

Brilliant Party Marks Debut Of Lucy Hunt

70 Members of Younger Set Entertained at Luncheon at Colony Club; Miss Reutter To Be Bride

A brilliant luncheon yesterday marked the entrance into society of Miss Lucy Hunt, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hunt. The event was made the occasion for an assembly of about seventy of the members of the younger set at the Colony Club, where the guests were entertained by Mrs. Hunt and her daughter.

The entertainment was simple and in keeping with the autumn season, and luncheon was served at small tables in the private dining room. Included among the young friends of the debutante present were Miss Helen L. Rice, Miss Beatrice Battersman, Miss Lella Baldwin, Miss Sylvia Goddard, Miss Harriet Paige Greene, Miss Josefa Warren, Miss Betty Cushman, Miss Mary Cushman, Miss Elizabeth Gervais, Miss Susan Coppell, Miss Isabelle Wood, Miss Rosalie Coombe, Miss Jane Spader, Miss Dorothy Achelis, Miss Katherine Darlington, Miss Lydia Darnum, Miss Katherine Reynolds, Miss Anita Darnosch, Miss Margaret Holiday, Miss Elfinor Stewart, Miss Nina Chaitillon, Miss Clara Workum, Miss Christine Nichols, Miss Harriet Fraser, Miss Jean Douglas, Miss Mary Wister Morris, Miss Sara Sturgis and Miss Mary Butler.

The marriage of Miss Gertrude F. H. Reutter to Henry Clark Banks will take place on Saturday afternoon, November 26, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Reutter, at Rye, N. Y. Because of the recent death in Mr. Banks's family, the wedding will be a very intimate affair. The bride's only attendant will be her sister-in-law, Mrs. Reutter. Mr. Banks and his bride will live in Rye after their return from their wedding trip.

Catholic Junior League Gives Dance at the Plaza

The annual dance of the Junior League of the Catholic Center for the Blind was held last night at the Hotel Plaza. The success of the affair was largely due to the efforts of Miss Anna Burghoff, assisted by Miss Grace Gorman, Miss Marie Osterwald, Miss Anna O'Garra, Miss Josephine Farrell, Miss Geraldine C. Hall, Miss Helen Tideman, Mrs. Helen Rouse and Miss Margaret Kenessey.

Prominent persons who will receive the honors of the performance to be held in his honor at the Capitol Theater to-night, under the auspices of the American Committee for Devastated France, will be Miss Anne Morgan, Mrs. Gilbert Montague, Mrs. Maude Wetmore, Miss Elizabeth Perkins, Miss M. T. Moulton, Miss Elizabeth Scarborough, Miss G. N. Gould, Miss A. E. Egan, Miss Margaret Parsons, Mrs. H. F. B. Beale and Dr. Alexander Humphreys. Marshal Foch has expressed special interest in this year's sum, which is being accomplished by the American committee in the war-wrecked regions of France.

Miss S. Adeline Moller and her brother, Edwin Clarence Moller, who have been in Europe several months, are returning on the Cedric, due tomorrow, and will occupy their apartment at the Ritz-Carlton.

Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, of Boston, is in New York for a brief visit, and is at the Belmont. Mr. and Mrs. Henry

Miss Virginia de Haven

She will have a leading role in the thrilling entertainment "Murder on the Half Shell; or, Buckets of Gore," to be given at the Hotel Plaza, November 22. The proceeds will go to the Manhattanville Day and Night Nursery

A. Morse, of Boston, are at the Belmont. Mr. and Mrs. William Jay Schiefel and Miss Schiefel are among those sailing for Europe to-day on the Baltic.

Princess Rospigliosi will occupy the city residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, at 182 East Seventieth street, which she has taken for the winter.

Mrs. W. B. Dinsmore and Miss Madeleine Dinsmore, of Staatsburg, N. Y., will be at the Belmont for the winter.

