Rare Paintings Loaned Museum By C. C. Stillman

Twelve, Including Murillo, Rembrandt and Pontormo, To Be Permanent Part of Metropolitan Collection

Harrison Group Received Impressionist Exhibition Was Held in Response to Requests, Bulletin Says

A notable collection of paintings has come to the Metropolitan Museum of Art as a permanent loan, the museum announced yesterday.

The collection consists of twelve canvases, one of them being a Rembrandt, Charles Chace Stillman, of 9 East Sixty-seventh Street, donated them in memory of his father, James Stillman, onetime president of the National City Bank.

Eight of the pictures belong to the Italian Renaissance. They are "Virgin and Child," by Tiepolo; two subjects, each entitled "Portrait of a Man," by Moroni; "Virgin and Child with Pomegranate," by Giampietrino; "Saint Barbara," by Francia; "Virgin and Child with a Bird," by Raphael; "Halberdier," by Pontormo; and "Portrait of a Middle-aged Man," by Lorenzo di Credi.

Two others represent the French of the eighteenth century: "Portrait of Mlle. Blonda de Gasty," by Vassier, and "Portrait of a Lady," by Watteau. A fine example of Spanish art by Murillo, "The Madonna and Child," and "The Portrait of Titus," complete the loan.

The paintings are hung in the galleries housing examples of their respective schools. While they are catalogued as permanent loan, it is said the pictures will eventually become part of the museum's art property.

Offered especially fine are the "Halberdier" of Pontormo, the Murillo and the "Virgin and Child" by Tiepolo, the first named having been formerly in the collection of Princess Mathilde. "Portrait of Titus" represents Rembrandt's son and was painted just prior to the painter's death.

Sir Ernest Cassel, King's Friend and Financier, Is Dead

Recipient of Many Honors at the Hand of Edward VII Responsible for Many Achievements of Note

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Sir Ernest Joseph Cassel, financier, philanthropist and friend of King Edward VII, died here to-day. He was the son of Jacob Cassel, a banker of Cologne, Germany, and was born in that city on March 3, 1852.

He went as a lad to England, and while still in his teens attracted the attention of Mr. Bischoffsheim, head of the great London banking house, and entered his employment.

After thirty years connection with Bischoffsheim & Goldsmid, Sir Ernest became knighted G. C. B. in 1900. He became in 1901 the head of the banking house of his own, of foremost standing, especially in imperial and international finance. With it he added to the notable list of achievements which already had marked his career.

These were the financing of the Chinese government after the disastrous war with Japan; the reorganization of the national finances of Argentina; the organization of the railroad systems of Mexico and Sweden; the raising of the funds for the stupendous irrigation works on the Nile; the building of the underground railroad of London; and the amalgamation of the Vickers-Maxim and Barrow shipbuilding concerns.

Sir Ernest was for many years a close friend of Edward VII, and was made during his reign a Privy Councillor in 1902. G. C. M. G. in 1905 and V. O. C. in 1911. He was several times invited to accept the honors of the Order of the British Empire, but declined. It was through that royal association, largely that he was led to make some of his greatest public benefactions.

The outbreak of the World War caused Sir Ernest much embarrassment. Of German origin, he was thoroughly British in spirit. Nevertheless, there was a movement to have him dismissed from the Privy Council. This did not succeed, however, and he remained an honored and trusted member of the Council to the end of his life.

He was a commander of the Legion of Honor, and of the Royal Swedish Order of the Polar Star, and the Grand Cordons of Osmanli, the Order of the Rising Sun of Japan, the Order of the Crown of Prussia, the Order of the Red Eagle of Prussia, and the Order of the Lion of the Netherlands.

Oppose Use of U. S. Funds for Canada's Canal

Hudson Valley Committee Meets Here to Open Campaign Against Government Aiding St. Lawrence Plan

Declaring that construction of the proposed St. Lawrence Ship Canal would result merely in bringing prosperity to Canadian cities at the expense of those of the United States, the executive committee of a conference organized by the Hudson Valley Federation met here to-day.

Following a meeting held at the Union League Club, the committee members issued a declaration that the canal, if constructed, will lie chiefly in Canadian territory, that farmers of the Middle West have been misled into believing that it would permit deep sea vessels to load at Great Lakes ports, and that the New York Barge Canal is ample for the present transportation needs of the country.

The cost of construction, it is estimated, would be at least $1,300,000,000, exclusive of the deepening of port harbors and the building of locks. The New York State paying about 30 per cent of the appropriation of Federal funds. Such an enterprise, if undertaken, should be undertaken entirely by the Canadian government, or financed by the funds of private interests, the committee believes.

Wrong Impression Prevails

"It is our intention to launch an educational movement designed to acquaint the rest of the nation with the facts of the case," said the committee members, "and to allay the prejudice which exists at present in the Middle West against New York, especially in those sections in which the canal, if and when it is constructed, will lie in Canadian territory."

It is pointed out that two-thirds of this canal, if and when it is constructed, will lie in Canadian territory, and that one-third of it will be on the border between the two countries. Farmers in the Middle West and the business interests in cities like Duluth, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, and even Rochester and Oswego in New York State, have been misled into an impression that deep sea vessels can load and unload at Great Lakes ports, and that consequently products of the farm and factory can be shipped direct to all parts of the world at low cost and much profit.

"It is said that the strongest advocates of the canal are the farmers of the Middle West. This class has been misled to believe that through the St. Lawrence Canal their grain could be exported several cents cheaper than through present channels. But if Montreal and the Great Lakes are connected by a canal, the grain will be shipped to the coast and then to the West."

"We have no fight with any section of the United States or with any other country over the construction of any canal. We are simply fighting for the right to encourage production and trade. But we believe that the Hudson River and the New York State Barge canals will continue to be what they always have
