

Mrs. Bergdoll Faces Citation For Contempt

Ordered to Bring Before House Committee To-day Documents She Refused to Give Representative

Lawyer Forced to Testify

Deserter's Attorney Talks After Board 5 Times Votes for His Indictment

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau WASHINGTON, May 18.—A series of sessions marked the hearing to-day of the Congressional committee seeking to establish the responsibility for the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire army deserter. Following the citing for contempt of Harry L. Weinberger, the New York attorney who defended Emma Goldman and later Bergdoll, Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, as the result of new developments, faces a citation for contempt before the House of Representatives for her failure to produce records sought by the committee.

Mrs. Bergdoll has been summoned to appear before the committee to-morrow morning. She also has been directed to bring with her certain papers and financial statements, access to which she denied a committee representative.

Lawyer Had Quasms of Conscience

Weinberger appeared this morning and "quasms of conscience" kept him from testifying about his transactions with Bergdoll. Weinberger was counsel for Bergdoll in his court martial, the insanity proceedings and the habeas corpus proceedings in New York. He was an arrogant witness to-day and fully refused to give details of his arrangement with Bergdoll.

A hectic scene followed, during which the committee, on five separate occasions, cited him for contempt and threatened to have him arrested before the bar of the House to-morrow. He was served with a subpoena by the sergeant-at-arms as he left the stand.

Chairman Peters and Representative Ben Johnson, of Kentucky, who made the charges, conferred at once with Speaker Gillett.

Weinberger had a decided change of heart during the luncheon recess, and when the committee reconvened he offered to make a statement, and subsequently escaped his predicament. He was then told that Mrs. Bergdoll had informed the committee he had received $5,000.

In the meantime Weinberger had called his office in New York and obtained part of the information, and agreed to submit an affidavit with the other missing details. He revealed that while in confinement at Governor's Island Bergdoll had become much interested in a colimate, and had authorized the payment of $200 to the colimate, which Weinberger paid.

Understood Westcott Was in Case

Weinberger said that he understood Judge John O. Westcott was connected with the case, but that he had never received any kind of suggestion from him.

Representative John A. Peters, of Maine, chairman of the committee, and General John H. Sherburne, of Boston, counsel for the committee, had hoped to conclude the hearings to-day, but this was prevented by the Weinberger development and a new twist given by Mrs. Bergdoll's attorney.

The witnesses to-day were John F. Bronney, former partner and special agent for the late D. Clarence Gibson; Earle P. Wood and Assistant Attorney General John J. McDevitt, of Philadelphia.

Witnesses to-morrow, in addition to Mrs. Bergdoll, will include Mrs. Ike Spelcher, wife of the man who aided Bergdoll in his escape; Sergeant Salvin Gray, who was one of Bergdoll's guards; and several Department of Justice agents.

May Waive Rule for Morgan

Calder Talks With President on N. Y. Postmastership

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau WASHINGTON, May 18.—Senator Calder conferred with the President to-day concerning the reappointment of Edward Morgan as Postmaster of New York City and discussed the recent Executive order modifying the Civil Service rules as applied to postmasters. The President's latest order stipulated that no man more than sixty-five years old might take the examination for postmaster. Mr. Morgan is more than sixty-five. Senator Calder said, following his talk with the President, that undoubtedly a way would be found to restore Mr. Morgan to the New York office and utilize his long experience in the field.

The President may decide to waive the age limit, or he may issue an order permitting Mr. Morgan to take the examination. Senator Calder indicated that Mr. Morgan would be at the head of the New York postoffice before many weeks have passed.

Engineer Hit by Stray Bullet in Thief Chase

Hears No Sound of Report as He Receives Wound on Leaving Store With Wife

John Drew, an engineer living at 404 First Avenue, was shot in the throat last night as he emerged from a candy store at 420 First Avenue, where he had just made a purchase for his wife, who accompanied him. Drew heard no report and did not realize that he was shot until, feeling a sharp sting, he put up his hand and found a bullet imbedded in his neck. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where it was said he would recover.

Explanation of the mysterious happening came later, when Richard Byrnes, of 331 East Thirtieth Street, ran down First Avenue in no great hurry that he crashed into the window of a former saloon conducted by Conrad Vogel, at Twenty-fifth Street and First Avenue. Patrolman Halpern, of the East Twenty-second Street station chased and captured Byrnes, who said he was running to escape shots that had been fired by the proprietor of a store in First Avenue, near Thirtieth Street, after thieves had broken one of his windows. The police say a stray bullet hit Drew.

Two Held With $25,000 in Drugs After Chase

Acting Detective Sergeants Edward Palokoff and Alfred Cubidge, attached to the narcotic division, arrested two men last night after a chase through the theatrical district and seized more than fifteen pounds of heroin and cocaine, valued at $25,000.

