

Six Drownings Is Day's Total; Diver Killed

Two Coney Island Bathing Meets Death and Another Loses Life When Head Strikes Submerged Plank

Two Girls Are Victims

Unidentified Man Rescues Youths as Boat Upsets; One Body Is Recovered

Six drownings were reported in the greater New York district yesterday. One bathing was killed when his head struck a submerged plank and the body of a man missing since Friday was recovered. Many persons were rescued from death in the water.

Two were drowned at Coney Island. One was also lost his life. Three bathers were rescued from the surf.

The drowning victims were Moses Pimansky, eighteen, of 310 Madison Street, and James Marchantini, twenty, of 77 Catherine Street, Manhattan. Pimansky was drowned after diving from a jetty at the foot of West Twenty-third Street. The body was recovered. Marchantini was drowned while bathing at the foot of Stanch's Walk and his body also was recovered.

Arthur Orr, thirty-eight, of 1400 Flushing Avenue, Brooklyn, while bathing in Sheepshead Bay at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, dived from the pier in front of the Nellie Bly house, 3200 Emmans Avenue, and struck a submerged plank, striking in the plank Orr's jugular vein, killing him. The body was taken to the Brooklyn morgue.

Drowns in East River

Tillie Bogdansky, thirteen, of 218 East Twenty-ninth Street, Manhattan, was drowned while bathing in the East River at the foot of Woolsey Street, Astoria. The body was not recovered.

Eric Schenert, twenty-three, of 105 Irving Avenue, became exhausted while bathing in the East River, near the foot of Eighth Avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon and was towed to shore by a motor launch. He was taken to the Flushing Hospital.

Paul Engle, twenty-four, a chauffeur, of 152 Jamaica Avenue, Long Beach City, was drowned while bathing in front of the Troutville Club, Long Beach. The body was not recovered.

Maria Walker, fifteen, of 176 Magdalen Avenue, Elizabeth, N. J., was drowned at the foot of Crescent Street in Great Kills, Staten Island, yesterday afternoon. The body was brought ashore and ambulance doctors from the Staten Island Hospital tried to revive her.

Wallace Siegler, twenty-five, a boat dispatcher for the Long Island Railroad, was drowned at the foot of Stratford Street, Brooklyn, early yesterday morning. Siegler missed his footing in stepping from a float. The body was not recovered.

Two Boys Rescued

An unidentified man rescued two boys in Gravesend Bay, at the foot of Thirtieth Street, yesterday afternoon. William Perico, fourteen, of West Thirtieth Street, got deep water and was crying for help. John Sullivan, fourteen, of 150 Avenue M, Manhattan, tried to help him with row boat. The boat and both were foundering in the unidentified man jumped in and took them to shore.

William Sullivan, twenty, a school teacher, of 24 Thirtieth Street, Brooklyn, while bathing at the foot of West Thirtieth Street, Coney Island, was struck by a canoe. She was carried ashore and treated at the Coney Island Hospital.

The body of Irving Horowitz, twenty-one, of 50 West Twentieth Street, Newark, N. J., was found in Newark Bay, of Bayonne, yesterday by Walter Johnson, of 15 Trank Avenue, Bayonne. Horowitz had been missing since Friday. It is believed he was seized with a cramp while bathing.

Guatemala's Ruler Moves to Protect Rights of Voters

Herrera Notified Civil and Military Officials They Must Not Interfere Further Than to Keep Order

GUATEMALA CITY, July 22.—President Carlos Herrera has issued a circular letter addressed to all civil and military officials throughout Guatemala notifying them that they shall not in any way use their authority to interfere with the coming elections further than to see that order is maintained, that the rights of the voters are fully protected and that they are not molested in any way.

In some of the American republics, have been farcical. The jefe políticos of the departments and their subordinate officials commanding the various districts of municipalities, when an election was announced, simply registered the names of a desired candidate, and then turned them in as the electoral result.

During the twenty-two years Estrada Cabrera was in power there was only one presidential candidate and that was himself. In assuming the office as President interim, after the death of Reina Barrios, he was required by the constitution to convene elections for the Presidential period of six years within eight months. He failed to do so until six months after his assuming power. Cabrera complied with the constitution in that he called the other candidate, but he did not allow any other candidate in the election.

Herrera, having been designated President by the Congress, as required by law, succeeded Cabrera as President interim, and in compliance with the law designated the last week in August for the presidential election. Besides himself, there are two candidates in the field, José Leon Castillo, who was obliged to flee the country upon being nominated as a candidate, and opposition to Cabrera twenty-two years ago, and General Francisco Paenon.

