French Embassy Gives Dinner, Ball, Reception

Series of Brilliant Functions Arranged in Washington in Celebration of Anniversary of Third Republic Colby Much Entertained

Japanese Ambassador Gives Dinner to Electrical Delegates in Beautiful Setting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—That there will be no state functions at the White House this season is a foregone conclusion. Already, however, official formalities are on otherwise, and the members of the diplomatic corps are entertaining the Secretary of State, who will reciprocate after he comes back from South America, where he is to return a series of official calls.

The Ambassador from Brazil, Augusto Cochran de Aencar, will entertain Mr. Colby to-morrow night, and a little later the Ambassador from Argentina, Thomas A. Le Breton, will give a dinner for him. Friday evening the Minister from Uruguay, Dr. Jacobo Varela, will give an elaborate dinner for Mr. Colby in the Pan-American Union Building.

Thursday evening there was one of the most brilliant series of entertainments at the French Embassy held there since pre-war days, when the Ambassador, M. Jusserand, and his American wife made an enviable record for hospitality. The event was in celebration of the anniversary of the third Republic of France. A reception and ball followed the dinner of forty or more guests. General Collardet, the military attaché, entertained at luncheon Thursday and then came the dinner at night with Secretary of State Colby representing the United States government.

To add still another thrill to Thursday night, the British delegates to the International Electrical Communications conference were entertained at a dinner at Warden Park Hotel in celebration of Armistice Day, and a dance followed.

The British Ambassador and Lady Geddes have been generous in their hospitality since coming to Washington, and they will add to their long list of affairs a ball Friday night.

Japanese Envoy Entertains

One of the most beautifully planned dinners seen in Washington since the Taft Administration and just before was that at the Sheraton Hotel Tuesday night, when the ambassador from Japan, Baron Kijuro Shidehara, entertained in honor of the Japanese delegates to the International Electrical Communications conference.

The large ballroom of the hotel was transformed into a beautiful Japanese garden, hanging lanterns and floor lights, and the drowsy lotus as a decoration on the transparent shades of a soft light. Little lanterns twinkling in the bower of green from which the orchestra played Japanese and American national anthems and other catchy music of both countries.

The table, with its inverted center, was turned into a garden, with softly lit pagodas half hidden by thousands of chrysanthemum blossoms, hanging the whole into one beautiful garden.

Screens flanked by huge artistic vases of Japanese chrysanthemums lined the walls, and at the front end of the ballroom, facing the guests of honor, were two draped curtains of maroon color showing the conventionalized chrysanthemum used by the Emperor.

Folk here await with no little interest the coming of Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, who, it is said, will spend at least part of the winter in Washington. Mr. White has leased a residence at 1785 Massachusetts Avenue.

Life must indeed seem dull at the White House now for Mrs. Wilson, who seldom leaves the President's side, even sharing the day and night vigil with the mother when necessary. There are only occasional breaks when she receives one or two guests, as on Tuesday, when she received Mrs. Groulx, wife of the Minister of the Netherlands.

It is with the new Administration that new impetus will be given official society. Four young folk in the immediate administrative circle, and two grandchildren of Mrs. Harding, Jean De Wolfe and George De Wolfe, children of Mrs. Harding's son, and the two sons of Vice-President-elect, and Mrs. Coolidge, and Miss Abigail Harding, sister of the President-elect, will figure at the White House part of the time, as will Mrs. Harding's daughter-in-law.

Summer Welles, head of the Latin American division of the State Department, and Mrs. Welles have taken a large apartment at 1785 Massachusetts Avenue.

The Speaker of the House and Mrs. Frederick H. Gillett are expected back in Washington near the end of the month, and the Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall will arrive about the same time. Other officials are dropping in with irregularity, especially Senators and Representatives who are interested in the housing of their families in their special committees.

Representative George Holden Tinkham came from Boston to pass a few days at the Hotel Arlington.

Mrs. Wakefield, of Dedham, Mass., arrived last week to visit for some time. Mrs. Frederick W. Pratt and her daughter, Mrs. Francis W. Dickinson, at 2015 Columbia Road.

Recital, Hunting Party and Dance Enliven Greenwich

Members of Fashionable Colony Play Bridge for Nurses' Training School Entertainment Fund

Special Dispatch to The Tribune GREENWICH, Conn., Nov. 13.—Miss Frances Bartlett has arranged recitals to be given at the home of prominent residents. The first one was held at the home of Mrs. Samuel F. Fryer, Field Point Park, on Monday evening. Mme. Marguerite Volzky, recently with the Russian Symphony Orchestra, gave a piano recital. The next recital will take place at the home of Mrs. Alfred Gilbert Smith, Edgewood Drive, on the evening of January 10, when George Harris Jr., tenor soloist at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, will furnish the program.

