

Yankees Lose to Lowly Browns, but Giants Beat Pirates Once More; Dodgers Trim Cubs

Shocker Again Takes Revenge While Mates Mace Carl Mays

Browns' Boxman Not Only Pitches Well, but, With Barney McManus, Shows Some Fancy Clouting; Rescuer Quinn Drubbed; Final Score 7 to 5

By Charles A. Taylor

Urban Shocker and Barney McManus conspired to defeat the Yankees in the first game of their series with the Browns at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon.

Well, it was this Shocker who upset our pennant chasers yesterday, the score being 7 to 5. Urban not only pitched sterling ball but he batted like a demon.

Carl Mays was the Yankee moundsman and although he was presented with a two-run lead by his teammates in the second inning, Carl wilted rapidly in the excessive heat and was knocked off the rubber in the ninth inning.

Carl Mays was knocked off the rubber in the ninth inning. Shocker, who succeeded him, showed little improvement. Twelve hits were secured from Mays in nine and one-third innings, and a most timely triple from Quinn in two-thirds of an inning. The Browns had a battering team.

Bob Meusel was responsible for the Yankees getting off in the van in the second inning. Baker, the first batter, walked and then Shocker drove the ball over Fawcett's head in center for a double that put Baker on third.

Willie Keeler himself couldn't have made a proper play. With two men out Williams lost Fawcett's fly in the sun and Chick took two bases. Peckinpaugh rose to the emergency with a single past third which tallied Fawcett.

Brownies Get to Subway Artist In the sixth the Browns resumed their macing of Mays and wiped out the Yankee advantage. After Williams had fled to Meusel Jacobson was hit by a pitched ball. Severed singled to right, but Gerber singled to left and Jacobson took third. On the hit and run play McManus rolled one down base and Jacobson advanced to third. Popp made a startling stop of Austin's hot grounder and beat his man to first by a half of long slide.

The Yankees' right side ahead in the eighth with his home run into the upper tier of the right field stand, a mighty blow for a right-handed batter. This was the eighth hit. Baker hit a high fly to center, which scored Hawkins, and Baker singled to right, Peckinpaugh counting. Meusel drove the ball to deep right, but Quinn pitched the ball off the wall and the game was over.

The Yankees rallied vainly in their half of the final to catch up. Hawkins, batting for Quinn, singled over first. Fawcett fanned. Peckinpaugh was safe. Elber's home base and wild throw, Hawkins spearing to third. "Big Red" hit a high fly to center, which scored Hawkins, and Baker singled to right, Peckinpaugh counting. Meusel drove the ball to deep right, but Quinn pitched the ball off the wall and the game was over.

Dutch Ruether Hits Stride After Visiting "Black Sox"

CHICAGO, July 27.—Dutch Ruether held the Cubs to nine hits today and the Dodgers, by beating the Chicago Cubs 10 to 2, ran a string of two straight to start their second Western trip.

Dodgers very nearly suffered a permanent loss when First Baseman Ray Schmandt was hit on the head in batting practice by a ball pitched by Walter Hood.

Hood is an outfielder who has been working at pitching to batters in practice, and his control has been excellent. Schmandt was at the plate and apparently was not expecting Hood to deliver the ball when it came upon him suddenly and caught him behind the ear.

Physicians were summoned from the stadium. It was only after a most thorough examination that they concluded that there had been no fracture. Schmandt was unconscious for nearly half an hour, and was dazed for a much longer period.

Ruether came to the game today from the courtroom, where the "Black Sox" case is on trial for throwing the 1919 series. He visited the court as a spectator on Tuesday and exchanged friendly greetings with the players who are accused of selling out to gamblers, and with a subpoena as a witness for the defense.

Two of the Cubs' nine hits off Ruether came in the third inning and resulted in two runs. Flack doubled, and scored on a triple by Hollocher, who beat Mitchell's throw to the plate on Marriott's fielder's choice.

Dodgers Take Revenge on Ponder Ponder retired the first three Dodgers in the first inning, and Hollocher threw out Myers in the second, but Ponder began to get his in bunches. Neis singled, and scored on Mitchell's cut and Kilduff's single.