In his circular letter to the authorities throughout the country the President Herrera calls attention to the purpose, long as he remains at the head of the government, to adhere strictly to the principles of true liberty, and that he will not nullify or permit the nullification of the electoral rights of any voter.

Marion's Great Rally in 1840

Dayton, Ohio, expects to see some political rallies during the next few months, but it is doubtful if any of them will surpass in size and enthusiasm the great White Man's rally here in 1840, during the "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" campaign. The historian of the day declare that the gathering was attended by 100,000 visitors.

Cardinal and Bishop Out for a Walk

Cardinal Gibbons and Bishop D. J. O'Connell, photographed on the Martin Maloney estate at Spring Lake, N. J. The home of Mr. Maloney, where they were guests, was robbed of valuables worth $100,000 Friday night while the prelate and other guests were sitting on the front porch.

"Kidnaped" Miss Returns To Mother and Spanking

While City Searches Day and Night for Little Blonde and Stranger Who Offered Her Candy, She Visits Uncle, Puts Babies to Sleep, Then Goes Home

The Police Department, a distracted mother and an army of relatives and friends, began yesterday what can be conventionally termed a city-wide search for little Miss Johneth Henderson, seven years old, of 161 East Thirtieth Street.

Detectives Seek Former Servant in Maloney Robbery

Papal Marquis Declares No Jewelry Was Taken by Burglars; Cardinal Gibbons, Guest, Lost Nothing

SPRING LAKE BEACH, N. J., Aug. 15.—While detectives have not developed a positive clue as to the identity of the persons who robbed the summer home here of the Cardinal and papal marquis, Friday morning, early Saturday morning, investigators are working on the theory that the robbery was committed by burglars who had received information from some general architectural plan of the Maloney house.

Detectives are endeavoring to locate a servant, recently discharged by Mr. Maloney. This man, they believe, may be able to tell them how the robbers were able to get into the house, secrete themselves in the cellar, and make their way to the first floor after the occupants had retired.

Mr. Maloney said to-night that the stolen property included all the silverware in the dining hall, the breakfast room and the serving room, several gifts presented to himself and wife on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, and a loving cup, the property of directors of the United Gas Incorporation of Philadelphia.

Mr. Maloney said the burglars did not go beyond the first floor. No jewelry was taken, he said, nor did Cardinal Gibbons or Bishop D. J. O'Connell, of Richmond, who are his guests, lose anything.

Elmer Dover, a butler, who has been in Maloney's employ less than a month, was the last person to see the Cardinal retire Friday night, the detectives learned. He told detectives that he locked all the doors and windows of the house before he retired. When he arose the next morning he found the dining room windows open and a rear door unlocked.

Cardinal Gibbons to-day preached in St. Catherine's Church, the beautiful Maloney Memorial at this place. Enrico Caruso sang at the same services.

Two Men Shot in Strike Outbreaks In Coal Fields

Relative of Former Governor of West Virginia Victim of Feud Between Strikers and Non-Union Mine Workers

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TRIBUNE
LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 15.—Twenty-two coal mines along the Tug River in Pike County, Kentucky, and Mingo County, W. Va., are closed because of attacks within the last few weeks by striking miners against non-union men, who took the strikers' places.

Kentucky state troops and West Virginia deputy sheriffs and state police are on constant guard, but this is not sufficient to prevent sporadic troubles, according to Captain V. G. Mullikin, of this city, who is on duty with a pack of bloodhounds to trail lawbreakers.

Reports to-night tell of the shooting from ambush of two men at Matewan, W. Va., near the Kentucky border, who were on duty with a pack of bloodhounds to trail lawbreakers.

Shipping Rules Declared To Menace U. S. Marine

Dollar Steamship President Predicts Great Future for Traffic if Statutes Are Shifted

The Cunarder Caronia, from Liverpool and Queenstown, which called at Halifax to discharge part of her passenger complement, arrived here yesterday with 246 travelers.

He said the American merchant marine would have a great future in its competition with the world's tonnage if the government would back it with laws that would help and not hinder this competition. There were laws on the statute books, he said, which would be extremely detrimental to American shipping.

Another traveler on the Caronia was Bishop E. McDonnell, of the Roman Catholic diocese of Brooklyn, who had been to Rome, Paris and London. While in London, he said, he observed that public opinion was about equally divided on the Irish question.

Bishop McDonnell brought with him the official appointments to the monsignori recently conferred by the Pope on several priests of Brooklyn and Long Island. The Bishop also brought promotions from monsignori to domestic prelate for the Rev. James J. Coan and the Rev. Michael J. Flanagan.

