Kayser

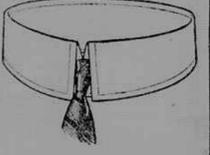

Julius Kayser & Co. are the largest manufacturers of silk gloves in the world. Their invention of the double-tipped finger is, in fact, responsible for the place of the silk glove as an article of practical wear.

In their eleven plants they also manufacture Silk Hosiery, Silk Underwear and Knit Underwear. For all these products KAYSER is distinctly known as a "quality" name.

Thomas Aquinas wrote of Jenson, the printer, "In the beauty, dignity, and accuracy of his printing let me (with the indulgence of all) name him the first in the whole world; first likewise in his marvellous speed. He exists in this our time as a special gift of Heaven to Men."

KAYSER would probably not describe P. P. C. with such extravagance. Nevertheless we add with pleasure their distinguished name to our list of customers.

Armored Cars Guard Funeral Of Sinn Feiners

Republican Honors Paid to Brothers Slain in Belfast; Shops Are Closed and All Traffic Suspended

4 Watching Cortège Shot

Seven Members of Police Wounded in Ambush as Attackers Employ Bombs

BELFAST, April 27 (By The Associated Press).—A funeral unique in the history of Belfast was held this morning when Patrick and Daniel Duffin, the two brothers who were shot and killed here at midnight Saturday, were buried. Sinn Féin honors were paid from Falls Road to Kent Street, where the military assumed control.

The two motor hearses containing the bodies were preceded by armored cars bristling with guns. In front of the mourners was a lorry filled with soldiers with rifles at the "present arms," and behind them was another armored car.

In Falls Road scenes of a moving character were witnessed. The shops were closed and all traffic suspended. The Most Rev. Joseph MacRory, Bishop of the Diocese of Down and Connor, was in the dense crowd.

The coffins of the brothers were draped with republican flags. Bands of girl scouts sang hymns and recited the rosary in Irish at intervals. The excitement engendered by the passing of the funeral cortège culminated in a sharp party encounter in the Old Lodge District, in which a young man was seriously wounded by a gunshot. The shot was fired from an armored car. Three other persons suffering from slight wounds were admitted to hospitals.

Seven Policemen Wounded
Seven members of a police party were wounded in an ambush at Newry County Down, last night, in which the attacking force employed bombs and revolvers. The town was thrown into a state of panic as a result of the bomb explosions.

Shortly afterward another police patrol intercepted and captured three members of the ambush party, upon whom loaded revolvers and bombs were found. The prisoners were taken to the military barracks.

Four to Die in Cork
CORK, April 27 (By The Associated Press).—Four men are to be shot tomorrow morning at the military barracks here. They are Patrick O'Sullivan, Maurice Moore, Patrick Ronayne and Thomas Muleahy.

The men were convicted of levying war against the British crown forces. The corporation and the Harbor Board of Cork have passed a resolution saying that as the British High Court in Ireland and the British ministry recognize the state of war existing, the executions will contravene civilized warfare and the dictates of common humanity.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to President Harding and Pope Benedict.

Reprisals Reported at Killrush
DUBLIN, April 27.—A headquarters statement to-day announced that because of the murder of Sergeant MacFadden and an attack on the crown forces at Killrush the houses of John Leddy and William Lough had been destroyed as a military operation.

An attack on Unionists is reported from Armagh, where an attempt was made to burn the Ballyna Orange Hall. Two houses were destroyed with bombs. The official statement attributes this destruction to the Irish Republican army.

Justice Fawcett Urges Return to Whipping Post

Brooklyn Jurist Says Pain Must Be Inflicted on Present-day Criminals

A return to the whipping post as the most effective deterrent of crime was advocated yesterday by Justice Fawcett, in the Brooklyn Supreme Court, when he sentenced Sol Deneff, of 139 Liberty Avenue, to from ten to twenty years on a highway robbery charge.

Prisons are too comfortable to serve as threats to those of criminal tendencies, the court pointed out, because there is no pain suffered and no humiliation.

"The time has come," Justice Fawcett said, "when the judicious use of the lash would meet a long-felt want in making our streets and parks safe and in protecting the lives and property of our people. This would not be going back to barbarism or the Dark Ages, but would be a means of affording honest, decent-living people the full enjoyment of their property and a peaceful pursuit of their righteous way."

Vandals Chop Historic Oak

Tree Stub Under Which Washington Took Shelter Removed

Residents of North White Plains, N. Y., were indignant yesterday when they discovered that during the night vandals had chopped down and removed the stub of the ancient oak beneath whose branches General Washington once took shelter. Detectives are trying to solve the mystery and the White Plains chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution intend to take over the site of the tree and mark it with a tablet.

The oak was estimated to be more than 600 years old when its crown was ripped off in a storm in 1917. Later another section of the tree was felled by the wind. The relic, which stood until yesterday morning beside North Broadway, was less than six feet in height. Long before the incident which gave rise to the Washington legend the whites are said to have negotiated a treaty with the Indians beneath the oak.

HAMPTON, Va., April 27.—Stormy weather forced the express cruiser Gar II Jr., which is attempting to establish a record run between Miami, Fla., and New York, to dock to-night in Hampton Creek.

Gar Wood, of Detroit, owner and pilot of the boat, said he hoped to get away on the last of the trip tomorrow morning.

