Fairbanks and the other is for Douglas Fairbanks.

"That Mr. Tumulty he wouldn't even take our name to the President," said Horace. "We went to Washington on purpose to see the President. Wilson, now I don't believe he even knew we were there."

Not for nothing is Horace the creator of detective stories. His lean little fists came down with a bang on the table.

"That Mr. Tumulty, he's hiding something," he said. "I don't hate, Horace is probably the only twelve-year-old boy in the country who hates the greatest movie athlete, but that doesn't mitigate the fact that Douglas Fairbanks stole away 'Our Mary' just after she had promised to wait for Horace until he grew up."

Horace is accompanied on his travels by his father and his big brother Edward. Edward likes electricity better than books and confidently predicts that he will have to support Horace when he grows up and wears his hair long.

Her engagement to Frederick Dorfinger Suydam, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Farrington Suydam, of Montclair, N. J., was announced last night. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frederick Grant, of 1 West Eighty-third Street.

Lyautey Is at Last Member of Academy

PARIS, July 8.—General Lyautey, former resident French Governor in Morocco, to-day was received officially by the French Academy. Originally he was elected in 1912, but owing to his duties in Morocco and afterward in the World War his formal reception was delayed eight years.

Former President Poincare and Count d'Haussonville were his sponsors.

Georges Clemenceau should be the next member received, but he persists in his determination not to enter if the official ceremony in connection with receptions is to be performed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harrah, of 77 East Ninety-first Street, are guests of Mrs. E. Shepherd, at Sunnymead, their place at Narragansett Pier.

Mrs. Samuel N. Hinchley is at Hot Springs, Va., for a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brooks are giving a dance this evening at the Piping Rock Club for their daughter, Miss Barbara Brooks.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt will leave her country place at Hyde Park, N. Y., to-day and go to her villa at Bar Harbor, to remain until the end of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Terry sailed for Europe on the Olympic. They will pass the summer at Trouville, returning in October.

Mrs. Samuel A. Wellton has gone to Beverly, Mass., where she is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Livingston Hoyt.

Bruno Huhn will give a performance of Lehmann's "In a Persian Garden" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Brees, at Southampton, L. I., Tuesday afternoon, July 20. The assisting artists will be Martha Atwood, soprano; Mabel Ritch, contralto; Judson House, tenor, and Francis Rogers, baritone.

Albert Morris Bagby is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield at their place in the Thousand Islands, near Alexandria Bay.

NEWPORT PLANS SERIES OF MORNING MUSICALS Will Be Given at Cushing Memorial in August and September

Special Dispatch to The Tribune NEWPORT, July 7.—A committee made up of Mrs. George Peabody Eustis, one of the leaders of the musical coterie of the summer colony...

Baron Camillo Romano Avezzano, the Italian Ambassador, and his wife and daughter, Miss Colaninno, were among those registered at the Casino to-day for the season.

F. H. McAdoo, son of William Gibbs McAdoo, visited Newport to-day on an auto trip.

Mrs. Charles L. F. Robinson will address members of the Red Cross on Friday. Mrs. Robinson, whose son, a lieutenant in the marines, was killed in France, has recently returned from the cemeteries there, and she will speak on that subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Amory, of Boston, who came on for the Kane Frings wedding, were here visiting for a few days in the summer colony.

William Adams Delano, of New York, who was here as guest of Henry Clews, designed the Cushing Memorial, and came up for a final inspection before the building is dedicated.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mrs. A. C. Belknap Weds Becomes Bride of H. B. Bates

Mrs. Anne Cleveland Belknap, of Ithaca, Waterville, N. Y., was married yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Plaza to Harry Beecher Bates. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James H. Shield, and a reception followed.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates will live in Flannery, L. I. Mrs. Bates is a daughter of the late William Fiske Cleveland, of Iowa.

Youngest Author, Horace Wade, 12, Visits Ohenryville

Bagdad-on-the-Subway Is No. Hick Town, Declares Thriller Writer in Search of Correct Local Color

Horace Atkinson Wade, America's youngest author, arrived in New York last night to see the city which figured largely, if not accurately, in his latest novel, "In the Shadow of Great Peril."

Horace admitted with a blush last night that when he had his hero and heroine saunter from Fifth Avenue three blocks down to Coney Island he was working with an insufficient knowledge of the geography. The more he sees of New York the better he likes it, though. The tunnel leading from the Pennsylvania Station to the Pennsylvania Hotel enraptured him, and when he soared to his room in an express elevator he issued his first statement, as follows:

"Geography is no hick town!" To-day Horace is going to visit the Statue of Liberty and Coney Island. Watch for the boy with the wide grin who is most interested in everything he sees on the subway. That will be Horace.

