Most of the members of society who have been spending the last few weeks at the fall resorts have returned, or will come back to the city by tomorrow in order to vote on Tuesday, and from now on the social life of the city will be gay for the time of the year than ever before. Already many small luncheons, dinners and theater parties have been given, and several large affairs are planned for the beginning of the open season and the Horse Show at Madison Square Garden. Some of those who are back will remain here only a few days, returning in a fortnight for the premiere at the Metropolitan.

In the upper room of the Hotel Biltmore there will be a large sheet and an automatic hand will write out the returns for the voters. In addition to this service, returns will be read in the various dining rooms. At the Commodore the bulletins will be read in the grill, the main dining room and the men's cafe, and announcements made during the evening in the lobby.