About $520 was realized for the entertainment fund of the nurses' training school of the Greenwich Hospital at a bridge party at the Greenwich Country Club Thursday. There were seventeen tables. Many society people of the town were present. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. John A. Topping, Mrs. Seymour J. Hyde, Mrs. E. C. Converse and Mrs. Allen B. Forbes.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wadsworth Howard, who recently moved into their new residence on Cross Lane, gave a housewarming party for a few friends last Friday evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall C. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ashton Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Ruppert, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, Harry Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. George Carhart, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Flinn and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Baffery.

A Halloween party and dance was given at the Ely Court School for Girls last Saturday evening. The parents of the students were the guests. Supper was served at 6 o'clock, after which there was dancing.

A party of Greenwich folk enjoyed a hunting trip at the Heartwood Club, in the Adirondacks, over the week end, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Jr. of Greenwich, who have been spending some time there. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin True-dale, Mr. and Mrs. Colby M. Chester Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John E. Woodruff and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Soutter.

Among the Greenwich residents who have left town recently for their winter homes in New York are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Watjen, from Mead's Point, 46 East Eighty-seventh Street; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wiggin, from Field Point to 630 Park Avenue; Mrs. G. W. Hubbell, to 59 West Forty-sixth Street; E. L. Wemple, from Grasshopper Farm to 240 Park Avenue; Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Mitendorf, from Field Point Park to 830 Park Avenue; Thomas L. Chadbourne, from East Brother to 620 Park Avenue; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sindenburg, from Rock Ridge to 135 Central Park West.

Luke Vincent Lockwood, of New York, president of the Greenwich Club, Inc., presided at the annual meeting of the association Wednesday, when twenty-three directors were elected for the ensuing year. William A. Evans is secretary and Frank S. Hastings is treasurer of the association.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Speckerman, of Hill Top Farm, sailed last Saturday for France. They will spend the winter months along the Riviera and in other parts of the South of France.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Coburn, who have been on a motor trip to Boston, stopped in New Haven and attended the Yale-Brown game.

Arrangements are being made for the ball by Midshipman F. J. Bridget, chairman of the hop committee. It is expected that 5,000 will attend the event, and the ballroom of the Commodore will be artistically decorated with the Stars and Stripes, the Navy colors, pennants and the flag of the Albatross. Music will be furnished by the midshipmen to New York.

City Federation of Women's Clubs Holds First Forum

Dr. Gulick Presents Principal Features of the Bill Designed to Establish New Immigration Policy

The New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Harry Lilly, president, held its first Tuesday Morning Forum at Hotel Astor November 9. Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, secretary of the national committee for constructive legislation, presented the main features and advantages of bill H. R. 10196, introduced in Congress in May, and which, if passed, will establish a new immigration policy. Merdon A. Sturgis, chief naturalization examiner in New York City, explained the law governing the naturalization of aliens and suggested remedial changes.

The next forum will be held at the Astor, November 23, at 11 o'clock, when Miss Mary Garrett Hay will speak on "The Significance of the Citizen's Vote for a Municipal Officeholder." F. H. La Guardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, will outline the "Powers and Duties of the Board of Aldermen."

The forum is open to clubwomen and their friends, and cards, at a nominal fee, may be obtained from Mrs. Frank F. Bradner, 360 West Twenty-first Street, or at the Astor.

All members of the Theater Club, Inc., are looking forward to November 23, when their president, Mrs. John H. Parker, will attend a meeting for the first time since an accident in February last, when she lost both limbs. Besides an unusual program, this meeting will assume the character of a welcoming reception to Mrs. Parker, and members of all women's clubs are invited to attend at the Hotel Astor at 1:30 p. m.

Cut in Hotel Rates Greatly Increases Atlantic City Colony

Boardwalk Celebrates Armistice Day, a Ball on Garden Pier Being the Leading Social Feature

Special Dispatch to The Tribune ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 13.—Styles changed on the Boardwalk this week. Furs were much in evidence, the first contingent of winter visitors from Canada and Western points in the United States showing specially sumptuous overgarments. Glass-enclosed rolling chairs were in evidence, and most of the hotels have inclosed their porch porches in readiness for winter loungers.

Travel increased with the passing of the election, and a number of prominent leaders in the recent political struggle are here for rest. Governor-elect Nathan L. Miller, of New York, motored as far as the Seaview Golf Club, on the mainland, where he remained for several days, denying himself to the inquisitive.

The general lowering in rates throughout the hotel section has had an encouraging effect on the patronage, and there is every prospect for the liveliest winter season ever known at the shore. Many of the new arrivals, who intend to go to Florida resorts later in the season, will remain here until after Thanksgiving.

Armistice day was generally celebrated along the boardwalk, and given on the Garden Pier being the leading social feature.

Women of the fashionable hotel colony are assisting in a drive being made for funds for the entertainment of convalescent soldiers, and expect to raise sufficient cash to give most of the one-time fighting men shore vacations during the winter and spring.

