General Calls Nation to Consecrate Itself Anew to Work in Which Its Hero Dead Gave Their Lives

Weeks Joins in Message Fitting Time to Renew Our Faith in America's Ideals, Says Secretary of War

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Memorial Day messages bespeaking a reaffirmation of loyalty and service to the nation on the part of the American people were issued to-night by General Pershing and Secretary of War Weeks.

General Pershing declared that Memorial Day "should symbolize a new consecration of our lives to service," while Secretary Weeks said it was on Memorial Day "in the presence of our dead that Americans can renew their faith in our ideals and institutions and reaffirm their pledge of unceasing loyalty to the Republic."

Thoughts Go Back "Memorial Day each year comes to us in the height of springtime, with all nature in blossom," said General Pershing. "It is the season when the world awakes and new hopes and new dreams fill the human heart."

Tribute to Roosevelt At Otter Bay Theodore Roosevelt's grave will be decorated by a number of Quentin Roosevelt Post, American Legion, and a detachment of sailors. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt is expected to attend.

The auspices of the Atlantic Division, American Red Cross. A program of athletic and comedy events will be run through in conjunction with a canteen service by Red Cross women of Richmond County. Music will be a feature.

A parade of wheel-chairs disguised as rose gardens, ambulances, flivvers and futuristic chariots is to serve as a fund-raising device for the Red Cross. Officers and women employees will meet in similar conjunction.

"Let us forget," said Secretary Weeks, "there comes a time in the spring of each year when the nation turns from its business and industry and its citizens lay aside the implements of their profession and trade to gather in the secluded and shady paths of our national cemeteries to do honor to the nation's dead. It is a day when we turn our faces to the past and recall the deeds of our heroes, whose sacrifices have made and preserved us a nation."

"I do not think we could adopt a more fitting and appropriate tribute to those who gave their all in the service of their country, and I desire to take this opportunity of expressing my entire sympathy with this work," said the Honorable Lejeune, commander of the Marine Corps, wired.

"It seems to me that you have chosen a most fitting and appropriate memorial to those who have given their lives in the service of their country. The citizens of your community demonstrated their patriotism and valor on land and sea in the service of their country. Your organization has every reason to be proud of them and to seek to preserve as an inspiration future generations the history of their deeds."

252,000,000 Entered City or Left It on Railways Last Year

More than two hundred and fifty million passengers used the various steam railroad lines in and out of New York last year, according to figures furnished the Transit Commission by the railroad companies. This includes travel in and out of New York on the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad tubes, which amounted to 5,885,868.

The Atlantic Avenue station of the Long Island Railroad in Brooklyn continues still to be the heaviest single traffic point of all the steam railroads entering the city. Over the tube tracks in and out of the Atlantic Avenue station there flows a traffic which amounted last year to 23,968,000 passengers. This is an increase of more than 6,000,000, or more than 23 per cent, over the previous year.

The grand total of traffic—252,763,523—represents an increase of over 16,720,000, or slightly more than 7 per cent, over 1919.

Of the other roads, the Erie Railroad carried 27,377,365 passengers in and out of Jersey City, of whom, it is estimated, fully two-thirds used the Hudson tubes, and are, therefore, also computed with the total of passengers carried by the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad. The same thing is true of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, which carried about 21,500,000 passengers, of whom fully one-third used the Hudson tubes to and from New York.

The New York Central, on its several lines, carried over 25,000,000 passengers, of whom 20,500,000 came in and out of the Grand Central Station. The New Haven Railroad carried in and out of the Grand Central 16,500,000, making a total traffic of about 37,000,000 passengers for that terminal last year.

The Pennsylvania Terminal had a total traffic of about 34,000,000 passengers, the number of passengers carried by the Long Island Railroad into that station being 23,400,000, or nearly twice as many as the number carried by the Pennsylvania itself, the latter figure being 1,717,490.

Every railroad line in New York showed an increase in passenger traffic, with the exception of the Hudson and Manhattan lines, where the traffic decreased about 7,000,000 passengers during the year. This decrease was found upon all the uptown stations of this road between Christopher Street and Twenty-third Street, inclusive. The Hudson Terminal station of this line showed an increase of approximately three quarters of a million over the previous year.