Horace comes to New York with two hats. One is for Secretary Tumulty and the other for Douglas Fairbanks and the other is for Douglas Fairbanks.

"That Mr. Tumulty he wouldn't even take our name to the President," said Horace. "We went to Washington on purpose to see the President. Wilson, now I don't believe he even knew we were there."

Not for nothing is Horace the creator of detective stories. His lean little fists came down with a bang on the table.

"That Mr. Tumulty, he's hiding something," he said. "I don't hate, Horace is probably the only twelve-year-old boy in the country who hates the greatest movie athlete, but that doesn't mitigate the fact that Douglas Fairbanks stole away 'Our Mary' just after she had promised to wait for Horace until he grew up."

Horace is accompanied on his travels by his father and his big brother Edward. Edward likes electricity better than books and confidently predicts that he will have to support Horace when he grows up and wears his hair long.

Her engagement to Frederick Dorfinger Suydam, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Farrington Suydam, of Montclair, N. J., was announced last night. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frederick Grant, of 1 West Eighty-third Street.

Lyautey Is at Last Member of Academy

PARIS, July 8.—General Lyautey, former resident French Governor in Morocco, to-day was received officially by the French Academy. Originally he was elected in 1912, but owing to his duties in Morocco and afterward in the World War his formal reception was delayed eight years.

Former President Poincare and Count d'Haussonville were his sponsors.

Georges Clemenceau should be the next member received, but he persists in his determination not to enter if the official ceremony in connection with receptions is to be performed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harrah, of 77 East Ninety-first Street, are guests of Mrs. E. Shepherd, at Sunnymead, their place at Narragansett Pier.

Mrs. Samuel N. Hinchley is at Hot Springs, Va., for a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brooks are giving a dance this evening at the Piping Rock Club for their daughter, Miss Barbara Brooks.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt will leave her country place at Hyde Park, N. Y., to-day and go to her villa at Bar Harbor, to remain until the end of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Terry sailed for Europe on the Olympic. They will pass the summer at Trouville, returning in October.

Mrs. Samuel A. Wellton has gone to Beverly, Mass., where she is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Livingston Hoyt.

Bruno Huhn will give a performance of Lehmann's "In a Persian Garden" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Brees, at Southampton, L. I., Tuesday afternoon, July 20. The assisting artists will be Martha Atwood, soprano; Mabel Ritch, contralto; Judson House, tenor, and Francis Rogers, baritone.

Albert Morris Bagby is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield at their place in the Thousand Islands, near Alexandria Bay.

NEWPORT PLANS SERIES OF MORNING MUSICALS Will Be Given at Cushing Memorial in August and September

Special Dispatch to The Tribune NEWPORT, July 7.—A committee made up of Mrs. George Peabody Eustis, one of the leaders of the musical coterie of the summer colony...

Baron Camillo Romano Avezzano, the Italian Ambassador, and his wife and daughter, Miss Colaninno, were among those registered at the Casino to-day for the season.

F. H. McAdoo, son of William Gibbs McAdoo, visited Newport to-day on an auto trip.

Mrs. Charles L. F. Robinson will address members of the Red Cross on Friday. Mrs. Robinson, whose son, a lieutenant in the marines, was killed in France, has recently returned from the cemeteries there, and she will speak on that subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Amory, of Boston, who came on for the Kane Frings wedding, were here visiting for a few days in the summer colony.

William Adams Delano, of New York, who was here as guest of Henry Clews, designed the Cushing Memorial, and came up for a final inspection before the building is dedicated.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mrs. A. C. Belknap Weds Becomes Bride of H. B. Bates

Mrs. Anne Cleveland Belknap, of Ithaca, Waterville, N. Y., was married yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Plaza to Harry Beecher Bates. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James H. Shield, and a reception followed.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates will live in Flannery, L. I. Mrs. Bates is a daughter of the late William Fiske Cleveland, of Iowa.

Youngest Author, Horace Wade, 12, Visits Ohenryville

Bagdad-on-the-Subway Is No. Hick Town, Declares Thriller Writer in Search of Correct Local Color

Horace Atkinson Wade, America's youngest author, arrived in New York last night to see the city which figured largely, if not accurately, in his latest novel, "In the Shadow of Great Peril."