The season for shooting quail and other upland game opened this week and added another outdoor sport to the coast attractions. The first storms also drove ducks and geese to local waters and some fine bags were returned by sportsmen and sportswomen.

Golf continues to be popular and both mainland clubs will continue play throughout the winter.

Mrs. George M. Cohan has arrived at the Traymore, as have Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schroeder, of New York. William Potter, formerly Ambassador to Italy, was among other arrivals at the Traymore.

Miss Margaret Quinn and Miss Mary M. Hill came to the Ambassador from New York. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Leslie have joined the New York colony at the Almac. Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Samuels, who have been at Hot Springs, arrived at the Almac early in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Stanley, of Forest Hills, Long Island, are at the Shelburne. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart M. Coleman, of East Orange, are at the Seaside.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Seward arrived at the Marlborough-Blenheim from New York, as have Colonel and Mrs. L. D. Van Asken.

Mr. and Mrs. Donat, of Passaic, are at the Strand with Miss Donat and Miss R. Wittzere, of Basie, Switzerland.

Shut-In Society to Meet Handiwork of Invalids to Be Put on Sale

The Shut-In Society will hold its annual meeting in the chapel of the Brick Presbyterian Church Wednesday from 10:30 to 4:30 o'clock. Mrs. Charles E. Merrill, president, will preside.

This association is organized to send cheer and brightness into the lives of invalids by providing reading, visitors and correspondence and to supply appliances to invalids and cripples who are too poor to purchase them.

During the meeting there will be a sale of the handiwork of these invalids, who are trying to do something toward their own support.

Meadow Brook Club Plans Point-to-Point Race

Many Reservations Made for Thanksgiving Day Dinners at Garden City Hotel

Special Dispatch to The Tribune GARDEN CITY, L. I., Nov. 13.—Preparations are being made to make Thanksgiving one of the most notable that Nassau County has known for many years.

There will be reunion dinners at all the large country clubs of the county and at the Garden City Hotel reservations have been made for more than two hundred covers.

Numerous matches have been planned for the Salisbury, Meadow Brook, Garden City Country Club, the Cherry Valley and Garden City courses and also the Engineers' Club at Roslyn.

The members of the Meadow Brook Hunt Club are planning a point-to-point race for amateur riders Thanksgiving morning. This always attracts hundreds of lovers of fox hunting and steeplechasing, and this year the interest is greatly increased owing to the number of society folk who have been riding to hounds. On two occasions within the last two weeks more than one hundred and thirty riders were in the saddle of which fully seventy were women.

The meet this week from the country place of Joseph E. Davis, formerly mayor of Garden City, was one of the largest ever held on Long Island.

Arrivals at the Garden City Hotel this week include: Mrs. R. T. Halsey, Mrs. C. W. Ogden, Mrs. Maurice Le Montagne, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Mc Clement, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, Miss Dorothy Hamilton, Mrs. C. L. Hamilton, Mrs. Bram K. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Graham, Dr. A. W. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan S. Norton and Mr. and Mrs. William McCarroll, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. William H. B. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Niper and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Shore, of Brooklyn; Mrs. MacClurg Hayes, and

Eleanor Towne First Debutante of Season at a Dance

Guests at Affair Include Many "Buds" and Is Preceded by Number of Dinners Given by Kinsfolk

Miss Eleanor Swenson Towne has the distinction of being the first debutante of the season of 1920-'21 to be formally introduced to society at a dance. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Towne, gave a dance for her last night at their home, 405 Park Avenue, and the guests included many of the "buds" of the season and young men of society.

The affair was preceded by a number of dinners given by Miss Towne's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Pierson Swenson and Mr. and Mrs. Sven Albin Swenson, in the ladies' annex of the Metropolitan Club, and also one by Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Hammond, of 9 East Ninety-first Street.

Miss Towne was one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Helen Whitehouse to Charles Cobb Walker, of Boston, which took place in St. Mark's Church, Mount Kisco, October 23, and she is identified with the summer life there, where her parents have their country place.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rossiter Betts, of 270 Park Avenue, will give a theater party for their debutant niece, Miss Georgia Lawrence Wells, to see "Honeydew," at the Casino, with supper at the Ritz, on Wednesday. The guests will include Miss Annie Burr Auchincloss, Miss Louise V. Schieffelin, Miss Lee Dodge and Miss Laura Harding, all of them debutantes, and John Jay Schieffelin, W. M. V. Hoffman Jr., William A. Taylor Jr., A. Coster Schermerhorn and Louis G. Pooler.

Among the hostesses will be Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, Mrs. Samuel Schiff, Mrs. Owen Kildare, Mme. Berenice Pasquall, Mme. Karl Finlay, Mrs. M. T. Nixon, Mrs. Joseph Gutman, Mrs. Eva Phipps, Mrs. Dewitt Cook, Mrs. Evadne P. Turner, Mrs. J. Willis Smith, Miss Mildred Holland and Mrs. J. W. Loch.
