J. D. Clifford in Contempt

James D. Clifford, formerly a captain in the Fire Department and for twenty-five years president of the Firemen's Mutual Beneficial Association, was adjudged guilty of contempt of court yesterday by Justice Mullin, of the Supreme Court.

Clifford was defeated in 1919 for reelection to the presidency of the firemen's association. The new officers chosen learned that Liberty bonds valued at $12,000 had been turned over to Clifford in payment for services rendered as president. They asked for an accounting, and the court ordered Clifford to deposit the bonds with the County Clerk pending the determination of the action for their recovery by the association.