Horace admitted with a blush last night that when he had his hero and heroine saunter from Fifth Avenue three blocks down to Coney Island he was working with an insufficient knowledge of the geography. The more he sees of New York the better he likes it, though. The tunnel leading from the Pennsylvania Station to the Pennsylvania Hotel enraptured him, and when he soared to his room in an express elevator he issued his first statement, as follows:

"Geography is no hick town!" To-day Horace is going to visit the Statue of Liberty and Coney Island. Watch for the boy with the wide grin who is most interested in everything he sees on the subway. That will be Horace.

Horace comes to New York with two hats. One is for Secretary Tumulty and the other for Douglas Fairbanks and the other is for Douglas Fairbanks.

"That Mr. Tumulty he wouldn't even take our name to the President," said Horace. "We went to Washington on purpose to see the President. Wilson, now I don't believe he even knew we were there."

Not for nothing is Horace the creator of detective stories. His lean little fists came down with a bang on the table.

"That Mr. Tumulty, he's hiding something," he said. "I don't hate, Horace is probably the only twelve-year-old boy in the country who hates the greatest movie athlete, but that doesn't mitigate the fact that Douglas Fairbanks stole away 'Our Mary' just after she had promised to wait for Horace until he grew up."

Horace is accompanied on his travels by his father and his big brother Edward. Edward likes electricity better than books and confidently predicts that he will have to support Horace when he grows up and wears his hair long.

Her engagement to Frederick Dorfinger Suydam, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Farrington Suydam, of Montclair, N. J., was announced last night. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frederick Grant, of 1 West Eighty-third Street.

Lyautey Is at Last Member of Academy

PARIS, July 8.—General Lyautey, former resident French Governor in Morocco, to-day was received officially by the French Academy. Originally he was elected in 1912, but owing to his duties in Morocco and afterward in the World War his formal reception was delayed eight years.

Former President Poincare and Count d'Haussonville were his sponsors.

Georges Clemenceau should be the next member received, but he persists in his determination not to enter if the official ceremony in connection with receptions is to be performed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harrah, of 77 East Ninety-first Street, are guests of Mrs. E. Shepherd, at Sunnymead, their place at Narragansett Pier.

Mrs. Samuel N. Hinchley is at Hot Springs, Va., for a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brooks are giving a dance this evening at the Piping Rock Club for their daughter, Miss Barbara Brooks.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt will leave her country place at Hyde Park, N. Y., to-day and go to her villa at Bar Harbor, to remain until the end of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Terry sailed for Europe on the Olympic. They will pass the summer at Trouville, returning in October.

Mrs. Samuel A. Wellton has gone to Beverly, Mass., where she is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Livingston Hoyt.

Bruno Huhn will give a performance of Lehmann's "In a Persian Garden" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Brees, at Southampton, L. I., Tuesday afternoon, July 20. The assisting artists will be Martha Atwood, soprano; Mabel Ritch, contralto; Judson House, tenor, and Francis Rogers, baritone.

Albert Morris Bagby is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield at their place in the Thousand Islands, near Alexandria Bay.

NEWPORT PLANS SERIES OF MORNING MUSICALS Will Be Given at Cushing Memorial in August and September

Special Dispatch to The Tribune NEWPORT, July 7.—A committee made up of Mrs. George Peabody Eustis, one of the leaders of the musical coterie of the summer colony...

Baron Camillo Romano Avezzano, the Italian Ambassador, and his wife and daughter, Miss Colaninno, were among those registered at the Casino to-day for the season.

F. H. McAdoo, son of William Gibbs McAdoo, visited Newport to-day on an auto trip.

Mrs. Charles L. F. Robinson will address members of the Red Cross on Friday. Mrs. Robinson, whose son, a lieutenant in the marines, was killed in France, has recently returned from the cemeteries there, and she will speak on that subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Amory, of Boston, who came on for the Kane Frings wedding, were here visiting for a few days in the summer colony.

William Adams Delano, of New York, who was here as guest of Henry Clews, designed the Cushing Memorial, and came up for a final inspection before the building is dedicated.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mrs. A. C. Belknap Weds Becomes Bride of H. B. Bates

Mrs. Anne Cleveland Belknap, of Ithaca, Waterville, N. Y., was married yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Plaza to Harry Beecher Bates. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James H. Shield, and a reception followed.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates will live in Flannery, L. I. Mrs. Bates is a daughter of the late William Fiske Cleveland, of Iowa.

Youngest Author, Horace Wade, 12, Visits Ohenryville

Bagdad-on-the-Subway Is No. Hick Town, Declares Thriller Writer in Search of Correct Local Color

Horace Atkinson Wade, America's youngest author, arrived in New York last night to see the city which figured largely, if not accurately, in his latest novel, "In the Shadow of Great Peril."

