

Giants Repay Hospitality of Aviators With 28-1 Defeat—Collins Signs Contract at Camp

Fliers Really "Up in the Air" While Big Leaguers Run Amuck

Soldiers Well Satisfied With "Contest," as It Afforded Them Chance to Get a Close-Up of the Best Team McGraw Has Assembled in Years

By Charles A. Taylor
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 15.—The Giants were the guests of the Kelly Field aviators this afternoon and returned the hospitality by rousing the ball team of the aviation establishment by a score of 28 to 1. Uncle Sam's fliers were very much "up in the air," so far as the ball game went, playing in the fashion of the average college nine.

Whenever one of the aviators happened to get hold of the ball he either held fast to it and let the big leaguers scurry around the bases at will or made an atrocious throw, answering the same purpose.

The contest, however, was a boon to the soldier lads despite their miserable showing, for it gave them an opportunity to get a close-up of what is probably the best team McGraw has collected in recent years. McGraw, who there was an additional attraction in the presence of Long George Kelly and Ed Brown, both of these Giants were stationed for some time at the field during the World War.

Decide Issue at Outset
The ball game ceased being that after the opening of the first inning, when the Giants bunched six hits for seven runs. Bennett singled with one out and promptly stole second without molestation. Fordham Frank Frisch was hit on the right elbow and walked to first, aided by Jess Burkett, who rubbed the injured member vigorously on the way.

Ross Young drove out a three-bagger and two runs scored on the plate. Kelly singled Brown and Rapp reached first on errors. Gonzales hit safely and even Phil Douglas got a bingle. The net result was five more runs. The Giants added four tallies in the second, three in the fourth, none in the fifth, one in the sixth and four in the seventh.

The lone run for the Kelly fliers came in the ninth, when Clifford smacked safely to right field, the ball shooting through Walker's legs for a home run. This was practically the only chance the 3,000 aviators who watched the contest had to cheer a bit, and they made the most of it.

The lineup:
Giants—Burns and Bazeroff; 1st, Bancroft and Green; 2d, Frisch and Monroe; 3d, King and Walker; 4th, Kelly and King; 5th, Brown and Spencer; 6th, Rapp and Brown; 7th, C. G. Hendrix; 8th, Bennett; 9th, Douglas, Kelly and Young.

McGraw used twenty men in the game, the largest number he has put into action so far in an exhibition contest. The Kelly Field flyers to

Harry Harper Shows Best Form of Three Veterans; Squad Off on 5-Day Trip

By R. J. Kelly
SHREVEPORT, La., March 15.—Miller Huggins' roster of Yankees for the 1921 season was completed to-night with the arrival of Rip Collins, the dependable right-handed pitcher. Rip got his right to work less than an hour after his arrival in camp and with it inscribed his signature to a contract.

The arrival of Collins created no less joy than did news from Trappe, Md., that "Home-Run" Baker had boarded a train for Shreveport, and tacked on the bottom of the Mauler's message were the glad tidings: "Reach camp Thursday."

Collins appeared in splendid physical shape and volunteered to accompany the Yankee squad on its invasion of southern Louisiana. The coterie of regulars and rookies left here to-night for Lake Charles, where they will encounter the St. Louis Cardinals in the first inter-league game of the year to-morrow afternoon.

In anticipation of a strenuous five days and anxious to start off the preliminary season with a victory, the midge manager, Miller Huggins, charged through two strenuous practice sessions to-day. The afternoon grind wound-up with a practice battle between the "Rupperts" and "Hustons." The game ended in a 9-9 draw.

Squad Goes at Fast Pace
The session lasted for about an hour and a half. Huggins has been driving his men at a fast pace for the last few days with the object of getting them into condition for the coming games against the Cardinals.

He sent three of his veteran pitchers to the mound to-day for the first time. Quinn, Mays and Harper, the only three regular pitchers who will leave on the five-day trip to-night, each worked in the box for three innings.

According to present plans, Huggins will not start any of his first string pitchers in the fourth training game against the Indianapolis club, but he will have them for the three contests with the Dodgers at the end of the week. Jack Quinn started in the box for the Hustons, with Carl Mays as his opponent. Quinn cut loose with a few curves and registered five strikeouts in three innings, but he was pounded for seven hits, and the contest combined with a few errors, netted the Rupperts seven runs.

Mays went along fairly well for the first two innings but in the third his rivals fell on him like a ton of bricks and drove in six runs. He also issued two bases on balls and received some poor support. Harry Harper succeeded Quinn in the fourth inning and yielded only three hits for the remainder of the game.