Mrs. Austin Gray, Mrs. J. Ellis Hoffman, Mrs. Harold C. Richards, Mrs. Eddie Duke, Mrs. Charles H. Munn, Mrs. J. Fred Pierson, Mrs. Henry W. Lowe and Sidney Dillon Ripley were among those luncheon yesterday at Pierre's.

The wedding of Miss Frances Gridley Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rufus Kennedy, of Greenwich, and Johannes A. L. van den Boven, an officer in the Dutch navy, will take place Monday in New York. Since coming here from Washington, which was their former place of residence, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy have made their home at the Schuyler, in New York, during the winter, and at Greenwich, Conn., in the summer.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Knowlton, of Rye, N. Y., on the birth of a son last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Knowlton are in New York, where they will spend the winter.

The first of the Mayfair Dances, which will be held every Saturday evening this winter at the Hotel Lorraine, at Fifth Avenue and Forty-fifth Street, takes place to-night, and will be preceded by a number of dinners.

Among those luncheon yesterday at Delmonico's were Mrs. Henry Foster McCreery, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer jr. and Mrs. Martin W. Littleton.

Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich and Mrs.

Arts Academy Elects Gibson, Bacon, Pennell

Artist, Architect and Etcher Honored; Memorial Held for John Burroughs, and 1,000 Pay Notable Tribute

Foch at Celebration To-day Will Lay Cornerstone of New Home; Diplomats at Housewarming, Reception

Henry Bacon, architect, and Charles Dana Gibson, artist, of this city, and Joseph Pennell, etcher, of Philadelphia, have been elected to the American Academy of Arts and Letters, it was announced last night after ballots sent in by mail had been counted.

The vote was counted at the annual meeting of the academy, held yesterday at the Lincoln Hotel, which was the first of a two-day celebration of the academy's holding. The membership roll of fifty is now complete again, and candidates for filling the places of John Burroughs, who died May 29, and Barrett Wendell, who died February 8.

The program of the academy will reach its climax to-day, when Marshal Foch lays the cornerstone of its new building in 155th Street. The ceremony will take place after Columbia has been conferred the doctorate of Doctor of Laws upon Marshal Foch at 3 p. m.

A feature of yesterday's program was a national memorial meeting at a room in the Lincoln Hotel, which was held at the academy's present quarters at 15 West Eighty-first Street and was attended by more than 1,000 persons, including diplomats, authors and artists of many countries.

An address by Professor Bliss Perry, of Harvard, which was read by Augustus Thomas, Professor Perry being prevented by illness from attending, threw new light on the relations between Burroughs and the late Theodore Roosevelt, who met on common ground as naturalists.

The speakers at the Burroughs memorial meeting of the academy which took part in the annual meeting were entertained at luncheon. Those who attended were James Ford Rhodes, Robert Underwood Johnson, William Cray Brownell, Edwin H. Blashfield, Thomas Hastings, Brandt Matthews, George Whitehead Chadwick, William Rutherford Mead, Nicholas Murray Butler, Owen Wister, Booth Tarkington, David Jayne Hill, Childre Hasston, Augustus Thomas, Garl Melcher, Hamlin Garland, Maurice Francis Egan, Judge Robert Grant, William Roscoe Thayer, Cass Gilbert and Herbert Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls are returning from Europe on the steamship France, due to-morrow and will be at the Ritz-Carlton for a few days previous to going to Hot Springs, Va.

A series of the dansants will be inaugurated this afternoon in the new restaurant of the Hotel Astor.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls are returning from Europe on the steamship France, due to-morrow and will be at the Ritz-Carlton for a few days previous to going to Hot Springs, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls are returning from Europe on the steamship France, due to-morrow and will be at the Ritz-Carlton for a few days previous to going to Hot Springs, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls are returning from Europe on the steamship France, due to-morrow and will be at the Ritz-Carlton for a few days previous to going to Hot Springs, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls are returning from Europe on the steamship France, due to-morrow and will be at the Ritz-Carlton for a few days previous to going to Hot Springs, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls are returning from Europe on the steamship France, due to-morrow and will be at the Ritz-Carlton for a few days previous to going to Hot Springs, Va.