Horace admitted with a blush last night that when he had his hero and heroine saunter from Fifth Avenue three blocks down to Coney Island he was working with an insufficient knowledge of the geography. The more he sees of New York the better he likes it, though. The tunnel leading from the Pennsylvania Station to the Pennsylvania Hotel enraptured him, and when he soared to his room in an express elevator he issued his first statement, as follows:

"Geography is no hick town!" To-day Horace is going to visit the Statue of Liberty and Coney Island. Watch for the boy with the wide grin who is most interested in everything he sees on the subway. That will be Horace.

Horace comes to New York with two hats. One is for Secretary Tumulty and the other for Douglas Fairbanks and the other is for Douglas Fairbanks.

"That Mr. Tumulty he wouldn't even take our name to the President," said Horace. "We went to Washington on purpose to see the President. Wilson, now I don't believe he even knew we were there."

Not for nothing is Horace the creator of detective stories. His lean little fists came down with a bang on the table.

"That Mr. Tumulty, he's hiding something," he said. "I don't hate, Horace is probably the only twelve-year-old boy in the country who hates the greatest movie athlete, but that doesn't mitigate the fact that Douglas Fairbanks stole away 'Our Mary' just after she had promised to wait for Horace until he grew up."

Horace is accompanied on his travels by his father and his big brother Edward. Edward likes electricity better than books and confidently predicts that he will have to support Horace when he grows up and wears his hair long.

Her engagement to Frederick Dorfinger Suydam, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Farrington Suydam, of Montclair, N. J., was announced last night. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frederick Grant, of 1 West Eighty-third Street.

Lyautey Is at Last Member of Academy

PARIS, July 8.—General Lyautey, former resident French Governor in Morocco, to-day was received officially by the French Academy. Originally he was elected in 1912, but owing to his duties in Morocco and afterward in the World War his formal reception was delayed eight years.

Former President Poincare and Count d'Haussonville were his sponsors.

Georges Clemenceau should be the next member received, but he persists in his determination not to enter if the official ceremony in connection with receptions is to be performed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harrah, of 77 East Ninety-first Street, are guests of Mrs. E. Shepherd, at Sunnymead, their place at Narragansett Pier.

Mrs. Samuel N. Hinchley is at Hot Springs, Va., for a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brooks are giving a dance this evening at the Piping Rock Club for their daughter, Miss Barbara Brooks.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt will leave her country place at Hyde Park, N. Y., to-day and go to her villa at Bar Harbor, to remain until the end of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Terry sailed for Europe on the Olympic. They will pass the summer at Trouville, returning in October.

Mrs. Samuel A. Wellton has gone to Beverly, Mass., where she is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Livingston Hoyt.

Bruno Huhn will give a performance of Lehmann's "In a Persian Garden" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Brees, at Southampton, L. I., Tuesday afternoon, July 20. The assisting artists will be Martha Atwood, soprano; Mabel Ritch, contralto; Judson House, tenor, and Francis Rogers, baritone.

Albert Morris Bagby is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield at their place in the Thousand Islands, near Alexandria Bay.

NEWPORT PLANS SERIES OF MORNING MUSICALS Will Be Given at Cushing Memorial in August and September

Special Dispatch to The Tribune NEWPORT, July 7.—A committee made up of Mrs. George Peabody Eustis, one of the leaders of the musical coterie of the summer colony...

Baron Camillo Romano Avezzano, the Italian Ambassador, and his wife and daughter, Miss Colaninno, were among those registered at the Casino to-day for the season.

F. H. McAdoo, son of William Gibbs McAdoo, visited Newport to-day on an auto trip.

Mrs. Charles L. F. Robinson will address members of the Red Cross on Friday. Mrs. Robinson, whose son, a lieutenant in the marines, was killed in France, has recently returned from the cemeteries there, and she will speak on that subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Amory, of Boston, who came on for the Kane Frings wedding, were here visiting for a few days in the summer colony.

William Adams Delano, of New York, who was here as guest of Henry Clews, designed the Cushing Memorial, and came up for a final inspection before the building is dedicated.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of East Orange, are guests of Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, at Beaumont.

Mrs. A. C. Belknap Weds Becomes Bride of H. B. Bates

Mrs. Anne Cleveland Belknap, of Ithaca, Waterville, N. Y., was married yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Plaza to Harry Beecher Bates. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James H. Shield, and a reception followed.

Miss Elsie Haynes, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, of