I. S. C. Returns Its License to State Boxing Commission

The International Sporting Club will no longer conduct its outdoor boxing shows in this city or state, and when it stages its big bouts in the winter, it will do so on the "membership" plan, free from all rules of the New York State Boxing Commission.

This was made known last night when W. A. Gavin, vice-president and managing director of the club, sent a lengthy letter to the commission, at the same time returning the license to the club last Saturday.

Mr. Gavin recited a long list of grievances in his letter, accusing the members of the commission of throwing every possible obstacle in the path of the club, and being mainly responsible for the disorder outside the gates of Ebbets Field on Monday night, when the Pete Herman-Joe Lynch bout was held.

As a result of this attitude on the part of the commission, Mr. Gavin declared, the club had decided to hold the remainder of its outdoor shows in New Jersey, and therefore returned the license given by the commission.

The directors of the International Sporting Club have also refused to attend the special meeting of investigation on the ground that the club is no longer under the jurisdiction of the governing body.

Langer Wins Twice in Brighton Beach Pool Lady Langer, of the Hul Nalu of Honolulu, national one-day swimming champion and holder of several world's records, scored two brilliant victories at an unusually interesting water carnival in the 75-foot pool of the Brighton Beach Bath yesterday.

Nehf's Pitching Enables Giants To Trim Pirates

McGraw's Southpaw in Rare Form and Team Mates Hit in Pinches; Score, 4-1

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—Propelled by the fine pitching of Art Nehf, the Giants advanced another full game toward first place to-day by taking the third game of their series with the Pirates by a score of 4 to 1.

Terre Haute Demon, opposed on the mound by the equally left-handed but not equally effective Wilbur Cooper, breezed through, limiting the Pirates to seven scattered blows and bobbing up with enough stuff on the ball to turn the Pirates back whenever they threatened to get started.

While Nehf was holding the Pirates off, the Giants were bunching their hopes on the Cooper. The National League for alleged abuse of Empire Bill Klem at the close of yesterday's game. Johnny Rawlings, charged with a like offense, was fined $50.

Both manager and player denied there was any basis for the charge, but Klem wasn't weakened on the stand he has taken in the matter.

Meusel Makes Debut The game also marked the first appearance of Irish Meusel. The former molly was assigned to left field. George Burns being moved over to center and Bill Cunningham benched to make room for him.

He batted sixth, replacing Cunningham in the batting order. A fumble by Southpaw gave the Giants a lead toward two runs in the first inning. George booted Burns's grounder, and the Giants were off. They were checked momentarily when Bancroft forced Burns, but Frisch crashed one against the left field fence for three bases, scoring Benny. This drive came within a foot or two of being a home run, for it narrowly missed going over the fence. Young allowed with a triple to left center and Frisch ambled over the platter. Kelly couldn't bring Young in, for he raised a pop fly to Grimm, and Meusel celebrated his first hit at bat as a Giant by striking out.

In the fourth, fifth and sixth innings the Giants made as if to do more scoring, but couldn't quite make the grade. Cooper shutting down on them in those innings just as they seemed to be wabbling dangerously. In the seventh, for instance, Cooper walked Nehf and Burns in succession, but two down the line when he issued the pass, and he brought the inning to a close by getting rid of Bancroft.

Double Steal Works The eighth inning saw the scoring of another Giant run. Young punched a single to center after Frisch had been hit by a pitched ball. Young slid into second, but Whitted got in front of the drive and nailed it. Meusel then singled to center and Young romped to third. With Rawlings at bat, a double steal was put on and went over, Young sliding over the plate in advance of Maranville's short throw.

The fourth and last Giant run, made in the ninth inning, was largely in the nature of a present. Snyder was first up and singled to right, and Nehf put him on second with a sacrifice. Burns was retired by Schmidt, who made a great catch of his high foul, bounded down the steps of the Giant dug-out as he caught the ball. Bancroft, who raised a high pop fly over third, but Barnhart misjudged the ball, which almost hit him on the head as it descended. It went for a hit and Snyder scored. The score: 4-1.