Two of these were singles by Babe Ruth. Leubetter finished the contest for the Rupperts. He held his opponents scoreless until the sixth inning, when two successive three-baggers by Quinn and McNally and an infield out enabled them to tie the count. The lineup:

Rupperts—Foster, 1b; Roth, r. f.; Ruth, 1b; Wingo, 1f; Ward, 3b; Mitchell, s; Schang, c; Mays, p; Leubetter, p.

Hustons—Christensen, 1f; Connelly, c; Papp, 1b; Meusel, 3b; McNally, 2b; Hawks, r. f.; French, s; Hofmann, c; Quinn, p; Harper, p.

Score by innings:

Play Cardinals To-day
Manager Huggins is satisfied that the Yankees are now in shape to encounter their first test of real competition, and he is confident that the changes will give a good account of themselves against the Cardinals. Piercey and Ferguson will share the twirling burden against St. Louis.

The game ought to bring out a record crowd at Lake Charles, for it will mark the first appearance of Rogers Hornsby, champion batsman of the National League, and Babe Ruth, Home Run King on the same field. Hornsby is slated to play third base in the first inning of Milton Stock, who is still a hold-out.

Chick Fawcett gave the Rupperts an early lead by hitting Jack Quinn's first pitched ball over the left field fence.

Mrs. Hurd disposed of the first eight holes of the 36-hole event in 46-53-54, playing on the No. 1 course. Mrs. Hurd lost two strokes going out, taking 68 on the first and ninth hole, and was unable to better Mrs. Price's fine 39 for the last nine holes. The two leaders, who went around together, halved three of the last nine holes in 33.

Baker Leaves for Yankee Camp; Expects to Play in World Series

BALTIMORE, March 15.—J. Franklin Baker, of Trappe, Md., passed through this city to-night en route for the Shreveport, La., spring training camp of the New York Americans. Baker was to have joined the club in the South last Sunday, but was delayed by a sore throat, which has responded to treatment. The former home-run king is not entirely recovered, but believes he will be himself after a few days in the South.

"I am mighty glad to get back in harness," said Baker, "and believe I should be of some benefit to the American League cause in New York. I never felt better than I have all winter. I know I can play as good ball as I ever did. You see I always kept my hand in. I took part in more than sixty games last season."

"New York, I believe, has the strongest team in the American League and I am sure we will prove it through the coming championship race and in the next world's series. I'll do the best I can to help toward this end."

Eastern Yachtsman On Committee for King Albert Race

Capt. Morse, of Marblehead Club, to Act With Five Others in Arranging Start

As stated exclusively in The Tribune several weeks ago, a representative of the Eastern Yacht Club, of Marblehead, has been appointed a member of the American committee to handle the local arrangements for the start of the transatlantic yacht race for the gold cup offered by the King of Belgium.

An announcement of the appointment was made last night and it is expected that the fifth member of the committee will be named before Saturday. The last member will represent the Pacific Coast, where a syndicate has been formed to finance the entering of a vessel in the King's race.

The New England member of the committee was appointed yesterday by Baron De Cartier, Belgian Ambassador to the United States. He is Captain Henry A. Morse, one of the most prominent members of the Eastern Yacht Club, who was recommended by Commodore Sears. Captain Morse has taken part in several ocean yacht races and holds a number of trophies captured in a series of sailing races between New York and Bermuda.

The King Albert Cup race is scheduled to start from Sandy Hook on July 4 and finish at Ostend, Belgium.

Huston Finds Yankees Imbued With Spirit That Wins Games

Colonel T. L. Huston, half owner of the Yankees, returned yesterday afternoon from Shreveport, La., greatly impressed with what Manager Miller Huggins has accomplished in training so far. The Colonel believes the club will be a far more powerful one than that which represented this city in the American League this season.

"There is a far better spirit now than a year ago," said Colonel Huston. "Everybody is hustling to get in perfect shape before the opening of the season. Huggins always maintained that certain disturbers, who have been shifted to other clubs during the winter, were responsible for most of his disappointments last season, and it looks now as if he had the situation sized up right."

"Those who are looked upon as the real mainstays of the team and who were in poor physical condition for the opening of 1920 seem to have taken a lesson from last year's mistakes."

Ruth in Fine Condition
"Ruth is in much better physical condition than he was a year ago," continued the Colonel. "He is not so fat by far as he was in 1920. He is in Jacksonville, Fla., and he is working like a beaver. He is hitting the ball harder than ever before. The veteran pitcher, without exception, are miles ahead of the same stage of a year ago."

"If nothing happens to him, Carl Mays should have his greatest year in baseball. Shawkey and Quinn will be pitched for the top of the bell. The young pitchers, mostly long, promising but some are a year or two away from top company. Bill Piercey and Alex Ferguson, however, have greatly improved. Huggins, who believes them quite capable of regular duty in the American League."