The two men arrested gave their names as Samuel Maroney, twenty-five years old, of 30 Troutman Street, Brooklyn, who has held on a charge of possessing drugs illegally, and Tony Mino, thirty years old, a shoemaker, of 435 Marcy Avenue, Brooklyn, who is being held on a charge of aiding and abetting.

Sergeant Palokoff said that he had been trailing Maroney for several days. He said that he first learned of his alleged dealing in drugs from a seaman whom he met two weeks ago at the Battery.

Palokoff and Cubidge saw Maroney and Mino leave a restaurant in Forty-eighth Street, near Eighth Avenue, last night. Maroney, according to the detective, was carrying a bundle which, it is alleged, contained the drugs. When Palokoff approached him he dropped the package and fled down Eighth Avenue, with Palokoff and a large crowd in pursuit. He was captured at Forty-eighth Street and Avenue. Mino was arrested by Cubidge.

Mingo County Citizens To Be Armed as Police

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 18.—Citizens of Williamson and Mingo County, W. Va., will be deputized as state police to-morrow in connection with the disorders in the West Virginia-Kentucky border battle zone, Captain J. R. Brooker, of the state police, announced to-night at a "law and order" meeting of representative citizens.

In making known the state's "drastic" steps, designed to meet the situation along the Tug River, the captain declared that "unless you have a rifle on your shoulder and are ready to do your duty, then we will have no order in Mingo County, where trouble has been rampant since last Thursday."

While the mine district was comparatively quiet to-day, there is some apprehension as to to-morrow, the anniversary of the Mestwan battle, in which ten men were killed.

The couple were married in Rochester in 1917 and have one son, Walter C. Jr., whose custody was given to the mother, with the father having the privilege of seeing him. Alimony of $10,000 was granted, with an agreement to pay a debt of $7893.75. For the support of the child $50 a month until he is fourteen years old was granted.

Canadians Will Help Legion Get Bergdoll Back

Dominion Veterans to Ask Government Officials to Interest England in False Passport Charge

Extradition Is Sought

Request for Aid Made by U. S. Service Men's Society Through J. E. Darst

OTTAWA, Ont., May 18.—The Great War Veterans' Association of Canada probably will interest Great Britain in the capture and return of Grover Bergdoll, it was said to-night, as a result of a letter the association received to-day from J. E. Darst, assistant publicity director of the American Legion.

Although the American Legion's interest in the capture and return of Bergdoll is inspired by the fact that he was convicted and sentenced as a deserter in the United States prior to his flight to Germany, British help is asked on the ground that he violated Great Britain's passport laws in making his escape.

Says Canadians Will Help "The Canadian veterans would be quite willing to assist the American Legion in getting Bergdoll back to the United States," C. Grant MacNeil, secretary of the Canadian veterans' organization, said to-night.

Mr. MacNeil will call to-morrow on officials of the Department of Justice and other departments with the request that Great Britain be asked to demand Bergdoll's extradition from Germany on the ground that the Canadian passport, which enabled him to reach that country, was forged.

Mr. Darst will inform the American Legion at once that it has the hearty cooperation of the Canadian veterans and hopes to have the machinery of the law started by the time his letter reaches New York.

Confidence in Canadians Confidence that help from Canada would be forthcoming was expressed by Mr. Darst in his letter.

"We of the Legion know," he wrote, "that you are one with us in desiring to see justice done to all who slacked, skulked and ran away from their duty. We are not vindictive, but our disabled and our dead comrades demand that we do not forget."

Mr. Darst said in his letter to the Canadian veterans' association that Bergdoll's escape had been facilitated by a forged Canadian passport and characterized the fugitive as "a blot on the face of the earth and an eyesore, any place except in a slacker's cell."

Before writing the letter Mr. Darst consulted attorneys, who advised him that forgery of a passport was an ex-traditable offense under the British law, and that British authorities might ask Germany to take charge of Bergdoll pending an investigation into the method by which he obtained his passport.

Coney Detective Chief Shoots Hold-Up Suspect

Lieutenant Peter J. Masterson, chief of detectives on the staff of Inspector Sackett, of the Coney Island district, accidentally shot Patrick F. Twyford, of 49 Fourth Street, Brooklyn, a little before 1 A. M. to-day.

Twyford, the lieutenant said, approached him at West Third Street and Neptune Avenue with rambling and incoherent questions, which led him to suspect that the man contemplated a hold-up. He sent Twyford away with a warning that he was a policeman, he said, but the man came back with William Doppan, of 1888 Pacific Street, a fellow passenger in an automobile, whose chauffeur was busy with a puncture.

They demanded, Masterson said, that he prove that he was a policeman, and started for him as he drew his whistle and blew a blast. Then, he said, he drew his revolver, but they were upon him before they could see it. In the struggle the revolver went off, the bullet striking Twyford in the left shoulder. He was taken to Coney Island Hospital, a prisoner. Doppan was locked up at the Coney Island police station, as was John Devine, of 548 Fourth Street, who, the police said, had liquor in the automobile.

