2,000 Attend Garden Party of City Clubs Federation

Girl Scouts Add Color to Lawn Fete on Niles Estate; Speakers Discuss the Improvement of Local and National Parks; Season Near the End

The New York City Federation of Women's Clubs held a garden party a few days ago on the estate of William White Niles, 24th Street and Balbridge Avenue, when Girl Scouts acted as guides to the guests and, as a prelude to the program, gave a salute to the flag.

The party was arranged by the conservation committee, with Mrs. Charles Cyrus Marshall, chairman, in order that the problems of our national and city parks might be discussed and brought more forcibly to the attention of the general public.

Two thousand persons heard the advantages and necessity of conservation as put forth by excellent speakers, among them Mrs. Eugene J. Grant, whose subject was Prospect Park; Mrs. Harry Lilly, Central Park; Mrs. John Klapperton Kerr, Riverside Park—the latter urging, in view of legislation having failed, that strenuous individual effort be continued and yearly bills introduced. William W. Niles spoke on the Bronx River Parkway, and Major Barrington Moore, our National Park.

Mrs. Charles Cyrus Marshall gave the noon "Birds of France." All officers of the Federation were present, as well as its full complement of committee chairmen and the associate membership, making a total of 1,600 in attendance.

Mrs. Richard M. Chapman, president of the city federation, gave a brief talk on the subject of the day.

National California Club Gives Card Party at Waldorf

With three rooms filled with players, the National California Club gave a most enjoyable and successful card game at the Waldorf-Astoria Tuesday for the benefit of the reserve fund, which since the troublous times begun in 1914 has been used in great part for the welfare of the men who were in service.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. Robt. S. Maffitt, Mrs. Charles V. Seaman, Mrs. Russell Bassett, Mrs. S. P. Bartley, Mrs. William R. Stewart, Mrs. William T. Martin, Mrs. William J. Hall, Mrs. Frances H. Carlie, Mrs. E. W. Runyon, Mrs. Virgil W. Thomas, with Mrs. Charles A. Beck chairman. The winner at each table went home with a box of sheer handkerchiefs as the captured prize.

Among visiting Californians present were Mrs. Frank L. Todd, Mrs. Ira P. Hards, Miss Eva R. Le Tourneau, Mrs. S. Taylor, Mrs. Lucian Moffitt, who have recently adopted a home in the Empire State, and among New Yorkers present who have recently purchased homes and adopted the Golden State were Mrs. E. J. O'Connell, Mrs. Jessie E. Moffatt and Miss Hoffman.

The club will enjoy a garden party as guests of its vice-president, Mrs. G. Upton Hallett, Thursday, at her home in the Orangeburg section. Mrs. Vivian is president of the club.

The final meeting of the Society of New York State Women was one of the governing bodies of the home. Mrs. William A. Cable, 232 West Seventy-fifth Street, on Monday. There was a full attendance of the newly elected officers and a chairman for the season of 1921-22 was appointed.

According to plans made the club's season will be full of interesting meetings with efficient chairmen of day. The following are the chairmen of the standing committees, which are civics, patriotism, Americanization, current events, drama, art, music and education.

Among the new members elected were Mrs. Richard William Elliott and Mrs. Charles Noyes.

The president, Dr. Frances W. Nonne, will sail June 4 for France, accompanied by her niece, Mrs. McKnight.

The members of the governing board of the Post-Parliament Club were Mrs. Henry Wall Friday, May 20, at her home in Phillips, where a delightful luncheon was enjoyed. The club has endorsed the parliamentary charts gotten out by the Post-Parliament Club, and the charts are for schools and clubs and are a concise and simple guide to the study of parliamentary law.

Mrs. N. A. Shaw Jr. Hostess at Patriotic Women's Musical

Mrs. N. Archibald Shaw Jr., of 326 West Ninetieth Street, opened her home Saturday for the National Society of Patriotic Women's Musical, which gave an excellent musicale for the benefit of its patriotic fund. Mrs. William R. Stuart is president of the organization. Mrs. Josephine Foster Jenkins was chairman of the program.

Scott Sinclair Bayfield gave an address on the existing Anglo-American relations and race Adams recited two of his original poems, "Welcome" and "Infant Prodigy." Louis Hintze played. The vocalist of the afternoon was Miss Suzanne Zimmerman. Maurice Wolfire, violinist, played.

Mrs. William Cumming Story will give a reception to the society Friday, at 3 o'clock, at the Westchester Country Club grounds.

While the society, through the personal of its membership, enjoys many social affairs during the season, its work, which is practical Americanization, is efficiently carried on at all times under the leadership of Mrs. Quack-Berner. Weekly classes which paid teachers are successfully conducted in each borough of Greater New York, 400 foreigners having benefited therefrom during the season 1920-21.

The late Mrs. J. Heron Crossman, who was chairman of patriotism in New York City Federation from 1906 to 1908, made that committee the nucleus of the National Society, Patriotic Women of America, which in that year was founded. Since then the work has been purely that of Americanization and there are over 400 enrolled members. The paying of teachers, classrooms and other expenses necessary for accomplishing the work of the year means a big outlay of money and as the dues are nominal and there is no limit to the membership, an appeal is made to all women of Americanization, thereby do their bit in Americanization.

Further information may be gained by addressing Mrs. C. A. J. Quack-Berner, 508 West 199th Street.