White Sulphur Luncheon Col. and Mrs. Guinsberg Hold 25th Wedding Anniversary

At Liverpool passengers for continental points will be hurried along under the new system of rapid baggage class passengers without delays and baggage inconveniences.

The winter exhibition of the National Academy of Design will be opened to the public to-day at the galleries of the Fine Arts Building, 215 West Fifty-seventh Street. The official opening and "varnishing day" reception took place yesterday. Several hundred guests were present.

The exhibition of 1921 works by more than one hundred and fifty exhibitors, there being paintings, sculpture, etchings, crayon drawings and water-colors. Eighty-nine of the exhibits are by members of the academy, eight are by associates and 286 are by non-members of the Academy.

The prize-winning pictures and sculpture attracted particular attention, as well as the late Abel Tarr, "Portrait of a Lady," which occupies the position of honor in the center of the exhibition. The Vanderbilt gallery, The Altman first floor, 10th St. 1,000 for a work by an American-born citizen to Ernest L. Blumenschein, N. A., for his painting "Superstition," which depicts a New Mexican Indian performing a magic ceremony. He sits face forward and holds a jar with flowers in his hands, while at his back are brilliantly colored hangings, with a crucifix and a candle.

The Altman second prize $500 was awarded to Arthur P. Spear, A. N. A., whose subject, "The Sunrise," is an allegorical representation of three water nymphs lifting a golden disk of the golden disk of the morning sun.

The Carnegie prize of $500, awarded for the most original painting by an American, was given to Charles S. Chapman, A. N. A., its subject being an imposing forest scene called "The Forest," by the artist.

The Julia A. Shaw Memorial prize was awarded to "The Tang Jar," a still life, with Chinese motive, by Dorothy Schuman. This is considered the most noteworthy work shown by an American woman.

Robert L. Aitken's prize sculpture of the George Rogers Clark monument, which depicts Elizabeth N. Watrous, gold medal, representing the genius of the pathfinder on horseback with his right hand extending assurance to Indians grouped in front of him. Following are the figures representing backwoods men.

The Thomas R. Proctor prize of $200 for the best portrait in the show is given to the portrait of Mr. John Lane of London, by Ernest F. Ipsen, A. N. A., which represents the subject seated at a table, facing to the front and holding a magazine in his lowered left hand.

The Isador medal, for the best figure composition by an artist thirty-five years old or younger, is given to George Laurance for his "The White Vase," a young girl seated beside a table at the foot of which is a large vase of vari-colored flowers.

The Helen Foster Barnett prize for the best piece of sculpture by an artist less than thirty-five years old. The work is by Joseph F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

National Academy Of Design's Exhibit Open to All To-day

Several Hundred Guests Attend "Varnishing Day" Reception; Prize-Winning Works Put on Display

The winter exhibition of the National Academy of Design will be opened to the public to-day at the galleries of the Fine Arts Building, 215 West Fifty-seventh Street. The official opening and "varnishing day" reception took place yesterday. Several hundred guests were present.

The exhibition of 1921 works by more than one hundred and fifty exhibitors, there being paintings, sculpture, etchings, crayon drawings and water-colors. Eighty-nine of the exhibits are by members of the academy, eight are by associates and 286 are by non-members of the Academy.

The prize-winning pictures and sculpture attracted particular attention, as well as the late Abel Tarr, "Portrait of a Lady," which occupies the position of honor in the center of the exhibition. The Vanderbilt gallery, The Altman first floor, 10th St. 1,000 for a work by an American-born citizen to Ernest L. Blumenschein, N. A., for his painting "Superstition," which depicts a New Mexican Indian performing a magic ceremony. He sits face forward and holds a jar with flowers in his hands, while at his back are brilliantly colored hangings, with a crucifix and a candle.