The Colonel does not believe Huggins will have much difficulty in preserving a stone wall defense in both the infield and the outfield. Outfielders Christensen, Hawkes and Skinner are all that could be asked for from a fielding standpoint, and it now seems only a question of their ability to hit big home runs. The outfielders are real major league players alike, and veteran players alike are impressed with the worth of Wingo. The club will stake its reputation on preserving a stone wall defense in both the infield and the outfield. Mutt Jr. Will Pitch For High School Team

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., March 15.—Christy Mathewson Jr., who with his famous father has been a resident in Saranac Lake for several months, is to make his debut in the field which brought fame and fortune to his dad in the role of a pitcher for the team of the Saranac Lake High School.

The pocket edition of Big Six is a whizz with something on every ball he throws and that he will be the big detonation in the Adirondack school league.

event would not be able to hand "Babe" so many complimentary bases.

"One thing seems certain," continued Huston. "No matter how the defensive line-up may run, the Yankees should have greater driving power and more speed than in 1920. With Schang and Hoffman behind the bat, the defensive line-up, should be greatly improved. Anyhow, the pennant he is buzzing in every one's head down in Shreveport, and come what may, that can do no harm."

Hyde, of the Harvard Club, to lead the list of fifty foremost players of 1920-21. Dodgers Risk Drop into River To Take Trouncing by Browns

Six Homers Feature 17-3 Exhibition Game; Players Held Up 3 Hours

From a Special Correspondent
BOGALUSA, La., March 15.—The members of the Brooklyn team risked their lives coming here from their training camp in New Orleans this morning. The players were forced to leave the train and walk a trestle over the Bogue Chitto River, nine miles from this town. A mis-step while crossing the bridge meant a drop into the rushing water several feet below. Ed Koney carried an infant across the span.

After crossing the trestle the players boarded a waiting train and arrived here about three hours late. The thriller was made possible by rains in the northern section of the state which caused a wash-out.

In the afternoon the St. Louis Browns furnished the excitement. They beat the Dodgers by a score of 17 to 3 and in doing so collected twenty-one hits. The winners made eleven hits off the combined pitching of Cadore, Post Miljus, Shocker and Burwell twirled for the Browns. The Dodgers proved further advanced than any of Robbie's boxmen.

Six home runs were made and five of them are credited to Lee Fohl's men. The players who made four-base blows were Sialer, Jacobson, Burwell, Williams (two) and Lamar.

Cadore started for the Dodgers and pitched three innings. During his stay the Browns made four runs and five hits. One of the blows was Sialer's home run, which came in the first inning.

Post succeeded Cadore and in the fifth he was chased off the mound. In this inning the American Leaguers collected nine runs and registered eight hits. Six of the blows were made in succession. Miljus relieved Post and finished the game.

In the ninth session Jacobson, Williams and Burwell each knocked the ball over the right field wall. Lamar's homer was made off Shocker in the second round, immediately after a triple by Koney, who was caught at the plate trying to stretch the hit.

Major William Sullivan was a spectator in the game, which was the first between major league teams ever played here. The two teams meet again to-morrow.

It will be 20 by 25 yards and have every modern feature. The sum of $200,000 has been appropriated for the pool and plans are being drawn.

Great interest in the pool has been shown by Rear Admiral A. H. Scates, superintendent of the academy, and it through his activity that the seating capacity was increased from 1,500 to 3,000. The management hopes to entertain all the leading college swimming teams and have the finals of the Intercollegiate Swimming Association, if possible.

Tom Campbell to Try For 1,000-Yard Record

Fifteen crack middle-distance runners are scheduled to compete in the 1,000-yard run at the national indoor championship meet in the 22d Regiment Armory, Saturday night. This is the largest entry received for this championship in years.

Tom Campbell, of Yale, will try for the world's record in this race, and as he is running faster than ever before in his career, his chances of creating a new record appear very bright. He will have plenty of competition as Jack Sellers, Sid Leslie, Joe Higgins and Jimmy Connelly are all confident that they will win.

Urges New Racing Rules
BALTIMORE, March 15.—Thomas Clyde, one of the largest stockholders in Pimlico track, to-day submitted a new proposition to the State Racing Commission by which track managers may make their own rules for racing and submit them with their licenses. A Sale of Silk Hosiery at 55c

Back to 55c for pure thread silk hosiery—a welcome bit of news, indeed.

In pricing them at 55c we are blazing a new trail—they haven't as yet been manufactured to sell at that price.

A large quantity of blacks—some drop-stitched—and a limited quantity of cordovans—we can't promise that the cordovan quantity is sufficient to satisfy all comers.

Prudence counsels the purchase of a season's supply while the sale is on.

The heels, toes and cuffs are of mercerized lisle—toes and heels reinforced for more service and less darning.

For there's a very distinct saving—as will be instantly recognizable upon inspection of the hosiery itself.