Five Indicted White Sox To Ask Immediate Trial

Gandil and Cicotte Promise to Appear in Chicago and Give Bond

CHICAGO, April 27.—Attorneys for five of the indicted White Sox baseball players—Buck Weaver, Oscar ("Happy") Felsch, Claude Williams, Fred McMullin and Swede Risberg—notified George A. Gorman, Assistant State's Attorney, to-day that they would go before Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald, of the Criminal Court, to-morrow and file a demand for an immediate trial for the indicted men.

Michael Ahern, one of the attorneys representing the ball players, said that under the Illinois law this would mean that the men would have to be tried in July or the indictments against them would be dismissed automatically.

Chick Gandil, arrested in Los Angeles yesterday in connection with the baseball scandal, was permitted to go free on his own recognizance because of assurances he had given state officials here that he voluntarily would come to Chicago and furnish bond pending his trial. It was said at the State's Attorney's office.

Gandil said he would start for Chicago to-morrow night.

DETROIT, April 27.—Eddie Cicotte, former Chicago American pitcher, named in connection with the baseball scandal, will appear voluntarily in Chicago within a day or two and furnish bond pending further action in the case.

Woman Says Slain Man's Wife Kissed Farmhand

Neighbor Saw Mrs. Terry, on Trial for Murder, in Lap of Workman

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TRIBUNE
ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 27.—Mrs. Dwight Dunlop, of New Hudson, testified at the trial of Blanche Terry for the murder of her husband, Fred Terry, which began at Belmont to-day, that three years ago she entered the death of her husband, Fred Terry, Terry farmhouse and found Mrs. Terry seated on the lap of Fred Harris, a farmhand. They were hugging and kissing, Mrs. Dunlop said.

Mrs. Terry is accused of giving her husband strychnine in his breakfast on September 2, in order that she might marry Ferris after Terry's death. Ferris died the day Terry died. Mrs. Dunlop testified she saw Mrs. Terry throw something into the kitchen range when she went to the house, and that the woman declared no one else would be poisoned by the stuff.

Dr. Fred Ballard, of Rushford, said Terry was dying when he arrived and declared his wife gave him something. Mrs. Terry was indifferent, the physician said, washing the breakfast dishes while her husband was dying. Dr. Ballard said the farmer begged him to give him something to relieve him of his agony so he might die easier.

Carroll McComas Renounces Appointment in Favor of Mother of Her Fiance

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TRIBUNE
PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 27.—Carroll McComas, actress, who was named executrix, as well as sole beneficiary, of the estate of her fiance, Howard J. Flannery, of this city, who died in New York December 24, has renounced the appointment as executrix with bond, it was announced to-day, in favor of the decedent's mother, Mrs. Harriet Flannery.

No estimate of the value of the estate has been made. Mr. Flannery was connected with several coal companies and other business concerns in western Pennsylvania. The will has been filed for probate here and no contest of its provisions is expected.

Mr. Flannery's father, James J. Flannery, died in March, 1920, leaving an estate valued at more than $2,000,000. His widow has the use of the money during her lifetime and at her death it is to be divided evenly among their children subject to the provision that if any of the children "misbehave in such a manner as to bring scandal, or discredit upon my name, or family, my wife is empowered to disinherit them."

Miss McComas is appearing in New York in "Miss Lulu Bett."

Both Sides in British Coal Strike Weakening

After Nearly Month of Idleness More Conciliatory Tendencies Are Being Shown

From The Tribune's European Bureau

LONDON, April 27.—As the striking coal miners near the end of a month of idleness both sides are growing more feeble by the struggle and are showing more conciliatory tendencies. The government gradually is increasing its offers to help the poorer districts if the miners accept the revised proposals of the owners. To-day it proposed to contribute £500,000 monthly for a limited period, so that the average wage reductions should not be more than three shillings, of 60 cents, a day.

While the leaders of the miners hold out for two shillings as the maximum wage reduction, and theoretically continue their demand for a national wage agreement, there are indications that they soon will be willing to compromise.

The related act of the railway men in refusing to move coal was modified to-day so that coal for public utilities is not affected, but the reductions of local and through train service continue, and only about one-third as many trains are running now as before the strike. The 50 per cent cut in street lighting and further rigorous restrictions on the use of fuel are evidence of the growing shortage of coal.

Many London firms, including the London underground railways, are considering the substitution of oil for coal, not only to tide over the present situation but in order to be prepared for similar emergencies in the future.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., April 27.—A change of bartenders and an increase in trade was the only noticeable effect which a raid conducted by Chief of Police Henry Burke to-day had on the saloon of Nathan Hurwitz here.

According to Chief Burke, when he looked in on the Hurwitz saloon the first time, men were standing two deep at the bar. He arrested John Rundle, bartender, on a charge of violating the state prohibition law.

An hour later Chief Burke returned to the saloon, expecting to find it deserted. Instead, he found even a larger crowd gathered about the bar than on his previous visit. In Rundle's place he found Gus Simons, who, he charged was "setting 'em up" quite as expeditiously as his predecessor.

He arrested Simons on a charge of violating the prohibition law, and then arrested Hurwitz on a charge of maintaining a public nuisance, in the hope of putting a stop to the further employment of bartenders.