Worry Over Wife's Illness Cause of Howard's Suicide

Fellow Passengers Tell of Threats Made to End Life on Voyage From South America; Eluded Guard

Melancholy, brought about by his wife's illness and hallucinations because of his fancied mismanagement of business affairs, were the reasons given for the suicide of Adam B. Howard by fellow travelers who arrived here yesterday on the steamship Martha Washington from Buenos Ayres. Mr. Howard's death was reported in cable dispatches last week.

Mr. Howard, they said, had made several threats to take his life, and although a special watch was kept upon him no one believed that he would carry out his intention.

Mr. Howard was the South American manager for the American Express Company, and was on his way north from Buenos Ayres to join his wife, who returned to this country ill several months ago. He was depressed in mind when he boarded the vessel at the Argentine port on July 25.

A large party of friends bade him goodbye, and as soon as the vessel cleared the port he went to his stateroom, which he shared with Walter M. Wood of the National City Bank. Also on the vessel was Robert E. Barrett, of Richmond, Va., who is vice-president of the banking firm of Portalis & Co., of Buenos Ayres. Both were friends of Mr. Howard and tried to cheer him. Mr. Howard consulted Dr. Samuel H. Hodgson, the ship's surgeon, and informed him that he contemplated suicide. The surgeon, however, was unable to dissuade him.

When the vessel stopped at Rio de Janeiro July 30 Mr. Howard went ashore, cashed some money orders and bought new suits of clothing. On his return to the vessel he informed Hubert Beckett, the purser, that he wished to end his life.

When Mr. Howard did not appear for dinner that evening Mr. Beckett sent a steward to his room, and the latter found Mr. Howard dressed in his new suit and sitting in a chair with his face buried in his hands.

Half an hour later the steward visited Mr. Howard's room again, but the occupant was missing. He was never seen again. It is assumed that he jumped overboard. His money and a picture of his wife were found on his bed.

14,000,000 Smiths in World

The Smith family forms a considerable proportion of the white population of the world. It is estimated that there are seven million male Smiths, and allowing the female members of the family to be equally numerous, this gives a total of fourteen million Smiths, a number equal to the combined populations of Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Reorganization of Salvation Army Is Now Being Planned

United States Will Be Divided Into 3 Districts; Commander Evangeline Booth Is Supreme Head

A far-reaching reorganization of the Salvation Army, designed to put it in a position better to meet the enlarged demands that are everywhere being made upon it since the war, has just been announced by the executive officials of the body here. The new era upon which the Salvationists are entering involves not only a complete re-distribution of personnel, but also a re-distribution of the entire country for the Army's administrative purposes.

Remaining as head of all the Salvation Army forces in the United States is Commander Evangeline Booth, who has given fifteen years of service here. She continues as commanding officer of all the Army's forces in the United States and Hawaii, but with enlarged authority delegated to her in recognition of her successful direction of the war-time efforts of the organization both at home and abroad.

For administrative purposes the country has been divided into three territories—eastern, central and western, with headquarters respectively in New York, Chicago and San Francisco. Colonel William Peart, who has long been chief secretary in the United States, will leave New York with a promotion to commissioner and assume charge of the Army's work in the central territory. To New York as ranking officer comes Commissioner Thomas Estill, who heretofore has directed the Salvationist activities for the entire term half of the country from Chicago. The commander-in-chief for the new western territory will be Colonel Adam Gifford, formerly in charge of the work in New England, who promotion to the rank of lieutenant commissioner will take effect with his assumption of his new post.

Three Held in Hold-Up At Club in Brooklyn

Members of United Republican Organization Are Robbed of $3,000 in Cash and Jewelry

The regular Saturday night hold-up in Brooklyn occurred at the United Republican Club, 808 DeKalb Avenue, and one of the victims thought he recognized a former member of the club in one of the bandits. In consequence of this information the police arrested Samuel Watchinsky, a former member, although he is only eighteen years old; Samuel Ryan, of 64 Essex Street, Manhattan, and Benjamin Kaufman, of 127 Clinton Street, Manhattan.

The three were identified as members of the gang of five who got $1,100 in currency and more than $2,000 worth of jewelry at the club, and were held for examination in $5,000 each in the Gates Avenue police court yesterday. None of the money or jewelry has been found.

It was about midnight when the five robbers drove up to the club in a taxi-cab. One remained in the car. The other four got out and entered the club, where ten members were playing cards. Each of the intruders carried a revolver.

"Nobody move and nobody will get hurt," announced the leader. It turned out just as he said. Except for the somewhat painful extraction of stickpins and pocketknives, nobody was hurt and nobody moved until the robbers had gone and the dimming hum of their taxicab engine was heard.
