French Opened Arms to Greet K. of C. Pilgrims

California Jurist, Returning With 100 Brothers From Lafayette Ceremony, Tells of Esteem for U. S.

Red Flag in Italy

Compensated, However, He Says, by Seeing Stars and Stripes Over Vatican

The French liner Lafayette brought in from Havre last night 101 delegates of the Knights of Columbus who went abroad recently to present to the city of Metz a bronze statue of Lafayette. It was the largest group of the fraternity to return since the ending of the pilgrimage to Metz.

Prominent among the travelers was Judge William H. Langdon, of San Francisco, presiding justice of the state Court of Appeal, who was re-elected to office while in Rome.

He said the reception of the Knights of Columbus by the government of France and the French people was an amazing expression of their gratitude for America's aid in an hour of peril and a strong demonstration of the great desire to strengthen the ties between the two nations. "Never in the history of our republic," said Judge Langdon, "has a great and thankful nation so taken into its bosom a little group of Americans to symbolize its deep feeling of affection for America."

At first glance one might think that the great reception was an expression of the government's planned policy of statesmanship and the machinery of government. It was more than this. We had hardly landed on French soil when we were aware that the joy over our coming was something that was rooted in the hearts of the French people. Our K. of C. badges were the open sesame wherever we went. And when the formalities of receptions were over and we wandered about the cities and villages we got the true perspective of the deep love of the French people for America. Formality was flung to the winds in the streets and public squares.

The people of all classes, men, women and children, rushed up to shake our hands, danced around us in Maypole fashion and told us in their impassioned way how much they thought of the great America. I doubt if a reception of such magnitude and fervor can be equalled in this generation.

U. S. Flag Over Vatican "I regret to say that in some parts of Italy we saw the red flag of the Bolsheviks flying over captured shops and on the windows and on signs we pasted the names and emblems of Lenin. Nevertheless, there was compensation for this in Rome, for there as Americans we were proud indeed to see the American flag floating over the Vatican throughout our stay in the eternal city."

James A. Flaherty, supreme knight, who led the visitors throughout their tour, returned on the Lafayette. He said that more than 100 of the visiting knights had visited the cemeteries in France and knelt beside the graves where lay their dead and all had expressed the wish to let them lie in the soil where they fell. Mr. Flaherty himself urged that all Americans be content to leave their dead in France.

Among the returning knights were Judge William H. Donahue, of Oakland, Calif.; William J. Mulligan, John B. Kennedy and William Fox.

Doctor Sues City Hospital Head on Slander Charge

Superintendent of Blackwell's Island Institution Defendant in $25,000 Action

Dr. Hugh T. Booser filed suit for $25,000 in the Supreme Court yesterday against Charles B. Bacon, superintendent of the City Hospital on Blackwell's Island. He charges slander.

Dr. Booser is a native of South Carolina. He accepted a position in the City Hospital to perfect his training. While there, he said, Mr. Bacon made the statement that he was soliciting business from the patients and that he was not to be in a hospital. Mr. Bacon, it is alleged, also threatened to bring charges against the physician if he did not leave the institution, and also that he would prevent Dr. Booser from becoming associated with any other hospital.

Dr. Booser said that he subsequently obtained positions with St. John's Hospital and the Wyckoff Heights Hospital, Brooklyn, and that he was compelled to sever his connections with these because of the statements of Mr. Bacon.

U. S. War Savings Securities Upheld By Director Lewis

Treasury Official Says They Contain Every Feature of Finance Embodied in the Suggested Postal Plans

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—In anticipation of the resumption of the hearing of the Senate committee on reconstruction and production, headed by Senator Calder, in New York tomorrow, William Mather Lewis, director of the savings division of the Treasury Department, to-day made public the following defense of the present war savings securities:

"In the discussion now going on as to the desirability of raising the postal savings rates and thus increasing the funds available from this source, one element has been left out of consideration. That is, the rate of 4 per cent, the establishment of which, if it were made a security which always remains at par, has been suggested, but it has not been added that all these securities are already in existence in the form of Treasury postal notes."