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—The protests filed here several days ago by the American Flag Day Association against the holding of sports and other forms of public amusement on Memorial Day has been taken up by the two local posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, which to-day passed a resolution condemning the form of public amusement on Memorial Day and calling upon the American Legion and other patriotic organizations to pass similar resolutions.

Post Commander William H. McNaughton of Post 81, American Legion, the largest post in western Pennsylvania, endorsed the resolution passed by the Grand Army of the Republic and stated that he would bring the matter before his post at the earliest opportunity.

The Grand Army resolution, in appealing to other organizations to take up the issue, stated: "Resolved, That all other patriotic organizations, ministerial associations, religious institutions and civic bodies should take a stand against the present custom of holding baseball games, movie shows, circus entertainments and all other forms of public amusement on Memorial Day, and awake the nation to the fact that Memorial Day should be the sacred, hallowed memory that it is."

Three Seized In Big Bogus Check Fraud

checks in payment of goods, made by another check dealer.

The next move, it is alleged, would be to go to the bank on which the check had been drawn and get a blank check book. If the clerk demanded an order for the book, they had the signature of the depositor for whom they said they wanted the check book and it was easy to forge the order.

Then, that there would be no complaint on the check they had stolen, they would, according to the detectives, remain the check to the person from whom they had stolen it.

On the morning of Monday, it is said, would forge checks ranging from $100 to $300. Pellegrino is said to have been the "presenter." He is a slender, dapper man and looks like a tourist.

At headquarters, where the men were taken, Joseph Gavagan, the teller who had given Mahoney the check-book, identified him. Socin identified Pellegrino as the one to whom he had paid the $240.

Many Banks Defrauded The Pinkerton people say that the three have defrauded the Corn Exchange Bank, the Chatham & Phoenix National Bank, the Pacific Bank, the Bank of Washington Heights, the Seaboard National Bank, the Mechanics and Metals Bank, the Equitable Trust Company, the People's Trust Company of Brooklyn, the Mechanics Bank, the Gotham National Bank, the Columbia Trust Company, and banks in North Hudson, and Newark, N. J.

The Pinkertons have forty checks said to have been passed by this gang since the first of the year.

Pellegrino's record shows that he has been in Elmira, and three times in the workhouse for picking pockets and for larceny.

Noble, alias Ryan, is recorded as having started as a juvenile delinquent. In 1908, he received a suspended sentence for burglary. In 1919 he was convicted of burglary, and in 1921 he was sentenced to the workhouse. In 1913 he was discharged on a larceny complaint. He again was sentenced to the workhouse in 1915 for disorderly conduct. As Ryan, he got thirty days in 1920 for larceny.

Mrs. Bergdoll To Demand Aid From Harding

state of war with Germany was ended. He believes that when that time comes the so-called slackers will be immune from prosecution. I'm sure he will come back because he has told me not to sell either of my homes."

May Total $1,000,000 Belief was expressed by officials engaged in tracing Grover's property that its total value might run over the $1,000,000 mark. Several mortgages on real estate properties in different parts of the city were found to-day to belong to Grover and these were attached immediately. The Alien Property Custodian has authority to sell all real estate that is seized and the money taken therefrom, along with other funds obtained, reverts to the United States Treasurer, where it stays, bearing no interest, until Grover settles his accounts with the government and Congress authorizes the release of his seized property.

Thus not only does Grover lose control of his property, but he loses the interest, estimated at $40,000 a year, which it has been paying him. The same applies to the property of Mrs. Bergdoll and of Erwin until she separates Grover's from hers and Erwin's. Then the custodian plans to release the latter parcels, keeping only Grover's.

Broadway Sees Last of Frolic; Volstead Did It Ziegfeld to Take Famous Show to London, Where Waiters Still Dispense Cheer Ziegfeld's "Midnight Frolic" has passed forever so far as Broadway is concerned. The show, which has become famous the world around as a midnight entertainment, passed into oblivion last night when one of the biggest crowds that ever assembled on the Amsterdam Roof witnessed the final American performance.

Mr. Ziegfeld has explained that the reason for the closing is prohibition as enforced by the New York police. He declares that the methods used by Mr. Enright's men in painting the Gay-White Way a melancholy blue is not compatible with entertainments of the high standard of the Midnight Frolic.

The Frolic will open later in the season in London, where, through arrangement with Gilbert Miller, it will become a part of London night life.
