

Fake Tickets For Fight Sold In Many Cities

Rickard Finds the Plot Is Country-Wide After the Arrest Here of 8 Men and Seizure of Plates

Expected $100,000 Gain

Plans Made to Intercept Almost Perfect Prints at Gate on Day of the Bout

Although none of the almost perfect imitations of admission tickets for the Carpenter-Dempsey fight in Jersey City on July 2, confiscated by detectives after a spectacular arrest of the alleged conspirators on Wednesday night, have been distributed, according to the police, Tex Rickard, promoter of the contest, was making preparations yesterday to intercept all forged tickets at the gate and to prevent their holders from gaining entrance. This became known after the fight promoter learned that the plot to circulate spurious pasteboards was not local but was country-wide.

The eight men arrested Wednesday night by Detectives August Mayer, Grover C. Brown, Charles Kane and others attached to the staff of Inspector Coughlin were held in $1,500 bail each by Magistrate Marsh, in Tombs Court on a short affidavit alleging suspicion of forgery for examination next Thursday, Detective Mayer asking for an adjournment of one week. Before the men were arraigned they were questioned by Assistant District Attorney McQuaid.

Admitted to Bail

Those who were admitted to bail are Louis Cohen, of 1204 Washington Street, Hoboken; Carmine De Matteo; of 112 East Eleventh Street; Andrew Fawcett, of 254 Classon Avenue, Brooklyn; Abraham Held, of 176 East Seventy-ninth Street; Abraham Last, of 92 Willet Street; Sebastian Fagella, of 125 Mot Street, and Carmine Lungo, of 167 Hester Street.

Tex Rickard, who was seen in Madison Square Garden, said that he had known of the circulation of counterfeit tickets for weeks and that forged tickets had been found and arrests made in Kansas City, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. Mr. Rickard said the counterfeit $10 tickets taken Wednesday night were the best imitations. Fake tickets had been found in Reading, Pa., he said, but these were not nearly as good as the New York imitations.

William G. Ridgway, treasurer for Tex Rickard, who was present at the examination of the New York plotter, said that he could hardly tell the forged tickets from the originals. The backs are well engraved and exact duplicates of the genuine pasteboards. Only on the face of the tickets can a slight variation from the real tickets be noted. On the real tickets the marks between the words "Jersey City" and "New Jersey" on the third line are circular dots, while on the others they are small, rectangular dashes. The yellow cardboard stock is inferior in quality to that of the real tickets.

Inspector Coughlin, in charge of the Detective Bureau, said that the police are in possession of four statements from the men who were arrested, in which they are said to have admitted their plan to circulate fake tickets. They also added that they hoped to make $100,000 by the deal. The inspector said that he was satisfied that the whole gang, except for one man, had been captured. The man still sought is the engraver of the tickets. He is known to the police and his arrest is expected at any time.

Although no evidence of counterfeiting of money was found by the detectives when they raided the printing headquarters of the ticket gang in Elizabeth Street, Federal agents are investigating this phase, which has developed because of statements made to Detective Mayer. Bonafidly this man

Mr. Peabody testified he was not a director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, although his company held a large block of the railroad stock.

"Thank God," he remarked, "there is one sin that cannot be put to me."

It was shown that the Mutual also had about 60,000 shares of Pennsylvania stock, 124,000 shares of Brooklyn City Railroad, 15,000 shares of the Consolidated Gas Company, D. L. & W. and many other securities. According to the testimony, the Mutual bought $100,000,000 worth of government bonds for $15,121,339, a decline of $879,000.

Dr. Baillon, Here to Organize Joint Fight on White Plague, Says 4 Million Face Scourge in War Areas

Dr. André Baillon, laureate of the faculty of medicine in Paris and president of the Franco-American Committee to Fight Tuberculosis, arrived in New York yesterday from Paris and is stopping at the Hotel Latham. With Dr. Baillon is Dr. Leslie G. Leon, also of Paris. Dr. Baillon has come here to complete the organization of the American membership of the committee and to form sub-committees in cities outside of New York with the direct object of completing the projected Garden City Sanatorium, in Providence, France.