"Every postoffice in the United States carries Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps. War Savings Stamps pay 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly if held to maturity, and are always redeemable, even before maturity, at par plus nearly 3 per cent interest."

"Treasury Savings Certificates having maturity value of $100 and $1,000, which have the same general features as the War Savings Stamps, are on sale at numerous postoffices and banks. An attempt for a 4 per cent rate on small savings is, therefore, without basis, inasmuch as such a rate is now being added to all these securities."

"The total amount of these small securities sold since the beginning of the war savings movement in 1917 is about $1,168,659,000. Of this amount, some $360,356,000 have been redeemed, leaving about $808,303,000 still in the hands of savers. Although sales have decreased since the beginning of the war, they have not decreased materially and the evidence is constantly accumulating that the people appreciate the value of savings securities as investments."

Michael P. Grace, Brother of Former N. Y. Mayor, Is Dead

Head of Companies Bearing Name Here and in London Began Career in Peru; Figured in World Finance

Michael P. Grace, chairman of the board of directors of William R. Grace & Co., head of Grace Brothers & Co., London, a brother of W. R. Grace, twice Mayor of New York, died yesterday morning in London, according to a cable received at his office here. His death, the cable states, occurred in his sleep. Mr. Grace was seventy-eight years old.

Michael P. Grace was born in Queens-town, County Cork, Ireland, and at an early age went to Peru, where his father, James Grace, had sought to establish an Irish agricultural colony, and where his elder brother, W. R. Grace, had become a partner in the trading firm of Bryce, Grace & Co.

When W. R. Grace came to this country and established W. R. Grace & Co., Michael P. Grace remained in Peru in order to build up the business, which grew to be the largest in the country. He operated a vast fleet of sailing vessels and held the Peruvian government's agency for the sale of nitrate of soda, managed by Baring Brothers in Europe and W. R. Grace & Co. in this country.

After the Chile-Peruvian war of 1877-'81 Mr. Grace, who by this time had become an American citizen and had come to New York to assume charge of the Peruvian nitrate business, and interested himself in the extension of the business into Chile.

In 1877 the firm was asked by a committee of Peruvian bondholders to attempt settlement of the Peruvian foreign debt, and for this purpose Mr. Grace was active in the establishment of the Peruvian Corporation, which undertook large projects for the development of Peru, including the construction of Peruvian railroads. Their negotiations made it necessary to establish a branch house in London, which was headed by Mr. Grace & Co., which later became known as Grace Brothers & Co., Ltd. Mr. Grace lived for some years in England and was prominent in the business and social life of London.

Mr. Grace is survived by his wife, who lives in London, and by three daughters—Mrs. J. S. Phipps, of New York; the countess of Donoughmore and Mrs. Josephine de Rothschild. He was a member of the Downtown, India House, Metropolitan, Piping Rock and Belchors, Wellington, Beekmantick, City of London, Harrington, Ranelagh and Carlton clubs of London.

Roosevelt Says Harding Would Set Up 'Barnesism'

Attitude of Republican Speakers Is Said To Be One of Lies

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—At a luncheon meeting of Democrats here to-day Franklin D. Roosevelt declared that the election of Harding and his ticket would set up "what people in this state know as 'Barnesism' throughout the country."

In his speech Mr. Roosevelt said: "The attitude of Republican speakers in many parts of the country is one of lies. In dealing with the League of Nations issue they make every attempt to mislead the public."

"In parts of the country where there is a so-called German vote, Republican campaign speakers try to get votes by warning that France and Italy are calculated to strengthen France and to condemn Germany to servitude. In districts such as northern New England they tell French Americans that the league on the contrary would fortify Germany, make her a greater power than ever and ruin France."

"In the same way they trifle with the people on the tariff question, telling interests benefited by exactly opposed tariff policies that a Republican administration offers them each the best chance for prosperity and increased profits."

ALBANY, Sept. 20.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, speaking here to-night, blamed the present Republican Congress largely for having taken no action to ameliorate conditions. He said if the Democratic party was successful at the polls in November he and Governor Cox, as Vice-President and President, respectively, "propose to take immediate action."
