

Weeks Fights Army Cut to 150,000 Men

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Before the Senate Military Affairs Committee this afternoon Secretary of War Weeks took a pronounced stand against the reduction of the army to 150,000 as provided for in the army bill as it passed the House. He declared that the reduction contemplated by the House bill would be "utterly demoralizing to the army."

It was "altogether problematical" whether the troops would be returned from Germany in the near future, said Mr. Weeks. He declined to go into a discussion of this subject. The fact that Secretary Weeks is strongly opposed to the army being reduced to 150,000 means in all likelihood there will be a clash between Senate and House over the size of the military force. It is expected the Senate Military Committee will report the bill with provision for a 175,000 army and that the Senate, after a fight, will not act on it.

"To reduce the army in accordance with the provisions of the bill approved by the House," said Secretary Weeks, "would mean that we would have to cut the army to 120,000 men in order to get the average of 150,000 proposed in the bill. "Would Demoralize Army" "The present strength of the army is 230,000 men and 14,000 officers. The number of demoralizations is large, due to hard times. We cannot make the reductions called for by the House bill without utterly demoralizing the army. We should not be put to the expense and inconvenience of discharging our trained men and then recruiting to bring it up to the size of the army proposed. "We cannot make changes in the following departments of the army: medical corps, 813; engineering, 1,000; signal corps, 1,000; ordnance and coast artillery. If they were materially reduced, the property under these branches would deteriorate and become a loss. "The reductions, then, must be in the infantry, the field artillery and the cavalry, which total now about 131,000 men. In the infantry, for instance, we leave only 800 men to a regiment, or about 40 men in a company, which would be only a squad. It would cut down the number of companies in the United States only to 20,000 men of our actual fighting force. "In that connection I wish to say that special uses arise from time to time. One of them was a call for troops at Galveston, Tex., to suppress disorders there. Yesterday, as you know, we had a call from the Governor of West Virginia calling attention to the warfare there, both in Kentucky and West Virginia, in which one or two men had been killed. Troops Ready for Cuba "A large division of men had been kept in hand for use in Cuba if developments had required their presence. Under the House bill we would have to gather up about all the available men in the United States if we had to duplicate those men. "While we are engaged in war, we have other duties to perform and must be prepared to do it. "Dwelling further on the size of the army, Mr. Weeks said it was smaller in proportion to population than that of these "troubled times" and that the army ought not to be reduced "below the safety point."

Senator Hitchcock asked if 1,000 troops would not do as much good as 15,000 in Germany, but Mr. Weeks would not discuss the matter. The Secretary also asked how the bill increased $24,324,000 over the House bill, which would bring it up to about $345,000,000.

British Army Mission Is Reported at Chita Recognition of New Siberian Republic by Powers Is Rumored at Moscow "RIGA, Latvia, May 13.—The arrival of a British military mission at Chita, capital of the Far Eastern Republic of Siberia, is reported in a Moscow dispatch to the Latvian Telegraph Agency, which adds that recognition of the Chita government by the powers is imminent. In connection with the Far Eastern situation, a local dispatch reports that the Prince of Idenburg is organizing new forces in Siberia "join General Semenov and Japan against the Bolsheviks."

LONDON, May 13.—British official circles this afternoon disclaimed that any immediate program was afoot for recognition of the Far Eastern Republic of Siberia, but it was suggested that a step was not impossible in the fact form, as in the case of Soviet Russia. The Far Eastern Republic, it was declared, recently divested itself of Bolshevik influences and is asserted to be displaying fresh signs of responsibility. Captain to See Daughter Partial Custody Upheld in Kennard Divorce Case The Appellate Division yesterday sustained the order of Justice Finch, in the Supreme Court, that Captain William F. Kennard, formerly of the Quartermaster's Department of the Army, shall have the custody of his six-year-old daughter three months each year so long as he continues to make his home with his mother, Mrs. Wilhelmine S. Kennard, who has a summer home at Greenburgh, N. Y. When Mrs. Elizabeth H. Kennard obtained a divorce from Captain Kennard, James H. Halsted, of Kingston, N. Y., a retired broker, deposed that they had retired together and that he had a claim on the Kennard child. Mrs. Kennard appealed from the part of Justice Finch's decree which gave the custody of the child to Captain Kennard three months in the year.