The Altman second prize $500 was awarded to Arthur P. Spear, A. N. A., whose subject, "The Sunrise," is an allegorical representation of three water nymphs lifting a golden disk of the golden disk of the morning sun.

The Carnegie prize of $500, awarded for the most original painting by an American, was given to Charles S. Chapman, A. N. A., its subject being an imposing forest scene called "The Forest," by the artist.

The Julia A. Shaw Memorial prize was awarded to "The Tang Jar," a still life, with Chinese motive, by Dorothy Schuman. This is considered the most noteworthy work shown by an American woman.

Robert L. Aitken's prize sculpture of the George Rogers Clark monument, which depicts Elizabeth N. Watrous, gold medal, representing the genius of the pathfinder on horseback with his right hand extending assurance to Indians grouped in front of him. Following are the figures representing backwoods men.

The Thomas R. Proctor prize of $200 for the best portrait in the show is given to the portrait of Mr. John Lane of London, by Ernest F. Ipsen, A. N. A., which represents the subject seated at a table, facing to the front and holding a magazine in his lowered left hand.

The Isador medal, for the best figure composition by an artist thirty-five years old or younger, is given to George Laurance for his "The White Vase," a young girl seated beside a table at the foot of which is a large vase of vari-colored flowers.

The Helen Foster Barnett prize for the best piece of sculpture by an artist less than thirty-five years old. The work is by Joseph F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

John F. Collins, A. N. A., the only artist to win prizes in both this and the last Academy, obtained the J. F. Collins prize for his "High River," a river subject at the overflowing stage.

Rites for Henry N. Meade Conducted by Elks Lodge

Newspaper Man, Who Died Unexpectedly at Press Club, Is Buried in Greenwood

Funeral services for Henry Nelson Meade, a well known newspaper man, who died suddenly Wednesday at the New York Press Club, were held at 2 p. m. yesterday in the New York Lodge No. 1 of the Elks, in West Forty-third Street.

The Rev. William Morris Gilbert, rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church of the Yonkers, an old friend of the Meade family, read a prayer and Scripture.

This was followed by the Elks' funeral service for the dead, which was conducted by all officers of the New York Lodge. The eulogy was delivered by William Phillips, secretary of the lodge.

Apart from members of the family and men from all walks of life who were present, a large attendance of associates in the newspaper business.

In compliance with Mr. Meade's wishes, he was buried in the Elks' plot in Greenwood Cemetery.

Funeral To-morrow for W. F. Albertson, Banker

Vice-President of "Mechanics and Metals" Fails to Recover After Hemorrhage

Walter F. Albertson, who was a vice-president of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank, died Wednesday night at the Broad Street Hospital. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage a week ago, and passed away without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Albertson was born in Pekin, Ill., forty-nine years ago, and was educated at Iowa Wesleyan University, Mount Pleasant, Iowa. He was graduated from the Law School of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and had been prominent in New York banking circles since 1907. Mr. Albertson was a national bank examiner from 1901 to 1905. He fathered reforms which are in force to-day.

He is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters; also by his parents, whose home is in Illinois.

The funeral will be from St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, Eighty-third Street and West End Avenue, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Services for M. A. Hanna's Widow in Cleveland To-day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Funeral services for Mrs. Charlotte Augusta Hanna, widow of Senator Marcus A. Hanna, who died at her home here last night, will be held in Wade Memorial Chapel, Cleveland, at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. Burial will be in Lakewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Hanna was stricken with a heart attack yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and died six hours later. Relations said it was their belief that Mrs. Hanna's death was hastened by the death of her son, Dan R. Hanna, publisher of "The Cleveland Leader," two weeks ago.

Error Made in Name of Charles Tracy Hudson Jr.