Man-Eating Jaguar Loses Quarry, Life, Offspring

Several passengers from Colombian ports who arrived yesterday on the "teaching" dives indulged in a monkey hunt in the Colombian jungle which might have been successful had they not chanced to meet a jaguar, who indulged in a passenger hunt. At sight of jaguar, which had a cub along, the monkey hunters, even including John Terstenjak, who combines bartering with jaguar farming in Shohola Glen, Pa., started steamship hunting.

The passenger-hunting jaguar was disappointed, also, for as it bounded up a railroad embankment in hot pursuit of its quarry, along came a jaguar-hunting banana train, which made a hearty hash of it. The Shohola Glen barber and jaguar farmer went back and got the cub, which was submitted in proof of the anecdote.

U. S. Could Wipe Japan Off Map, Says 'Y' Secretary

Tells Congress on Reduction of Armaments There Is No Possible Chance of War; Pastor Disagrees

CHICAGO, May 18.—A fight to a finish between the United States and Japan would result in Japan being "wiped off the map," George Gleason, international Y. M. C. A. secretary, who has just returned from a trip to the Far East, declared to-day in addressing the congress on reduction of armaments.

Mr. Gleason declared that "only those living in the kindergarten of international affairs could picture the possibility of war between this country and Japan," however, and that combining all the friction growing out of the Isle of Yap, Corea, China and California would not furnish the remotest cause for war.

"Even if there were a cause," he continued, "a real fight to a finish between the two nations would put Japan off the map. The island empire might capture the Philippines, Hawaii, or even a part of our west coast, but when the mighty resources and technical skill of this vast continent were once mobilized, Japan, unable to draw on bankrupt Europe, would be literally starved to her knees.

"The Japanese themselves know it, and none better than the army men," Miss Jane Addams, social worker of Chicago, gave the congress her ideas on the League of Nations and the part America should play in it.

"America went into the war accepting all responsibilities and no rewards. Now she would go into the league accepting all rewards but no responsibilities."

Lampblack Candy Kills Child, Poisons 13 More

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

CHICAGO, May 18.—Licorice candy made of lampblack and sweetening substance and sold to the retail trade at less than ten cents a pound was responsible for the death of one child and the poisoning of thirteen others. The poisoning charge was made when the coroner began investigation of the sudden death of Raymond Deolittle, four years old. After some testimony had been heard the inquest was continued until physicians could make a complete analysis of the child's organs and also test samples of the sweets.

Investigation made by the police showed thirteen similar cases of poisoning in the immediate neighborhood of the Deolittle home and physicians and nurses were rushed to all of the sufferers. It was said that all of the children purchased licorice candy at the shop of Alex Carlson. The charge that the candy consisted principally of lampblack was made by Dr. Ella Ludden, who attended the Deolittle child.

Carlson admitted that he had been selling large quantities of the candy to the children of the neighborhood, but said he had received no previous complaint concerning it. He added that he had purchased the candy from a wholesale house at a low price.

Wife of Tenor Admits She Swore at Plumber

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TRIBUNE SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., May 18.—Mrs. Orville Harrold, wife of the noted tenor, "swore a blue streak" at Joseph F. McLaughlin, a Norwalk plumber, according to McLaughlin, who is suing for $2,561, which he asserts is still due on a plumbing contract at the Harrold home at West Norwalk. When asked by Judge Keefer in the Court of Common Pleas whether she had sworn at the plumber, Mrs. Harrold said: "Did I swear at them—of course, I swore at them. Anybody would have sworn at them—you yourself" would have sworn at them.

"Well," smiled the Court, "plumbers are sometimes provoking, but please keep me out of it." The case went over for argument Friday.

Firestone Plant No. 2

Daily Capacity 16,000 Tires; 20,000 Tubes

Devoted Exclusively to the Manufacture of 30 x 3 1/2 Size Non-Skid Type

How the Price of $13.95 on 30x3 1/2-inch Firestone Tires Was Made Possible

It is in this period of much-needed economy that the full benefit of Firestone's development can best be recognized.

The advantage of having two great individual plants has permitted specialization in the highest degree. Plant No. 1 is devoted to the production of Firestone cords—tires that are accepted as the highest development of tire building. Tire repair men who judge values best, class it as the sturdiest carcass made. Forty-seven car manufacturers have adopted Firestone cords as regular equipment during 1921.

Plant No. 2 was erected for the sole purpose of making 30x3 1/2 Non-Skid fabric tires. With a daily capacity of 16,000 tires and 20,000 tubes, this plant permits refined production on a quantity basis. Its output was 13,700 tires per day during April.

It is such basic economies that enable Firestone to make a price of $13.95 on this standard 30x3 1/2 tire—the lowest price ever made on a standard tire.

Firestone dealers help make this $13.95 price possible by accepting a smaller profit per sale on this fast selling tire.

We see today the fulfilling of what Firestone men have worked for—public support in soundly ratifying the Firestone standard of "Most Miles per Dollar."