Cited as Draft Deserters

The fifth list of men classified by the draft authorities as deserters was issued yesterday by Headquarters, 2d Corps Area, at Governor's Island. The Tribune does not vouch for its accuracy; it is printed just as it was given out by the army authorities. Investigation of the names included in the earlier lists has revealed inaccuracies. Men listed as deserters actually served throughout the war. If similar mistakes have been made in the list published to-day The Tribune will be glad to publish corrections. The list follows:

Hero of Many Fights on New "Slacker" List

War was declared he moved to Rhode Island and enlisted in the Yankee Division, made up of National Guard troops of New England. He returned to Long Island City after his discharge, but went back to his home in Rhode Island. The name of the town where Johnson resides was not known. One of the men cited as a deserter by Local Board 175, Brooklyn, is said to have served overseas with a Canadian artillery regiment. He is Joseph Nicholas Jarvis, of 1110 Cypress Avenue, Brooklyn, and he is now believed to be engaged in domestic service in New York City. William H. Gerhart and Michael Naimari, alleged delinquents in the draft and before they were called for service, Gerhart lived at 1008 Forest Avenue, Queens, and was cited by Local Board 175. The other man lived with his sister in the World War, at 134 Seventh Street, Long Island City. He was one among a number of others listed from Local Board 171. Enlisted With Canadians The family of Harry Goldberg, living at 322 East 119th Street, said last night he had enlisted in the British army, having enlisted in New York in September, 1918. He was sent to Canada and then went overseas, receiving his discharge in London. At the time of his enlistment he was a British subject, but he has since become an American citizen. Goldberg's name appears on the list of Local Board 185, and the address is given as 340 East 115th Street. Samuel D. Richman, cited from Local Board 160, with address given as 1701 Lexington Avenue, was defended by the janitor's son. He said that Richman was in the regular army before America entered the war and that he was not discharged until after fighting had ceased. Richman is a British subject on a street railway line, but his address is unknown. Angelo Cusano, whose address was given as 2128 First Avenue, lives with his family at the closing of the United States. He is thirty-six years old. He registered, but says he was not called for service. Another day of inactivity passed at the board today, as more men having reported voluntarily to have their claims investigated.

Hardware Men Oppose Tax for Soldier Bonus

Revision of Seamen's Bill and Repeal of Excess Profits Levy Urged ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 13.—The American Hardware Manufacturers' Association here today urged the repeal of the excess profits tax and the higher surtaxes on personal income to be reduced. The association also expressed adverse judgment upon the pending bill for the restriction of immigration. Murray Sargent, of New Haven, Conn., in presenting the report of the resolutions committee, of which he is chairman, obtained the approval of the convention for the sending of the resolutions to each member of both branches of Congress. 120 Chicago Girls Quit Homes in Last 6 Months Too Easy Marriage, Too Much Drink, Too Easy to Sign Hotel Register, Says Investigator CHICAGO, May 13.—Chicago girls run away from home—120 closed the front door for the last time in the last six months. Because Chicago judges allow them to leapfrog from Miss to Mrs. too easily. Because there are too many places to drink and toddle. Because it is easy to sign a name in a hotel register. Because some parents say "No" too readily and "Yes" too weakly. Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, president of the Juvenile Protective Association, made public today results of a six months' study of the runaway girl problem in Chicago. She urged that marriage laws be operated as effectively as child labor laws and recommended an amendment to the existing marriage laws, providing for a period of ten days, or two weeks, between the issuing of the license and the marriage ceremony. Held in Sea Treasure Plan Alleged Stock Salesman Charged With Grand Larceny When John Karve, of 167 Cooper Street, was arraigned before Magistrate Polwell in the Gates Avenue Court yesterday on a charge of grand larceny for fraudulently issuing stock certificates, detectives of the Ralph Avenue Station asserted that the Deep Sea Salvage Company, for which Karve is said to have sold stock, does not exist. It was further charged that Karve had found at least twenty persons who had invested $1,000 each in his scheme to recover treasure sunk at sea. According to Detective John Powers, who arrested Karve, the prisoner was president of the Leavitt Deep Sea Salvage Company, of 926 Broadway, until three months ago, when his resignation was required. It is alleged in the complaint against Karve that he appropriated about $3,000 of his company's funds, which he had collected, and that he issued stock certificates in the name of the Leavitt company to the detectives, is not listed at Albany.