Charles Tracy Hudson Jr., called the attention of The Tribune last night to an error in the obituary of his father, the captain of Jeffery Davis, printed in yesterday's issue, by which Mr. Hudson Jr. was referred to as Charles Tracy Davis Jr. The sentence, in which the mistake was made should have been as follows:

"Mr. Hudson, however, always maintained that Davis was trying to make his escape disguised as a woman when he was captured, and his son, Charles Tracy Hudson Jr., exhibited last night a bit of dark-colored cloth which, he said, was part of the shawl worn by Davis on that occasion."

DR. JOEL D. MADDEN

OSSINGTON, Nov. 18.—Dr. Joel D. Madden, who for years had been the physician of William Rockefeller and other Westchester County residents, died at his home here to-day. He became seriously ill on November 5.

ALBERT WORTH

LAUREL, Del., Nov. 18.—Albert Worth, Deputy State Attorney General of Delaware, died unexpectedly in the courthouse at Georgetown to-day. He had just received medical attention for an acute attack of pneumonia when he collapsed. He was forty-five years old.

REUBEN NELSON BENNETT

MIDDLETON, Conn., Nov. 18.—Word came to Wesleyan University last night that Reuben Nelson Bennett, of Middlebury, chairman of the Wesleyan endowment campaign and member of the board of trustees, had been killed in an automobile accident while on his way here to attend the week-end activities in connection with the Williams-Wesleyan game to-morrow.

EDWARD BUREBY

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Edward Bureby, 105 years old, died at his home in Clayville, near Utica, last night. He was born in Brasher Falls, where he lived until 1850, when he moved to Clayville. His life was passed in that section. He had enjoyed practically unbroken good health until a few hours before his death. His survivors include a daughter, eighty-five years old, living in the vicinity of Brasher Falls.

WILLIAM WYCKOFF

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Nov. 18.—William Wyckoff, sixty-seven years old, who was Mayor of Dunellen, N. J., from 1904 to 1907, died to-day at the home of his son, Herbert B. Wyckoff, in North Plainfield, N. J. Mr. Wyckoff had been in failing health for some time. He was a member of the Erie Railroad since 1890, is dead from heart disease at his home in Smith's Corners, near here. He was born in Carbondale, Pa., sixty-seven years ago, and entered the employ of the Erie thirty-five years ago.

G. R. FERGUSON

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Nov. 18.—G. R. Ferguson, an engineer on the Delaware division of the Erie Railroad since 1890, is dead from heart disease at his home in Smith's Corners, near here. He was born in Carbondale, Pa., sixty-seven years ago, and entered the employ of the Erie thirty-five years ago.

THE WOODLAWN CEMETERY

2323 St. by Harlem Train or by Subway. Lots of small size for sale.

UNDERTAKERS

Call Columbia 5200 A Complete Funeral Service in an atmosphere of refinement. The best costs no more.

FRANK E. CAMPBELL

"THE FUNERAL CHURCH" Inc. (Non-Sectarian) Broadway at 66th St.

Stem Brothers ILLUSTRATED BOOKS for Children at Especially Attractive Prices The Blue Fairy Book... Peter Pan and Wendy... Arabian Nights Entertainments... Westward Ho!... Scottish Chiefs... The Password to Fairy Land... $3.50 each

YOU READ OWEN JOHNSON'S Great American Novel THE WASTED GENERATION Harry Hansen in the Chicago Daily News says: "Because Owen Johnson has written 'The Wasted Generation' we have become more confident than ever that American novelists are striking out into paths that will lead to a great national literature..."

Christmas Trip by Assyria Cunard-Anchor Line Places Vessel in Boston Service Carrying cabin and third class passengers, the Cunard-Anchor line Assyria will sail from Boston to Liverpool on December 5, the first high-class ship making a Christmas sail between these ports since 1914, according to officials of the company.

COME TO "The Linen Store" for Christmas Gifts of Pure Linen Handkerchiefs! You will find attractive and very acceptable styles in Handkerchiefs for Men, Women and Children. James McCutcheon & Co. Fifth Avenue, 34th and 33rd Streets

THE WASTED GENERATION Little, Brown & Company Publishers BOSTON