Mount Washington Boasts First Cog Railway in Country

From early in July until the first heavy snowfall on the summit of Mount Washington in December, the cog railway from Franconia and Bretton Woods, which goes to the extreme top of the mountain, is in operation. This was the first cog railway in existence in the summer months of the year. The project for the majority to reach the Tip Top House, where delicious luncheons await the early travelers or a wonderful day night can be enjoyed by those who prefer to enjoy this spot in the day. Not infrequently do parties make the ascent of Mount Washington on the little cars, carrying their knapsacks with them and making the descent by the cog railway. The cog railway, which is operated by the Mount Washington Cog Railway Co., is the only one of its kind in the world.

White Mountains Resorts Ready for June Pilgrimage

The annual pilgrimage into the White Mountains of old New Hampshire soon will be on. The fishermen, the hikers and the automobilists even now are seeking their favorite haunts in the heart of this vacation land. In June, and always by July, the camping contingents are on hand to explore the many fascinating points throughout the White Mountains and Franconia ranges. Early in July the Appalachian Mountain Club has its first hiking trip, and this year a party of twenty-five members will hike over the Presidential Range to the Madison Spring Hut, up the Pinkham Notch and over Mount Wildcat to the Garter Notch Hut. These are popular trails for boys' and girls' camps, and during the summer there are unending files of hikers making their way along the always fascinating points. Since the first day that fishing was permitted by the state there have been fishermen in the White Mountain sections and at the various fishing camps far north in New Hampshire and across the line in Vermont. The Smith Camps at Lake Umbagog, which are reached by way of Errol, N. H., and the Cold Springs Camps at Averill, Vt., are always the center of attraction for those who can get away for early fishing. The Peabody River in Gorham and Randolph, the Gale River in Jackson, where the Wildcat also runs the Saco, flowing south to the sea from Crawford Notch, and further north the Israel River at Lancaster, Mohawk River and Sims' Stream at Colebrook, all offer excellent fishing. There are many camps, communities where the Isaak Waltons come early and remain late. The Diamond Pond camps in the extreme northern part of the state, down to the many private cottages, choruses, harbor lovers of the rod and line. This summer marks the 150th year since the discovery of Crawford Notch, that most marvelous development of the entire White Mountain Range. Every summer thousands of motorists and rail tourists pass through this gigantic notch, where tower the mighty Webster and Tully mountains, one of the most interesting points are to be seen on the 900-foot climb through Crawford Notch. There is the Giant Star and the Sleeping Indian. The Franzenstein, a terrible bridging one of the deepest points in the notch is a structure that never fails to claim the attention of the many hundred tourists who pass over it every summer.

Tennis and Trap Shooting Tournaments Are Planned

The Crawford House, at the entrance to Crawford Notch, which has as its most important event the annual Crawford Notch tennis tournament, in August, has undergone many improvements for this season and will open in June to accommodate the many visitors who go there year after year.

At Franconia Notch the Profile House will celebrate its opening June 30, and the majority of the cottage colonists will be there early in July to remain through the summer. Forest Hills and cottages are opening June 1. An interesting feature this season is the proposed installation of air service between Profile House, Forest Hills and Bethlehem. The proposed air service plans to operate early in the season, a four-passenger plane between these resorts, and as the season develops other planes will be added.

The annual trapshooting tournament at Maplewood, N. H., from July 2 to 9, is the first sport event of interest in the White Mountains, as it always brings several hundred people to the Maplewood and adjoining resorts. Several improvements have been made on the traps and as the White Mountain Hundred is one of the most popular trapshooting events in the East, there are always scores of wonderful marks men there to enter the event. Garden City Golf Leaders Inspect Courses From Air

Enthusiastic golfers desirous of obtaining bird's-eye views of the various golfing sections of Nassau County spent a portion of Monday morning in an airplane flying over the Hempstead, Garden City and Westbury sections, where are located some of the most golf courses of America. The trips were made with the view of seeing every hazard from various angles. The results of these aerial trips indicated marked improvement in the form of several who played later in the day over the Salisbury and Meadow Brook courses that are located on the Hempstead Plains east of Garden City.

This has been a banner week for golfers, and from last Friday the number of players were unusually large on every course of the county. The number of players for this week end and over Memorial Day in all likelihood will be a record.

As the date for the international polo match between American and British players approaches the outcome is being discussed at various points of polo on Long Island, where the game already has commenced and will be played throughout the summer.

All the country clubs about this section have placed their tennis courts in condition for play. At the Garden City Hotel last Saturday and Sunday two hundred or more played during the day, and the same was true at the Garden City Country Club and the Cherry Valley Club.

A real old fashioned country circus brought five thousand or more people to Hempstead on Monday from all the countryside for miles about, and among them many of the house parties of Jackie Coogan, the juvenile moving picture star, was a visitor at the Garden City Hotel on Sunday and was given a souvenir before his departure by J. J. Lanigan. The youngster is expected to return shortly and with some of his youthful companions play a golf match on the Salisbury course.

The Garden City Country Club, the Episcopal Club and the Garden City Hotel are also having their farewells dinner here.

Arrivals at Garden City Hotel are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Platt, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. James, Mrs. James Herbert Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Van Vlack, Mrs. Joseph Fahys, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Van Vlack, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Landon. The younger J. Landon tends to return shortly and with some of his youthful companions play a golf match on the Salisbury course.