Weeks Says Publication Will Correct Draft List

Those Inaccurately Carried in Records as Slackers Can Clear Their Names WASHINGTON, May 13.—Lists of recorded draft evaders should be published in fairness to the men whose names erroneously appear on those lists, Secretary Weeks said today. Discussing errors that have been revealed to date through publication of the lists in some cities, the Secretary said that the lists as issued especially state that the men named thereon are carried as draft evaders only according to the records of the War Department. "The War Department hopes the errors will be very few," Mr. Weeks added. "We have exercised every precaution in the lists having been checked three times by the Adjutant General's office and then referred back to the local boards. It would be too bad if the descendants of men who served honorably in the World War should, fifty or one hundred years from now, look up the records of their forebears in the War Department and find them listed as draft evaders. Publication gives each man a chance to clear up his record."

Pershing to Become Army Chief of Staff

staff will remove all causes for friction which might develop after the officer has been assigned to this post. Under the dual assignment, General Pershing will operate through General Harbord with reference to the activities of the War Department General Staff, and thus will be enabled to give personal attention to the larger task of organizing and training for actual war purposes all the elements of the main power of the nation. Harbord Would Be Staff Chief in War The role of General Pershing, therefore, in peace times will be to prepare the combat forces of the nation for a military emergency leaving to General Harbord the task of accompanying the large training scheme with the preparation for adequately supplying the forces in the field. Should war come, General Pershing would instantly take command of the combat forces of the army establishment, while General Harbord would automatically become chief of staff. The selection of General Pershing and General Harbord for these important duties again brings together two officers who occupied perhaps the most important posts in the American Expeditionary Forces. General Harbord, who is now commander of the Second Division at Camp Travis, Texas, served as Pershing's chief of staff at Chateau-Thierry in 1918, and was in command of the general headquarters of the service of supply. He is not a graduate of West Point, but having entered the army in 1889, he made rapid advances in the service, attaining the rank of major general on September 8, 1919.

J. R. Nugent Loses Suit For $75,000 War Profits

Politicians Use of Influence to Get Camp Merritt Contract Denounced by Court The use of political influence to obtain a war contract for another in the hope of reaping a small fortune for himself did not avail James R. Nugent, Democratic leader in Newark, Vice-Chancellor Backes, in deciding against Nugent and Joseph A. Wright, one of his aids, called Nugent's act "subversive of the public welfare." Nugent and Wright sued William H. Fissell, a contractor who built Camp Merritt, for half of the $150,000 profits on the job. "Influence, individual and inspired, personal and political, was the commodity and the only consideration of the contract," the court said in his opinion. "Contracts based upon such consideration are universally condemned as subversive of the public welfare, and the reason is obvious." Wright was characterized by the court as a "honest and upright man," who the Vice-Chancellor added, "is a power in politics and recognized as the Democratic boss of New Jersey."

Wife Has Actor Arrested

Anxiety Over Alimony Makes Him Miss Performances Ivan Christy, an actor, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Murphy, and Eisenstein, on an order obtained by Mrs. Tove Christy, of 134 East Twenty-eighth Street, who is suing him for a divorce. Christy was arrested at the Hotel America, where he lives, and being unable to furnish Sheriff Knott with $3,000 bail he was taken to Ludlow Street jail, thus missing his matinee and evening performances. Mrs. Christy said her husband intended to leave the state, and she feared he would not pay the $50 a week alimony awarded her by the court pending her action for divorce. She said Christy is receiving a salary of $150 a week, that he abandoned her four years ago and has allowed her only $15 a week for the support of herself and child.