The sanatorium will be designed especially for the care of French soldiers who became tubercular as a result of war service, and for the children of the devastated regions in the north of France who suffered from exposure during the German occupation.

At the present time there are 1,200,000 cases of tuberculosis in France, Dr. Baillon said, and there are not more than 10,000 beds available for their care. He said for better facilities with which to fight this plague is very urgent, he said.

"Tuberculosis is making great ravages every day," Dr. Baillon said, "especially among the soldiers who were in the trenches and among the children of the conquered districts, and the total of deaths has been heavy. Four million, including children, are threatened with the disease in the devastated regions alone and the number of deaths has reached 200,000 a year."

A site for the Garden City Sanatorium has been selected in the Eastern Mountains. It is about twenty miles from Cannes, overlooking the Mediterranean from a height of about 500 feet.

"The loss of man power to France through the tuberculosis plague represents, the Commissioner of Pensions told me, about 7,000,000,000 francs," the doctor said. "He put the economic value of a Frenchman at 75,000 francs. If the plague is not stopped there will be no more France."

As soon as the sanatorium is finished, Dr. Baillon charges, 100 children now under the care of the American committee for the Relief of the Devastated Regions of France.

Mrs. Loft Ends 'Adamless Eden' Police Station

Relieves Mrs. Hamilton of Command at West 37th Street and Puts Men in Charge of the Precinct

Acts After Open Clash

Rejects Plea That Feminine Offenders Be Handled Exclusively by Women

That the Department Rules Called for Right Discipline

Bill Mrs. Hamilton fought for her ideals. She insisted that to successfully carry out the plans of caring for women prisoners it was necessary to have the women's intimate stories told to women—not men. She insisted, too, that the visiting of the station, while prisoners were there, by various women's clubs' committees, was an error.

Odds Are Unequal

Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Loft locked horns. Mrs. Loft is wealthy, the wife of one of the strongest men in the Tammany organization and an intimate friend of Mrs. William Randolph Hearst. Mrs. Hamilton is New York's first policewoman. She is dependent upon her salary for a living.

Two or three days ago Mrs. Hamilton, without warning, was relieved of her duties as head of the woman's precinct and transferred to headquarters.

She will hereafter travel about in the new metropolitan police zone (within 100 miles of New York) to organize women auxiliaries for police departments throughout the district.

Following the example of the male members of the department, Mrs. Hamilton, called by her friends the "Ironist Dan Costigan" of the woman's section of the Police Department, refuses to comment on her transfer. Yesterday she spent in Paterson, N. J., at her new duties.

Mrs. Loft admitted yesterday that she knew in advance that Commissioner Enright was to transfer Mrs. Hamilton.

"There can be no friction between a policewoman and a commissioner. Mrs. Hamilton is a policewoman and I am the deputy commissioner," Mrs. Loft said.

The Stage Door

Julia Sanderson will make her first appearance under the direction of Carlotta in "Tangerine," a musical comedy by Philip Bartholomae, Lawrence Langner and Guy Bolton, which will open at the Casino here August 1st, supporting cast includes John E. Hazard, Frank Crumit, Bessie Cable, Billy Rhodes, Joseph Herbert Jr., Gladys Wilson, Kay Deravany and Wayne Nunn.

Leonore Masco, who last appeared here in "The Mirage," is preparing a vaudeville version of Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World."

The opening of "The Old Nest" at the Astor Theatre has been postponed to Tuesday evening, June 28.

Emanuel Reicher, who has opened a class for dramatic instruction at Carnegie Hall, will direct his own repertory company next season, when he will revive "John Gabriel Borkman," in which he made his first appearance in New York.

S. L. Rathel will introduce a new singer at the Capitol Theatre next week in "The Mirage," who formerly was with the Paris Opera Comique.

Al Johnson will bring to an end his long engagement in "Sibyl" to-morrow night in St. Paul. For three and a half years Johnson has been appearing in the Winter Garden production, which establishes a record.

Mrs. Hamilton entered a vigorous objection. Mrs. Loft reminded her that she was but a policewoman, and Mrs. Loft was the commissioner, and Mrs. Hamilton was told that she might be guilty of insubordination. Mrs. Hamilton's attention was called, too, to the fact that the department rules called for right discipline.