Actress Charges Swindle

Accuses Man of Larceny Over Fake Film Claim Sherman S. Kreeberg, thirty years old, of 110 West Forty-second Street, was held in $10,000 bail by Judge Talley in General Sessions yesterday on three separate charges of grand larceny made against him by Helen Gill, twenty-two years old, an actress, of 250 West Seventy-eighth Street. Miss Gill charges that Kreeberg told her that he owned the moving picture rights to a play called "The Green Jade," for which he had been offered $25,000 by Lewis J. Selznick, and that he would make her the star in the production if she would invest her money in it. Convinced that Kreeberg did own the rights to the play, Miss Gill says she gave the latter more than $7,000, which he refused to return when she learned he did not. The indictments against Kreeberg charge that he received a salary of $150 a week, that he abandoned her four years ago and has allowed her only $15 a week for the support of herself and child.

Einstein Offers Proof That Space Is Finite

Says He Will Admit Error if Hypothesis Based on Spectral Rays Is False PRINCETON, N. J., May 13.—Professor Albert E. Einstein, who has been in Princeton since Monday lecturing on his theory of relativity, made his farewell address today to a large audience of university professors, visiting scientists, graduate and undergraduate students. In the last lecture the scientist discussed the problem of "limitation of space." By the spectral rays from outer space he proved that his theory of the end of infinity was correct, as far as can be shown by algebra. The main basis of his belief is that density of matter is not equal to zero and, therefore, that all space is finite, thus disagreeing with Newton, who held that space is infinite. He again said today that his whole theory rested on one hypothesis, or prediction, that the spectral rays from the elements on the sun should turn the red of the spectrum, and that if that prediction should collapse he would willingly admit his error. After the main speech there was a colloquium, when Professor Einstein answered questions from the audience with his friend and co-worker, Dr. Silverstein.

Guide Won't Say He Is Glad

Stillman Suit Is Abandoned MONTREAL, Quebec, May 13.—Fred Beausais, the guide named by James A. Stillman in his suit for divorce against Mrs. Stillman, declined to comment on information conveyed to him to-night that the Stillman litigation had been dropped. "The statement is interesting if true," said Beausais, "but I have heard no direct confirmation of it and cannot discuss it." "Well, are you glad the litigation is ended or not?" he was asked. "I can't say whether I'm sorry or glad," answered Beausais. "If the matter has been dropped, what is there for me to talk about?"

2 of Oil Man's 3 Wives Are Friendly in Court

Mrs. Salisbury Number One Helps Number Two in Suit to Annul Marriage Mrs. Helen Hoffman Salisbury, of Philadelphia, wife No. 1, and Mrs. Rita Salisbury, wife No. 2, of George Roy Salisbury, now in prison in Pennsylvania on a charge of bigamy, were in the Supreme Court together yesterday on the most friendly terms. Mrs. Salisbury No. 1 aided Mrs. Salisbury No. 2 in her suit against her husband for the annulment of her marriage. Salisbury, who was a speculator in Western oil properties, when arrested in New York confessed to having three wives. The third wife did not figure in the proceeding yesterday. Mrs. Salisbury No. 1 testified she married the oil man on February 18, 1920, and that he left her an hour after the ceremony. The second wife married Salisbury on June 20, 1920, and the defendant lived with her one week. Both wives said Salisbury had promised them an allowance of $600 a week. Justice Wagner reserved decision in the suit by Mrs. Salisbury the second. The first wife has brought a divorce action and the second wife, who is named co-respondent in that action, will have an opportunity to repay Mrs. Salisbury No. 1 for her husband in being able to obtain her freedom from the much married defendant.
